Italian Professor Says That He Has Discovered It

St. Petersburg is fighting a rat plague of tremendous proportions. For three successive days rats wandering to the river to drink have stopped early morning trains on the suburban Nowski railway. The police are distributing rat poison to all householders free of charge, and soldiers, armed with sticks, watch the road to the river where the rats procure their morning drink.

SOFT-COAL STRIKE BREWING

Due About April 1, Says an Operator Here—Will Affect New York Indirectly

New York, Jan. 13.—A representative of the Chesapeake and Ohio Coal Company said yesterday that a strike of the Virginia for large advances in wages and that it will probably go into effect on April 1. These miners are not now thoroughly organized, he said, so the strike will not begin until President Mitchell gets out of the hands of the anthracite commission and can turn his attention to the West Virginia field.

"The output in West Virginia," said the Chesapeake and Ohio man, "is 50 per cent, of the total output of soft coal in the United States. The strike will not affect us here directly. It will affect us indirectly because the New England States will then have to draw on Pennsylvania, which supplies the Eastern cities, for its soft coal, and this will eventually increase the demand for hard coal."

The wages of the soft coal miners employed by the Fairmont Coal Company of West Virginia have been advanced 10 per cent. by President Clarence W. Watson, of that Company. A notice to that effect was posted at the office of the company yesterday.

"We have 11,000 names on our payroll," said Mr. Watson, "and the average wages have been $2.22 a day. Mitchell sent his agents to our mines during the anthracite strike to organize our men. They refused to go into any union saying that the company had always treated them fairly. As a reward for their fealty we now find ourselves in a position to advance their wages."

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, is hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz, and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings oftimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

Price is now 25 cents a share, and we offer 50,000 shares at this price, but it may be advanced by January 1st, 1903, to 50 cents a share.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of FIVE CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at FIVE CENTS is short.

ANOTHER SUGAR BEET FACTORY?

LOST SIGHT OF

A Most Important Aid to Education

An important point often overlooked by parents in bringing up children is the fact of proper food as an aid to education.

Children make wonderful progress when scientifically fed.

A little woman in East Brentwood, N.H., says of her girlhood days, "I was never very rugged and cold lunches and hearty evening meals and improper food soon began to work serious havoc.

Then came a period of self-boarding while away at college and it is now easy to see where, in the haste to acquire knowledge the true knowledge of proper and nourishing food was neglected. The result, as may be imagined, was indigestion, dyspepsia and constipation. Then followed a weary time of dieting and, one after another, physicians were consulted, till hope of permanent cure was abandoned. Then, two years after leaving school, I entered a new home as a bride and having grown wiser through experience, I resolved to use food in accordance with hygienic principles. This was also necessary as I could not eat anything at all risk.

We commenced to use Grape-Nuts and soon became convinced that it was the most nutritious food we could obtain. I noticed an immediate improvement in my health, my indigestion became less marked and eventually left me for good.

It is now two years that we have eaten Grape-Nuts regularly, and I was never as well in my life as now. I have gained ten pounds in weight, and can eat, without causing the slightest distress, the richest kind of food as well as anyone, the dyspepsia is entirely gone and constipation never troubles me.

This may not interest others, but is of great interest to us, for it is our firm belief that my present good health is due solely to the constant use of Grape-Nuts and we feel that we have great reason to be thankful to the maker of such a perfect and delicious food." MISS EDGAR HONORED

Presentation by Her Pupils of S. S. No. 3, Smith

Miss Maye Edgar, who has had charge of the school in section No. 3, Smith, for some time past, was pleasantly surprised at the re-opening of school on being presented with a handsome fruit dish set in silver. Miss Iva Cromie made the presentation and Miss Mina Edmison read the address, which was as follows:

Dear teacher,—At this season of the year when everybody is wishing their friends, whom they love, good wishes and tokens of affections, we would like to say a few simple and heartfelt words, how much we have learned to love you for the great kindness you have always shown us and to thank you for having so patiently borne our waywardness and thoughtless actions, which, no doubt, were trying enough to your patience

You have at all times been unremitting in the earnest performance of your duties and have tried to teach us useful lessons both from books and the example of your life.

We shall always remember you fondly and as a token of our respect and affection, we ask you to accept this little present as a small momento of our kind regards for your future welfare and our best wishes for a happy year.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH

When Sandow poses and the muscles ridge his back and knot his arms, we think we have before us the very secret of strength in those magnificent muscles. But we haven't. Starve Sandow, or, what is practically the same thing, let him be dyspeptic, and his muscle would soon fail. Strength is made from food properly digested and assimilated, and no man is stronger than his stomach, because when the stomach is diseased digestion and assimilation are imperfect.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that the body is nourished into perfect health and strength.

"I had what my physician called indigestion. He gave me medicine for the trouble but it did me no good," writes Mr. W. H. Wells, of Willard, N.C. "I wrote to Dr. Pierce and stated my case. He sent me a descriptive list and hygienic rules. I carried out these as best I could, bought six bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and commenced taking it. A few days later I noticed a great change. Felt like a new man. Before I began the use of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I suffered greatly with pain in stomach, my nerves seemed all 'run-down,' I was very thin in flesh, but now can eat heartily and sleep good at night."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PROTECT THE FUTURE OF SOUTH AFRICA

Correspondent Points Out the Danger of Chinese Labor at the Mines

France Urged to Colonial Policy—Better than Advancing Her Continental Interests—General Cable News

London, Jan. 15 —The Times correspondent at Johannesburg says that the people of the Rand hope that every care will be taken not to adjust the present difficulties at the expense of the future, and so lay up for the country a debt more serious than any monetary contribution, for which prosperity may never anathematize the present generation. "I refer" says the correspondent, "to the introduction of Chinese labor, which is being earnestly canvassed. Under existing circumstances the demand for Chinese labor may well seem irrestible, especially if the mining industry is to meet its obligations, but it is well to sound a note of warning regarding the Chinese laying up for our descendants the heritage of misfortune."

Plymouth Instead of Southampton.

London, Jan. 14—It is now confirmed that beginning in March next, passengers bound for London on all North German Lloyd steamers, will be landed at Plymouth instead of at Southampton. By reason of this change they will arrive in London at least five hours sooner than is the case at present. The express steamers of this line have been landing passengers for London at Plymouth, but intermediate steamers have been passing Plymouth and calling at Southampton, as these vessels were obliged to call at Cherbourg. The Southampton stop has also been found inconvenient. This change affects big eight-day boats of the North German Lloyd, including the Barbarossa, Grosserkurfeest, Bremen, Koenigen, Luise, and others of the same type. The first of these ships to call at Plymouth instead of Southampton will be Koenigen and Luise, sailing from New York on March 5. The officials of the company claim that this new arrangement will land a passenger in London and Paris earlier than is possible under the present arrangement of calling at Southampton. Fast special trains will run up to London from Plymouth. No change will be made in the schedule of west-bound steamers of this line. They will call as usual at Southampton and Cherbourg, and not at Plymouth.

Count and Countess Distressed.

London, Jan. 14—A despatch to the Daily Express from Nice says —"The Count and Countess Lonyay are greatly depressed at reports which have been published concerning them. Far from contemplating separation or divorce, the Count and his wife are perfectly happy with each other, as happy as a couple on their honeymoon. During my visit the Count received a batch of telegrams of inquiry. I was informed that he has received many hundreds of them. The Countess is terribly upset. She had just settled down comfortably in a pretty villa at Cap Martin, and had become a member of Mentone Tennis Club. She was playing tennis when the first word of the scandalous report arrived. The Count was exceedingly indignant. He has sent a telegram to the German Emperor asking his Majesty to order an enquiry into the report, which it is said, emanated from Germany."

Was Von Holleben Popular.

London, Jan. 14— The Times Berlin correspondent, referring to the assertion of the Cologne Gazette, that next to the late Ambassador Pauncefote no diplomatist enjoyed in Washington such popularity as Dr. Von Holleben, says that there is an impression, however, that Baron Speck Von Sternberg, is to be instructed to work on different lines, and to try to emphasize the community of American, German, and British interests as far as he can. His antecedents and sympathies, it is believed, qualify him for the role.

A Desirable Change in Regard to Peterboro Stores

OTONABEE WEDDING

Mr. Robert McMillan of Asphodel Weds Miss Elizabeth Kindred

The home of Mrs. Sarah Kindred, Zion, Otonabee, was the scene of a very pleasant event on January 7, when her daughter Elizabeth, was united in wedlock to Mr. Robert McMillan, of Asphodel.

The bride was attired in cream silk trimmed with sequins, and carried a bunch of bridal roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Josie Kindred, was dressed in white. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Barker, of Uxbridge, who performed a similar duty for the father and mother of the bride.

The groom was supported by Mr. Chas. Pearce, of Norwood. Mr. H C Kindred, of Trinity Medical College, Toronto, brother of the bride, gave her away.

The bride received, in addition to numerous other handsome presents, a beautiful clock from Zion Methodist Church, where she has been organist for some time, and has also been a willing worker in other branches of church service.

After a wedding tour to Toronto and other points Mr. and Mrs. McMillan will settle on the McMillan homestead near Norwood.

The Times joins with a host of friends in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

WEDDED IN CAVENDISH

Nuptials of Miss Maud Higgins and Mr. Edward Nelson Montgomery of Hall's Bridge

On Christmas day a very pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. David Higgins, Cavendish, when his second daughter, Miss Maud, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Nelson Montgomery, of Hall's Bridge.

The bride was handsomely gowned in cream brocade trimmed with chiffon and ribbon and also wore the customary veil. She was attended by Miss Rose Montgomery, sister of the groom, who looked charming in white lace with trimmings of pink. The groom was assisted by his cousin, Mr. John Montgomery. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Isaac Rodman, of Port Perry. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Matchett. The house was handsomely decorated with evergreens and flowers, and was beautifully and tastefully illuminated with a myriad of colored lights.

After the ceremony the guests, who numbered one hundred, partook of a sumptuous wedding supper, and later tripped the light fantastic to the wee sma' hours.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which the happy young couple are held. Mr and Mrs. Montgomery will reside at Hall's Bridge.

MISS RICHARDSON HELD

Grand Jury to Pass on the Charge She Gave Arsenic to Her Mother

Boston, Jan. 15.—This afternoon Judge Bosson of the Chelsea police court announced that he would hold Miss Katharine Richardson for the Grand Jury on the charge of administering arsenic to her mother, Mrs. Mary J. Richardson, at Revere.

Miss Richardson was arrested on Christmas eve, and, according to testimony introduced at the hearing last week, a package of powder was found in her stocking after her arrest, one of the ingredients being arsenic. Counsel for the defense argued that no crime had been committed and introduced medical testimony to show that Mrs. Richardson had not had arsenic. The bail was fixed at $5,000 and this was furnished.

Miss Richardson is likely to experience other court troubles before her case comes up for disposal by the Grand Jury. It is expected that on Friday next she will have to appear in court at Woodsville, N.H., when a hearing is scheduled, on the application for a guardian for Miss Richardson brought by several relatives in Littleton, N.H., who allege that she has been squandering her money. They have already succeeded in tying up some $6,000 from her father's estate.

WHY COAL IS DEAR

The True Reason for the Extortionate Prices Being Charged

OPERATORS ARE TO BLAME

A Rigid Enquiry Should and no Doubt Will Be Made at Once

The Dealers Who Say Pay $6 per Ton and Sell for $10 and $12 also to Come Under the Rod

One of the features of the coal crisis which is specially exasperating to the public is the extortion now practised. Finding the consumers at their mercy a number of mine owners have adopted tactics that are not unlike those of highway robbers. There are two classes of mining concerns—the companies and the independent mining operators. We are accustomed to be told the corporations have no souls or consciences, but in the present instance the companies are least blameworthy. The independent operators, most of whom were under contract with the railways to market their output, have broken away from their agreements, and are selling at the highest figure that they can extort from the public. Their present price is $10.50 a ton, delivered at tidewater. The coal can be profitably mined and placed in cars for $2 a ton. The carrying charges and incidentals average about another $2. Thus ofr what costs about $4 a ton the independent operators are now demanding $10.50, or a profit of $6.50. As they are selling about a million tons a month the extra profit they are realizing monthly out of the coal famine is in the neighborhood of $6,500,000. On the other hand, the companies are still selling coal at $5 a ton tidewater delivery, but their output is altogether inadequate to meet the demands made upon them. Under any circumstances the coal mined by the independent operators is required by the market. The withdrawal of their coal in this crisis from ordinary business and the placing of a fictious value upon it, is, therefore, a double wrong to the public. Objections cannot be taken to a fair profit or even a very considerable margin, but the independent operators have gone far beyond what is reasonable. They have taken advantage of a public misfortune to put their hands deep down into the pockets of the people. Among their machinations there appears to be no present means of protection. The public must either submit to the robbery, or go elsewhere for fuel. But the day of the extortioner is limited. The winter is wearing on, and in spite of some unusual discomfort and, perhaps, worry, we shall shortly have passed through the worst of it. A very vivid and lasting impression will be left on the public mind by the experiences of this extraordinary famine, aggravated as they have been by greed and extortion. There are other winters yet to come, when a strike will not lend its aid to a raid on the public. In those days those who participated in the great coal robbery of the winter of 1902-3 may have reason to regret their action, and to wish it might be forgotten.

We are perhaps better off in Peterborough than many other places, for while coal is high priced, it has always been obtained here. The fact that coal has been sold in Uxbridge and a few other towns even to farmers, at $7, does not prove anything against the dealers, who are, we believe, in nine cases out of ten, forced to pay exhorbitant prices to the operators.

HOW LITTLE REPUBLICS ARE BEING ROBBED

Many Millions Stolen By the Presidents of These Nations

KRUGER'S ENORMOUS WEALTH

The Latter Said to Be $20,000,000 or More—Other Presidents Pile

London, Jan. 15.—When at the end of the eighteenth century the Americans founded a republic, that republic stood every chance of success (as it has proved it with a vengeance), because those Americans, having been brought up in England, that great nursery of liberal and democratic institutions, were already republicans.

The republics of South America, like that of France, are not in that position, unfortunately for them.

Their founders made republics before they made republicans of themselves.

The result is not always edifying.

For example, we see a report which shows that President Castro, during his three years of office as president or dictator of the Venezuelan republic, has accumulated a nest egg of $3,000,000 against the day or retirement or overthrow.

He was penniless when he became president.

Mr. Kruger's fortune is estimated at between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Last April General Simon Sam was deposed from the presidency of Hayti, which he had held since 1896 at a salary of $5,000 per annum.

He is now living comfortably in Paris on the income from $10,000,000 which he had wisely invested in European securities.

Such thrift begets jealousy in political opponents, and is accountable for the constant revolutions in South American republics.

A few year ago Guatemala was rent in twain by the proof that President Barrios had secured $5,000,000 of state money and invested it, in his wife's name, in Europe.

The Guatemalans did not oust Barrios, wisely arguing that he had made his fortune out of them, and that to elect a new president would mean a second fleecing.

On the other hand, most presidents of the United States have left the White House poorer than they were when they entered it, and had to resume their professions in order to pay their butchers' bills and other expenses.

PRINCE POSTPONES DIVORCE

Elopement of His Wife He Thinks Was Due to Mental Aberration

Berlin, Jan. 15.—Newspapers here say that the Crown Prince of Saxony is convinced that the elopement of his wife with M. Giron was due to temporary mental aberration and he is willing to postpone indefinitely his action for a divorce.

He will allow his eldest child to visit his mother. Accounts are printed of Giron's former escapades, including his elopement with the elderly wife of a Parisian banker.

Geneva, Jan. 15.—M. Zehme, counsel for the Crown Princess of Saxony, has issued a statement to the press denying the reports of a dispute between Princess and M. Giron, and declaring that she has no intention of leaving M. Giron.

WORK MORE SAYS MITCHELL

Appeals to the Miners to Help Relieve the Coal Famine

Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—John Mitchell issued to-night a circular letter to all local unions in the anthracite district calling attention to the coal famine on the Eastern seaboard. To relieve the situation he requests that all members of the union co-operate with the management of the mines in an effort to increase the production of coal. He urges that the local unions hold meetings and devise means whereby the daily output of the mines may be increased.

These efforts, he continued, should be continued until the weather moderates and the great necessity for fuel shall have passed. The letter is signed by Mitchell and the presidents of the three anthracite districts.

FARMER PAINTED GREEN

Then Put in a Barn With His Hands Tied—Wife Son and a Neighbor Arrested

Newark, N.J., January 12.—Accused of cruelty to her aged husband, Mrs. Susan Beers of Goodsprings, Warren county, was arraigned today before Judge Shipman. She and her son, Elijah Beers, and Frank Gordon were arrested on the same charge last Saturday by Sheriff Barker. The husband, John Beers, is more than twenty years older than his wife. All three prisoners were remanded for trial next week.

The Beers family had a farm near Goodsprings and when neighbors missed the owner they searched the premises and found him tied hand and foot in a dilapidated barn. His wife and the other prisoners are accused of having put him there. Beer's face was covered with green paint which he said had been daubed on by Gordon. The old man was afterward taken away by two other sons who live at Bushill, Pa.

A SERIOUS FAMINE IN THE NORTH OF SWEDEN

Seventy Thousand People Reduced to Eating Dried Bark of the Pine

Sum of $6,300,000 Is Necessary—Only This Amount will Save the Peasantry from Decimation

London, Jan. 15 —Telegrams from Stockholm, Sweden, confirm the distressing accounts of the famine in Northern Sweden which affects 70,000 persons and extends from the sixty-first to the sixty-seventh degree north latitude, and from the Gulf of Bothnia and the Russian border far into the interior. The starving people are eating pine bark, which is dried, ground to powder, mixed with stewed Iceland moss and made into a kind of famine bread. Coincident with the failure of the crops is the extreme scarcity of fish. The fishermen return from their expeditions empty-handed. Even ptarmigan—grouse of the northern regions—usually found in great numbers in the stricken district, have almost completely disappeared. It is estimated that the expenditure of about $6,300,000 will be necessary to save the population from decimation. Thus far about $300,- has been subscribed, of which over $12,500 was sent by Swedes in the United States. This amount does not include the money necessary to save the cattle or supply seed for the spring sowing.

SHOT HER TRADUCER DEAD

Woman Teacher in a Business College Kills a Man Teacher of a Rival Place

Macon, Ga., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Ella Carson, teacher of telegraphy in the Georgia-Alabama Business College, shot and instantly killed R. A. Rigsby, professor of penmanship in Lanier's Business College, this morning at 11 o'clock. The shooting occurred in the law office of M. G. Bayne in the Washington Block.

Mrs. Carson charged that Rigsby was circulating among the students of Lanier's college a story that she was not of good character and that she had come to Macon from New York on that account. Mrs. Carson emptied the five chambers of her revolver. All the bullets took effect except one. One shot entered the left temple, one behind the right ear, one on the cheek and the other the left side, going through the heart.

The dead man was found in the middle of the room, lying face downward. Mrs. Carson surrendered to the police and is now in jail.

Peterboro' Seniors at Belleville To-Night

The senior Colts go to Belleville tonight. A great deal of interest is being centered in this game as Belleville have a pretty saucy seven. They defeated Port Hope on Port Hope ice last week. Roy D. Schooley will referee the game.

T.A.S. and Lakefield

The line-up of the T.A.S. for tonight against the Lakefield septette will be the same as defeated Bobcaygeon at that place last Saturday, viz.—McCoy, Meagher, Crawley, George, McGrath, Lynch and Parnell. The boys had a light workout last night and are showing up to good advantage. The forward line is exceptionally fast. The game tonight should draw a large crowd, as both teams are playing good hockey, and a close game is expected. Both Lakefield and the T.A.S. have defeated Bobcaygeon.

The "Cults" will not go to Fenelon Falls as the rink cannot be obtained. They will likely have a game next week

The juniors will play in Port Hope tonight.

The Turf Club.

The Turf Club met this afternoon and transacted business. The Secretary reported that 75 entries, all told, had been received, and everything points to a most successful meet. The track is in excellent shape.

A LOVE TRAGEDY IN WESTERN TOWN

Emil Johnston Slays Bena Benson and Also Fatally Injures Himself

HE SHOOTS THE FLEEING GIRL

Pretty Northern Minnesota Belle Instantly Instantly Killed by Her Lover—Insane Over Lost Love

Duluth, Jan. 15.—Love-crazed and desperate, Emil Johnston of Virginia this morning murdered the pretty girl that had refused to marry him.

He then shot himself in the head three times, and cannot live.

The tragedy occurred this morning in the Tower Hotel at Virginia.

After four months of persistent wooing Johnston proposed marriage to Miss Bena Benson last night. She told him she did not care about any man sufficient to marry. This answer made Johnston frantic and he told the girl that if she did not marry him he would kill himself.

This threat was made in such earnestness that Miss Benson became alarmed, and partly agreed to reconsider her answer, advising Johnston to wait until she had time to think it over.

CAN WAIT, NO LONGER

He agreed not to harm himself for a time, but this morning he decided he could not wait longer for an answer.

She replied that her time for consideration was not up, but that she would give him a final answer in a few days.

He demanded an immediately and favorable answer and accompanied the demand with a flourish of a revolver.

The girl, thinking that he was about to carry out his threat of self destruction, turned from him with a shriek of terror.

Instead of pointing the gun at himself, he turned it on her, holding the muzzle within a few feet of her head.

He fired, and Miss Benson fell to the floor dead, the bullet having passed upward through the base of the brain and out the top of the skull.

Johnston knelt beside the girl's body for a moment and then sprang through a light shaft, dropping about twenty feet close to the window of the room he had been occupying.

FIRES AT HIMSELF.

He got up, jumped through the window of the room, in which he landed, and then, turning his revolver on himself, fired two bullets into his head below the ear. He was so nervous that they simply ploughed up ragged wounds across the skull. He then placed the revolver under his chin and fired upward, the ball passing up into the brain and out the top of the head.

Hotel employes, hearing the shooting and crashing glass, found Johnston raving about the floor of the room.

They carried him into an adjoining room and it required the efforts of two men to hold him in bed while the doctors dressed the wounds.

The murdered girl was 22 years of age, very pretty, and quite a belle in her set.

IRISH LANDLORDS AND TENANTS AGREE

What is considered in England as the most notable event that has occurred in Ireland for several generations has been the agreement on the land question by the representative landlords and tenants. The extreme titled land owners, who opposed the Dublin Mansion House conference, have now expressed their approval of Lord Dunraven's report, as they see that the representatives of the tenants are more than willing to go half way in the endeavor to bring about permanent peace in agrarian Ireland. The rental to be dealt with is just over £5,000,000, and the amount the Imperial Government would have to pay for the solution of the great problem would be about £600,000 a year.

Premier Balfour and a majority of the Cabinet agree with the King, that a great effort should now be made to settle the whole question. The desire is advanced by the King that Ireland should be brought into a willing support of the Empire along with Scotland, Wales and other colonies. He wished to have a united empire to face the complications which are constantly arising in Europe and elsewhere, some of which are threatening.

It is not likely that there will be left a faction of opposition to the plan advanced by King Edward or that he will be thwarted in his desire to give that peace to Ireland that will greatly conduce to the welfare of the Irish people.

CARNEGIE'S LIBRARIES

At the dedication of the Washington Library last week, Andrew Carnegie said that he had given 730 library buildings, while about 800 applications are under consideration. He intimated that more of the requests would be granted. To carry out this design will require not far from $40,000,000, in addition to the $35,000,000 expended for the same purpose since 1898. These figures are based on his statement that the average value of his gifts is $50,000.

Probably no such amount of money was ever before devoted to a specific object. As President Roosevelt said at the dedication in Washington on Wednesday, that philanthrophy is the soundest and best which helps men and women to help themselves. By thus placing means and agencies of self-improvement in nearly every English speaking country of the world Mr. Carnegie would have made for himself an enduring fame, even had he no other claim upon the attention of posterity.

CAPT. MORRISON'S CAMMANDOES

It is understood that the minister of militia is engaged in drafting proposed amendments to the militia act which will practically reorganize the Canadian militia, says the Hamilton Spectator. It is said that he is carefully studying the commando question, and thinks well of the idea.

A dispatch from Ottawa says that to Capt. E. W. B. Morrison, of the Second Field Battery, who gained his Distinguished Service Order by repeated proofs of dashing gallantry and cool daring on the field, belongs the credit of originating the suggestion that the commando system be seriously looked into.

Capt. Morrison's suggestion is that in the country districts there should be an organization similar to the Boer commando, identified as far as possible with the municipal organization of the counties and townships. Each township and county should be expected to enroll and parade at least one day each year, probably Dominion day, its quota of mounted men, under their own leaders, who should, as far as possible, be the leading public men of the district. The men should be furnished each with a rifle and bandolier by the government, and be expected to furnish their own horses and saddles. Each farm, according to acreage, should be expected to furnish one or more horsemen at each muster, or forfeit a small sum.

The scheme is received, as far as can be ascertained by inquiry among military officers here, with what may be termed almost unqualified satisfaction. The minister is committed, in any case, to the raising of a militia reserve in Canada which will give the country a fighting force of 100,000 men.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A curious old marriage custom, called locally "the settling," still survives in County Donegal, Ireland, and in the Scottish districts of Kintyre and Cowal. After the marriage has been publicly announced, the friends of the couple meet at the house of the bride's parents to fix a suitable date for the ceremony. A bottle of whisky is opened, and as each guest drinks to their happiness he names a date. When each guest has named a date an average is struck, and "settling" is complete. And there is never any "kicking" over the decision.

The London house which W. K. Vanderbilt has given to his daughter, Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, will cost, including fittings, but not furniture, $2,500,000, according to the London Express. It is to be called Blandford House, after the title of the Duchess' eldest son. The house, which is rectangular in shape, is 100 feet long, by 65 feet broad, has five doors, 100 windows, fifty rooms, and a ballroom-picture gallery 90 feet long. The hall and grand staircase will be marble, ground floor tiled; panels of carved wood predominant. Sculpture will be the great feature of decoration, many niches being left inside for the reception of statues. It need scarcely be added that all modern appointments in elevators, billiard rooms, and self-contained bedbath rooms will be there. The work has already been in progress two years, but, in spite of the Duchess' hopes for next season, the house will not be ready before January, although there are 150 workmen employed, including a small batch of French stone and wood carvers.

NOTE.—The Times does not hold itself in any way responsible for the opinions expressed by its correspondents.—Ed. Times.

A QUESTIONABLE GRANT

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—At the inaugural meeting of the Council, a deputation consisting of Messrs. Robt. Neill and W. G. Morrow asked for a grant from the town in order to give "a hearty reception and a good time to some twenty-five Scotch curlers who were going to visit Peterborough." I, for one of the great majority of ratepayers, protest against this proposed wilful waste of the people's money. If these rich Scotch gentlemen are on pleasure bent, no doubt they are quite able and willing to pay their own expenses, and if the gentlemen represented by this deputation are desirous of spreading themselves and giving a big blowout, let them buy their own cocktails, and not seek to have a big time at the expense of the over-burdened taxpayers. Such unsportsmanlike conduct should be frowned down.

Mayor Roger stated that the Council would take immediate action in the matter. It is to be hoped that the action he meant will be to refuse such a cheeky request, in obedience to the wishes of the electorate generally, otherwise Mr. Roger's action will be a most suicidal one to both himself and the town, for there is no telling where such expenditure will end, and this, his first act, will augur badly for his administration.

A ROMANCE.

titude and affection for her "dear uncle' so persistently that he was forced to tolerate his presence on all occasions when he chose to inflict himself upon them. That very morning, however, he had gone up to London for a few days, much to the satisfaction of the master of the Hall.

Cecil Courtenaye went to his room, arrayed himself in the regulation dinner costume, read a column in the London Times, then went out to the gardens for a button-hole bouquet. He had not heard of the arrival of the expected guests, so that it was a great surprise to him when he went into the drawing-room to have Sir Wilfred Hale spring up and shake him cordially by the hand.

Then Lady Leigh claimed his attention, and while he was talking to her he saw a tall, slender figure in white standing by his mother's chair. He whispered hurriedly to Lady Leigh:

"Whom have you brought us?"

"An old acquaintance of yours, whom I found in the United States and brought home with me," she whispered back, hurriedly, as she took his arm and led him forward.

Cecil found himself standing before a young girl with a slim yet stately figure draped statuesque-wise in a fine white cashmere robe slashed with white silk. She wore no ornaments upon her round white arms, that were molded as finely and exquisitely as if copied from a study in marble, nor upon the slender, graceful column of her white throat. It almost seemed as if the absence of all ornament was intentional, that the perfect beauty might be more remarkable. Heavy braids of dark silken hair were looped at the back of the proudly set head, and when she turned toward him he saw a bright, small, enchanting face lighted up by wondrous dark eyes, and lovely lips tinted with rich scarlet bloom like a pomegranate flower.

Cecil Courtenaye stared at the dusky smiling face like one bewildered, his own handsome features grew strangely pallid. He stepped back a pace, his blue eyes fixed immovably upon the beautiful girl.

Lady Leigh laughed—a soft, amused little laugh.

"Cecil, you are an ingrate!" she cried. "Have you indeed forgotten Hilda Aylesford?"

Cecil drew a long breath.

"Miss Aylesford, is it indeed you!" he cried. "You must pardon me, for my failure to recognize you was a compliment. You have grown so lovely that I scarcely knew you. Then, too, I believed you dead."

He took the slender, ringless hand, beautiful enough for a sculptor's model, and touched it to his lips. Hilda felt them tremble as they touched it.

"I cannot tell you how glad I am to see you alive, and in England. I believed you dead," he repeated.

Hilda smiled and blushed, more at his look that at his words.

"I was not dead, you see,' she said, carelessly, to hide her deep emotion; "I had only run away."

"And Lady Leigh found you," said Cecil.

"No, Sir Wilfred found me," said Hilda, and she looked across the room at her friend, who was watching her, with a gleam of tender gratitude in her starry, dark eyes.

Cecil caught the gentle look, and a pang pierced his heart. He remembered how much Sir Wilfred had always admired the shy, untutored mountain girl, and predicted that she would grow into a peerless beauty.

"And she has," Cecil thought to himself, while that sudden jealous pang quivered in his heart. "She has the most soulful face I ever beheld, and her form is statue-like in its rare grace and perfection. Sir Wilfred has found her, and he was won her heart. This lovely creature—the only woman I ever loved—will be his wife."

"Lady Leigh," he said, with outward calmness, "you must tell me how Sir Wilfred found her, will you not? I am all impatience to know. I am quite sure it is a romantic story."

"Yes, it is," said her ladyship. "I will tell it to you some time, but I cannot now, for I see the earl coming to us, and I must present Hilda to him."

The earl looked at the beautiful, graceful visitor in surprise and admiration. He started when he heard her name.

"Surely it is not the Hilda Aylesford who was supposed to be dead," he cried, looking earnestly at her.

"It is the same," said her ladyship, enjoying his surprise and admiration. "It was a mistaken notion about her death."

The earl took the girl's hand in his, and pressed it fervently.

"Miss Aylesford, I am very glad to know you," he said, in his most cordial manner. "I have heard such brave things of you that I have longed to know you. They have told me of your brave and daring deeds, but they did not tell me that your person was as lovely as your soul."

"My lord, you flatter me," Hilda said, drooping her spirited face, now glowing with painful blushes.

"Forgive me, little one," laughed the earl, rather pleased than otherwise at her graceful modesty. "I did not know you were so shy. But here comes your cousin, who will rejoice to meet you again, I am very sure."

The door had opened, admitting Lady Florence, who had, as usual, lingered later at her toilet than any one else. Her maid had told her of the arrival of the expected guests, and her dress was even more elaborate than usual. A costly azure satin trailed its sweeping lengths after her upon the velvet carpet, and glittering diamonds loaded her neck, arms, and breast.

She swept into the room, throwing a curious glance around her for the young girl whom she had instinctively feared and dreaded as a rival, but she only caught a glimpse of a white dress, for Sir Wilfred and his sister came forward to speak to her, and intercepted her view of the newcomer.

The earl looked on anxiously as the group fell away from his granddaughter, permitting her an unobstructed view of Hilda. He fancied that Florence would be filled with joy at the meeting with the noble young girl with whom she had been reared as a sister.

Hilda rose and made a few paces forward as her cousin turned toward her. Florence moved toward her haughtily and proudly at first,

Notice of allotment will be sent promptly by ordinary letter.

It is intended to apply to the Stock Exchanges in New York, Boston, Montreal and Toronto for the listing of the stock of the company.

The CANADIAN STEEL AND COAL COMPANY was organized to mine and manufacture iron and coal, coke and steel in Canada at Atlantic tidewater.

The raw materials for these manufactures are:—

1.—COAL. 2.—IRON. 3.—LIMESTONE.

All these materials we have at hand.

1.—COAL.

The Company controls 3,000 acres of excellent coal areas in the Province of Nova Scotia, and efforts are being made to increase this to 10,000 acres by the purchase of some very valuable additional coal fields.

The coal has been thoroughly tested and found to be suitable in every way for the manufacture of iron and steel, and the supply is practically inexhaustible. The following analysis was made by the Canadian Geological Survey:—

ANALYSIS.

Moisture	4 05
Vol. Comb. Matter	30.72
Fixed Carbon	60.
Ash	5.23
	100.00

COAL VEINS.

The several layers or seams of coal available aggregate 27 to 30 feet in thickness.

TITLES.

These areas are held under C a Lease for a period of 80 years. Royalty 10 cents per ton of coal sold.

2.—IRON.

The Company has acquired by purchase immense iron deposits on the North Shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 1350 miles from Sydney. The deposits are estimated to contain 20,000,000 ton re above sea level, with probably as much more below that line. The iron can be handled for $1.00 per ton or less. Quantities of this ore have been shipped to Great Britain and the United States, where it has given great satisfaction, and we can sell large quantities f. o. b. at the properties, netting us a profit of $2.00 per ton. This ore makes the finest steel.

3.—FLUX.

We are now negotiating for valuable deposits of dolomite and limestone of the most satisfactory quality, situated on the tide-water, within 100 miles of the works

MARKETS.

For six months in each year the Canadian markets can be reached by water at low freight rates, and at all times by rail. As Cape Breton is distant from Liverpool only about 2,300 miles; is nearer to Pernambuco, Brazil, than any point in the United States, and also nearer to Cape Town, South Africa, it has the advantage, in point of distance, for export business over any American steel-producing points, which, with scarcely any exceptions, are situated some distance from tide water Under any conditions of the world's market, it is believed that the output of these works can be disposed of at satisfactory prices.

OUTPUT

When in full operation, the output is expected to be about as follows:—

1. IRON.—200,000 tons iron ore shipped direct from property, showing net profit of $2.00 per ton, total	$400,000 00
200,000 tons fine iron ore shipped in briquettes, showing net profit of $4.00 per ton, total	800,000 00
100,000 tons steel blooms, showing net profit of $3.00 per ton, total	300,000 00
2. COAL.—600,000 tons coal, showing net profit, at least, of $1.00 per ton, total	600,000 00
3. AIDS.—Government bounties (averaged) added to above per year for 6 years	100 000 00
Total yearly revenue	$2,200,000 00

GOVERNMENT AIDS.

To encourage the manufacture in the Dominion of iron and steel the Parliament of Canada has granted bounties as follows:—

	ON PIG IRON.	ON STEEL.
Apl. 21st, 1902, to July 1st, 1903	$2.70	$2.70
July 1st, 1903, " " 1904	2.25	2.25
July 1st, 1904, " " 1905	1.65	1.65
July 1st, 1905, " " 1906	1.05	1.05
July 1st, 1906, " " 1907	.60	.60

If the production of steel from the Company's works be as estimated, 300,000 tons per annum, the bounties to be received from the Canadian Government will be as follows:—

1904	$325,000
1905	215,000
1906	145,000
1907	85,000

or an average of $100,000.00 per annum for 6⅔ years........ $670,000.00

NET REVENUE

Total net annual profits		$2,200,000.00
LESS FIXED CHARGES:—
7 per cent. interest on preferred stock	$70,000.00
Sinking Fund	60,000.00
Incidentals	25,000.00
		155,000.00
Net yearly profits		$2,045,000.00

Equivalent to yearly dividends of over 30 per cent., or 15 per cent. half yearly on total capitalization.

If the capitalization was increased to .... $20,000,000.00 this estimate would still show a dividend-earning capacity of 10 per cent. per annum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Coal Co. is .... $20,000,000.00 earning fully 12 per cent., and is paying 8 per cent. guaranteed dividends on this enormous sum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. is...... $28,000,000.00 on which it is believed 6 per cent. dividends will be earned.

The capitalization of the Canadian Steel & Coal Company is only $6,000,000.00 controlling, it is believed, equally valuable properties, and it is reasonable to expect much larger dividends.

Within the last few months Dominion Coal shares common rose in market value from $40 to $144 per share, and Dominion Iron & Steel Company's share common rose over $30 per share in market value.

With such low capitalization the Canadian Steel and Coal Co's shares should show tremendous profits, and it is confidently believed they will.

STOCK MARKETS

MARKET RESTING PROCESS OF DIGESTION.

New York, Jan. 16.—There is a temporary halt in the upward movement. It is a most natural thing to expect after the immense amount of stock that has been poured out in the very recent decline. The advance so far has distributed some of this stock, and it is gradually being digested and taken up in large amounts by investors who have since the first of the month received their semi-annual dividends and interest. This will give this floating supply of stock a most strong resting place. Prices are held in check so as not to discourage this purchasing process; bankers also are glad to check matters, speculation having expanded too fast, so much so that money might have been tightened up by heavy buying. The rest will do the market good and at the rate of absorption, as it now is the halt will be but trifling in duration. Stocks are very cheap, too low to sell, not high enough to refuse to buy, and cheap enough to be attractive. During such rest periods some particular issues are specially attractive to trade in. The last such a period was noticeable by quite an active upward movement in sugar and copper. These movements we promptly advised you of in these letters. Manhattan stock seems to be the particular specialty so handled at the present time. We advised its purchase most strongly a few days ago, and still do so as we believe it is going higher. It has already risen five points since we picked it out and first notified you that it was again a purchase. The downward movement in Reading appears to be pretty near to its termination, and it should be a purchase to put away and forget, until it is up nearly to par. There are great things ahead of Reading and other anthracite coalers. All the hard coal stocks are good to buy at present. The Pacific stocks all look well also. We are still of the opinion that a considerable rise is directly ahead of these stocks. There will be no notable set back to prices in our opinion. There will be advances of some proportions in many of the current stocks. It is a perfectly safe time to buy into the market. Those who will do so at present will make considerable money.

Summary—Dealings were small in volume today with price movements more or less aimless. Prices were inclined to sag and insiders made no apparent effort to check them. In fact there was next to no market at all, and prices were next door to unchanged. A little spurt in A. C. P. livened up things a bit, the stock advancing a point and one half. Very little real stock appears for sale when recessions occur. Phantom offerings by the bears appear to be all there is in sight. The banks have been again making gains in cash this week. A good bank statement is expected on Saturday. We remain bullish on the situation and thinks stocks are a purchase on all soft spots. Money closed 2 1-2 and 2 per cent. Sales 536,300.

ROTTERDAM RESCUED THE CREW OF THE PIONEER

For Two Weeks The Men on Board Were Buffeted in Mid Ocean in Great Danger

New York, Jan. 13—The crew of the schooner Pioneer has been rescudd in mid-ocean by the s.s. Rotterdam, according to a detailed message received here today. The Pioneer, on Dec. 4, left Exploit Harbor, Nfld., for St. John's, Nfld., and with a cargo of wood on board was blown out of her course and disabled. For two weeks she drifted, her crew living in light rations of fish and flour, till her distress signals were seen by the Rotterdam. The latter ship lowered a boat at a great risk, and brought on board the captain and crew of the Pioneer. The schooner, being a menace to navigation, was set on fire by the crew of the Rotterdam, which then proceeded on her voyage, and landed the rescued men at Rotterdam Christmas eve.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say;

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz, and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of FIVE CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at FIVE CENTS is short.

PRICE ADVANCES TO 10c. JANUARY 19th.

Should be Stopped

What came nearly being a serious accident on Wednesday by a team being driven furiously around the corner of George and Hunter streets, is becoming too frequent, and should be stopped. There are more upsets, runaways and other accidents from such a cause than from all other kinds of driving. It would be well for our police to make an example of the first guilty Jehu.

A Lively Runaway

A horse attached to E. Brown & Co.'s delivery sleigh started yesterday afternoon from McAllister's Mill, and made things extremely interesting. He ran across the bridge to Peterborough on Hunter street, turned south at George street, circled around a block or two, and again ran south on George street, then west on Simcoe street. The horse was captured after it had run for a long distance. There were several very narrow escapes. Part of the way the horse ran on the sidewalk, and it seems a miracle some one was not killed or injured. At China Hall two boys had a close call, and a collision with a cutter driven by Mrs. Geo. N. Graham was avoided by only a hairsbreadth. Fortunately no one was injured, and little damage was done to either horse rig, or harness.

—On exhibition in the Times Bookstore window there is a beautiful picture of "His Holiness, Pope Leo XIII." This picture is the same as agents are selling around town and through the country for 75c. Our price while they last is only 25c. Sent by mail for 5c extra. Order early to secure a copy.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASELS

The Disease Raging in Apsley and the North Country

A letter received from Apsley by The Times states that there is an epidemic of measles raging in the north country. In Apsley almost every house is placarded, while many families in the neighborhood are afflicted. In many houses all the inmates are ill.

Fortunately the disease is of a mild type and so far no deaths are reported.

IN THE SAME BOAT

Mr. D. O'Connell, of Peterborough and Reeve Booth, of Burleigh

A great many cases similar to that of Mr. D. O'Connell, of Peterborough, appear to exist throughout the Province. Reeve Booth, of Burliegh, was a School Trustee previous to his becoming a candidate for the Reeveship and not knowing it was necessary to resign, now finds another election necessary. He has resigned both positions and a new election has been ordered. Mr. Booth will again be a candidate for the Reeveship and will doubtless be returned unopposed.

MONEY FOR GOOD ROADS

Simcoe County Will Be Given $50,000 to Improve Highways

Simcoe will be the first county to receive a grant from the million dollar good roads fund, which was set apart by the Ontario Government the session before last. A bylaw has been passed there to take over four hundred miles of township roads and organize a county system. They will receive from the Government $50,000.

Wentworth County has put in an application for a good roads grant. To construct a county roads system $96,000 has been raised and their share of the grant will be $30,000.

The County of Lanark also proposes to fall into line and will get $35,000.

"MEN I HAVE MET."

An Eloquent Lecture by Attorney-General Longley, of Nova Scotia

The audience which assembled last evening in the Y.M.C.A Hall to listen to the lecture by Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, enjoyed a rare intellectual treat. The speaker handled his subject, "Men I Have Met," in a very entertaining manner. Mr. John Jeffries, B. A President of the Fortnightly Club occupied the chair, and introduced the lecturer of the evening.

The Club certainly deserves credit for bringing to Peterborough such able lecturers, and the public should take advantage of the opportunities thus afforded them.

In Lindsay lectures of a similar character, are extremely popular and well attended.

At the close of the lecture, on motion of Mr. Sheriff Hall, seconded by Mr. D. W. Dumble, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker for the able and entertaining address.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

—A Peterborough boy says coasting down hill is good fun, but it has its drawbacks.

—Charlotte street Church Guild meets this evening, when Mr. R. M. Dennistoun will give an address on "Success."

—Keene's first carnival for the season will be held this evening. Peterborough will probably be well represented. Good prizes will be given for races and costumes.

—Miss Little, the student Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. will give an address at the public meeting this evening, and will also have charge of the Sunday afternoon service.

—A banquet was tendered by the citizens of Havelock last night to Mr. D. M. Stewart, general manager, and the local staff of the Sovereign Bank of Canada.

—The Peterborough High and Public schools will re-open on Monday, January 19, after a four week's vacation. The schools have been well disinfected, and there is practically no further danger of an epidemic.

—A banquet will be held on Friday evening, January 23, at the Oriental Hotel, by the Iron Moulder's Union of Peterborough. The banquet will begin at 9.30, and promises to be a very important social function.

—H. LeBrun & Co's store had a narrow escape from flooding by the bursting of a waterpipe on Thursday morning about half past two. Fortunately the leak occurred where less harm was done than if it had been in any other part of the store.

—Belleville City Council has dismissed all the civic officials. On Feb. 28th, new appointments will be made. Possibly some may be re-appointed, but the affair has created a decided sensation.

—Two girls desiring board, or furnished rooms without board, can be accommodated in a comfortable home, where no other boarders are kept. Only five minutes walk of the Post-office. Apply for address to Times Bookstore.

—The funeral of the youngest daughter of Mrs. Nathan McIlmoyle took place on Wednesday from the residence of Mr. Geo. Downer, Rink st. The child was only six months old. Their many friends will extend their warmest sympathy.

—A large party of young people, to the number of about seventy-five had a very pleasant party at the residence of Mr. John Deyell, jr., of Otonabee, on Wednesday evening last. Amongst those present were some from Peterborough. An extremely enjoyable time was spent.

—Mr. H. K. Bradley, who has been at St. Paul, Minn., attending the annual convention of the International Garment Cutters' Association of America, has received some very tempting offers to leave Peterborough and become designer of patterns for a Chicago firm and may accept. While we congratulate Mr. Bradley we regret the probability of his departure from Peterborough.

—Complaints have been made to The Times of a dangerous ridge of snow and ice on the pavement on George street, between Mr. Madill's drug store and Mr. Dickson's dry goods store. Each of these gentlemen do their duty, but between the two stores is a hallway, opposite which this ridge is left. The proper parties should see that it is attended to.

—The Times has received from the Intercolonial Railway of Canada a handsome calendar for 1903. The lithograph which adorns the calendar is a fac-simile of a design of a moose head burned into a wooden panel, giving a striking effect. the moosehead lending itself very appropriately to this branch of illustrative art, which is an imitation of pyrography or burnt work. The country through which this railroad runs for many miles is recognized as the "home of moose," the king of the Canadian forest, just as the Intercolonial Railway is regarded as one of the foremost in Canada. We extend our hearty thanks for the calendar, and our best wishes for a good year's business by this up-to-date railroad.

DON'T LISTEN

To what people say when they would discourage your hope of exchanging womanly weakness and sickness for perfect health. Women who have been invalids for years, scarcely able to be up half the time, and the other half of their time spent in bed, have been made healthy, hearty women by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the womanly diseases which undermine the strength. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"With pleasure I send a few lines to let you know that I feel much better than for eight years before taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. Pierce Geise, of 822 West Philadelphia Street, York, Penn'a. "Will recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine to every person who may inquire as to what it has done for me. I was troubled with female weakness and began to think I would never be well. If I had continued the treatment prescribed by my doctor I don't know what would have become of me. When your treatment was commenced my weight was 108 lbs.; at present it is 130. Have healthy color and my friends say I look well. My best thanks to you and my best wishes too, for what you have done for me."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

A DOCTOR'S BANQUET

500 Friends as Guests

When Dr. N. S. Davis, Dean Emeritus of the Northwestern University, recaled his 80th birthday the event was celebrated with a banquet at the Auditorium Hotel, Chicago, with 500 invited guests. As most of his long life has been spent studying health, Dr. Davis is an authority on the subject. In one of his recently published articles, he says:

The almost constant sense of weariness impels many workers to resort to the use of strong tea and coffee, the stimulants in which appear to offer relief for from 1 to 2 hours, but which only add to their ultimate misery by impairing digestion and causing restless sleep at night."

"This is the truth in a nut-shell," writes a young lady authoress of Wheaton, Ills., "and it decided me to begin using Postum Food Coffee in place of tea and coffee. I had suffered from impaired digestion and wakeful nights, was tired all the time and my brain refused to respond to the demand made upon it by my profession.

"Almost from the first I felt benefited by Postum and am now 100 per cent. better, brain clearer, digestion never better, weight increased 27 pounds, sleep soundly all night and awake refreshed in mind and body.

"My improvement has been so very great that at least 20 of my acquaintances have adopted Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There is sure relief from stomach and bowel diseases and weak heart when caused by coffee if coffee is left off and Postum adopted.

Cynicism of Girls of To-day.

"I have been unpleasantly impressed lately by the cynical bitterness of up-to-date young women," remarked a woman of experience. "With older people who have been soured by frequent disappointments—who have had their hopes frustrated, and who have been crowded to the wall more or less by fortune's favorites, it does not seem altogether unnatural that they should become caustic and critical, and question their acquaintances' motives and springs of action; but there is something very sad to me to hear the young, who surely should be unsuspicious and have faith in humanity, discuss the frailties of their friends with the satirical acumen of women of the world. The good old fashion of keeping the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil away from young girls seems to be obsolete. 'See and judge for yourselves' is the axiom of the new dispensation, and the result certainly does not improve their trust in human nature. Bitterness in old or young generally argues disappointment; those who are successful are apt to be more kindly disposed to their fellows; they have no time in their pleasurable lives to notice the frailties of their acquaintances. People who are self-centered, too, are rarely censorious; their own affairs occupy them too much, and they do not think enough of others to judge them; but that an unkindly, critical spirit is rife among the young girls in upper tendom no one who listens to their chatter nowadays can doubt."

A Western farmer in the flood district watching his mortgaged house and barn fall over and float down the river, remarked: "That represents my floating indebtedness."—New York "Tribune."

The Seething Question of Macedonia and the Passage to the Dardanelles

May break Out in a Terrible Conflict at Almos any Moment Involving Europe

London, Jan. 16.—Accounts from Russia describe popular feeling in that country as stirred up by reports of the sufferings of the people of Macedonia, that the Government is beginning to feel the same pressure that drove the Emperor Alexander II. into the war of 1877. Now, as then official Russia, and for cogent reasons, is unwilling to have recourse to arms, and has therefore associated itself with Austria to bring their joint influence to bear at Constantinolpe to try to induce the Sultan in his own interest to remedy the ills affecting the long-suffering Macedonians. All over Russia the Slavonic Benevolent Society is making appeals to the people and receiving large sums of money for the relief of Macedonian refugees in Bulgaria, the Russian Government is being urged to send the Red Cross agents to Macedonia to render aid to the sufferers on the spot. It all depends upon the Sultan whether this agitation will have a serious issue and take things out of the channel of diplomacy at an early date.

The present is not the moment, however, that the Russian Govern- would choose to begin warlike operations, even were it so disposed. The Black Sea harbors are encumbered ice, and for at least two months more the Balkan country is unfavorable for campaigning; and there is, therefore, still time for the griefs of the Macedonians to be settled peacefully. But associated with them is a matter which in any case is likely to give rise to some disturbance in the politics of southeastern Europe.

It is no longer a secret that the Russian Government considers the time has come to release itself from the obligations concerning the Black Sea fleet imposed by the Treaty of Paris in 1856 after the Crimean War. The clause binding Russia not to construct a war fleet in the Black Sea was denounced immediately after the France-German war, but that forbidding Russian warships to enter into it from or pass out of the Mediterranean remained. It is now intended to get rid of this last restriction and the formal demand on the Sultan for permission for four torpedo boats to pass from the Mediterranean to the Black Sea is the first step in raising the question.

The British Government, being naturally interested in preventing a disturbance of the equilibrium in the Mediterranean, has protested vigorously at Constantinople, but up to the present has not been supported by any of the other Powers signatory of the Treaty of Paris. Under the circumstances, therefore, there does not appear any reason to apprehend disturbance of the peace of Europe over the military aspect of the question of the Dardanelles; if any trouble should occur it would be in the event of an armed intervention by Austria and Russia and put an end to the disorders in Macedonia and Albania. The other question is a matter for diplomatic arrangement unless the British Government sees fit to follow up its protest single handed and oppose the passage of Russian warships through the Dardanelles, either way, by force. But that is hardly probable for no one Government unsupported would venture lightly to break the peace when there are so many powerful reasons for maintaining it. It should not be difficult to find other means for redressing the balance of power in the Mediterranean which would be deranged by the new conditions.

The question that would be raised by the attempt to force the passage of the Dardanelles by a steamer of the Egyptian Khedival line, which Constantinople correspondents reports is to be made by the steamer that left Alexandria, is of another order and is connected with the yet unsettled Egyptian question.

Colony for the North-West.

Large Body of English People to Settle in the Saskatchewan Valley

London, Jan. 16.—Rev. Mr. Lloyd writes to the Times announcing that the movement to settle a large body of English people in the Saskatchewan Valley is assuming national proportions. The Colonial Continental Church Society has provided a resident clergyman for the settlement. The Society for the Propagation of Christian Knowledge is making a grant of books, and it is expected, will help to erect wooden church buildings. Mr. Lloyd appeals for money to help erect four wooden school churches, which will be placed in the center of 2 square miles reserved for the settlement by the Canadian Government.

London, Jan. 16.—The breakdown of the South African cables at a critical moment provokes renewed demand for State-managed lines. The Daily Mail says the ingluence of the Pacific cable will assuredly make itself felt for good if it succeeds in vivifying some of the older private concerns to a better realization of what they owe the public in return for their monopoly and will achieve much, quite apart from the strategic idea which gave birth to the All-Red cable.

JAPAN ANGRY.

Japanese advices show deep indignation in Japan at the attitude of British Columbia towards the Japs. The Anglo-Japanese Gazette says: "The Japanese will not forget this attempted exclusion of their fellow-countrymen, based on the very principles for practising which Japan incurred forty years ago the wrath of Europe and America when Japanese tried to exclude Occidentals, and were compelled at the point of the bayonet to open their ports."

THE YELLOW SCOURGE.

Regarding the proposed introduction of Chinese to the South African mines under the patronage of the British Government, English journals point to the experience of British Columbia as evidence of the danger of the step, and say the effect of Chinese labor is wholly bad, while reducing wages to such an extent that white labor rises in revolt.

BOYCOTTED.

The Daily Express attempts to create a sensation today by a disclosure of the efforts of British army officers to boycott colonials who were granted commissions. The Express says Mr. Brodrick and Lord Roberts have already taken prompt steps to check the snobbery. Gen. Kelly-Kenney, adjutant-general, has issued a memorandum to commanding officers to stop blackballing, as unity and good understanding with the colonies is damaged by such unwarrantable conduct towards good and deserving men. Nevertheless, the Express alleges fresh cases have arisen where colonials were practically driven from the service by cleverly applied ostracism. As a consequence colonial officers are leaving the British army for such outside forces as the Egyptian army, the West India Regiment, and the King's African Rifles. The Express refrains from publishing the names, and official quarters assume ignorance of specific cases.

The Complete Referendum Vote Reaches 199,692

A special despatch from North Bay announces the official referendum returns for East Nipissing, which completes the figures for the whole Province. The vote in that constituency was: For, 615; against, 431. This brings the total vote in favor of the liquor act up to 199,692; against, 103,482, giving a majority for the act of 96,210. The delay in East Nipissing was due to bad transportation facilities from the Temiskaming region, the returns having been originally delayed by the unsafe ice during the freezing-up period.

A. A. Howlett of Syracuse Has a Novel Plan for His Birthday

Syracuse, Jan. 17—A. A. Howlett, the veteran bank president and business man, has issued invitations to about 100 widows, who are to help him to celebrate his eigty-second birthday anniversary on Feb. 17. No man will be there save the host.

Every widow whose husband Mr. Howlett has known has been asked. Mr. Howlett says:

"Widows are too often left out of society. I've been in business ever since 1840, and I have known a great many widows. There'll be widows from New York, Chicago, Duluth, Oswego and other places. And they'll all be prominent people. We won't have a man in the house. I am going to have a ladies' orchestra, a woman caterer, women waitresses and I am looking for a woman to take care of the furnace."

Mr. Howlett will banish his son and grandson from the house.

350 HORSES POISONED

That's the Record of Two Years in Williamsburg—Done By a Business Rival

New York, Jan. 16.—So many horses have been poisoned with arsenic lately in the Jewish neighborhood of Williamsburg that the police of the Stagg street station are going to make a determined effort to find the culprit. According to Dr. Isaac Wertheimer, a veterinary surgeon, of 156 Seigel street, at least 350 horses have been poisoned in the last two years.

"The crime," said Dr. Wertheimer to a reporter last night, "has become so pronounced that only a determined effort on the part of the police will stamp it out. There is no doubt that the poisoner is a business rival of the man whose horses have been killed.

"Max Cooper of Manhattan avenue and Moore street, a produce dealer, has lost fourteen horses by poisoning, the poison in each case having been arsenic, administered to the animal either in oats, bran or oil meal. A large number of business men in Brownsville have lost horses.

"The latest victim in Williamsburg is Joseph Wittenstein, of 46 Siegel street, whose two horses were poisoned on Monday and died on Tuesday.

"A number of arrests of suspects have been made from time to time, but there never was sufficient evidence to connect them with the poisonings and they were discharged in the police courts. I have now under my care many horses that have been poisoned with arsenic."

Permanent Cure for Neuralgia

Experienced sufferers state that no remedy relieves neuralgia so quickly as a hot application of Polson's Nerviline, the strongest liniment made. Nerviline is certainly very penetrating and has a powerful influence over neuralgia pains, which it destroys almost at once. Nerviline is highly recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, and Toothache. Better, try a 25c. bottle, it's all right.

ROYALTY TO VISIT THE EMERALD ISLE

King and Queen Very Popular and Will Do Their Part to Settle Ireland's Woes

London, Jan. 16.—It has practically been decided that the King and Queen are to visit troubled and troublous Ireland after Easter.

Despite the unpopularity of the Dublin Castle Government, the King and Queen are personally very popular among the masse of Ireland.

Wherefore Their Majesties will receive a warm reception on their visit

Their Majesties will stop at the vice-regal lodge during their stay in Dublin, and later on they are to visit the Duke of Devonshire at Lismore Castle, near Waterford, and Lord Londonderry at Mount Stewart, near Belfast.

The King is said to be very much annoyed at the failure of the Cabinet to bring about a better state of affairs in Ireland, and it is reported that upon several occasions he strongly intimated to the Cabinet that he considered their policy in Ireland highly injudicious.

It is reported that it was the King who caused the appointment of Sir Patrick MacDonnell to be permanent under secretary for Ireland, an official who is the "power behind the throne" in Dublin Castle.

MacDonnell is the man who brought order out of chaos in India, and it is expected that he will be able to discover a way to settle the turmoil of Ireland.

He is a broad minded, able, liberal administrator, and, being of Irish descent, understands the temper and desires of the Irish people better than any Dublin Castle administrator for many years.

THE COUNCIL MIXUP

To the Editor of The Times:—

Dear Sir,—I notice in your paper of Friday that Reeve Booth, of Burleigh has resigned, as he was a school trustee when elected to the Reeveship, which made his election illegal, and you say that Mr. D. O'Connell, of town is in the same boat. If so, then why does not Mr. O'Connell resign at once? He must know that he cannot be an Alderman and a School Trustee.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,

FAIR PLAY.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—In yours of yesterday I notice an article comparing the positions of Mr. D. O'Connell, of town, and Reeve Booth, of Apsley. To one who is not a lawyer it appears like this: If Mr. O'Connell was not eligible, as a candidate at the time of his election there is no necessity for any action on his part, and the vacancy would be filled by Mr. McGregor, who came next as regards votes, to the Aldermen who were actually elected. This would seem to be justice, whether or not it is the legal course to pursue.

TWO FUNNY INCIDENTS

How a Lady Cover d Her Overdraft in a Local Bank

Several bank clerks were seated in the back parlors of the Palace Cafe the other evening, and the conversation turned upon peculiar incidents in banking life.

One of them remarked: "A very comical occurrence took place at our bank recently. A lady who is well known as a business-like little body carries an account with us which was recently overdrawn to the extent of about $150. We sent her the usual notice that she had overdrawn and asked her to come down and settle up. As I said, she is a business woman from the word 'go,' and the next morning she appeared at the bank and handed one of our men a check for the amount she had overdrawn.

"Well, where's the point to that narrative? asked one of the party, after the banker had presumably ended his story.

"The point," said the speaker, "lies in the fact that the check with which she proposed to pay her overdraft was drawn on our institution, the very bank on which she had overdrawn her account."

After the party had wet their whistles another chimed in with: "You should have seen the young lady who visited our bank just before Christmas. She had been given a check for a snug amount by her father as a Christmas gift. She passed it to the paying teller who handed it back to her with the curt announcement, 'You'll have to endorse this.' 'Why, this is a Christmas present from papa,' said the young lady, somewhat embarrassed. 'Well, write your name on the back,' responded the teller. The young woman went to one of the desks, wrote a few words on the back of the check, returned and triumphantly handed the paper to the teller. What she had written was 'Papa to Grace, Christmas, 1902.'"

An Attractive Window

In the window of Mr. E. Brown, & Co., grocers, is a very attractive display of seasonable goods. The window is outlined and subdivided by a number of packages of cereals, such as Malta-Vita and Quaker Oats and the spaces are occupied with choice samples of flaked peas, rice, wheat and oats, cornmeal, barley, beans, etc. The whole makes a neat display, and reflects credit on the taste in window dressing displayed by this up-to-date firm.

SUGAR BEETS FOR FEEDING

(Farmer's Advocate.)

What is the value of sugar beets to feed to horses or cattle compared with turnips or mangles? I consider one bushel worth two of turnips. Am I right or not? T. H. THOMPSON. Manitoulin Island.

Ans.—I presume your correspondent refers to sugar beets grown for the sugar factories. Such beets contain fully twice as much soluble carbohydrates as turnips, and nearly all of it is in the form of sugar. As sugar is a fat producing substance, beets have a greater value for feeding purposes than turnips, especially when fed to hogs and fattening cattle. Experiments have proven that milch cows do as well on mangels as on sugar beets. No figures of comparisons of the value of these while I place sugar beets very much ahead of turnips for hog and cattle feed, I feel sure that it is placing too high a value on them to say that one bushel is worth two of turnips.

Peterborough Lose to Belleville and Pt. Hope

T. A. S. Defeat Lakefield by a Score of 7 to 2

The first home game in the Trent Valley League was played last night in the Brock street rink between the T.A.S. and Lakefield, the former winning by a score of 7—2. The T.A.S. played a more scientific game, although their forward line relied too much on individual play and were much speedier than the Lakefield seven. Lynch for the T.A.S. played a strong game and in the last half made many brilliant dashes with great effect. Parnell and George showed up to good advantage while Crawley and Meagher relieved the T.A.S. goal many times, Crawley taking the rubber up the ice repeatedly. For Lakefield "Col." Redpath was the star and had it not been for his clever work, the score against Lakefield would have been doubled. "Col." is a very promising young hockey player. The T.A.S scored the first three goals and Lakefield the next two. The score at half-time was 4 to 2 in favor of the T.A.S.

A large crowd witnessed the game. The Lakefield team brought up a number of supporters on a special train.

Jack Anderson, of Keene, refereed the game.

The Lakefield team were entertained by the T.A.S. to an oyster supper after the game.

The T.A.S. will practice tonight at 7 o'clock. Every player is requested to turn out.

The Peterborough senior Colts journeyed to Belleville last night to play the fast seven of that place. The Colts were defeated, by a score of 5 to 2. This is Peterborough's first game of the series, and Belleville's second win, they having defeated Port Hope at Port Hope by a score of 3—2.

The junior Colts were defeated at Port Hope by a score of 6—2.

Double Bereavement

The sympathy of the community will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewers, of Cavan, on the death of two of their children, from scarlet fever. Stella, aged 7, died on January 4, and Bertie, aged 4, the next day. One had been ill seven days, and the other ten. The other two children of the family have had the disease but are progressing favorably. Mrs. Lewers has also been quite ill, with erysipelas. This family has certainly had its share of trouble, and much sympathy is felt for them.

Improvement Society

Some time ago an "Improvement Society" was organized at Stewart's Otonabee, and the meetings which have been held from time to time have proved quite successful. The entertainment consists of music, debates, reading, spelling matches, geographical contests, etc. At the last meeting a debate, "Resolved, that wood is of more benefit to mankind than iron," was decided in the affirmative. Miss Bertha Stewart and Mr. Clayton Hanbidge were the leaders in the debate.

The remains were accompanied here by Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, who, on learning of his brother's death, went to Amherst for that purpose. The deceased was a member of the C.M.B.A

Winter Race Meet

The Peterborough Turf Club announce that the covered portion of the grand stand at the race meet on Wednesday and Thursday, 21st and 22nd, will be reserved for badge-holders. Each badge admits one gentleman and one or more ladies to both day's races. Badges may be obtained from the committee or at any of the hotels or at The Times Bookstore for $1.00 each.

Horses for the meet are arriving in town and will commence work on the track at once. The famous trotting horse "Dan Finster" arrived in town yesterday.

There are Others

The following, from yesterday's Globe, shows that there are other cases similar to the one in Peterborough: A new election for Councillors may be necessary in King Township owing to the resignation of Reeve Legg and Councillor McMurchy. The resignations result from the operation of a recent Provincial enactment preventing anyone from being a school trustee and a member of a Township Council at the same time. In Vaughan Township Reeve Boyle is in the same position, and the matter is causing a great deal of questioning as to how to get over the difficulty.

A SERIOUS REBELLION GOING ON IN CHINA

Trouble Looming Up Between the Macedonians and the Turks

Inventing a Speech for Lord Beresford—Charged with Making Fatuous and Unpatriotic Statements

London, Jan. 16—Considerable surprise has been caused in London by the cabled reports of Lord Charles Beresford's utterances that "Germany and Great Britain were really making an attack on the Monroe Doctrine when they sent ships to Venezuela." Much doubt was expressed as to whether Lord Charles was quoted correctly, for while Englishmen almost unanimously condemned the action of the Government in joining Germany in the Venezuelan affair, they decline to entertain the slightest suggestion that anything of a hostile nature toward the United States was contemplated by Mr. Balfour and his colleagues. The St. James Gazette expresses the general attitude of all Englishmen when it says: "No sensible persons will believe, unless and until they are compelled to do so that Lord Charles said anything so astoundingly fatuous and unpatriotic. He cannot deliberately aim at creating a misunderstanding between England and the United States. The American press has not hitherto charged us with unfriendliness in the Venezuelan business and we cannot see why it should now attempt to create such an impression by inventing so incredible a dictum for Lord Charles Beresford."

Warm Reception Awaits Macedonians.

London, Jan. 16—The Vienna correspondent of The Times says that boasts of the Macedonia Committee that Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is powerless to check their movement when they take action during the coming spring, is not without foundation. There are six hundred Macedonians among the officers of the Bulgarian army and at least 100,000 emigrants in Bulgaria. There are 115,000 Turkish troops waiting to cross the border and give a warm reception to Macedonia bands, but if the latter are defeated and the leaders manage to rouse another Bulgarian atrocities agitation it will be impossible to foresee the consequences. The assurances that Macedonians had brought their blood upon their own heads by their wanton poitical intrigue would not satisfy public opinion, and the result of the Greco-Turkish war shows that the victorious Turk might be deprived of the fruits of success.

The fact that Canadian Chinamen are commencing to cut off their dues shows that they are progressing in the art of adapting themselves to the customs of their adopted country. It used to be generally understood that the belief existed that the follower of Confucius who lost his cue would not go to paradise, and the fact that most of the Chinamen in this country are Christians doubtless accounts for the innovation, though most Chinamen even after conversion cling to the cue. We are inclined to doubt the story that the Chinese minister to the United States, Wu Ting Fang, set the fashion by cutting off his hirsute appendage, as according to his latest photographs Wu still preserves his cue. In any case some of the Canadian Celestials evidently intend to Canadianize themselves, and most of them are both Christians and naturalized British subjects.

In the course of an article published the other day in Novoe Vremya of St. Petersburg, it is said that if the Emperor Alexander III. entered into an alliance with France it was not because he feared a land war, but because he believed that his country was still weak from a naval point of view. "What the Emperor Alexander looked for in his ally was, there, not a land army but a naval force, and at the time in question the French navy was the only one in the world, which in the event of war with Great Britain, would not have been obliged to take refuge in its ports."

C. P. R. MAY PURCHASE ELDER-DEMPSTER FLEET

The Company is Reported to be Negotiating with Sir Alfred Jones

Montreal, Jan. 16—It is stated in well-informed shipping circles that there is a very likely prospect of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company becoming the owners of the North Atlantic fleet of the Elder-Dempster Shipping Company. At the last general meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Pacific, the directors were given power to establish a line of freight carriers between Canadian and British ports. Since then negotiations have been in progress in the Old Country, but it has been found that the ship yards there are so well filled with orders that it would be impossible to start a brand new line of steamers within four or five years. With this condition facing them the directors of the Canadian Pacific looked around to see the next best thing to do. The result of their deliberations was to place them in negotiations with Sir Alfred Jones, and while it is too early to say that the deal has been ratified, it would not surprise many people here if the opening of navigation should see the sixteen vessels of the Elder-Dempster fleet now running to and from Canadian ports transferred to the flag of the Canadian Pacific. The big railway would thus secure its freight fleet and the nucleus of a first-class passenger service.

A note from Bologna, via Rome, states that Signor Marconi has discovered a method by which oxygen may be extracted from air at very slight expense. The discovery, it is said, was made while the inventor was attempting to simplify his method of water electrolysis.

The introduction of republican institutions into the Philippine Islands seems to be giving the United States some difficulty. The Philadelphia Inquirer remarks: "The ruler who takes his Asiatic subjects into his counsels and his confidence, who frankly exhibits a desire to please them and to conform his actions to their sentiments, is apt to suffer a fatal loss of prestige. He will not receive credit for any good motive, but, on the contrary, his conduct will be attributed to weakness or to cowardice or to lack of sense. It follows that the kind of ruler best fitted to promote the welfare, happiness and contentment of an Oriental community is the benevolent despot, and it is Mr. Clifford's opinion that it is the part of the benevolent despot that the United States must eventually reconcile itself to sustain in its relations to the Philippines."

BURLEIGH CHURCH OPENING

To the Editor of Peterborough Times:

Sir,—With many thanks for your insertion of the notice of our church opening, we are now sending you a brief report of the services. The services on the Sabbath, January 11, were conducted by Revs. T. W. Leggott, of Lakefield, and J. W. Bunner, of Bridgenorth, whose assistance was very much appreciated by the people. Services and collections were good, although the bad weather and roads interfered with the attendance. On Monday, 12 inst., the tea-meeting was held. In spite of unfavorable weather when the rendering of the program began in the new church, the edifice was full. The chair was occupied by John Hull Esq., of Lakefield. After addresses were delivered by Revs. Leggott and Bunner, the chairman called upon the pastor, Rev. C. S. Reddick, to read a statement of cost and value of the church. It is a beautiful frame structure 50x28 feet, beautifully furnished throughout. A new organ had been purchased at a cash cost of $88, and a new bell weighing 335 pounds hung in the large tower on the front of the building. The total cost was $1587.17. Of this $771.95 had been previously provided for, leaving a total indebtedness of about $800. After the statement had been read, Rev. H. McQuade was called upon, and after getting the crowd in thorough good humor by his inimitable speech and drollery, he appealed to them to clear the debt by subscription, and when he lowered sail he had the debt provided for and about $200 of the amount paid the same night. Rev. McQuade is an Irishman, and whether from Cork or not, as the boys say, in this line he is a Corker. The hearty thanks of the people of Apsley are due him for his services in this connection; to Revs. Leggott and Bunner for their services on Sunday and Monday; and to John Hull, who drove 30 miles over a bad road to act as chairman; and to the Bethel choir of Warsaw circuit.

Yours respectfully,
C. S. REDDICK, Pastor.

Brunette and Blonde

A ROMANCE.

and then suddenly stopped still at a nearer view of her face.

She had not quite recognized Hilda, but there was enough familiarity in her face to appall the beautiful impostor.

In that moment's indecision every one in the room noticed the striking difference between the two young girl's. Florence's blonde beauty was set off to the greatest advantage by her rich and becoming attire and the jewels that gleamed upon her white neck and arms, but the pride of rank and the innate arrogance of a little mind lent an air of offensive haughtiness to her style and manner. No greater contrast to her could be imagined than Hilda in her bright, sweet, unadorned beauty and snowy dress, together with an unconscious stateliness, that made the haughty Florence look vulgar, inferior, and overdressed. It was a perfect triumph of nature over art.

"Florence, have you forgotten me?" asked Hilda, in her clear, sweet voice.

A frightened cry arose from Florence's lips. Her cheeks, so lately flushed with pride, grew decidedly white. She retreated as Hilda advanced. She looked like one terrified by a nameless fear.

"Florence, my love," said the earl, hastily, "it is your cousin, Hilda Aylesford. She was not dead, as you supposed. Go and speak to her, and bid her welcome to your ancestral home."

Florence heard the words, but her self-possession seemed to have deserted her. She looked at Hilda, who stood calmly regarding her agitation, and gasped out almost pleadingly:

"Oh! Hilda, why are you here?"

"I came at Lady Leigh's solicitation," the young girl answered, cresting her head with a stag-like movement of offended pride. "She fancied that you might be glad to see me, but I perceive that I am an intruder."

Every one was disappointed. They had expected that the two girls would meet with every appearance of affection. But no one could doubt that Florence was frightened and sorry at the re-appearance of the girl with whom she had been reared as a sister, and Hilda's spirited words gave little promise of amity.

The earl went forward and shook Florence's arm gently.

"My dear," he said, almost sternly, "in your fright and surprise you are forgetting everything. Bid your friend welcome."

Florence lifted her head and saw that her grandfather was regarding her with displeasure, and that Cecil Courtenaye and the guests were surprised at her emotion. She realized instantly that her conduct would draw suspicion upon her. Anxious to retrieve the bad impression she had created, she made an impulsive rush forward and clasped her arms around Hilda's neck, while she exclaimed in affectionate tones:

"Hilda, my darling, you must forgive my apparent coldness. I did not mean it. It was only that I was frightened and shocked by your sudden appearance when I believed you were dead. Oh! how glad your father will be to find you living!"

Hilda suffered her cousin to draw her smooth cheek down and kiss it with apparent tenderness, while she answered, in the quietest tone in the world:

"Yes, Florence, I can well fancy how glad he will be."

Florence, vaguely fancying a veiled sarcasm in the words, looked at her furtively, but the dark eyes met hers with calm serenity and innocence, and the suspicious blonde fancied she must have been mistaken.

"Hilda, I am very impatient to know what became of you that night when you wandered away in your fever," she said, sweetly. "You must tell me all about it to-morrow. To-night the happiness of seeing you again is quite sufficient."

CHAPTER XVII.

A Row on the Lake.

Florence did not close her eyes that night until she had written a letter to Mr. Aylesford, in London, apprising him of the startling re-appearance of Hilda, whom they had hoped and believed dead. She was filled with consternation at the turn affairs had taken. Almost a year had passed away in perfect security and tranquil enjoyment of the good fortune of which she had cheated Guy Aylesford's daughter—now it seemed to her as if retribution stared her in the face. There was something chilling and foreboding in the thought that Hilda Aylesford was at that moment sleeping calmly beneath her own grandfather's roof, secure in the love and protection of such people as Lady Leigh and Sir Wilfred Hale—people, as Florence bitterly reflected to herself, who had never looked upon her anything but coldly, despite all her wheedling efforts to gain their favor and win their hearts.

Having stayed up late to finish her letter, Florence slept even later than usual the next morning, and breakfasted in her own room.

"I will wear my dress of pale-blue nuns' veiling to-day," she said, to the maid, "and turquois ornaments. Arrange my hair very carefully. Are the guests up yet?"

"Yes, my lady, and have been out on the terrace half an hour," said the maid.

Florence grew very impatient at that. She could scarcely wait for her toilet to be completed before she seized her becoming rose-colored parasol and tripped out upon the terrace.

The family and the guests were all there before her. Mrs. Courtenaye, a lovely, delicate, fair-haired woman, sat upon a rustic seat with Lady Leigh, asking her about her American tour. Sir Wilfred and Mr. Courtenaye stood a little apart, conversing earnestly. The old earl was taking his leisurely morning walk by Hilda's side—Hilda, as bright and smiling as the summer morning, in a pretty, simple white lawn, with a scarlet rose in her belt, and a wide-brimmed, white chip hat, garlanded with blush-roses, shading her sparkling, piquant face. Florence went up to them.

"Good morning grandpapa—good morning Hilda," she said.

"My dear, you are a lazy girl," the earl cried, in excellent spirits. "Your young friend here has been up an hour, listening to the birds' singing."

Florence flushed. She knew that her grandfather was prejudiced in favor of early rising. But she said to Hilda, with a gentle smile:

"It is your fault, Hilda, that I am later than usual this morning. I could not sleep when I first retired last night for thinking of the great surprise and pleasure your visit had

CONSUMPTION CAN CERTAINLY BE CURED

Proof of This is Found in the Case of Mrs. Irena J. Banks, of Toronto.

After Having Had Three Hemorrhages and Despairing of Ever Being Cured, Powley's Liquified Ozone Gave Her a New Lease of Life.

She is a Well Woman To-day, Thankful For Her Good Health and Enthusiastic in Her Praises of Ozone.

That Powley's Liquified Ozone will cure Consumption is due to the fact that it is a most powerful antiseptic germicide. Ozone when taken into the system is conveyed by the blood to the diseased parts of the body, the disease germs are killed and Nature is assisted in her work of healing. Mrs. Irena J. Banks, of 787 West Queen street, Toronto, is but one of the cases that go to prove the efficacy of this wonderful remedy in combatting the dread disease Consumption. Mrs. Banks makes the following statement of her case:

I was afflicted by bronchial and lung trouble for three years. The disease became firmly seated in my system, and I began to despair of ever being well. I had the best medical advice in the city and spent a lot of money in medicine. I became a complete wreck physically at the end of three years, and at night had to be propped up in bed with pillows so that I could breathe. I had three hemorrhages of the lungs. My system was entirely run down and I suffered exceedingly from female troubles. A friend of mine living in Muskoka told me to try Ozone, the new system of treatment, as she had been greatly benefited by it. I purchased one bottle, but did not get much relief. At the end of the second bottle I felt much improved, and when I had taken nine bottles I had quite recovered.

MRS. IRENA J. BANKS,
787 West Queen street, Toronto, Ont.

My husband did not know that I had taken Ozone and thought I had stopped the doctoring altogether. He said to me: "Didn't I tell you that you would get well when you stopped taking medicine?" When I told him about Ozone he was surprised and thought that it would do his eczema good. He took some, with the result that it cured him.

We are both very thankful for Powley's Liquified Ozone, and consider it the best household remedy to be obtained. I have never yet been troubled with a return of my old complaint, and feel wonderfully well.

(Signed) (Mrs.) IRENA J. BANKS, 787 Queen street west, Toronto.

Additional Proof of the Wonderful Curative Qualities of Ozone in Cases of Consumption.

As proof of the fact that Mrs. Bank's case is by no means an isolated one we give the following list of persons who have been cured of Consumption by Powley's Liquified Ozone:

Mrs. Sheffield, Zephyr, Ont.
Alice Marcum, Mount St. Hilaire, P.Q.
Mrs. Dulcina Magnan, 785 Cadieux street, Montreal, P.Q.

STOCK MARKETS

TWO SOLID STEEL PROPOSITIONS

New York, Jan. 16.—We find upon looking over the last quarterly report, issued a few days ago by the American Car and Foundry Company, that the net earnings increased $1,111,[illegible] over the same quarter in 1901. This increase for one quarter of the year amounts to nearly the entire ten per cent. annual dividend upon the preferred stock. The company will increase from its earning its working capital to $[illegible]. Dividends can be earned by the company from repairs to old cars alone that are now in use. The preferred stock in times of business depression is consequently as safe as any bond issued. The same statement of facts also applies to the condition of the Pressed Steel Car Company. These two great companies are more than likely to be amalgamated within a year; this will reduce the cost of carrying on the business most materially. They are two splendid steel stocks, certain of their dividends under all conditions, and remarkably cheap investments. The Republic and Steel Co. is also a growing property; its semi annual statement is soon to be issued and it will show a surplus at the end of the year amounting to over $300,000, after allowing for six months dividends upon the preferred stock. The previous half year showed a surplus of $[illegible],212, while the six months before figured a surplus of $321,867. This surplus is of course applicable to dividends upon the common, should the directors see fit to appropriate it for that purpose. It is however the policy of the management to use surplus earnings liberally for improvements and for building up the property. This policy will not be deviated from for some time to come. If the next semi-annual report shows as well as the last the company will show six per cent. earned upon the common stock for the year. The stock is cheap. They own valuable sources of raw material, including Lake Superior, Connellsville coking coal, Pittsburg steam coal, as well as both Alabama red and brown ore. It also controls valuable bess ore on the Mesaba Range, and it is conservatively estimated that the value of its raw materials amounts to over $30,000,000.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore showed much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered [illegible] and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as [illegible] per ton, and never less than [illegible]. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

Price is now 25 cents a share, and we offer [illegible] shares at this price, but it may be advanced by January 1st, 1903, to 50 cents a share.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of FIVE CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at FIVE CENTS is short.

PRICE ADVANCES TO 10c. JANUARY 19th.

STOCK MARKETS

TWO SOLID STEEL PROPOSITIONS

New York, Jan. 16.—We find upon looking over the last quarterly report, issued a few days ago by the American Car and Foundry Company, that the net earnings increased $1,111,324 over the same quarter in 1901. This increase for one quarter of the year amounts to nearly the entire ten per cent. annual dividend upon the preferred stock. The company will increase from its earning its working capital to $30,000,000. Dividends can be earned by the company from repairs to old cars alone that are now in use. The preferred stock in times of business depression is consequently as safe as any bond issued. The same statement of facts also applies to the condition of the Pressed Steel Car Company. These two great companies are more than likely to be amalgamated within a year; this will reduce the cost of carrying on the business most materially. They are two splendid steel stocks, certain of their dividends under all conditions, and remarkably cheap investments. The Republic and Steel Co. is also a growing property; its semi annual statement is soon to be issued and it will show a surplus at the end of the year amounting to over $800,000, after allowing for six months dividends upon the preferred stock. The previous half year showed a surplus of $803,213, while the six months before figured a surplus of $321,507. This surplus is of course applicable to dividends upon the common, should the directors see fit to appropriate it for that purpose. It is however the policy of the management to use surplus earnings liberally for improvements and for building up the property. This policy will not be deviated from for some time to come. If the next semi-annual report shows as well as the last the company will show six per cent. earned upon the common stock for the year. The stock is cheap. They own valuable sources of raw material, including Lake Superior, Connellsville coking coal, Pittsburg steam coal, as well as both Alabama red and brown ore. It also controls valuable bess ore on the Mesaba Range, and it is conservatively estimated that the value of its raw materials amounts to over $30,000,0000.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $35 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of Hon. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of FIVE CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at FIVE CENTS is short.

Coming Attraction

The Berlin German Boys' Choir, consisting of thirty members, will attend the Provincial Y.M.C.A Convention to be held here from February 5 to 8. This will doubtless prove to be a great attraction, and should make the meetings even more interesting than usual. About two hundred delegates are expected at the convention.

Mr. Tooley's Luck

A meeting of the Turf Club was held on Thursday afternoon, and everything pointed to a very successful carnival races next week. About 75 entries have been received. Thus it is that fortune favors the brave.

EAT SLOW

Some Chew Fast Fine and Hard but Swallow Slow

"Across the table sat a young man," remarked an old gentleman from New Albany, Ind., recently, "with a sickly face, who was slowly chewing in a fashion which led me to believe that his teeth were all in such condition that if he should forget himself and bite a little bit harder, off would fly the top of his head. Finally I remarked:

'You have to be very careful of them?'

'Yes,' indeed,' he replied. 'I have no stomach. My doctor told me to eat slow. No odds what your hurry may be,' said he, 'eat slow.'

'You misunderstand him,' said I, 'what the doctor meant was to chew fast, fine and hard but to swallow slowly. Now you are actually committing suicide, the doctor meant for you to use your teeth. Are your teeth all right?'

'Yes,' he replied. 'I can bite through sole leather. I wonder if the doctor did mean that I should chew hard instead of slow?'

Then I told him of my experience in the food line. I'm a pretty old man now but, like a good many other people, my stomach went back on me one time and I commenced to study food and the requirements of the body. After experimenting a good deal I came across Grape-Nuts and was soon convinced that this food met all the requirements of health and as a daily diet is indispensible.

I am not a doctor but it is easy to understand that the great change from my former condition to my present good health and ability, at the age of 67, to walk 20 miles a day, if so inclined, is due solely to Grape-Nuts and the proper nourishment my body has received from this valuable food.

The crispness of Grape-Nuts gives the teeth sufficient action to keep them in good condition; its taste is delicious and the way it is prepared corrects any digestive trouble a person may have. I know my lease of life has been renewed for a term of years by its use." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FIVE MAY BE OUT.

On-Half the County Council May Not be Able to Take Their Seats.

ARE SAID TO BE TRUSTEES.

Which May Prevent Them Acting as Members of the County Council

An Unfortunate Position for the County to be Placed in—The Law on the Subject

The amendment made to Section 80 of the Municipal Act, at the 1902 session of the Legislature, is causing no end of trouble and confusion. There are new cases being discovered every day of persons who have been elected members of the municipal councils who find themselves disqualified because they did not first resign their positions as school trustees.

Mr. E. A. Peck of No 1. Otonabee division of the County Council is a member of the Ashburnham Public School Board; Mr. John Monogue, of No. 3 Division; Mr. George W. Fitzgerald, of No. 2 Division, and Mr. W T. Buck, of No. 4 Division, are also said to be school trustees. The part of the new Act which applies in these cases reads as follows:—

"No High School Trustee, and (no member of a School Board for which rates are levied,) shall be qualified to be a member of the council of any municipal corporation."

This turn of affairs is particularly unfortunate, as it was pretty generally understood, that Mr. E. A. Peck was booked for the Wardenship. As matters are at present the statutory meeting of the County Council must be held next Tuesday and the first business will be to elect a Warden, and apparently this must be done by the other five members, one of the five being elected. We deplore this as it deprives the County Council of the services of five of its most valued members.

After electing a Warden the County Council will probably take steps to have a new election to fill these vacancies, and then adjourn until after the elections.

These gentlemen will have an opportunity of resigning as Trustees in the meantime, and will probably be returned unopposed as County Councillors.

Mr. Peck, when seen by The Times, says it is possible the Act is not intended to apply to County Councils, as these bodies have no control over the expenditure made by School Boards.

Without looking into the matter particularly Mr. E. H. D Hall and Mr R. F. McWilliams inclined to the view that these County Councillors must seek re-election.

It would be unfortunate if it should be necessary to incurr all this additional expense.

—A story is going the rounds of the press about a farmer who went into a local music store and for the first time saw a phonograph. He was told to drop a nickle and hear the music. Narrow Chests

The old theory that consumption was inherited is utterly discredited by modern medical science. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are every where. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall a prey to consumption because they are too weak of lung to resist and throw off disease. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

"In the spring of [illegible] I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. R. L. Robinett, of Kerens, Tenn. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. Thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption, of which several of my family died. Had almost given up in despair when my friends persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use again and in a short time was feeling better. I continued its use until I had taken sixteen bottles. I weigh [illegible] pounds now, and when I commenced I only weighed [illegible] pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

A SILVER WEDDING

A Most Enjoyable Event Celebrated at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Berry Cavan

Quite a goodly number gathered at "Glenhurst Farm," Cavan, the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Berry, on the evening of the 9th of January, it being the 25th anniversary of their wedding. Invitations were sent to Deloraine, Man., Victoria and New Westminster, B.C., Austin, Texas, New York, Belleville and Peterborough.

The guests assembled at 6 o'clock and great pleasure was felt that the first groomsman and bridesmaid were present, Mr. J. Lightfoot having returned from Manitoba recently, and Miss A. J. Barry came from Peterborough for the occasion. Precisely at 9 o'clock the groom of 25 years ago appeared with his bride leaning on his arm, followed by the groomsman, Mr. Lightfoot, who escorted Miss A. J. Barry, the bridesmaid. They proceeded to the dining room, where a dainty repast was served, at the conclusion of which Mr. Lightfoot proposed a toast to the health, long life and future happiness of the host and hostess, which, after singing "He's a jolly good fellow," Mr. Berry responded to in his usual happy manner.

The house was beautifully decorated with green foliage and garniture or red, white and blue ribbons.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Berry are held.

IRELAND'S PLACE IN THE BRITISH EMPIRE

England's New Colonial Plans Will Give Her a More Prominent Position

A Tribute to the Great Scheme of Imperial Federation in Dublin

London, Jan. 18.—At the meeting of that most Irish of Irish institutions, the (Trinity) College Historical Society, some interesting statements as to the standing of Irish jurists, scholars and statesmen of the Imperial Federation scheme were ventilated.

The premier speech of the evening was made by the auditor, James Andrews, B. A. In it he said: "If our complex and widely divided Empire is to be held together it is essential, as Mr. Pachett Martin said, 'that the dwellers at its periphery shall be under no disabilities as compared with their fellow subjects at its center. There never was a moment in our Empire's history when the vision of Imperial Federation seemed more surely to be clothing itself with the garments of reality. The time is propitious for a movement to federate the Empire. The motion once centrifugal has now become centripetal. The inter-colonial federal movement, which has recently witnessed the birth of the great Australian Commonwealth, is a step towards rather than a step away from Imperial unity, for we can deal with them individually. The first steps, however, towards the federation of the Empire must be permissive. Compulsion would only excite hostile feelings. The absence at first of one or two members from the family circle should be regarded as in no wise more fatal to Imperial Federation than the refusal of New Zealand confederate with Australia has been to the formation of the Australian Commonwealth.

IMPERIAL FEDERATION.

"Imperial Federation is the means by which it is proposed to replace the silken tie by the rigid iron bar. It is an endeavor to accomplish on a far grander scale for the British Empire a Federal union similar to that which at present binds together into one great nation the United States of America. Looking at the question in its broadest aspect it is surely necessary, if the scattered members of the Empire are to find one real national life in Imperial unity, that there should be a central government for Imperial purposes in which all would find representation. Mr. Chamberlin, who has written his name indelibly upon the records of the Colonial Office, has pleaded for the co-ordination of the component parts of the Empire, and has seasonably proclaimed that the Colonies should have a voice in our Councils. To send Colonial representatives to the existing House of Commons, where matters of purely domestic concern demand so much attention, would be as undesirable as it would be unconstitutional; and, if I understand Lord Rosebery aright, it would appear that even he has come to see how unsatisfactory the adoption of his scheme of Colonial representation in the House of Lords would in a short time become.

"A recasting of the Constitution—a process from which the ordinary British mind instinctively shrinks—is required in order that it may be brought into harmony with the recent developments of our national life. A new Imperial Council or Cabinet must be called into existence, in which delegates from the Colonies might meet representatives of the Home Government upon equal terms. By this means, too, the over-burdened House of Commons would be relived of much of its labors and time would be found for fuller consideration of matters of domestic and social reform.

"A commercial union must succeed not precede the political union of the Empire. If the establishment of a Customs union is at the present time impracticable, that of a system of preferential tariffs is from the British point of view eminently undesirable.

PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

"Amongst those of our colonists who see in a system of preference a development of their trade with Great Britain it is undeniable that there is a strong volume of opinion in favor of a partial tariff union with the Mother Country upon a protective basis. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, for example, welcomed the imposition of the corn tax in England, because he regarded England's new policy as a measure of protection, and considered that by its adoption the field would be clearer for the establishment of a system of colonial preferences. But even granting to the advocates of preferential treatment that such a system involves only the minimum of a policy of protection, it is one for which Great Britain is at the present time unprepared.

"If the United Kingdom proclaims in trumpet tones the policy of Free Trade, surely it would be unfair for self-governing colonies, possessing only a fifth of the population of the United Kingdom to endeavor as of right to force an unwilling people to adopt their views, and drag the rest of the Empire with them. It is of supreme importance for us to promote foreign trade by every legitimate means in our power, in order that our food may be cheap, and that our industries may be provided with the necessary supply of raw materials.

"From the British standpoint the establishment of a preferential system is not deserving of encouragement, but our colonists, who see in the scheme an avenue opened for them into the heart of commercial Britain, but closed to their foreign rivals, regard it with approval and expectation. Perhaps, therefore, a moderate scheme of preferential tariffs may be established in the future by the granting of rebates to the colonies upon those articles, such as sugar and corn, whose importation into this country has in recent years become the subject, not of protective, but of revenue duties. This would be a minimum measure of preferential treatment, and, as such, it might be justified on Imperial grounds.

"To advance further, might spell commercial ruin. It is obvious, however, that the grant of contributions from the Colonies to the relief of the Imperial Exchequer involves a correlative right.

"You cannot share your burden without sharing the right to say how the entire of the burden is to be borne. Sir Wilfred Laurier, speaking upon this subject of Colonial contribution, is reported to have said; 'If you want us to help you, you must call us to your councils.' Until the creation of an Imperial Council of such a constitution as I have breafly indicated, no council will exist to which the Colonists could be called. When an Imperial Council shall spring into existence, the Colonies will come to realize more fully than they do at present the benefits which they derive from the forming part of the Empire. At the opening of the Colonial Conference in Downing street in 1887, Lord Salisbury, in his address to the premiers, expressed himself in these terms: 'Supposing that the Colonies were not part of the Empire, supposing the Colonies were independent, do you think they would be safe?

"His subsequent remarks furnished a reply to his own question. He referred at considerable length to the additions to the naval power of the countries of Europe, the increased facilities of communication, the improvement in telegraphic science, and the consequent more speedy concentration of force upon a single point, the desire among the nations of Europe for foreign and Colonial possessions and then concluded in these words: 'Put all these things together and you will see that the Colonies had a very real and genuine interest in the shield which the Imperial connection throws over them, and they have a ground for joining with us in making the defence of the Empire effective—a ground which is not purely sentimental, which does not rest merely on their attachment to this country, but which is based on the most solid and reasonable foundations of self-interest and security.

"The late Prime Minister's words are even more true today than at the hour when they were uttered. Modern scientific agencies expose the outlying Colonies to the attacks of powerful but no longer very remote enemies. It behoves our Colonies, therefore, to develop these natural resources, and make extension of the most defensive schemes which they already possess."

The Right Hon. Lord Justice Fitzgibbon said: "There are two questions which must be faced before we can touch this question of Imperial Federation so as to get at the heart of it. The first of them was the mere question of the principle and the method of federation; the other was where and how was Ireland to come in. The principle and method might be various, but whatever be adapted it belonged to the trade of the politicians and of statesmen. Fiscal considerations, considerations of representation, preferential tariffs, and all these things are merely questions of detail. It was by the eternal and invincible and irresistible forces of nature and of affection that the question would be settled. It was impossible to keep out of the problem the question that if there was a 'little England' there must be a 'lesser Ireland.' An Irishman is a sorry spectacle with his hat in his hand, whether it was cringing for a favor or cadging for a collection. They (the Irish) could avoid embittering one sect, one breed, if they liked, against each other. They could avoid speaking evil of each other and calling one another names. Surely it was not too much that a man might ask to be permitted, to be an Irishman first, and yet refuse to forfeit his birthright as a citizen of an Empire that was not cribbed, cabined, and confined between St. George's channel on one saide and the melancholy ocean on the other."

SIR W. C. VAN HORNE ON TRANSPORTATION

Chairman of the C. P. R. Thinks Canada Has Been Very Slow

HOPPER NOT BIG ENOUGH

Canadian Products Now Take Easiest Route--Montreal Terminals Must be Improved

Montreal, January 18.—While in New York on his way to Cuba, Sir William Van Horne spoke freely on Canadian railroad matters. "Canada's hopper," he said, "is full to overflowing and the outlet at Montreal is not large enough to handle the output.

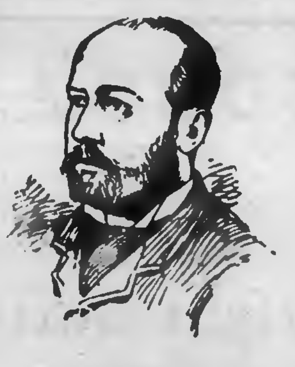
"She has for years been spending millions generously in the development of the interior and her railways, but has neglected her outlet to the Atlantic.

"Her exports, therefore, take the easy route by the great lakes, and the Erie Canal to Boston and New York, simply because Canada sits comfortably by and does not see what she is losing.

"Our folks have not come to the point yet of realization of the fact that 70 per cent. of the gross earnings of a people's railway or ship lines are paid back within a month as earned, for labor and materials, in the community in which they operate; or that the other 30 per cent., which goes for interest and dividends, establishes credit so that the company may borrow more money and establish great industries by branching out and enlarging. They do not realize that every dollar paid for transportation or elevator facilities in the States is that much taken from themselves, and their loss.

"In time the Montreal outlet will be developed, and while I don't know how much wheat and flour England uses, it seems very probable that Canada may supply her whole needs within a few years as has been suggested in the Evening Post's Canadian correspondence. Eventually, she may export wheat to the States, also, though that is a question which we need hardly consider now, as it will not have to be met for twenty-five years or more.

"The position of the Canadian Pacific," he said, "was unassailable and for that reason the policy of the company was not to oppose anything. They would hail with delight a parallel route from Atlantic to Pacific to help them to develop the country. There is enough of it up there for us all," he concluded.



SIR. WM. VAN HORNE.

SECURE A PENSION

Imperial Government Will Aid Friends of Those Who Lost Life in War

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—A militia order has been promulgated with the imperial pensions. The order reads as follows:

"His Majesty's government has been pleased, under a royal warrant, dated 8th August, 1902, to make provision for the granting of pensions to the widows and children of N. C. officers and men of colonial forces (other than those raised in South Africa), who have, since the 11th of October, 1899, been killed in action, or have died of injury or disease contracted during active operations in the field in connection with the South African war, 1899-1902. All applications for pensions should be forwarded to the adjutant general, militia headquarters, Ottawa, and should be set forth clearly whether the persons making application are acting on their own behalf, or as guardians of motherless children. All claims will be investigated, and pensions awarded, provisionally by a board to be assembled at militia head-quarters, Ottawa, composed of Col. B. H. Vidal, deputy adjutant, president; Mr. J. W. Borden, accountant, department of militia and defense."

WANTS MORE PROTECTION

What Correspondent of Manchester Guardian Thinks of Canada

London, January 18.—An article in the Manchester Guardian, from its correspondent, on trade and politics in Canada, says that his recent tour through the Dominion convinced him that the people are becoming more and more inclined to high protection. This feeling is strongest in Western Canada. The new United States settlers in the North-West are high protectionists to a man, even against the country which they have just quitted.

RAFFLE FOR A WIFE

Michigan Farmer Issues 1000 Tickets Among Eligible Women

Alpena, Mich., Jan. 18.—Edward J. Eisbrenner, of Rogers City, wants a wife so badly that he has decided to raffle himself off. He has issued 1,000 tickets which will be sold at twenty-five cents each, at designated business houses in Rogers City, Posen, Metz and La Roque. Edward says:

"I agree immediately after the raffle to marry the lady who holds the lucky number, which shall be drawn by a blindfolded boy."

The only condition which the wife seeker imposes upon the female purchaser of the matrimonial tickets is that she must be a respectable, healthy, unincumbered Roman Catholic, between forty and fifty-five years of age.

Eisbrenner is a widower, fifty-five years of age.

FEWER FREIGHT TRAINS

They Will be Made up Longer and Move More Slowly

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Mr. G. M. Bosworth, fourth vice-president of the Canadian Pacific, has just returned from Chicago, where he has been attending meetings on matters relating to freight traffic. Mr. Bosworth confirms the report that the general managers of all the Western railways have agreed upon a plan to effect a great reduction in operating expenses to offset the increase in price of all railway supplies and labor.

The advices that have come to hand indicate that the plan is to reduce the speed of freight trains about 20 per cent. so that fewer, but longer, trains can be handled, thus reducing the cost of transportation per ton mile. There will be a small saving in wages on account of the reduction in the number of trains.

IS TWICE WEDDED TO THE SAME MAN

Manitoba Farmer Who Deserted His Wife in Toronto Returns to Re-Marry Her After Growing Wealthy in Raising Wheat in the West

Toronto, January 18.—Mrs. Mary Kerr, who until the other day was a washwoman, living on Richmond street east, can boast of the distinction of having been twice married to the same man.

The first marriage took place fifty years ago, when she was a lass of 16 years, and on January 2 of this year, Kerr again led her to the altar.

After their marriage they lived together for thirty-five years, and two daughters and a son were born to them. She was deserted by her husband, who took the three children with him and went to Manitoba, where he took up land. He is now a wealthy farmer.

The deserted wife had a hard struggle after that, but at last her prospects appear to have brightened, for on New Year's day Kerr came back and the following day they were re-married, and he was accompanied back to the West by Mrs. Kerr.

He will endeavor to dispose of his farm, and when he does he will return to Toronto to live.

OFFICIALS SENT TO JAIL

Carried Straw Men on Pay Rolls and Divided Swag

Belleville, Ill., Jan. 18.—The trial of B. F. Vanderburg, Mayor; Wm. E. West, City Clerk; and John Strycklin, Commissioner of Streets of the City of Brooklyn, Ill., charged with malfeasance in office, and a conspiracy to defraud the city, which has been on in the St. Clair County Circuit Court for the last four days, came to an end Friday night, when the jury returned a verdict finding all three men guilty as charged.

Vanderburg was given two years in the Chester Penitentiary, and a fine of $500. Strycklin received one year and was fined $250, and the punishment of West was left with the court.

The indictment charged that Strycklin had carried a number of straw men on his pay roll for several months, with the knowledge and will of Vanderburg and West. Orders would be drawn on the treasury for pay for these men, and Strycklin would then, according to previous agreement, divide up the money equally with his co-operators in crime. It was also found upon investigation that the trio of officials had raised warrants, and by other systematic schemes had defrauded the City of Brooklyn out of several thousands of dollars.

Man and Wife Drowned

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 18.—Frederick Short and Florence, his wife, were drowned last night while skating on League Island Lake. In the presence of hundreds of pleasure-seekers, the man and woman skated beyond the danger line, mistaking the shining waters for a continuation of the ice.

Want an Accounting

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 18.—The liquor men here are not pleased over the way business was handled in regard to the late referendum campaign. There was $2,000 subscribed, and some of the subscribers are shouting at the wasteful way some of the funds were disposed of, and particularly the payment of a fine of a personator. They also charge that the money supposed to have been expended in certain subdivisions had not been given out. Explanations are besought.

CHINESE LABOR IN TRANSVAAL

A Note of Warning Sounded in Regard to the Growing Evil

London, Jan. 18.—The London Times' Johannesburg correspondent says the people of the Rand hope every care will be taken not to adjust the present difficulties at the expense of the future and so lay up for the country a debt more serious than the monetary contribution wherefore posterity may ever anathematize the present generation. "I refer," says the correspondent, "to the introduction of Chinese labor which is being earnestly canvassed. Under existing circumstances the demand for Chinese labor may well seem irresistable, especially if the mining industry is to meet its obligations, but it is well to sound a note of warning regarding the Chinese laying up for our descendants a heritage of misfortune."

London, Jan. 18.—The suggested introduction of Chinese labor for the Rand mines excites such criticism and opposition here. It is safe to say that no decision has yet been arrived at by the Government on the subject.

PETERBOROUGH AND PORT HOPE TO-NIGHT

First Home Game of the Series—A Closely Contested Game Expected

The hockey match this evening between Port Hope and Peterborough will bring out a large crowd of hockey enthusiasts to witness the game. Word was received from Port Hope to the effect that a large crowd will accompany their team. The spectators will have the privilege of witnessing one of the fastest games of hockey ever played on Peterborough ice.

The Toronto Daily Star and Mail and Empire alike, in a despatch from Belleville, give a very erroneous account of the hockey match played in Belleville on Friday night between the Peterborough Intermediates and the Belleville team. The despatch accuses the visitors of indulging in rough play and unfair work. The report is a very unsatisfactory one. On the contrary both teams played clean and fast hockey, the game being the fastest played in the intermediate series in this district this season.

The T.A.S. had a work-out on Saturday night from 7.30 to 8.15. George Lynch, their fast forward man, had the misfortune to sprain his ankle, and McGrath injured his leg. The T.A.S. expect to play Bobcaygeon here on Thursday night.

In the sporting page of the Toronto Daily Star of Saturday appears a cut of Harold Armstrong, Peterborough's fast cover-point. Armstrong is one of the best cover point men playing the game.

The T.A.S. fast septette are likely winners of this district, having defeated Bobcaygeon on their own ice and defeated Lakefield here by a good margin. They play the return match in Lakefield on January 30th.

The following arrangements have been made for the reception of the Scottish curlers:

Col. E. B. Edwards, Robert Neill, W. G. Ferguson and Dr. Boucher will meet the train with the curlers at Havelock and come to Peterborough with them. The local and visiting curlers will meet at the rink on Tuesday afternoon at 4.45 o'clock, and each carrying their curling broom, will march to the C.P.R. station, headed by the 57th Regimental Band. The procession will then reform, and with the band and curlers marching before the hacks which will contain the Scottish curlers, Toronto officials of the Ontario Curling Association, the Mayor, and other prominent citizens, will proceed up Water street to Hunter, to Brock, to George, to the Snowden House, where dinner will be served, the band playing Scottish selections during the dinner. At eight o'clock the games at the rink will commence. After the games the curlers will be entertained in the Oddfellows' Hall, where refreshments, music and speeches will be given. On Wednesday morning at nine o'clock the visiting curlers will be taken in hacks, accompanied by the Council and prominent citizens, and shown the town and its industries. At two o'clock the second game will be played and the visitors will leave for Lindsay on a special train at 4.30. They will return from Lindsay early next morning, sleeping in their own special car, and go to Toronto on the C.P.R. local on Thursday morning.

JAPAN'S CHANGE OF TONE CRITICISM OF CANADIANS

Religion Cannot be Spread if Our Customs are Forced on Other Countries Against Their Own Wish

Toronto, Jan. 18.—At Saturday morning's session of the Missionary Conference held in Victoria University, Rev. Y. Hiraiwa, B.A., president of the Japanese Methodist Conference, criticized the present methods of evangelizing the Eastern races, and said that Christianization should not mean denationalization, as is now so often attempted. When Mr. Hiraiwa had finished speaking, Chancellor Burwash emphasized and eulogized his ideas.

THE OPIUM TRADE DENOUNCED

The reverend gentleman from Japan is short, stout, spectacled, moustached, dressed in the attire of the West, and English in all save his speech. But broken as it was and tinged with the language of the Orient, there was no difficulty in catching the inspiration from his ideas, and he was frequently applauded by the large audience present. Rev. Mr. Hiraiwa scored the opium trade and the manner in which the Anglo-Saxon races treat the Chinese and Japanese today. He said, "If the opium trade was abolished and the Golden Rule was brought into the life of the Western nations, then their sphere of influence would be greatly widened.

"Do not ill-treat the Chinamen and then go in with the Gospel and expect to see great results," he said. The remark was applauded.

"There is," he continued, "too much Anglo-Saxonism, too much materialism, too much denationalizing, too much effort to control the people. Try to save them as a people, try to encourage them to be self-reliant if you would succeed. By subduing a nation you cannot Christianize them. The Spaniard went to Japan and China, and took Roman Catholicism with them. Then they tried to use their religion as a political influence and failed. Do not try to do this. It will fail.

JAPAN'S CHANGE OF TONE.

Then the reverend gentleman from the Orient traced the change of feeling in Japan. Seven years ago it was a feeling of animosity to Anglo-Saxonism that dominated them; now this feeling has died away, and their country is open and waiting for development. "If you subdue us you cannot develop us. Make the religion taught an appeal not only to the soul, but to the intellect and morals as well.

"You cry 'Canada for the Canadians.' Well and good. Then, why not apply the Golden Rule, and allow 'Japan for the Japanese,' 'China for the Chinese'? How would it be if we came to Canada which is a bread-eating nation, and demanded that you eat rice?"

Following this question, Rev. Mr. Hiraiwa showed how this would change the condition of affairs. The nation would be changed from its kitchen to its ideals. He reminded the audience that national life was but an aggregate of individuality, and that if the best results were to accrue from the affects of the Anglo-Saxon in the far East, respect must be shown to their traditions.

"Priestcraft subdues. Therefore, nations cannot really rise until freed. The missionary must go down to raise up. The missionary must live in the atmosphere of those whom he must reach. There are many good thoughts in Confucianism and in the other leaders of the East, and these good thoughts may be used to reach those who believe in them."

CRITICISM OF CANADIANS.

Chancellor Burwash followed. He said: "We are carrying Christianity to a nation which excels us in many points which we ourselves are trying to teach. Take the characteristic respect that is shown to the aged. They are beyond us in that. We should make use of these characteristics."

The Chancellor said that the great mistake made with missions to-day was that they endeavored too much to control that which they have reached. "I may not find favor in high quarters," he said, "but I believe that there is a great mistake made in the idea that we must rule that which we hold."

The speaker then cited the case of the immortal Paul, showing that when he went to Asia Minor, he first explained the Christianity, and when it was received, he did not attempt to force his ideas upon them. Chancellor Burwash decried going into the country with too many rules and with too much organization, and thought that allowance should be made for individual development.

Rev. Murdock Mackenzie, B.A., North China, who was through the Boxer riots, and who was severely injured in them, was the next speaker.

THE FRENCH JOURNALS URGE BETTER RELATIONS

Improved Tone of the Press Towards England and Chamberlain--Special Envoy To Washington

In that. We should make use of these

London, Jan. 18.—The Paris correspondent of the Times, commenting upon the altered tone of the better class of French papers towards England, and especially towards Secretary Chamberlain, since the South African War, advocates the cultivation of more friendly relations between the two peoples. He says that differences in the past benefitted only the third parties, and were indeed promoted by Germany as part of a deliberate policy. Germany's success in this direction was helped by the blunders of the two Governments, although to some degree by the mistakes of the press. The French are far too shrewd to have taken to heart a situation wherein they saw a deliberate attempt by Germany to make mischief between England and the United States, as they had done between England and France. The nations have only themselves to blame if they allow themselves to be used in this fashion, and the unpopularity of co-operation with Germany in Venezuela ought to show English ministers the advisability of meeting half-way the French disposition to put an end to an era of friction.

STERNBURG AS SPECIAL ENVOY.

London, Jan. 18.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says that Baron Von Steinberg goes to Washington as "envoy extraordinary on a special mission." It is believed that after the conclusion of certain formalities his promotion to the rank of Ambassador will follow. It is pointed out that the Baron's rapid rise from Consul-General to Ambassador has not been so sudden as it would at first appear. The position of Consul-General at Calcutta is described as being practically equivalent to that of Minister.

PRESS BLAMED FOR DISORDERS.

London, Jan. 18.—The Times correspondent at St. Petersburg says that the committee appointed to arrange for the celebration of the bicentary of the Russian press having been prohibited by the Government from holding a banquet, have circulated resolutions which it had been intended to propose at the banquet. These include a declaration insisting upon the necessity of abolishing the system of preventive censorship, and punishment of the press by administrative order, and urging other reforms for the improvement of the status of the press in Russia. Minister of Interior Plehve, in conversation with a leading member of the committee, said that the press of the country could expect nothing from the Government as it had been the cause of all the disorders in Russia. Since the sixties, he said, workmen, peasants, students, and others, had only been the Publicists' food for power.

The chief obstacle in the way of the acceptance by the United States of the Bond-Hay reciprocity treaty with Newfoundland is the objection of the fishery interests of Massachusetts and Maine. They do not wish to allow fish from Newfoundland waters into the United States unless caught by their own vessels. To strengthen this plea they claim that their fishing vessels are a school for seamen for the United States navy. A curious piece of information comes out on the opposite side. A Mr. T. S. Whitman, writing to the New York Times from Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, calls attention to the fact that the Gloucester fleet of fishing vessels, which has long demanded high protection on the plea that it is a school for seamen for the United States navy, is not only manned but commanded by foreigners, chiefly Nova Scotians, and that of the considerable mortality among fishing crews during 1902, aggregating eighty lives lost, only four were Americans. This proportion would probably be found to obtain in the total of sailors and officers manning the fleet. The three schooners lost with their entire crews were presumably typical. The five men who were lost from dories in fogs were all Canadians, as happened, and the same is probably true of those who lost their lives in other ways. So the so-called "New England" fisheries are New England fisheries in the sense that their owners are of the United States; but their men would evidently be more likely to man British ships of war than United States ones, in case of trouble. Of course there isn't going to be any trouble, at least not between Britain and the United States.

The end of December completes nine months of Great Britain's fiscal year. Preliminary figures for the period show that the government's receipts, under the new taxes, have increased $45,000,000 over the year preceding, while expenses have decreased $16,700,000. The increase in customs revenue was largest, rising to $20,000,000. Income tax revenue increased $4,000,000, but excise receipts were only $2,400,000 larger, and estate taxes, ("death duties") decreased by $400,000. Charges for the public debt during the period were larger by $10,000,000, while ordinary expenditures, including war outlay, decreased $36,000,000.

Brunette and Blonde

and then suddenly stopped still at a nearer view of her face.

She had not quite recognized Hilda, but there was enough familiarity in her face to appall the beautiful impostor.

In that moment's indecision every one in the room noticed the striking difference between the two young girl's. Florence's blonde beauty was set off to the greatest advantage by her rich and becoming attire and the jewels that gleamed upon her white neck and arms, but the pride of rank and the innate arrogance of a little mind lent an air of offensive haughtiness to her style and manner. No greater contrast to her could be imagined than Hilda in her bright, sweet, unadorned beauty and snowy dress, together with an unconscious stateliness, that made the haughty Florence look vulgar, inferior, and overdressed. It was a perfect triumph of nature over art.

"Florence, have you forgotten me?" asked Hilda, in her clear, sweet voice.

A frightened cry arose from Florence's lips. Her cheeks, so lately flushed with pride, grew decidedly white. She retreated as Hilda advanced. She looked like one terrified by a nameless fear.

"Florence, my love," said the earl, hastily, "it is your cousin, Hilda Aylesford. She was not dead, as you supposed. Go and speak to her, and bid her welcome to your ancestral home."

Florence heard the words, but her self-possession seemed to have deserted her. She looked at Hilda, who stood calmly regarding her agitation, and gasped out almost pleadingly:

"Oh! Hilda, why are you here?"

"I came at Lady Leigh's solicitation," the young girl answered, cresting her head with a stag-like movement of offended pride. "She fancied that you might be glad to see me, but I perceive that I am an intruder."

Every one was disappointed. They had expected that the two girls would meet with every appearance of affection. But no one could doubt that Florence was frightened and sorry at the re-appearance of the girl with whom she had been reared as a sister, and Hilda's spirited words gave little promise of amity.

The earl went forward and shook Florence's arm gently.

"My dear," he said, almost sternly, "in your fright and surprise you are forgetting everything. Bid your friend welcome."

Florence lifted her head and saw that her grandfather was regarding her with displeasure, and that Cecil Courtenaye and the guests were surprised at her emotion. She realized instantly that her conduct would draw suspicion upon her. Anxious to retrieve the bad impression she had created, she made an impulsive rush forward and clasped her arms around Hilda's neck, while she exclaimed in affectionate tones:

"Hilda, my darling, you must forgive my apparent coldness. I did not mean it. It was only that I was frightened and shocked by your sudden appearance when I believed you were dead. Oh! how glad your father will be to find you living!"

Hilda suffered her cousin to draw her smooth cheek down and kiss it with apparent tenderness, while she answered, in the quietest tone in the world:

"Yes, Florence, I can well fancy how glad he will be."

Florence, vaguely fancying a veiled sarcasm in the words, looked at her furtively, but the dark eyes met hers with calm serenity and innocence, and the suspicious blonde fancied she must have been mistaken.

"Hilda, I am very impatient to know what became of you that night when you wandered away in your fever," she said, sweetly. "You must tell me all about in to-morrow. To-night the happiness of seeing you again is quite sufficient."

CHAPTER XVII.

A Row on the Lake.

Florence did not close her eyes that night until she had written a letter to Mr. Aylesford, in London, apprising him of the startling re-appearance of Hilda, whom they had hoped and believed dead. She was filled with consternation at the turn affairs had taken. Almost a year had passed away in perfect security and tranquil enjoyment of the good fortune of which she had cheated Guy Aylesford's daughter—now it seemed to her as if retribution stared her in the face. There was something chilling and foreboding in the thought that Hilda Aylesford was at that moment sleeping calmly beneath her own grandfather's roof, secure in the love and protection of such people as Lady Leigh and Sir Wilfred Hale—people, as Florence bitterly reflected to herself, who had never looked upon her anything but coldly, despite all her wheedling efforts to gain their favor and win their hearts.

Having stayed up late to finish her letter, Florence slept even later than usual the next morning, and breakfasted in her own room.

"I will wear my dress of pale-blue nuns' veiling to-day," she said, to the maid, "and turquois ornaments. Arrange my hair very carefully. Are the guests up yet?"

"Yes, my lady, and have been out on the terrace half an hour," said the maid.

Florence grew very impatient at that. She could scarcely wait for her toilet to be completed before she seized her becoming rose-colored parasol and tripped out upon the terrace.

The family and the guests were all there before her. Mrs. Courtenaye, a lovely, delicate, fair-haired woman, sat upon a rustic seat with Lady Leigh, asking her about her American tour. Sir Wilfred and Mr. Courtenaye stood a little apart, conversing earnestly. The old earl was taking his leisurely morning walk by Hilda's side—Hilda, as bright and smiling as the summer morning, in a pretty, simple white lawn, with a scarlet rose in her belt, and a wide-brimmed, white chip hat, garlanded with blush-roses, shading her sparkling, piquant face. Florence went up to them.

"Good morning grandpapa—good morning Hilda," she said.

"My dear, you are a lazy girl," the earl cried, in excellent spirits. "Your young friend here has been up an hour, listening to the birds' singing."

Florence flushed. She knew that her grandfather was prejudiced in favor of early rising. But she said to Hilda, with a gentle smile:

"It is your fault, Hilda, that I am later than usual this morning. I could not sleep when I first retired last night for thinking of the great surprise and pleasure your visit had

The CANADIAN STEEL AND COAL COMPANY was organized to mine and manufacture iron and coal, coke and steel in Canada at Atlantic tidewater.

The raw materials for these manufactures are:—

1.—COAL. 2.—IRON. 3.—LIMESTONE.

All these materials we have at hand.

1.—COAL.

The Company controls 3,000 acres of excellent coal areas in the Province of Nova Scotia, and efforts are being made to increase this to 10,000 acres by the purchase of some very valuable additional coal fields.

The coal has been thoroughly tested and found to be suitable in every way for the manufacture of iron and steel, and the supply is practically inexhaustible. The following analysis was made by the Canadian Geological Survey:—

ANALYSIS.

Moisture	4.05
Vol. Comb. Matter	30.72
Fixed Carbon	60.
Ash	5.23

COAL VEINS.

The several layers or seams of coal available aggregate 27 to 30 feet in thickness.

TITLES.

These areas are held under C[illegible] Lease for a period of 80 years. Royalty 10 cents per ton of coal sold.

2.—IRON.

The Company has acquired by purchase immense iron deposits on the North Shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 350 miles from Sydney. The deposits are estimated to contain 20,000,000 ton[illegible] above sea level, with probably as much more below that line. The iron can be handled for $1.00 per ton or less. Quantities of this ore have been shipped to Great Britain and the United States, where it has given great satisfaction, and we can sell large quantities f. o. b. at the properties, netting us a profit of $2.00 per ton. This ore makes the finest steel.

3.—FLUX.

We are now negotiating for valuable deposits of dolomite and limestone of the most satisfactory quality, situated on the tide-water, within 100 miles of the works

MARKETS.

For six months in each year the Canadian markets can be reached by water a low freight rates, and at all times by rail. As Cape Breton is distant from Liverpool only about 2,300 miles; is nearer to Pernambuco, Brazil, than any point in the United States, and also nearer to Cape Town, South Africa, it has the advantage, in point of distance, for export business over any American steel-producing points, which, with scarcely any exceptions, are situated some distance from tide water. Under any conditions of the world's market, it is believed that the output of these works can be disposed of at satisfactory prices.

OUTPUT

When in full operation, the output is expected to be about as follows:—

1. IRON.—200,000 tons iron ore shipped direct from property, showing net profit of $2.00 per ton, total	$400,000 00
200,000 tons fine iron ore shipped in briquettes, showing net profit of $4.00 per ton, total	800,000 00
100,000 tons steel blooms, showing net profit of $3.00 per ton, total	300,000 00
2. COAL.—600,000 tons coal, showing net profit, at least, of $1.00 per ton, total	600,000 00
3. AIDS.—Government bounties (averaged) added to above per year for 6 years	100 000 00
Total yearly revenue	$2,200,000 00

GOVERNMENT AIDS.

To encourage the manufacture in the Dominion of iron and steel the Parliament of Canada has granted bounties as follows:—

	ON PIG IRON.	ON STEEL.
Apl. 21st, 1902, to July 1st, 1903	$2.70	$2.70
July 1st, 1903, " " 1904	2.25	2.25
July 1st, 1904, " " 1905	1.65	1.65
July 1st, 1905, " " 1906	1.05	1.05
July 1st, 1906, " " 1907	.60	.60

If the production of steel from the Company's works be as estimated, 300,000 tons per annum, the bounties to be received from the Canadian Government will be as follows:—

1904	$225,000
1905	215,000
1906	145,000
1907	85,000
or an average of $100,000.00 per annum for 6⅔ years	$670,000.00

NET REVENUE

Total net annual profits		$2,200,000.00
LESS FIXED CHARGES:—
7 per cent. interest on preferred stock	$70,000.00
Sinking Fund	60,000.00
Incidentals	25,000.00
		155,000.00
Net yearly profits		$2,045,000 00

Equivalent to yearly dividends of over 30 per cent., or 15 per cent. half yearly on total capitalization.

If the capitalization was increased to .... $20,000,000.00 this estimate would still show a dividend-earning capacity of 10 per cent. per annum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Coal Co. is .... $20,000,000.00 earning fully 12 per cent., and is paying 8 per cent. guaranteed dividends on this enormous sum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. is .... $28,000,000.00 on which it is believed 6 per cent. dividends will be earned.

The capitalization of the Canadian Steel & Coal Company is only $6,000,000.00 controlling, it is believed, equally valuable properties, and it is reasonable to expect much larger dividends.

Within the last few months Dominion Coal shares common rose in market value from $40 to $144 per share, and Dominion Iron & Steel Company's share common rose over $30 per share in market value.

With such low capitalization the Canadian Steel and Coal Co's shares should show tremendous profits, and it is confidently believed they will.

STOCK MARKETS

A PROPER COMPARISON

New York, Jan. 17.—Mr. Chas. Barrett analyses comparatively the Rock Island financial scheme together with that of the Burlington, which was carried through about a year ago. He goes on to say: Touching the matter of variableness of earnings, it may be noted that the old Rock Island earned gross six years ago $17,100,000 and that gross increased every year until in 1902 it reached $28,400,000. The increase was 66 per cent. The two per cent. dividend of six years ago was earned and a 1 per cent. surplus left over. The Burlington, whose capitalization was adjusted in the same way as Rock Island was to common stock, earned gross six years ago $34,200,000 and that gross increased every year until in 1902 it reached $53,800,000. The increase was 58 per cent. As respects dividend earning capacity there was practically no difference in the two stocks. The Burlington's $110,000,000 of stock was merged into $220,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds, and the road leased on a guarantee of fixed charges which was equivalent to 8 per cent. upon the stock. In 1902 the road earned 10 per cent. This shows a profit of $2,000,000 for the year to the lessees. The Rock Island's $75,000,000 was merged into $75,000,000 of 4 per cent. bonds. That is just one-half of the Burlington's inflation, if that is a proper term for the transaction. In addition $52,500,000 new preferred stock was issued, calling for $5,100,000 per annum or the equivalent of about 7 per cent. on the old Rock Island stock, which was earning $7,500,000 or 10 per cent. Instead of going to the lessees as in the Burlington case the remaining $2,400,000 goes to the holders of the new Rock Island common. The old Rock Island company also had in its treasury $26,500,000 in cash, which necessarily passed to the new company through the merger. The new company has also added to the 4500 mileage of the old company some 3500 miles of newly acquired and built road, earning at least $12,000,000 per annum. The process of expansion is still going on, with what result cannot be known to the public until the next annual report is issued. The Rock Island scheme of inflation was all wrong, being by western capitalists. Wall street writers had a spasm, the Burlington scheme was by New Yorkers; that was all right, these things depends upon who does them.

Summary—The bank statement showed an increase in reserves of over $5,400,000, an increase in specie of over $11,000,000, an increase in deposits of over $25,000,000, while loans increased about $14,000,000. The market continued strong, copper selling above 64 and sugar above 131. Missouri Pacific was the railway leader, advancing over a point. Considerable trading took place in Atchison, Manhattan, St. Paul, Union Pacific, Reading and Rock Island. All these issues were decidedly strong. Heavy buying of Car and Foundry continued throughout the session. It is a market that for the time requires patience, but it should be exercised on the bull side. Money, nothing doing. Sales 250,000.

Syracuse, Jan. 17—A. A. Howlett, the veteran bank president and business man, has issued invitations to about 100 widows, who are to help him to celebrate his eighty-second birthday anniversary on Feb. 17. No man will be there save the host.

Every widow whose husband Mr. Howlett has known has been asked. Mr. Howlett says:

"Widows are too often left out of society. I've been in business ever since 1840, and I have known a great many widows. There'll be widows from New York, Chicago, Duluth, Oswego and other places. And they'll all be prominent people. We won't have a man in the house. REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $35 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to instal either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of FIVE CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at FIVE CENTS is short.

SATURDAY'S MARKET

Beef, Apples Hay and Wood Plentiful, but in Most Cases Prices are High

The good roads and mild weather had the effect of producing a fairly large market on Saturday. In most cases, however, prices were high. Eggs were from 23 25 cents. Butter 20 to 22 cents. Potatoes $1.25 to $1.35. Beef $6.00 to $8.00. Pork by the quarter, 8 and 9 cents. Live hogs were up to $5.87 1-2 and dressed hogs to $7.50. There was a good supply of wood, but no reduction in price. Dry hardwood still sells at $7.00. Very little green hardwood is offering. Soft wood brought from $3.50 to $5.00.

FOR EIGHT LONG YEARS

Postman Johnson Had Catarrh --Used Catarrh Remedies, Snuffs, Washes and Sarsaparillas, But Got Only Temporary Relief.

Then One Happy Day He Tried the Life-Giving Powley's Liquified Ozone—Seven Bottles Made Him a Well Man.

Now He Eats Well and Sleeps Well and Pronounces Ozone the Most Perfect Blood Purifier Sold.

That the only way to cure Catarrh is to get right at the seat of the trouble and reach it through the blood is proven by the experience of Postman M. F. Johnson, 395 Rivard street, Montreal For eight or nine years he suffered from Catarrh of the head and stomach, but half a bottle of Powley's Liquified Ozone improved his condition and seven bottles effected a permanent cure.

The following is Mr. Johnsons' statement of his case:

Montreal. Feb. 8, 1902.

The Ozone Co., Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Gentlemen:

I have been suffering for eight or nine years from Catarrh in the head and stomach, and have used all kinds of catarrh remedies, snuffs, washes and sarsaparilla, but they gave me only temporary relief. I saw your advertisement in the Montreal Herald and procured a bottle of Ozone and before it was half used I found it was doing me good and going to cure me, which it has done after using seven bottles. The pains in my head have all disappeared and the hawking and spitting in the morning is no more. I get good sound sleep now since taking Ozone and can eat my breakfast, something I could not do before using Ozone.

I honestly believe that Ozone is one of the best blood-purifying remedies on the market to-day, and anyone following the directions and instructions in your book will surely be cured of any ailment of the body.

I remain, truly yours,

(Signed) M. F. JOHNSON,
Postman,
395 Rivard St., Montreal, P.Q.

Mr. Johnson is Not the Only One

The following are a few of the many persons who have been cured of Catarrh by the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone:

Ernest R. Ozon, 261 Hypolite st., Montreal
James L. Schott, 97 Voyer st., Montreal.
W. H. Gould, 217 Hamilton road, London, Ont.
James A. Patterson, 30 Main st., St. John, N.B.
J. A. Mooney, 2143 St. Catherine street, Montreal.
Fred Fortier, Maisonneuve, Montreal.
A. J. Fergus, St. Constant le Prairie, Que.
J. A. Goyer, 476 Laval Ave., Montreal.
Mrs. D'Antemil, 317 Rosemer st., Montreal
Walter D. Kew, 38 Maplewood ave, Toronto

If it is convenient for you to interview any of these persons call and have a talk with them. If this is not possible write them. You will find there is no uncertain sound in their praises of the merits of Ozone.

Ozone is sold everywhere at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Our book on Catarrh for the asking. Address The Ozone Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Council Mix-up

The following clipping shows that Peterborough is not the only place that is suffering from the mix-up in regard to councillors and school trustees:

The election of ex-Warden Binkley to the Wentworth County Council has been protested, on the ground that he is a school trustee.

Messrs. Joseph Rogers and Arch McCallum, who were elected at the last county election to represent division 6 in the York County Council, are also school trustees. They are likely to lose their seats, because under the recent amendment of the Municipal Act no member of any public school board can at the same time hold office as councillor.

Reeve Legg and Councillor McMurchy, of King Township, as stated Friday, have already been compelled to resign recently, because they were also school trustees.

DISCOURAGED

The expression occurs so many times in letters from sick women to Dr. Pierce; "I was completely discouraged." And there is always good reason for the discouragement. Years of suffering. Doctor after doctor tried in vain. Medicines doing no lasting good. It is no wonder that the woman feels discouraged.

Thousands of these weak and sick women have found health and courage regained as the result of the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"In the year 1899 I was taken sick," writes Mrs. Ellen Crowder, of Ripley, Lauderdale Co., Tenn. "My limbs ached, had severe pains in back and lower part of bowels, with difficulty in urination, and smarting and burning pain after. I tried many kinds of medicine and four of the best doctors in the country, until I gave up all hope of recovery. In January, 1901, I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and received from him a letter, telling me to try his medicines. I took eleven bottles, six of 'Favorite Prescription,' five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' one vial of 'Pellets,' and used one box of 'Lotion Tablets' and one of 'Healing Suppositories,' and am now able to work at anything I want to. Thanks to you for your valuable medicine and kind advice."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Scotsmen to the Front.

You know the character which Scotsmen have acquired, beyond almost any other people, for the art of pushing their fortunes abroad. It was never, perhaps more singularly illustrated than by the following anecdote, which is related on the authority of an almost eminent scientific baronet.

The Russians and Turks in their war of the eighteenth century having diverted themselves long enough in the contest, agreed to treat for peace. The commissioners for this were Marshal General Keith, on the part of the Russians, and the Grand Vizier on the part of the Turks. These two personages met and carried on their negotiations by means of interpreters. When all was concluded and they rose to separate, the Marshal made his bow with his hat in his hand, and the Vizier his salaam with his turban on his head.

But when these ceremonies of taking leave were over the Vizier turned suddenly, and, coming up to Marshal Keith, took him cordially by the hand, and, in the broadest Scottish accent, declared warmly that it made him "verra happy to meet a countryman in his exalted station."

Keith stared with astonishment, eager for an explanation of this mystery, when the Vizier added:

"Dinna be surprised, man; I'm o' the same country wi' yoursel'. I mind weel seein' you and your brother, when laddies, passin' by the school at Kirkcaldy. My father, sir, was bellman o' Kirkcaldy."

A Coming Promotion.

"And what," asked the cannibal chieftain in his kindest tones, "what was your business before you were captured by our men?"

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday and Election of Officers

A GOOD FINANCIAL POSITION

Report of the Superintendent Shews Everything to be In a Satisfactory Shape

The annual meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Company was held yesterday afternoon in the Council Chamber, when reports of the work for the past year were presented, showing everything to be in a satisfactory condition. During the past year, extensive alterations and improvements have been made, as shown by the Superintendent's report.

Mr. W. H. Moore, President, occupied the chair.

The following shareholders were present: E. A. Peck, F. Wise, C. Stapleton, W. H. Moore, M. W. Matchett, Geo. Kingan, T. E. Bradburn, H. T. Strickland, T. A. S. Hay, R. M. Dennistoun, B. Shortly, John Carnegie and Adam Dawson.

Mr. E. A. Peck, Secretary, read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were adopted as read.

Mr. W. H. Moore then presented the following:

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

To the Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company:

The Directors of the Company present the following report for the past year;

Your Directors are much gratified to be able to report continued progress during the year just closed, in embellishing and beautifying the cemetery and in making lasting improvements to the grounds and chapel; and also in being able to add a sum to the reserve fund, towards future maintenance.

At the commencement of last year, your Directors had to the Company's credit in the bank the sum of $807.11. There has since been purchased a town debenture for $917.31 as an investment for surplus money in hand, and there now remains in bank $913.86 to the Company's credit.

Your Directors have, during the past year, made substantial repairs to the walls of the chapel and had all the outside woodwork painted; also put down two concrete approaches to the chapel in the place of the wooden ones; repaired several landings to the grounds from the Little Lake, and had a telephone placed in the office at the cemetery for public use.

In the early part of the year, at the request of a number of the ministers of the town, a resolution was passed by your Board prohibiting Sunday funerals, save under exceptional circumstances which make it imperative that the funeral should take place on Sunday.

Your Directors have amended, in many important particulars, and consolidated the rules and regulations governing the use of the cemetery. A large number of copies have been printed, with the object of placing one in the hands of each lot owner as far as possible. These rules and regulations, as amended and consolidated, will be laid before you for your consideration and approval.

Your Directors have entered into a contract with the Water Commissioners for a supply of water to the cemetery for lawn and other purposes for a period of ten years, on very favorable terms.

In the month of May last you Company lost a most valued member by the death of Mr. Henry Denne, who had been a director for twenty-four years. On this occasion your Directors met in special session and placed a resolution on their minutes expressing their deep regret at his death and condolence with his widow and family, and as a mark of respect to his memory, they sent a wreath to be placed on his coffin and attended the funeral in a body.

A detailed statement of expenditures and receipts for the year is shewn in the Auditors and Superintendent's Reports, which will be submitted to you.

A number of by-laws were passed by your Directors during the past year with relation to the conduct of business, meeting of the directors and shareholders, and other matters, which will be laid before you, and which require to be confirmed at this meeting in order to continue them in force for the future.

There are now several hundred shareholders of your company, and it would be particularly pleasing to your Directors to observe a more general attendance at the annual meeting on the third Monday in January of each year, thereby showing the interest all feel in the progress of the Company, in which in time past have taken so deep a concern.

19th January, 1903.

W. H. MOORE,
President.

The President's report was received and adopted on motion of Messrs. Shortly and Stapleton.

Mr. F. Wise, Superintendent, then presented his report as follows:

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT, 1902.

To the President, Directors and Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company -

Gentlemen—I beg to submit the following report of the improvements made during the year ending Dec. 31st, 1902—

Early in the spring the remaining gravel walks above the ranges, were filled in and seeded. The drains in Section "D" levelled and seeded and the walk running between the lawns and Section "A" and "H" filled and sodded.

Two new flower beds have been cut, one at the north end of Section "E" and the other on the triangle at the north end of Section "C" known as the Gladman lots, which in my opinion should be acquired by the company as should also another triangle plot, known as the Best lots.

Lake Avenue, leading from the entrance to its junction with Ware Avenue, has been graded and watertabled. The lots acquired by the Company on the corner of Haggart and Crescent streets have been levelled and seeded down.

About 2,000 square feet on Block "4" Section "N" have been graded and seeded down.

Section "B" from range 17 to 21 has been cleaned and put in order, so that in the spring it will form a block of very desirable lots.

Some of the lot owners on section "B" have responded to the call for improvements and have had their lots put in order, which has greatly added to the appearance of that part of the cemetery.

Two ledges have been taken out, which has very much improved the appearance of the adjoining lots, and added to the landscape.

Acting under instructions from Mr. J. J. Lundy I took down and rebuilt the wall around his plot, which has been finished without the iron railing and is considered a great improvement.

The old slat walks at the chapel have been removed and replaced with concrete.

The foundation of the chapel has been repaired, the stack-pipes taken from the sides, and placed at the east end, and a drain put in to carry the water away from the building; the old cellar door has been built up with masonry and the entrance filled in.

The chapel, tankhouse, tieposts, seats, and other wooden structures throughout the cemetery have been painted and otherwise put in good repair.

I would respectfully recommend that in the near future a new plot be laid out in some remote part of the cemetery, as additional free ground, known as the single grave plot, is nearly all taken up.

I also append my financial statement for the past year.

Respectfully submitted.

FRANK WISE,
Superintendent

MAKING OF A COUNTRY

Wonderful Development of the Sault St. Marie District

WHAT CLERGUE HAS DONE

A Power Developed That Makes Niagara Power Plants Look Small

A Great Future for the "Soo" as Seen by the New York Herald

New York, Jan. 19—An interesting article in the New York Herald, on the Clergue industries at Sault Ste Marie, says:

Man made Niagara to do the work of 50,000 draught horses. Thirty-two miles away, in Buffalo, the Falls turn the wheels of industry. Two continents marvelled at the engineering feat. But out in the little town of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., a work has just been completed in comparison with which the power of Niagara ebbs into commonplace. An artificial canal and a twenty-foot drop of water seems insignificant when compared with the greatest fall in the world. Yet in that little Michigan village, adopted by men's brains those two things have been made to send to Detroit, 250 miles away, an electrical current, capable of doing the work of 60,000 horses!

Only a few days ago a little girl closed a switch in the big power house in Sault Ste. Marie. The switch was four inches long, made of solid gold, and the finest of onyx. The power house is said to be the longest building in the world. On the instant that the contact was made, eighty-one huge dynamos began to revolve, and what the middle northwest had dreamed of for years—cheap power—was a fact. A jubilee such as no town in the west had ever seen made memorable the occasion.

Sault Ste. Marie has been called the natural assembling point of the products of the west. The government canals connecting Lake Superior with the St. Mary's River, pass a marvellous commerce. Mining regions are near by. It is the natural location for smelting and refining works, with all their linked industries.

Why had Sault Ste. Marie never developed beyond a town of twenty thousand inhabitants?

For one reason alone. Cheap power has never been obtainable. Coal has always been abnormally high in price. Is it any wonder that when this canal and power house had been completed the town passed this resolution:

"We are celebrating the completion of the greatest water power development in the world, which is to revolutionize the industrial conditions, not only of this city, but the entire country surrounding, and marks a new era in our history. This event will impress upon the outside world our possibilities as a manufacturing centre and upon our own people all that the development of water power really means."

When only the French voyageurs and the Indians inhabited the "Soo" they built a sawmill on the banks of the St. Mary's River. Even then the natural advantages of the place were recognized. Since then company after company have gone to financial failure on account of the expenses of development. But the last attempt was successful, and canal, power house, machinery and the attendant works are now in full operation.

The only outlet of Lake Superior is the St. Mary's river, which empties into Lake Huron. Twenty-foot falls make the river unnavigable. In consequence both the United States and Canadian governments have circled the falls with ship canals. But the difference in level between the two lakes is the foundation of the great work which has just been completed.

To utilize this difference in level a canal two and a half miles long, has been built from Lake Superior to a point in the river far below the falls. Just before the drop into the river, the canal spreads the water out into a pond, making the fall of water more than a quarter of a mile in width. Across this extensive brink the huge power house has been built.

To be exact the building is 1,368 feet long, the longest structure in the world. Under this building, through sixty-one arches, the water flows. Three hundred and twenty turbines transmit the power to eighty generators, each of 500 horse power. Then the current goes to turn the wheels of industry as far as Detroit, two hundred and fifty miles away.

As has been said, the giant works send their power two hundred and fifty miles. Electricians assert that the principles so fully demonstrated in Sault Ste. Marie can be applied to any mountain stream. Why not, then they say, erect "boosting stations" along the route of the current, a route changeable at will, and so run electric cars any distance.

The compensating works are a peculiar outcome of the building of the canal. Before the project had been completed lake men foresaw danger in having thirty thousand cubic feet of the water drawn out every second from the lake. A few years and it would not be fit for navigation, they said. So they made a long complaint to the war department, and their assertions were investigated. The secretary of war upheld their protests as just.

Here was a dilemma. The canal was almost built. Should at that late day the labors of years and the expenditure of millions be allowed to go to waste? The engineers put their heads together and in a day the problem was solved.

Why not make the natural outlet of the lake compensate for the damage done by the artificial? Why not dam the St. Mary's river, a flow and loss of water useless in itself? This was the solution and the war department gave a ready consent.

Secretary of War Alger made a personal investigation of the matter, and was soon impressed with the feasibility of the novel plan.

A huge dam was constructed just above the rapids. Sluice gates, each of steel, 54 feet long, and 13 feet high were so arranged that they could diminish the flow of water into the river at will, and so nature was harnessed to compensate for the demands made upon her by man's own work.

So after years of strife, after a period of almost a hundred years, has the Soo been made to give the only economic necessity to make it a great city—cheap power. Already a railroad to Hudson Bay has sprung up, to carry to a near manufacturer the products of the great country to the north. Now ores can be mined and taken to the smelters and refined. Tanneries have started work. Electro-chemical concerns have established factories. A thousand and one industries have boomed. Cheap power has made a country.

The Old Style Kilmarnocks Worn by the Visiting Scotchmen

The Scotch team, now in Canada, wanted to appear in old-fashioned Kilmarnocks. But this was not easy, as only one woman was found capable of knitting them. By working over-time for a few weeks, the supply was made equal to the demand, and each man departed for Canada, wearing a good old-fashioned Kilmarnock tam. The following are the names of the gentlemen comprising the party and clubs represented: Rev. John Kerr, Dirleton, Captain; R. Husband, Dunfermline; D. Provan, Craiglockart; H. Ballantyne, Peebles; R. Branwell, Upper Nithsdale; J. McGregor, Camperdown; H. Prain, Castle Huntley; Dr. Kirk, Bathgate; D. Murray, Airthrey Castle; M. Sanderson, Duddington; T. To Drive Out Canadian Cattle

Hon. Mr. Hanbury Congratulates the British Farmers Upon Their Freedom From Competition

London, Jan. 20—The Canadian Pacific officials here refuse to confirm or deny the report that the company is buying the Elder-Dempster Company's steamer Beaver for a fast Atlantic freight service. The Elder-Dempsters issue an official denial that the Beaver line will be purchased by the Canadian Pacific. My own enquiries prove that negotiations are undoubtedly afoot, but unconcluded.

Our Cattle Driven Out.

Hon. Mr. Hanbury's last speech congratulates the British farmers that their chief rivals, Canada, the United States, and Argentina, are relinquishing the live meat trade in favor of the dead. As regards Canada, she claimed exceptional treatment. While Britain will always do what she could to assist the British colonies on any question, disease must be primary consideration.

The Curlers.

A Scottish correspondent, writing to the Pall Mall Gazette, says the reason why the Scottish curlers in Canada have not won many matches is that the team is essentially of a scratch order. A combination of important and crack clubs' men would probably do better. Canadian conditions are against the Scotchmen who take some time to find the pace on the ice. A picked Canadian team would likely fare badly in Scotland.

Trinity College School

It is now stated on the authority of Rev C. J. Boulden himself, that no offer has been made to him by the Port Hope authorities in regard to accepting a position in Trinity College School. This being the case, there is nothing in the report that he had refused such an offer.

CARPET TEA

The Ladies of the Y. M. C. A. Has Charge of the Event

A carpet being needed for one of the rooms in the Y.M.C.A. building, the ladies devised the novel scheme of a "Carpet Tea" to pay for it. Tea was served yesterday in the building, beginning at four o'clock, and many took advantage of the occasion to have a pleasant time, and also assist the ladies in their laudable undertaking. Cake, oysters, etc., were also served, and by payment of five cents additional, a person was allowed to vote as to which of the handsome carpets on exhibition was his choice. The carpet securing the highest number of votes was chosen. The ladies secured a good patronage, and the affair was very successful.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

A Lengthy Programme Arranged for the Coming Session

Parliament is booked to meet early in March. The coming session will be one of the most important since confederation and will probably last for six months or over. Among the important questions to be considered are atriff, the fast Atlantic service, the redistribution bill, the report of the Colonial Conference delegates, the Railway's Commission bill, the Telephone bill, the Cattle Guards bill, the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, granting of railway subsidies for the years 1901-2 and 1902-3 and the prospect to further extend the Intercolonial. From this partial synopsis it can be seen that Canada's legislators have a busy season before them.

THE ACKERMAN STRIKE

The Men Quit Work Yesterday Afternoon —May Return This Morning

The public are already familiar with the trouble at Mr. B. F. Ackerman's Harness Factory a few weeks ago, which was ventilated in the Police Court. Although the matter was disposed of there, it does not seem to have been satisfactory to the employees. Some of them stated to The Times that a petition was presented to the management, signed by almost everybody in the shop, asking for the discharge of the employee hwose presence caused the previous trouble. This was done, the men claim, not because he was a non-union man, but on account of personal objections, irrespective of the question of being a member of the union. This petition was not favorably received, and the man was continued in the services of the firm. Consequently a committee was appointed to wait on Mr. Ackerman. This was done yesterday afternoon, but as Mr. Ackerman declined to dismiss the employee in question, about forty men walked out at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

When seen by The Times, Mr. Ackerman stated that since then the employee in question had voluntarily departed, and he thought probably the other men would be back at work to-day.

Paine's Celery Compound

Will Banish Your Neuralgia

READ THE SURONG TESTIMONY OF A GENTLEMAN WHO FAILED WITH DOCTORS AND ORDINARY MEDICAL PRESCRIPTIONS

Neuralgia, rheumatism and a general "rundown" condition result directly from an impoverished and famished nervous system.

Paine's Celery CCompound quickly corrects this faulty condition. Being a true nerve food and nourisher, it builds up the nervous system and fully sustains it. While Paine's Celery Compound is working at the root of disease, (the nerve centres) bracing and building up the weakened and irritated parts and purifying the blood, neuralgia, rheumatism and poisons are expelled forever from the system. Dr. Phelps' wonderful prescription is carrying health and happiness into thousands of homes; it is what you need for your present troubles; it makes sick people well and strong. Mr. William Conley, West Bolton, Que., writes as follows -

"I have had several attacks of neuralgia. It kept on increasing—getting worse, and I tried all the doctors for help, and took all kinds of medicine, and I got so at last that I could not sleep at night. I saw an advertisement of Paine's Celery Compound, and I went and got a bottle, and it cured me of all pain, and I can now rest as well as ever before in my life. I would not be without Paine's Celery Compound if I had to pay fifteen dollars a bottle for it."

LORENZ AT WORK IN LONDON

Shows His Method of Bloodless Surgery Before Many Surgeons

London, Jan. 19—Prof. Lorenz demonstrated his bloodless surgical operations at the Orthopedic Hospital here today. Before his arrival about fifty letters had been received asking for treatment for children. One woman offered to pay the professor 200 guineas and to give 100 guineas to the hospital if he would treat her child who was suffering from this disease.

The doctor treated three patients—two girls of 7 and a boy of 8. Hundreds of surgeons and physicians witnessed the operations.

SAW TRAIN KILL HER HUSBAND

Dr. H. B. Tingley of Rockaway Missed His Footing and Fell Under Wheels

New York, Jan. 19—Dr. Herbert B. Tingley, one of the best known physicians in the borough of Queens, was killed at Hollands station of the Rockaway Beach railroad yesterdayy afternoon in the sight of his wife and their seven-year-old daughter. Dr. Tingley lived within sight of the railroad station at Hollands. As the 2.51 o'clock train drew into the station on the way to Rockaway Park. His office boy helped him on with his coat and he dashed across to the train, which was just getting under way.

From a window his wife and daughter watched him as he attempted to swing himself on the first car. He missed his footing and fell under the wheels and the lower part of his body was horribly mangled.

Mrs. Tingley dashed frantically out of the house toward the station, but before she had gone half way she fell in a swoon. While train hands were lifting the doctor's body from under the train, neighbors carried Mrs. Tingley back to her home.

Dr. Tingley was wealthy.

A Note of Warning Sounded in Regard to the Growing Evil

London, Jan. 18.—The London Times' Johannesburg correspondent says the people of the Rand hope every care will be taken not to adjust the present difficulties at the expense of the future and so lay up for the country a debt more serious than the monetary contribution wherefore posterity may ever anathematize the present generation. "I refer," says the correspondent, "to the introduction of Chinese labor which is being earnestly canvassed. Under existing circumstances the demand for Chinese labor may well seem irresistable, especially if the mining industry is to meet its obligations, but it is well to sound a note of warning regarding the Chinese laying up for our descendants a heritage of misfortune."

London, Jan. 18.—The suggested introduction of Chinese labor for the Rand mines excites such criticism and opposition here. It is safe to say that no decision has yet been arrived at by the Government on the subject.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

From Taking Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills

Editor of the Morning Times:

Sir,—I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow sufferers to say that after 12 year of indescribable torture from indigestion and debilitated constitution, I am now, believe, thoroughly well. I spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief that never came, until I tried Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, 12 boxes of which did the work. I am now in perfect health, and want the world to know what cured me. E. S. Smith, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Chas. Richie writes: "I believe if I had not been for Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills I would have now been in my grave, as I was a long sufferer from stomach troubles. They are the greatest remedy on earth."

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough, price 25c. per box.

The Medical Barber

The ambition of Yankee barbers keeps step with the swift forward march of their learned profession. Every year candidates are submitted to a severer examination and required to show a greater amount of scientific and technical proficiency. The members of the Chicago Barbers' Protective Association will not rest until barbers become doctors of medicine. In old days the barber was a surgeon. Now he seeks to be a medical specialist, devoting himself to "facial nerve troubles." The snake of Aesculapius still twines around the barber's pole. It is right that the barber should seek to recover his ancient honors. It is still not uncommon to find canary birds in barbers' shops, singers that recall Apollo Aesculapius or Apollo Pean, the healer and the minstrel. The good old custom of keeping lutes, violins or other musical instruments for the use of the barbers clients is obsolete, we believe; but we like to remind the barbers of the high origins and traditions of their honorable art and mystery. In Canada the barbers are already wise in their day and generation, and in Peterborough they are regarded as encyclopaedias of knowledge and information, and never begrudge the time to impart it, either.

KRUGER IN SOUTH FRANCE LIVING LIFE OF A HERMIT

Seeks No One, Goes Nowhere, Looks Sick and Thoroughly Disheartened

Mentone, France, Jan. 20— Paul Kruger, once called the "Lion of South Africa," now old, sick and disheartened, is living very quietly in Mentone—so quietly, in fact, that he might be at Utrecht for all Mentone knows about him. He looks old, sick and discouraged.

The Boer ex-President has taken the two villas Gems, side by side, on the high road facing the sea in the Grar van quarter. They are unpretentious, not to say mean, in their proportions and contain but few rooms.

One cottage is occupied by Mr. Kruger and his suite; the other by his daughter, Mrs. Eloff, with her husband and family.

He has been outside the garden only once since he arrived. Then he drove in a closed landau to Castellar. But sometimes he sits on his balcony and smokes.

Although he never goes to any place of public worship, devotional exercise and Bible reading take up the greater part of each Sunday.

Dr. Leyds has not been to Mentone and there is no probability of his coming.

A widely known American woman, residing in Nice drove over one day and asked to see "Oom Paul" but was told that he was ill. She said she was anxious to express her sympathy with him on the loss of his wife. A few days later she received a letter, stating that Mr. Kruger would be pleased to see her later in the season.

A Bathing Costume.

Montrose considered the summer plans of his family settled and that bother away behind him once and for all, when his spouse suddenly jarred him by announcing: "George, I must have a new bathing costume this year." It is hardly worth recording that he grunted and replied to the effect that she'd better have it, then:

"What color do you think would be nice?" asked Mrs. M. Again he grunted, and advised her to have anything she liked. "I was thinking of white," she said, and when he laid down his paper she added, "There is a new material, a kind of sacking with a very coarse mesh. It's very pretty, and lets the water right through without clinging at all. A bathing costume that clings is so uncomfortable. Heavy awning cloth is nice, too. That comes a pretty little red stripe on white. Would you like that?"

His voice was awestruck as he returned: "What on earth do you want to get yourself into a white bathing dress for?"

"I want to get into it 'on earth,' to go into the water!" Somehow the idea of a new bathing dress made her feel gay and clever.

"Yes," said he, scornfully, "one with big meshes that lets the water through, but not big enough to let you through! My dear Marian, this is all nonsense! Why have a bathing costume at all?"

She hates him when he calls her Marian, and she answered with energy: "I would have a bathing costume because it would be indecent to bathe without one."

"Well, why bathe?"

"George!"

"There is the tub."

"I am not talking about the tub. I am talking about the seashore."

"No, you are talking of white bathing dresses with big meshes. Are you losing your mind, Marian?"

"I must be to discuss any matter of taste with you! What is your idea of a bathing dress?"

"For a person like you, something suitable, modest and useful."

"My dear George, you first saw me in a white silk bathing dress with lace on the edge and gold buttons."

"One reason I married you was to exercise some control over your wardrobe, and I shall not have my wife appear in —"

"Didn't I look well?"

"That has nothing to do with the matter—now."

His emphasis on the "now" was bloodcurdling, but she was not warned, and began:

"Do you mean to say that I—"

"You weighed 135 then and were five years younger than you are now."

That was too much! "George Montrose," said she, "I shall have a white bathing dress, the biggest mesh I can find, and—and—I shall not go bathing without it. There!"

And George does not know whether she will or will not, but abundant precedent makes him uneasy.

It Couldn't be Worse.

Mrs. Mellem is one of those inoffensive persons who are continually dreading that they may, by some mischance, hurt the feelings of others. Added to this, she has had considerable trouble in getting a suitable cook, and does not wish to offend her.

"John," she said to the man-servant, on the morning following the party, "do you happen to know whether—that is—I mean, can you find out, without asking the cook, whether the tinned salmon was all eaten last night? You see, I don't wish to ask her because she may have eaten it, and then she would feel uncomfortable," added the good soul.

"If you please, ma'am," replied the man, "the new cook has eaten the tinned salmon; and if you was to say anything to her you couldn't make her more uncomfortable than she is."

"Poor man!" said the lady visitor, addressing one of the inmates of the insane asylum, "don't you often feel very sad to be shut up here?"

"Oh, no," the patient answered. "The lunatics who come to look at us are generally very amusing."—Chicago "Record-Herald."

It is hard to decide which feels the most elated—the distinguished man who manages to palm himself off as an ordinary citizen for a few hours, or the ordinary man who happens to be mistaken for somebody in particular.

"What is your city noted for?"

"Well, we have the tallest building in the country, the cleanest streets of any city in the world, the best street car service, the largest—"

"Oh, yes! But what have you that other cities haven't got?"

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Some time ago King Edward initiated a competition with a view to obtaining in concrete form the best exposition of the modern idea of the most perfect means of carrying out the open air treatment for consumption and His Majesty's advisory committee has awarded the prize for an "Essay for the erection of a Sanatorium in England for Tuberculosis," to Dr. William Lathan, London, England, who has associated with him, as architect, William West, of London. The Daily Mail thus condenses Dr. Lathan's paper:—

Ever since Koch's discovery (1882) of the infective micro-organism of tuberculosis, it has been manifest, as previously foreshadowed by others, that it was a curable disease, but the method of cure still remains, as it does of many other diseases the cause of which is known, beyond our ken. That the open-air treatment is the ultima Thule of the therapeutics of the condition no modern pathologist will allow, but that it is a distinct advance, long delayed, beyond the two recent days of treating consumptives like tropical orchids all must admit.

It must not be forgotten that tuberculosis occurs in all parts of the body, and in different forms—that is, in different degrees of severity and resistance to all treatment. In many parts its eradication by surgical means is safe and in most cases certain, but its occurrence in the lungs is the bugbear of the public and medical profession alike, and it is to benefit such cases that the present open-air treatment is advocated.

The "sanatorium" treatment is no new thing, but since Hermann Brehmer opened the first sanatorium in 185[illegible] little or nothing had been done in this direction until recent years, although his opinions still hold good in the main. Brehmer's dictum practically amounted to this—a disease contracted could be best cured by placing the patient in conditions under which those who lived did not contract such disease; in other words, place a consumptive patient under conditions inimical to the tubercle bacillus and you will do your best to cure him of his disease. Brehmer insisted that pure air was the desideratum.

The authors of the essay under review practically follow Brehmer's teaching, and enunciate the principles of treatment as follows:—

1. A continuous supply of pure fresh air, with no unnatural variations of temperature.
2. The avoidance of re-infection and of all sources of irritation such as dust.
3. Good nourishing food in sufficient quantity to establish and maintain the normal weight of the patient.
4. Constant supervision by a skilled physician, who so orders the patient's life that he avoids everything which is harmful, and takes advantage of everything which helps the process of repair and develops the powers of resistance.

The conditions by which these principles should be carried out are ably discussed, and the buildings necessary are described and illustrated by plans. The architectural part of the essay deals with every subject necessary—lighting, drainage, disinfection, etc.,—and arrangements are made for patients in varying stages of disease necessitating modifications of treatment.

THE COAL SITUATION

There is a good deal of hard feeling among people who have to buy coal at $11 to $12 a ton—and get it then only as a favor. Many are the allegations made that coal is "held back" and the dealer and mine operator are much assailed. This is largely due to a misapprehension as to what the situation is. The evidence produced at the inquiry goes to show that at no time in the winter season can the mine output meet the demand; that stocks at the mines and distributing centres have to be drawn upon for supply. The strike of last fall, with the restriction placed upon the output for some time before, lead to a famine condition. The mines, barring a good many holidays, have been worked to their capacity since the resumption of work, but cannot make good the shortage of five-twelfths the output. The railways have done their best to carry coal as needed, and the operators, with the exception of a few independent concerns have fixed the price but 50c. higher than before the strike. As in all times of scarcity middlemen get all they can, but local operators have to do the best possible under the circumstances. Consider these things and don't be too hard on your coalman.

Want an Accounting

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 18.—The liquor men here are not pleased over the way business was handled in regard to the late referendum campaign. There was $3,000 subscribed, and some of the subscribers are shouting at the wasteful way some of the funds were disposed of, and particularly the payment of a fine of a personator. They also charge that the money supposed to have been expended in certain subdivisions had not been given out. Explanations are besought.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

From Taking Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills

Editor of the Morning Times:

Sir,—I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow sufferers to say that after 12 years of indescribable torture from indigestion and debilitated constitution, I am now, I believe, thoroughly well. I spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief that never came, until I tried Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, 12 boxes of which did the work. I am now in perfect health, and want the world to know who cured me. E. S. Smith, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Chas. Richie writes: "I believe if I had not been for Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills I would have now been in my grave, as I was a long sufferer from stomach troubles. They are the greatest remedy on earth."

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even where the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough, price 50c. per box.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that it will not permanently cure.

given me. Locksley Hall is a charming place, and I have devised some delightful plans for our mutual pleasure while you remain with us."

"Thank you," said Hilda, with her sweet, bright smile.

The earl smiled graciously on his granddaughter. He was pleased at her cordiality to the beautiful young visitor to whom he had taken an unaccountable fancy. Others noticed that he was charmed with her. It did not seem strange to him. He thought he liked her simply because she had been raised with Florence, his granddaughter. He did not consider the fact that he really despised Mr. Aylesworth, who loved Florence so well, and who had reared her much better than he did his own child.

"The first thing I have thought of," went on Florence, quickly, "is to take you for a row on the lake. I remember you always loved to go on the water. This will delight you. The lake is so pretty with the willows fringing its banks, and the water-lilies on its breast. You may see it shining through the trees yonder."

"It is beautiful," said Hilda, turning her dark eyes on the silvery sheet of water. "I think I should enjoy a row very much."

"Let us go, then," smiled Florence. "Grandpapa, will you come with us, or will you excuse me for carrying dear little Hilda off?"

"Dear little Hilda," smiled at the honeyed speech. She had grown half a head taller than Florence in the year of their separation.

"I will sit down with Lady Leigh," said the earl, indulgently. "I am quite sure you two are dying to get together and talk over your girlish secrets."

The blonde and burnette walked away, and Cecil Courtenaye watched them with secret longing.

"May I come with you?" he asked, and Florence threw a bright, dazzling, coquettish smile over her shoulder.

"No," she replied. "I will not let you go to-day to punish you for not bringing me the water-lilies yesterday."

"At least we can follow after them, and admire their beauty from a distance," said Sir Wilfred, laughing; "let us walk in the park, Cecil."

They sauntered leisurely on, and Florence did not notice that they were coming.

"Dear Cecil!" she said to Hilda, with a pretty air of shyness. "He is never happy unless he is following me like my own shadow, but yesterday he was down at the lake and forgot to bring me some lilies, so, to punish the handsome fellow, he shall not come with me to-day. I intend to bestow my whole time on you, my dear, undisturbed by his irrepressible love-making."

"Does Mr. Courtenaye live at Locksley Hall?" asked Hilda quietly.

"Yes," said Florence, unblushingly. "He goes up to London often — all young men of fashion do, you know —but his home is with us. He will inherit the title after my grandfather. Locksley Hall will belong to him, then."

"It is a beautiful home, I should think you would be sorry to leave it when that time comes," said Hilda, innocently.

Florence tossed her head.

"Grandpapa's death will make no difference as to my going or staying," she laughed. "Locksley Hall will be my home always. I shall stay here, then, with—Cecil."

Hilda turned her large dark eyes on the flushed, triumphant face of the fair dissembler.

"Are you engaged to him?" she asked, with her pretty straightforwardness.

"Just as good," answered Florence, coolly. "Cecil has not formally proposed for me yet, but— we understand each other. You see, Cecil will inherit the title, but my grandfather's fortune comes to me. All the family, including Cecil himself, desire that we should marry each other."

"And you?" asked Hilda, composedly.

"Oh! I am quite willing. He is the handsomest man I know, and then, poor fellow, so much in love! It makes him appear quite shy and awkward, I declare! Hilda, are you engaged to Sir Wilfred?"

The red hot blood flushed up into Hilda's olive cheek.

"No, I am not," she replied. "I never dreamed of such a thing! Why do you ask me, Florence?"

"Oh! no matter. I fancied so. He looked at you as if you belonged to him. And Cecil thinks so, I am sure. He told me so, and said that if it were true it would be a splendid match for a girl in your position. Oh! here we are at the lake, darling. This is my boat with the golden letter and the blue satin cushions. Is it not lovely? Jump in, Hilda. We shall have a splendid row, and bring back a bunch of water-lilies. I will do the rowing. You shall fold your hands and dream."

They made a lovely picture in the dainty little boat—the fair blonde and the starry-eyed brunette. Sir Wilfred and Mr. Courtenaye lingering unobserved beneath the trees, watched them with delight. Lady Florence bent to the oars; her round cheeks flushed with exercise, her lips curved with a charming smile as she talked to Hilda, who sat very still, her white hands loosely folded over a water-lily in her lap, whose rich, dark, glistening green leaves looked lovely against the background of her white dress and the whiter flower.

Hilda did not look quite so careless and happy as Lady Florence. The inky fringe of her lashes drooped low upon her cheek, and her crimson lips were set in a grave little line.

Sir Wilfred and Cecil Courtenaye lingered near the lake, watching the two lovely girls, and listening to the soft, musical ripple of words and laughter that the summer breeze wafted to them across the water.

Cecil did not have much to say. He had asked Sir Wilfred to tell him how he had found Hilda, and the baronet had only laughed, and said that it was Hilda's own secret, and he could not tell him now, but perhaps she would tell him herself sometime.

The baronet was disposed to be very chatty and agreeable, but Cecil was moody and taciturn. All his thoughts were centered on the dark-eyed girl in the boat with Florence.

While the baronet was looking at the beautiful, sportive deer bounding beneath the trees, Cecil went nearer

Imperial Government Will Aid Friends of Those Who Lost Life in War

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—A militia order has been promulgated with the imperial pensions. The order reads as follows:

"His Majesty's government has been pleased, under a royal warrant, dated 8th August, 1902, to make provision for the granting of pensions to the widows and children of N. C. officers and men of colonial forces (other than those raised in South Africa), who have, since the 11th of October, 1899, been killed in action, or have died of injury or disease contracted during active operations in the field in connection with the South African war, 1899-1902. All applications for pensions should be forwarded to the adjutant general, militia headquarters, Ottawa, and should be set forth, clearly whether the persons making application are acting on their own behalf, or as guardians of motherless children. The CANADIAN STEEL AND COAL COMPANY was organized to mine and manufacture iron and coal, coke and steel in Canada at Atlantic tidewater.

The raw materials for these manufactures are:—

1.—COAL. 2.—IRON. 3.—LIMESTONE.

All these materials we have at hand.

1.—COAL.

The Company controls 3,000 acres of excellent coal areas in the Province of Nova Scotia, and efforts are being made to increase this to 10,000 acres by the purchase of some very valuable additional coal fields.

The coal has been thoroughly tested and found to be suitable in every way for the manufacture of iron and steel, and the supply is practically inexhaustible. The following analysis was made by the Canadian Geological Survey:—

ANALYSIS.

Moisture	4.05
Vol. Comb. Matter	30.72
Fixed Carbon	60.
Ash	5.23
	100.00

COAL VEINS.

The several layers or seams of coal available aggregate 27 to 30 feet in thickness.

TITLES.

These areas are held under C[illegible] Lease for a period of 80 years. Royalty 10 cents per ton of coal sold.

2.—IRON.

The Company has acquired by purchase immense iron deposits on the North Shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 350 miles from Sydney. The deposits are estimated to contain 20,000,000 ton[illegible] re above sea level, with probably as much more below that line. The iron can be handled for $1.00 per ton or less. Quantities of this ore have been shipped to Great Britain and the United States, where it has given great satisfaction, and we can sell large quantities f. o. b. at the properties, netting us a profit of $2.00 per ton. This ore makes the finest steel.

3.—FLUX.

We are now negotiating for valuable deposits of dolomite and limestone of the most satisfactory quality, situated on the tide-water, within 100 miles of the works

MARKETS.

For six months in each year the Canadian markets can be reached by water at low freight rates, and at all times by rail. As Cape Breton is distant from Liverpool only about 2,300 miles; is nearer to Pernambuco, Brazil, than any point in the United States, and also nearer to Cape Town, South Africa, it has the advantage, in point of distance, for export business over any American steel-producing points, which, with scarcely any exceptions, are situated some distance from tide water. Under any conditions of the world's market, it is believed that the output of these works can be disposed of at satisfactory prices.

OUTPUT

When in full operation, the output is expected to be about as follows:—

1. IRON.—200,000 tons iron ore shipped direct from property, showing net profit of $2.00 per ton, total	$400,000 00
200,000 tons fine iron ore shipped in briquettes, showing net profit of $4.00 per ton, total	800,000 00
100,000 tons steel blooms, showing net profit of $3.00 per ton, total	300,000 00
2. COAL.—600,000 tons coal, showing net profit, at least, of $1.00 per ton, total	600,000 00
3. AIDS.—Government bounties (averaged) added to above per year for 6 years	100 000 00
Total yearly revenue	$2,200,000 00

GOVERNMENT AIDS.

To encourage the manufacture in the Dominion of iron and steel the Parliament of Canada has granted bounties as follows:—

	ON PIG IRON.	ON STEEL.
Apl. 21st, 1902, to July 1st, 1903	$2.70	$2.70
July 1st, 1903, " " 1904	2.25	2.25
July 1st, 1904, " " 1905	1.65	1.65
July 1st, 1905, " " 1906	1.05	1.05
July 1st, 1906, " " 1907	.60	.60

If the production of steel from the Company's works be as estimated, 300,000 tons per annum, the bounties to be received from the Canadian Government will be as follows:—

1904	$225,000
1905	215,000
1906	145,000
1907	85,000
or an average of $100,000.00 per annum for 6½ years	$670,000.00

NET REVENUE

Total net annual profits		$2,200,000.00
LESS FIXED CHARGES:—
7 per cent. interest on preferred stock	$70,000.00
Sinking Fund	60,000.00
Incidentals	25,000.00
		155,000.00
Net yearly profits		$2,045,000.00

Equivalent to yearly dividends of over 30 per cent., or 15 per cent. half yearly on total capitalization.

If the capitalization was increased to .... $20,000,000.00 this estimate would still show a dividend-earning capacity of 10 per cent. per annum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Coal Co. is .... $20,000,000.00 earning fully 12 per cent., and is paying 8 per cent. guaranteed dividends on this enormous sum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. is ...... $28,000,000.00 on which it is believed 6 per cent. dividends will be earned.

The capitalization of the Canadian Steel & Coal Company is only $6,000,000.00 controlling, it is believed, equally valuable properties, and it is reasonable to expect much larger dividends.

Within the last few months Dominion Coal shares common rose in market value from $40 to $144 per share, and Dominion Iron & Steel Company's shares common rose over $30 per share in market value.

With such low capitalization the Canadian Steel and Coal Co's shares should show tremendous profits, and it is confidently believed they will.

STOCK MARKETS

WHY FURTHER INPROVEMENT MAY BE EXPECTED

At present all influences favor a better market. Manipulation is responsible for a tiresome one for a few days past. Intrinsic conditions will bring renewed strength; there is very little reason, in fact,—none, for anticipating any further declines. There is a short interest in the market of considerable proportions. Foreign situation and that of our New York banks is improving and money is becoming more plentiful daily, consequently easier and more obtainable. Everything justifies the purchase of good stocks. Considerable effort has been put forth by the floor traders to depress the market and they have veered to the short side. Outside buying has been kept at bay by the possibility of success crowning the efforts of bear tactics. They will come in when these traders give up their bearish efforts as they will be compelled to do. The money trouble is behind us, instead of ahead of us, and we are daily getting further away from a renewal of same. The wiseacre directing the present speculation the past week checked a budding speculation for the future market in-terest, which was their own interest inasmuch as they are carrying a large amount of stocks and consequently do not care for the advantage of a day, which might be paid for by the loss of a month.

London has been buying stocks. Grain shipments have fully doubled. Bills are appearing against them in the exchange markets. The past week with its continuous attempts to reach the market has merely curtailed operations and lessened the offering supply of stocks. To get them in any quantity the buyers have to bid up the market. To sell the market down at present simply lessens the supply and increases the short interest. Advances bring activity, concessions bring dullness and a falling off in the volume of business. The logical and only deduction that can be drawn from these facts is that any market at all will be at the enhancement of values and not at their expense. We note a steady influx of small cash buyers who are making purchases paying in full for their shares and locking them up. This kind of buying will drain the supply and make the bear position most untenable. It is advisable to follow the influences effecting prices or likely to effect them. It is unwise to combat them. Present influences warrant an advance.

Summary—Wall Street resumed business this morning in a more or less haphazard and listless manner. Stocks were more or less dull but exceedingly strong. Copper ran up above 65, then receded. Other industrials kept within narrow limits. C.O. ran up a point and one-half and looks like an excellent purchase. Atchison showed indications of being gathered in prior to an advance. Railways all advanced a trifle then fell off. Reactory tendency was noticeable in coalers and R. I. Looks like the encouragement of a fresh short interest. Buy upon the dips; and don't look for any material concessions. The buying of Republic Steel and Car foundry continued and was most excellent in character. Money closed 6 per cent. Sales 528,900.0

Carried Straw Men on Pay Rolls and Divided Swag

Belleville, Ill., Jan. 18.—The trial of E. F. Vanderburg, Mayor; Wm. H. West, City Clerk; and John Stryckiin, Commissioner of Streets of the City of Brooklyn, Ill., charged with malfeasance in office, and a conspiracy to defraud the city, which has been on in the St. Clair County Circuit Court for the last four days, came to an end Friday night, when the jury returned a verdict finding all three men guilty as charged.

Vanderburg was given two years in the Chester Penitentiary, and a fine of $500. Stryckiin received one year and was fined $250, and the punishment of West was left with the court.

The indictment charged that Stryckiin had carried a number of straw men on his pay roll for several months, with the knowledge and will of Vanderburg and West. Orders would be drawn on the treasury for pay for these men, and Stryckiin would then, according to previous agreement, divide up the money equally with his co-operators in crime. It was also found upon investigation that the trio of officials had raised warrants, and by other systematic schemes had defrauded the City of Brooklyn out of several thousands of dollars.

CAPITAL STOCK $100,000 Par Value $1.00

We are working this mine every day doing a great amount of development work which will enable us to commence regular shipping very soon. Our shaft is now 175 feet deep, with a streak of pay ore starting at the grass roots, the vein is over 3 feet wide at the bottom of shaft, and runs from $40.00 to $80.00 per ton, mostly gold. We are only three-quarters of a mile from railroad and have a well traveled wagon road from mine to depot. There are thirteen stamp mills at Black Hawk, three-quarters of a mile from this property. Our company is managed on conservative lines by practical mining men who understand the business and are familiar with this field of gold.

We have placed a small block of this stock on the market at 20 cents per share which will be worth $1.00 in a short time. Now is the time to buy.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz, and quartzite, all horning more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $[illegible] and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to instal either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

DID YOU EVER KNOW

That Improper Food Often Causes the Liquor Habit?

It's a great proposition to get rid of a taste for liquor by changing food.

"About three years ago," writes a man from Lowry City, Mo., "my appetite failed me, and my food disagreed with me. I got weak and nervous and felt dull and entirely unfit for business; then like a fool, I went to taking liquor to stimulate an appetite. For a time that seemed to help and I congratulated myself on finding so simple a remedy. But, alas! I had to take more and more all the time, until I got so that I could not get along without the whisky, and I was in a pitiable condition."

I tried to quit but that seemed impossible as I needed nourishment and my stomach rejected food and the more whisky I drank the worse I got. I kept fighting this battle for more than two years and almost gave up all hope.

I noticed an advertisement of Grape-Nuts in the paper and concluded to try it. I found I could eat Grape-Nuts with a relish and it was the first food that I found nourished me in a long time. Soon my stomach trouble stopped, my appetite improved, the craving thirst relaxed until all desire for drink was gone. I have used Grape-Nuts constantly for over a year and am now strong and robust; entirely cured from drink and able to work hard every day. My gratitude for Grape-Nuts is unspeakable as it has saved my life and reputation." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

PETERBOROUGH COLTS LOSE TO PORT HOPE

In Their First Home Game of the Intermediate Series

A LARGE CROWD WITNESS GAME

The Score at Half Time was 4 to 1 in Peterborough's Favor—The Home Team Could Not Stand the Pace in the Last Half

The hockey match last night between the local seven and the Port Hope Intermediates resulted in a win for the Port Hope team by a score of 6 to 5. The game was clean, fast, and hotly contested, both teams putting forth every effort to win, and the spectators witnessed the fastest and most exciting game of hockey played in Peterborough this season. About 2,000 people witnessed the game, including about 500 supporters of the Port Hope team who accompanied their team to cheer them on, and who shouted themselves hoarse. The Peterborough spectators fairly shook the iron girders in the rink as they became excited with enthusiasm at the many brilliant plays made by the locals, and when a goal was scored by Peterborough, the excitement raised to fever heat and the whole rink seemed to move. The ice was keen and in excellent shape for fast hockey. The Peterborough team played a more aggressive game during the first half, but the Port Hope seven put up a stubborn resistance throughout the match, and checked many an assault on the nets made by the Peterborough forward line. The Port Hope team were heavier than the local seven, but had not the speed and their combination was not up to that of the home team.

At 7.45 the teams lined up, and referee Hugh A. Rose gave the boys a word of advice.

At the face Morgan took the rubber for Peterborough, but was blocked by Port Hope, who made a rush on Peterborough nets, but was relieved by Armstrong, and after 1 minutes play Peterborough scored. The second went to Port Hope, Bunny scoring. In the first of the 3rd Port Hope made a couple of attacks on the Peterborough nets, but found it difficult to pass H. Armstrong or Cavanagh, who were taking everything that was coming down the ice. Cavanagh made a couple of rushes up the ice with telling effect. McCarthy went to the fence for 2 minutes for giving Graham the knee, and Whitcroft went shortly after for 2 minutes. Both teams were playing fast and clean hockey, but Peterborough's forward line proved too fast for the Port Hope forwards. Whitcroft, Graham and Armstrong made a number of attacks on the Port Hope net poured in shot after shot that were blockaded by Mercer in Port Hope's flags. Roach relieved and Crough stopped a hot one from McCarthy. Armstrong relieved and Port Hope brought up the rubber again, but Cavanagh secured the puck and rushed up the ice and shot repeatedly but Roach relieved after a scrimmage in front of Peterborough's net. Whitcroft took the rubber, rushed up the ice, passed to Graham, then back to Whitcroft to R. Armstrong who scored, leaving the score 2—1 in Peterborough's favor. Peterborough was playing much the faster game and seemed to have everything much their own way, their forward line playing good combination and seemed to be too fast for the Port Hope bunch. Whitcroft and R. Armstrong got in a pretty piece of combination play and Armstrong shot, but Mercer stopped and relieved. Graham secured the puck and rushed up the ice, and after a neat piece of combination from Graham and Morgan and Whitcroft to R. Armstrong who scored the 3rd goal for Peterborough. Score 3—1. In the fifth and last of the first half Peterborough went at it again and after a few minutes play R. Armstrong again took the rubber, and seeing an opening rushed up the ice passed McCarthy and Brown and scored. This finished the first half, Peterborough being in the lead by 3 goals. Score 4—1.

In the last half Peterborough lagged and could not keep the pace of the first half, which plainly showed that the short time they have had for practice was the cause of the result of the game. Port Hope scored the 6th goal and Peterborough the 7th. Port Hope was playing the more aggressive game, the Peterborough forwards seeming to be fagged. McMillan went to the fence for 2 minutes, but Port Hope took the rubber into Peterborough territory, but Cavanagh relieved. Roach lifted the puck back, and after a scrimmage in front of Peterborough nets, McMillan scored. Port Hope seeing that Peterborough was lagging went at the game more determined than ever. Roach and McMillan went off for two minutes, but Port Hope made a rush, Bunny scoring. In the ninth Port Hope made a number of attacks on Peterborough's goal, but Cavanagh and Armstrong relieved repeatedly, but the forward line failed to follow up, and Port Hope attacked again, Bunny scoring for Port Hope. The next two went to Port Hope, the score standing 6 to 5 at the finish.

The teams lined up as follows:

PORT HOPE.

Goal, Mercer; point, Roach; cover-point, Brown; forwards, Bunny, MacMillan, McCarthy, Matcheson.

PETERBOROUGH.

Goal, Crough; point, Cavanagh; cover-point, H. Armstrong; forwards, Morgan, Whitcroft, Graham, R. Armstrong.

Hugh A. Rose, of Toronto, refereed the game to the entire satisfaction of both teams.

THE TURF.

The race meet on Wednesday and Thursday, January 21st and 22nd, at the Driving Park, promises to provide some of the fastest races ever witnessed in Peterborough, as will be seen by the list of horses entered. Many of the horses to start were here at the summer races and did some fast work. The track has been scraped and is in excellent shape for speedy racing. The following are the horses entered:

Messrs. Johnston & Co., of Wallaceburg, are engaged as bookmakers.

Growing Old

Ought not to mean growing weak and feeble. It does not mean weakness or feebleness for those who eat with good appetite and sound digestion. It is of the utmost importance that old people should retain the power to digest and assimilate food which is the sole source of physical strength. When age brings feebleness it is generally because of the failure to assimilate the nutrition contained in food.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It invigorates the liver and promotes general physical well being.

"It is with gratitude we acknowledge what Dr. Pierce's medicine has done for grandmother's good, in fact it has cured her," writes Miss Carrie Ranker, of Perrysburg, Ohio. "She had doctored with several physicians but found no relief until Dr. Pierce advised her what to do. She has taken only three bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and is entirely well. She suffered with pain in kidneys, bladder and liver for ten years, and her limbs were swelled with dropsy so bad she could hardly walk. My grandmother's name is Mrs. Caroline Hennen, her age is 71 years. I will gladly answer all letters of inquiry."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. R. V. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential.

THE NEW ASPECT OF THE IRISH QUESTION

The Indications Are That British Government Will Grant Concessions That Will Bring Peace To Emerald Isle

London, July 19—The Quarterly Review has a remarkable article on Ireland which illustrates the transformation of Tory opinion, silently wrought under the Unionist Administration. It does not contain threats of coercion nor an exposition of the justice of the redistribution bill, by which Ireland will be deprived of a considerable share of political influence at Westminster. It foreshadows a speedy settlement of the land question, which will exercise a beneficial effect on the Nationalist party and the working up of local government in Ireland, and equip the Irish people for taking a proper place in the federated Empire.

It takes up the human problem, formulated with lucidity in Matthew Arnold's "Irish Essays" and anticipates the softening of anti-English animosities which will follow the cessation of the land way. It credits George Wyndham, Sir Anthony MacDonnell, and the Lord Lieutenant with trying to be something different from what British rulers have been hitherto, and to convince the Irish people that, whatever else happens, Ireland will remain Irish.

Homilies like these in the moss grown Tory "Quarterly" are proofs that the predominant partner is prepared to take up the Irish question in a tolerant spirit and supplement the establishment of local administrative bodies with some form of extended Provincial government in conjunction with a comprehensive scheme of imperial federation.

It is contended that the Unionists who come into power as an anti-Home Rule party, will carry the new series of Irish questions into the next general election, whereas the Liberals will exclude them under Lord Rosebery's leadership. His vigorous speech at Plymouth did not contain a single reference to Ireland, though it was otherwise an effective indictment of the Government, with many counts. As he is unmistakably the only Liberal leader who can rally the Opposition at the next election, and is working arduously to that end, the omission is highly significant.

The Irish vote in England, unless all signs fail, will be thrown for the conservatives, but Lord Rosebery will have large accessions from the Unionist ranks in appealing to the country on the main issue of the inefficiency of the Government, which has increased enormously the burden of taxpayers.

CHINA IS NOW RIPE FOR MORE MISCHIEF

The Present Dynasty in Danger of Being Overthrown

Seeds Discord and Rebellion are Everywhere Scattered Throughout the Kingdom

London, Jan. 20—A correspondent of the London Standard, writing from Tien Tsin, notes the development of a policy in Chinese court circles which, he thinks, is destined to have serious consequences. The object of it is to "replace the Boxers by Manchus." For some time the influence of the Manchu statesman Yung Lu has been increasing rapidly, and now he has the entire confidence of the Dowager Empress. Latterly there has been incessant drilling among Manchu troops and special instructions have been sent to Manchu officials.

"All this," thinks the correspondent, "really means putting in motion two opposing forces, between which both the dynasty and China's independence stand a good chance of falling to the ground. Since the conquest of China by the Tartars, the Manchus have quietly fallen back into the apathetic condition from which they were temporarily aroused, and they have made but little real impression on the country outside of Pekin.

"Manchu officials have been scattered throughout the country side by side with Chinese, and their identity has been largely swallowed up by office. Put all this aside, place them in command of the army, 'because Chinese officials cannot be depended upon,' and a new era dawns immediately. Directly the true state of things becomes apparent the Chinese will rebel against the Manchu yoke, and then the tussle of Chinese versus Manchu troops begins." He adds that China, especially in the south and centre, is ripe for any mischief.

LONDON POST TAKES INTEREST IN CANADA

Value of Transcontinental Lines Set Forth in Long Article

SATURDAY REVIEW'S REMARKS

It is Evident That Capitalists Have Faith in Future of the Country

London Jan. 19—The London Morning Post devotes three columns with a map to "Prosperous Canada," with especial reference to new transcontinental railways.

In an editorial, the Post urges the importance of these lines in the general interests of the Empire, specially in view of the reduction in the cost of transport of wheat to the seaboard thus increasing England's assurance that Canada would be able to satisfy the entire British wheat needs.

The Saturday Review today, discussing the Grand Trunk's transcontinental railway project, assumes that the line will be independent of Government assistance in the form of either a land grant or a subsidy.

It says this is striking evidence of Canada's industrial progress and the confidence shown by capitalists in the future of the country.

MOROCCO QUESTION MUST BE DEALT WITH

Britain and Spain and the Nations are Deeply Interested

WILL EUROPE TAKE HAND IN GAME

If So There May be Another War Cloud of Gigantic Proposition

London, Jan., 20—It is commonly assumed that when the Moroccan question is ripe for a definite settlement Spain will step in as the natural heir. Spain has already established herself at Ceuta and Melilla on the mainland and occupies the various islands along the coast between the Straits of Gibraltar and the Muluya River, near the French Algerian frontier. At one time it was believed that the German Government desired to acquire a coaling station for its ships at the mouth of this river, but it would appear that if it ever entertained this idea it has abandoned it, for it was recently announced that satisfactory assurances on the subject have been received from Berlin both by the French and Spanish governments. With regard to the Southern boundary of Morocco, starting inland from the Atlantic, a friendly understanding was come to some little time ago between France and Spain, in anticipation apparently of what is now occurring, and the only question that was yet undecided is the boundary between Algeria and the acknowledged Spanish sphere of interest in Morocco.

Italy has disavowed any territorial aims in Morocco, and there remains only Great Britain to consider in relation to the future disposal of the country.

It is here that the question becomes somewhat complicated. It goes back to the retrocession of Tangier by England to Morocco in the time of Charles II., when it came to the British Crown by the marriage of the King to the Infanta Catherine of Portugal, in May 1662. The cost of the occupation was so heavy that it was decided to give it up, and retrocession was made to the Sultan of Morocco, with, however, an important reservation. In this reservation it was stipulated that if ever the Moorish Sultan should cease to exercise authority over Tangier the British should have the right to re-occupy.

The question now is what attitude will be taken by Great Britain in the event of matters coming to a head in Morocco and what will be the attitude of the different Continental Powers should England assert this reserved right. Gen. Von der Goltz of the German army, no mean authority on such subjects, holds that Gibraltar would be useless to England if Spain should be found with the enemy in time of war. The return of Gibraltar to Spain as compensation for her acquiescence in the re-occupation of Tangier by Great Britain, would therefore seem a not unlikely nor inequitable exchange; and in the end one profitable to Great Britain, acquire a permanent trading foothold in Morocco, while Spanish pride would be flattered by the recovery of a territory whose occupation by a foreign power has been a source of constant humiliation to the Spanish people. It would, however, be more consistent with the historical policy of Great Britain to retain Gibraltar and assert her treaty right to reoccupy Tangier in the event provided for in the deed of retrocession.

TO MAKE PETERBOROUGH A CITY

Agitation in Favor of Annexing Ashburnham Rapidly Growing

The following, taken from the Toronto Star, were sent The Times by Mr. J. Alexr. Culverwell, a gentleman who is deeply interested in the development and progress of the town. The first is dated Jan. 17, and reads as follows:

"Peterborough people are much exercised at present as to the advisability of annexing Ashburnham, which lies across the River Otonabee, and is, geographically speaking, part of Peterborough, which would give a total population of 15,000. The water-powers at Peterborough, which so long lay idle, have been so developed lately as to have caused such an industrial growth as to increase the population over twenty per cent, the past two years.

"The progressive element seem bent upon not only annexing Ashburnham, but also in changing the town of Peterborough into the "City of Peterborough."

The second item appears in the same paper and reads:

Peterborough people are much exercised at present as to the advisability of annexing Ashburnham, which lies across the river Otonabee, and is, geographically speaking, part of Peterborough, which would give a total population of 15,000. The water-power at Peterborough which so long lay idle have been so developed lately that the consequent industrial growth increased the population over twenty per cent. the past two years.

The progressive element seem bent upon not only annexing Ashburnham, but having the town incorporated as a city.

DEATH OF A MAINE VICTIM

One of Ill-Fated Battleship's Crew Dies Insane

Richmond, Va. Jan. 20—Unbalanced in mind, Wilmore Harris, jr., a young negro of Charles City county, died in his cabin home, near Wyanoke, Va., on Sunday, as the result of the explosion on the United States battleship Main in Havana harbor. Harris was one of two from this county who served on the Maine. He was in the hold of the battleship when the explosion came. He managed to grope his way up a ladder and sprang overboard into the bay. The experience crazed him.

LEAVING BRITAIN FOR THE STATES

A Demand for Measures to Divert Emigration to The Colonies

London, Jan. 20—While Canadian farmers organise expeditions to search the Old Country for much needed labor, and offer good wages to efficient men without a satisfactory response, official statistics show that British emigrants do not generally elect to make their home in the British colonies. Of 205,910 emigrants from this country last year, 106,501 went to the United States. This condition of things has induced one newspaper to declare that the future of the British race is imperilled by the drafts made upon it from the United States, and that the greatest and most beneficent work that British statesmen could perform for the welfare of the nation would be the inauguration of some scheme for redistributing the British people in the British Empire.

DIED OF SMALLPOX

Mother at His Bedside in Hospital Where Another Child is Ill

Toronto, Jan. 19—The second death in Toronto in twelve years from smallpox occurred at the Swiss Cottage Hospital yesterday, when little Willard Goodman, aged 2 1-2 years, the younger of the two children who were taken to the hospital from Church st. last Sunday, succumbed to the disease.

The remains of the little one, enclosed in an airtight metallic casket, were interred yesterday afternoon.

The other child, aged 5 years, is doing nicely. The mother of the children accompanied them to the hospital, where she has nursed them.

The first death during the twelve years was that of Dr. Little of Spadina avenue, which occurred in April, 1901.

The Goodman child contracted the disease from a waiter who roomed at the house. This waiter, it is said, contracted the disease in Cleveland, where there is much smallpox.

ADDRESS ON INDIA

Rev. J. Kilgour at Mark St. Epworth League Ashburnham

At the regular weekly meeting of Mark street Epworth League, held on Monday evening, the pastor of the church, Rev. C. L. Thompson, presided. After devotional exercises, Rev. J. Kilgour gave an extremely interesting address on "India." He referred to the various religions of the country, the different classes of people, their peculiar customs, the difficulties with which the missionaries had to contend, and told some thrilling stories of events that had occurred in that distant land, with its teeming millions of people. The lecturer drew many useful lessons from the facts as he presented them to a greatly interested audience. Those present were much helped by the reverend gentleman's address.

TO-DAY'S RACES.

A Large List of Entries for the 2.50 and the 2.20 Trot

For some days past horses with their trainers and owners have been arriving in Peterborough to take part in the Turf Club's Winter Races, which begin this afternoon at one o'clock.

The track is in splendid condition, and as the arrangements have been attended to in every detail, there will be some rare sport in store. The number of entries is large, so there will probably be some exciting finishes. To-day the 2.50 and 2.20 races will be contested, for purses of $150 each.

The purses are provided out of the funds of the association, no subscriptions having been solicited from merchants. Mr. Fred Peake, assisted by two others, will act as judge, and Mr. Sid Passmore will be starter. All these are paid officials, and will doubtless give good satisfaction to all.

EXTENDED SYMPATHY

A Resolution of Condolence from the Carpenter's Union to Mrs T. Croly and Family

The following resolution of condolence to Mrs. Thomas Croly and family upon the recent death of Mrs. Croly's husband, was unanimously passed at the last meeting of the Carpenters' and Joiners', and a copy of the same forwarded to the family:

Whereas it has pleased the Great Architect of the Universe to take from our midst our beloved brother, Thomas Croly;

Therefore, be it resolved that in the death of our esteemed brother the union has lost a faithful member, an honest and an upright brother; one who merited the respect of all who knew him; and be it further resolved;

That while we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we deeply regret the death of our friend and brother, and tender to the bereaved widow and family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in their hour of sorrow and affliction; and further:

Resolved: That a copy be spread upon our minute book and also forwarded to the daily press of our town.

Signed on behalf of the Union,

WILL SOUTH AFRICA BEAT CANADA OUT?

Strong Efforts Made to Turn Settlers There--A Big Union of Forces

There is a growing discontent among the emigration officials of Australia, New Zealand, and Canada, at the somewhat marked booming of South Africa by Mr. Chamberlain during his tour. The Government here is also spending large sums of money, while funds are being collected to assist emigrants to Africa. The fashionable world has taken the matter up and now it is quite the proper thing to subscribe to some emigration scheme for the new colonies. Fifty buxom girls are sent about weekly, and the tide of emigration has set in southward, hence the other colonies are suffering unfairly. The German Government are inaugurating a vigorous emigration policy, with the object of keeping Germans from going to other than their own colonies. An effort is being made to induce the Germans to go to German Southwest Africa and to Poland. Large subsidies are given to families so doing. This policy practically stops the Teutonic tide to the West. The effect of German scheme and the South African boom is already felt at the Canadian Emigration Office.

London, Jan. 20—There was a splendid special exhibition of bioscope pictures representing Canadian life and scenery at the Palace Theatre this afternoon. The views consisted of twenty-seven miles of films recently photographed by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Among those present were Lord and Lady Strathcona, the Agents-General for the various Canadian provinces and Australasian States and also the Duke of Argyle and a crowded audience.

There was no intention of buying the whole line." Sir Alfred Jones admits that negotiations along this line have been going on.

Pres. Castro Makes an Offer

London, Jan. 20.—That statement that Minister Bowen has been authorized by President Castro to offer the Venezuelan customs as a guarantee for the fulfillment of the country's obligations is confirmed. The offer has not yet been accepted, but it is thought here it may afford the opportunity for a withdrawal of the blockade. The matter will be considered by the European representatives at Washington on the arrival there of Mr. Bowen.

A ROYAL RECEPTION TO THE SCOTCH CURLERS

The Scottish Carles Lickit by the Canada Leddies Last Nicht

Hurrah for Scotland's worth and fame,
A health tae a' that love the name;
Hurrah for Scotland's darling game,
The pastime o' the free, boys
While held an' heart an' arm are strang,
We'll a' join in a patriot sang,
And sing it's praises loud and lang—
The roarin' rink for me, boys.
Hurrah, Hurrah for Scotland's fame,
A health to a' that love the name;
Hurrah for Scotland's darling game;
The roarin' rink for me, boys.

There were great doings in Peterborough yesterday. Throughout the day, the town was plentifully sprinkled with the wearers of the tam, and devotees of the stane and besom were very much in evidence. Several enthusiastic curlers went east by the C.P.R. at noon to meet and welcome the visiting curlers from the land across the sea.

In the afternoon at the Charlotte street rink, all was life and bustle. "Sweep, sweep," was the familiar cry, and as each curler made a skillful or an unlucky play, "Well played" or "Too bad", with occasionally something stronger, would be the comment bestowed. Rinks were present from several outside places, including Orillia, Cobourg, Norwood, Keene, Port Hope, Uxbridge, Lakefield, etc. As the time for the arrival of the C.P.R. train drew near, the curlers, armed with brooms and accompanied by the 57th Regiment Band, marched to the station to extend "Caed mille failthe" to the sons of Scotia. And right royal was the welcome given. As the train rolled in, the music of the band and such cheers as only curlers can give, assisted by many hundreds of other citizens and the everywhere-present small boy, combined to give the visitors the feeling that we were glad they had come and that we wanted them to know it.

A procession was formed, headed by the band, followed by a long procession of curlers. Next came the conveyances with the Scottish curlers, civic officials, and other prominent citizens, followed by a hundred or more other curlers with brooms.

The procession proceeded up George street to Hunter, east to Water, north to Brock, west to George, south to Charlotte street, and then to the Snowden House where dinner was served in mine host Snowden's first-class style.

The dining-hall was beautifully decorated with Scotch flags, bunting, mottoes, etc. This was the work of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, and they certainly did themselves credit on this occasion, and showed themselves well deserving of the extended popularity which they enjoy as artistic decorators. The handsome decorations at the rink were also arranged by this live and progressive firm.

The bill of fare at the Snowden House was as follows:

Ox Tail Soup.
Corned Beef.
Ham with Champagne Sauce.
Prime Roast Beef. Horse Radish,
Spring Turkey. Cranberry Sauce.
Haunch of Venison. Currant Jelly.
Escalloped Oysters au Spaghetti.
Salmon Salad. Olives.
Tomato Chutnee. Worcester Sauce.
Heinz's Sweet Pickles.
Mashed Potatoes.
Sweet Corn. French Peas.
English Plum Pudding.
Hard Brandy Sauce.
Deep Apple Pie. Whipped Cream.
Lemon Pie. Strawberry Tart.
Charlotte Russe.
Mixed Cakes.
Layer Raisins. Walnuts and Almonds.
Green Tea. Coffee. Black Tea.
Dairy Cheese. Crackers.

After luncheon had been served at the Snowden House, Col. H. B. Edwards extended a hearty welcome to the Scotchmen and assured them of the great pleasure it gave the Peterborough and visiting curlers to have the privilege of meeting their brother curlers from over the sea.

Rev. John Kerr, of Dirleton, captain of the team, replied in eloquent terms on behalf of the visitors. He stated that it gave him great pleasure to reply, and to acknowledge such a royal welcome as they had received in Peterborough. He said while they had been receiving splendid welcomes at various places, they were not prepared to be met by a brass band and all the leading citizens of the town. He said even the very dogs in the streets seemed glad they had come. Scotland had appreciated very highly the action of Canada during the recent South African war, and the way in which Canadians had acquitted themselves in that campaign, and at the Coronation ceremonies. He said they had not come to give pointers but to get some and meet the Canadians. Captain Kerr is an eloquent and entertaining speaker, and was frequently interrupted by applause.

After this formal welcome had been extended, an adjournment was made to the rink, where the games were played as follows:

After an adjournment to the Oddfellows' Hall, refreshments were served in the dining hall. The company then proceeded to the main hall, and were called to order by Mayor Roger, who presided, and extended a hearty welcome to the visiting curlers, hoping they would enjoy themselves while here, and carry away pleasant memories of Peterborough and Canada.

BELLEVILLE TO PLAY HERE FRIDAY NIGHT.

The T. A. S. To Play Bobcaygeon To-morrow Night

The T.A.S. will play their second home game of the T.V.L. to-morrow night the opposing team being the Bobcaygeon seven. This is the return match, the T.A.S. having defeated Bobcaygeon in their first game by 7 to 5. The line up of the T.A.S. will be as follows;

Goal, McCoy; point, Meagher; cover-point, Crowley; forwards, George, Parnell, McGrath, Lynch.

If the home team win the game to-morrow night from Bobcaygeon, and doubtless they will, they will have to dispose of Lakefield on Jan. 28th, which will place them winners of their district, having won out without losing a game, which is a creditable showing for a team so young at the game, this being the first season of their existence.

The Belleville seniors play the return match on the Brock street rink with the local seven on Friday night. A great game is expected, as Peterborough has still a fighting chance of winning the district. Should Port Hope defeat Belleville at Belleville, which they claim they will do, and Peterborough defeats Port Hope at the latter place, and win from Belleville here on Friday night, all three teams will be a tie. Then will come the struggle for supremacy.

The "Culls" play their first T.V.L. game at Fenelon Falls to-morrow night.

The Junior Colts go, to Cobourg tonight to play their return game with that team. Cobourg defeated the juniors here last week.

PETERBOROUGH, JAN. 19, 1903.

A RATHER NICE POINT

Hamilton Herald:—Judge Snider will be called upon to decide a pretty fine legal point in the action to unseat Jacob B. Binkley, of West Flamboro, as a member of the Wentworth county council.

Mr. Binkley was elected by acclamation. At the time of his nomination and election he was a school trustee. It is claimed by those who are trying to unseat him that his position as school trustee disqualified him for membership in the county council. Since his election Mr. Binkley has resigned from the school board, but that does not alter the fact that he was a school trustee at the time he was elected. Barrister Gywn, of Dundas, who is acting for Mr. Binkley's opponents, has advised them that Mr. Binkley is legally disqualified; but Mr. Binkley has obtained legal advice to the contrary and will fight the effort to unseat him.

The judge's decision will probably be based upon his interpretation of the term "municipal corporation." Section 80 of the municipal act enumerates the offices and occupations which disqualify for membership in "the council of any municipal corporation." In the list is the office of high school trustee. Last session this section was amended by adding the words "and no member of a school for which rates are levied. But Mr. Binkley's friends point triumphantly to an interpretation clause of the municipal act which reads as follows

> "Councilor" or "municipal councilor" shall not include a county councillor unless so expressed.

The claim that this interpretation clause is favorable to Mr. Binkley's case is strengthened by the divisional headlines of the municipal act. The subject of Disqualification is dealt with in Division II which contains four sections, 80 to 83, inclusive. The first divisional headline is, "For membership in any municipal council, sec. 80," and the second is "For membership in county councils, sec. 81." Thus the section under which the proceedings against Mr. Binkley are taken does not, apparently, deal at all with disqualification for membership in county councils, the disqualification for membership in county councils being specifically dealt with in section 81.

However, the phrase in section 80, "the council of any municipal corporation," would seem to be inclusive enough to embrace county councils. If Judge Snider decides the point in Mr. Binkley's favor the decision would mean that a county council is not the council of a municipal corporation, which would be an absurdity. But the judge would not be to blame for the absurdity. The fault is in the undigested, contradictory, elastic law.

A ROMANCE.

and parted the willows that fringed the lake to look at the girls. He did not wish that they should see him, but he could not resist the temptation of gazing at the beautiful girl who had saved his life and treated him so scornfully afterward. He wondered how he could ever have talked about her so rudely as he did the first time he saw her.

How quickly has captious, faultfinding mood had changed to reverential admiration and love when she had rescued him at such terrible and imminent danger to herself, even while she despised him! And Sir Wilfred, who had recognized her worth at the very beginning, had won her— he felt almost sure of that.

What a lovely picture she made as he gazed upon her through the parted willows. Florence had stopped and was waiting while she gathered a bunch of water-lilies. Hilda was leaning forward toward a green bed of leaves, plucking the white flowers, while a smile of pleasure curved her scarlet lips. Florence was talking and laughing, but he could not hear what she said. They were out in the middle of the lake. On one side the water was shallow, and the lilies grew luxuriantly; on the other side, just beyond the little boat, it was deep and dangerous.

Suddenly, as Cecil gazed, he saw Florence take up the oars with a swift movement, and the little boat spun around with dangerous rapidity. Hilda, leaning forward and taken by surprise, lost her balance. She threw up her hands in a vain effort to steady herself— a minute later she was struggling in the deep water.

The baronet heard a scream among the willows that he never forgot to his dying day— it was so full of anguish. He plunged forward, and when he reached the bank he saw Cecil's coat and hat on the ground, and Cecil himself swimming with quick, desperate strokes toward the middle of the lake.

The baronet did not comprehend what had occurred at first, but when he looked across the lake and saw Florence sitting in the boat alone, a terrible fear convulsed his heart. He looked beyond, and saw a little dark head held desperately above the water, and white arms reached out an instant to clutch the edge of the boat. But the little boat shot away swiftly out of her reach as Florence impelled the oars with an unfaltering hand, though her face was deathly white with horror. She had heard Cecil's cry of alarm and anguish, and witnessed his frantic plunge into the water, and now she steered directly before him, and called out in an imploring tone:

"Come into my boat, Cecil. Poor Hilda has fallen out and is drowned, and you will be, too, if you don't take care."

Sir Wilfred saw Cecil put out one strong, white, indignant hand, and push the fairy little boat from him with such force that it bounded back like a feather. Then he swam past it swiftly toward the spot where at that very instant the dark head and white arms had gone down beneath the water. Florence clutched her oars tightly and rowed to the shore, where Sir Wilfred, without any ceremony, lifted her out of the boat and sprang in himself. Then he rowed desperately to his friend's assistance.

He was just in time. Cecil had dived down far below the waters, and had come up with the beloved form clasped in his arms. But his strength was almost spent.

Sir Wilfred drew them into the boat with some difficulty, and rowed back to the shore, where Florence crouched weeping and terror-stricken among the willows.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"In All the World There is no Pain Like It."

Sir Wilfred and Cecil Courtenaye sprang out of the boat and lifted Hilda's unconscious form reverently, laying her down upon the soft, green grass. Florence crept nearer and looked down upon the white face and closed eyes.

"Is she dead?" she asked, half fearfully.

"I cannot tell," said Sir Wilfred, briefly. "I wish you would go up to the hall, Lady Florence, and tell my sister and Mrs. Courtenaye to come down and bring restoratives."

He was kneeling on the grass, chafing the cold, white hands tenderly as he spoke, and Cecil Courtenaye had thrown himself upon the ground like one dazed with grief. But though he had bidden her go, Florence lingered as though she had not heard him.

"I do not see how Hilda could have been so careless, falling into the water that way," she said. "She was gathering some water-lilies, and she must have leaned too far out, I think, for the first thing I knew she was out into the water. I tried to save her, but I could not, and then I rowed out to Mr. Courtenaye when I saw him in the lake, too, thinking I might help him."

Cecil lifted his bowed head from the grass and looked at her. She shrank beneath the fiery scorn and anger of that look.

"Florence," he broke out, wrathfully, "do not perjure yourself. I was looking through the willows and I saw it all. She was leaning far out, and you whirled the boat around like a flash into the deep water before she could regain her balance. I believe, before Heaven, that it was intentionally done, and if Hilda Aylesford is dead, I will denounce you as her murderess."

Florence fell upon her knees, her jeweled hands clasped together, her face transformed by terror.

"Oh, Mr. Courtenaye," she wailed, "how can you say such cruel things! I swear to you it was an accident. Why should I have tried to drown Hilda, the sweet little girl, with whom I was reared, and whom I loved like a sister? You do not know what you are saying. Take back your unkind words, and, for Heaven's sake, do not breathe such a blasting suspicion against me to any one else."

Her tears, her terror, her consummate acting disarmed Cecil's suspicions of their keenest edge. He began to think that, after all, as she said, it might have been an accident.

"Perhaps I was wrong, Florence," he said, under the influence of the doubt. "If I am, I beg your pardon. But why did you row away so fast, and leave the poor girl to her fate?"

"I do not know. I was beside myself with terror, I suppose," Florence replied, with a shudder. "I did not feel so frightened at first. I knew that Hilda used to be an accomplished swimmer, and I thought she could save herself. But when I saw her

The CANADIAN STEEL AND COAL COMPANY was organized to mine and manufacture iron and coal, coke and steel in Canada at Atlantic tidewater.

The raw materials for these manufactures are:—

1.—COAL. 2.—IRON. 3.—LIMESTONE.

All these materials we have at hand.

1.—COAL.

The Company controls 3,000 acres of excellent coal areas in the Province of Nova Scotia, and efforts are being made to increase this to 10,000 acres by the purchase of some very valuable additional coal fields.

The coal has been thoroughly tested and found to be suitable in every way for the manufacture of iron and steel, and the supply is practically inexhaustible. The following analysis was made by the Canadian Geological Survey:—

ANALYSIS.

Moisture	4.05
Vol. Comb. Matter	30.72
Fixed Carbon	60.
Ash	5.23
	100.00

COAL VEINS.

The several layers or seams of coal available aggregate 27 to 30 feet in thickness.

TITLES.

These areas are held under Crown Lease for a period of 80 years. Royalty 10 cents per ton of coal sold.

2.—IRON.

The Company has acquired by purchase immense iron deposits on the North Shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 350 miles from Sydney. The deposits are estimated to contain 20,000,000 ton [illegible] above sea level, with probably as much more below that line. The iron can be handled for $1.00 per ton or less. Quantities of this ore have been shipped to Great Britain and the United States, where it has given great satisfaction, and we can sell large quantities f. o. b. at the properties, netting us a profit of $2.00 per ton. This ore makes the finest steel.

3.—FLUX.

We are now negotiating for valuable deposits of dolomite and limestone of the most satisfactory quality, situated on the tide-water, within 100 miles of the works

MARKETS.

For six months in each year the Canadian markets can be reached by water at low freight rates, and at all times by rail. As Cape Breton is distant from Liverpool only about 2,300 miles; is nearer to Pernambuco, Brazil, than any point in the United States, and also nearer to Cape Town, South Africa, it has the advantage, in point of distance, for export business over any American steel-producing points, which, with scarcely any exceptions, are situated some distance from tide water. Under any conditions of the world's market, it is believed that the output of these works can be disposed of at satisfactory prices.

OUTPUT

When in full operation, the output is expected to be about as follows:—

1. IRON.—200,000 tons iron ore shipped direct from property, showing net profit of $2.00 per ton, total	$400,000 00
200,000 tons fine iron ore shipped in briquettes, showing net profit of $4.00 per ton, total	800,000 00
100,000 tons steel blooms, showing net profit of $3.00 per ton, total	300,000 00
2. COAL.—600,000 tons coal, showing net profit, at least, of $1.00 per ton, total	600,000 00
3. AIDS.—Government bounties (averaged) added to above per year for 6 years	100 000 00
Total yearly revenue	$2,200,000 00

GOVERNMENT AIDS.

To encourage the manufacture in the Dominion of iron and steel the Parliament of Canada has granted bounties as follows:—

	ON PIG IRON.	ON STEEL.
Apl. 21st, 1902, to July 1st, 1903	$2.70	$2.70
July 1st, 1903, " " 1904	2.25	2.25
July 1st, 1904, " " 1905	1.65	1.65
July 1st, 1905, " " 1906	1.05	1.05
July 1st, 1906, " " 1907	.60	.60

If the production of steel from the Company's works be as estimated, 300,000 tons per annum, the bounties to be received from the Canadian Government will be as follows:—

1904	$225,000
1905	215,000
1906	145,000
1907	85,000

or an average of $100,000.00 per annum for 6⅔ years........ $670,000.00

NET REVENUE

Total net annual profits		$2,200,000.00
LESS FIXED CHARGES:—
7 per cent. interest on preferred stock	$70,000.00
Sinking Fund	60,000.00
Incidentals	25,000.00
		155,000.00
Net yearly profits		$2,045,000.00

Equivalent to yearly dividends of over 30 per cent., or 15 per cent. half yearly on total capitalization.

If the capitalization was increased to .... $20,000,000.00 this estimate would still show a dividend-earning capacity of 10 per cent. per annum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Coal Co. is .... $20,000,000.00 earning fully 12 per cent., and is paying 8 per cent. guaranteed dividends on this enormous sum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. is .... $28,000,000.00 on which it is believed 6 per cent. dividends will be earned.

The capitalization of the Canadian Steel & Coal Company is only $6,000,000.00 controlling, it is believed, equally valuable properties, and it is reasonable to expect much larger dividends.

Within the last few months Dominion Coal shares common rose in market value from $40 to $144 per share, and Dominion Iron & Steel Company's share common rose over $30 per share in market value.

With such low capitalization the Canadian Steel and Coal Co's shares should show tremendous profits, and it is confidently believed they will.

STOCK MARKETS

SOME SOUND MARKET VIEWS

New York, Jan. 20—In yesterday's New York Sun Mr. Kellogg had a most interesting market article. We clip therefrom some of the most trite sound points as they are sensible and correct. Market last week was unsettled. Looked as if with proper pressure it would suffer a sharp fall. It however, displayed a stalwart front to the attacks of bearish guerillas. It was only a show of weakness, not a reality. The bears are the room traders. There is no speculative interest powerful enough at present to depress the market. They are bears on theory that after the recent market recovery there should be a set back, but theory is a dangerous precedent to follow in Wall Street. Money is easy and those who hold securities see no reason for disposing of them, and there is none. The speculative chances certainly favor higher prices. Erie control will stay where it will do no harm to the eastern railway situation. Exchange seems to favor gold exports. They will only take place with the permission of the Banking Syndicate. Moderate shipments will not affect prices in the least. Last year's decline in exports was due to our short corn crop. This year we have an abundance—in fact uncounted millions of both corn and wheat that is being exported at high prices. Our cotton, too, is commanding high figures, and this is a commodity which Europe cannot do without. Everything now indicates that our exports will this year be greater than ever before. The jam of traffic still continues on our railways. Higher freight traffics will remedy this in time. They will swell earnings immensely. The impression that there will be no current impression is that there will be no current legislation at Washington. It is a pity that at least some of the objectionable features of the present treasury banking laws cannot be amended or abolished. He then goes on to offer suggestions for improving the financial conditions by making them more elastic and staple. His article leans strongly on the bull side of the account. There can be no doubt of the correctness of his logic. His facts are realisms, not fancies, and they are of the kind that go to the making of a market.

Sunnary— Official announcement of the decision of the court against the constitutionality of the Ford franchise tax law, stimulated traction shares some what this morning causing ad advance in Manhattan of a point, in Metropolitan of a point and one-half, and of 2 points in B.R.T.; After this demonstration, which was only participated in to a small degree by the balance of the list, the usual recent sagging market due to inaction and apathy set it, and was given encouragement by the stock exchange floor trading element, who are almost to a man engaged at the present upon the bear side. Too much company upon either side of a sluggish market is dangerous as speculative associates. The market will turn in the opposite direction, suddenly, sharply and without warning. Were insiders desirous of unloading at present upon the public the current market would be made attractive instead of tedious as it is at present. Money closed 4 per cent. Sales 400,400.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, is hand, and in reply will say;

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

A Rheumatic Wreck

Florist William Gough, of Toronto, Tried Many Remedies and Visited Preston Mineral Springs.

In Despair He Came Home to Die, But His Cloud Had a Silver Lining, For To-day He Is Alive, Well and Happy.

Powley's Liquified Ozone Snapped the Rheumatic Shackles for Him Just as It Will for Every Other Rheumatic Sufferer.

In all cases of rheumatism Powley's Liquified Ozone acts promptly and effectually, for it immediately removes the cause of the trouble by dispelling the uric acid from the blood. This is what happened in the case of Mr. William Gough, florist, corner Danforth and Pape avenue, Toronto, and this is why one bottle helped him and three bottles effected a permanent cure.

MR. WM. GOUGH.

The history of Mr. Gough's case is best given in his own words as told in the following statement:

"I am thankful I am alive to give you my testimonial as to the wonderful, yes, miraculous cure your Ozone has wrought in my case. I had a severe attack of la grippe, which developed into rheumatic fever. I was reduced in weight to 130 pounds. I employed the services of a good physician, but derived no benefit; in fact I became worse. I was advised to try several of the cures advertised, but in spite of all the many remedies I took I grew weaker and weaker. I was advised to go to Preston Mineral Springs, which I did, but I was so weak I could not stand the baths and got worse. I became discouraged and came home to die.

"Mr. Cherrie, grocer, on Queen st., advised me to try Powley's Liquified Ozone, so I purchased a bottle. After taking three bottles the rheumatism left me. For six weeks previous to this I could take no nourishment at all, but the first bottle gave me a good appetite. I began to gain in flesh and have been steadily increasing ever since. I now weigh 170 pounds and feel as well as possible. Every one who knew my condition considers it a miracle that I am cured. I am a staunch believer in the merits of Ozone and intend to keep it always in the house.

(Signed) WILLIAM GOUGH,
Florist.

D. T. Greenside, 90 Clarence st., London, Ont.
Mrs. Samuel Cody, 600 Main st., St. John, N.B.

Talk or write to any of these persons. The more thoroughly you investigate their respective cases the more thoroughly will you be convinced of the merits of Ozone as a cure for Rheumatism. In buying be sure to get Powley's Liquified Ozone. It is sold only by reputable dealers at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. It is never sold by peddlers. Mr. A. W. Cressman, ever on the alert to catch the public eye, has a very attractive window, dressed with the prevailing hockey colors. The red and black of the T.A.S., of the Trent Valley League, and the blue and white of the Juniors and Intermediates in the O. H.A., are shown by ribbons arranged and intertwined in a most artistic manner. A few hockey sticks give the uninitiated a cue as to the nature of the design. Mr. J. Bowes, of Mr. Cressman's staff, dressed the window, and in so doing displayed a great deal of skill in that very desirable accomplishment.

Mr. McCallum Remembered

The librarians of St. Paul's Sabbath school presented Mr. A. C. McCallum with a handsome bible, before his departure from Peterborough to Toronto. Mr. McCallum will be greatly missed here, as he was a most active worker. The presentation was accompanied by the following address:

Mr. A. A. McCallum:

Dear Mr. McCallum,—We, your fellow librarians, knowing that you are about to leave us and our town, avail ourselves of this opportunity to express our appreciation of the valuable assistance you have rendered us in the library of our Sabbath School. We have always found you most obliging not only in the faithful discharge of your duties as secretary, but willing at all times to lend a helping hand or to give advice when required. We feel we could not better express our appreciation of your many available qualities than by presenting you with this copy of the Word, knowing that its daily perusal will remind you of the many pleasant Sabbath afternoons spent in connection with St. Paul's Sabbath school. We are quite sure that although severing your connection with our school, your zeal and interest in the work of the Master will continue wherever your lot may be cast. OUR LETTER-BOX

NOTE—The Times does not hold itself in any way responsible for the opinions expressed by its correspondents.—Ed. Times.

THE PETERBOROUGH AND ASHBURNHAM NUPTIALS

To the Editor of The Times.

Sir,—In your editorial of the fifteenth inst. you hit the nail so hard, often and true, that surely there is no obstruction now to be heard of. However, it speaks well for the professional spirit now shown in Peterborough and our bride-elect, I hope to say—Ashburnham, to see the unanimity of opinion as expressed lately on the platform and in the press as to the necessity of the union of Peterborough and Ashburnham, and the incorporation of them as a city. "Single blessedness" is a poor sort of existence, anyway.

While not wishing to enter into the discussion as to the advisability of having a new name for that city, I would like however, to suggest for a sobriquet, that of "The Waterpower City,"— and what more deservedly could we claim?

I have heard Peterborough called "The Electric City," but that has been claimed first by the City of Hamilton and for three sufficient reasons.

I have heard our "town" called "The Plate Glass City," but that is now useless and was a poor one at any time.

Let us claim the sobriquet of "The Waterpower City" and allow no other. It would not only be a pleasing one, but the most valuable one to our whole community.

To Know Facts About Coffee

When man takes properly selected food and drink Nature will most always assert herself and rebuild the structure properly.

"From my earliest remembrance I was a confirmed coffee drinker," writes a gentleman from Marshallville, Ga., "taking two cups at nearly every meal. While at college I became very nervous, dyspeptic, irritable and unfit for study and attributed it largely to coffee, but did not stop its use.

"When I was married I found my wife was troubled in the same way, and we decided to try Postum Food Coffee. My wife made the Postum according to directions and we found it superb. We used it exclusively for the morning beverage, and the taste of the ordinary coffee became distasteful to both of us.

"We have found a distinct gain in health. Any amount of Postum does not cause a feeling of either dyspepsia or nervousness, while the return to coffee even for one meal has disastrous effects upon my nerves. My dyspepsia has entirely left me, and both my wife and self are well and strong and feel that it is all due to the Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The Start

In married life is generally made on an equal footing of health in man and wife. But how soon, in many cases, the wife loses the start and fades in face and fails in flesh, while her husband grows even more rugged and robust.

There is one chief cause for this wifely failure and that is, the failure of the womanly health. When there is irregularity or an unhealthy drain, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, the general health is soon impaired.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries unhealthy drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"A little over a year ago I wrote to you for advice," says Mrs. Elizabeth J. Fisher, of Diana, W. Va. "You advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did, and with the most happy result. I was troubled with female weakness and bearing-down pains. Had a very bad pain nearly all the time in my left side, nervousness and headache. Was so weak I could hardly walk across my room. Could not sit up only just a little while at a time. My husband got me some of Dr. Pierce's medicine and I began its use. Before I had taken two bottles I was able to help do my work. I used three bottles in all and it cured me. Now I do all my housework. It is the best medicine I ever used."

Pioneers of Five Thousand Nestorian Families Arrive in Charge of Doctor Adams

These Representatives of the Old Scism Have Peculiar Ideas and Customs

Winnipeg, Jan. 21—A party of thirty one Nestorians who say they are the pioneers of 5,000 families of the same persuasion from Persia, arrived in Winnipeg yesterday, and are at present located in the immigration hall.

The Rev. Isaac Adams, M.D., a Persian missionary and author of "Darkness and Daybreak," which has been translated into the English, Dutch German and Swedish languages; "Persia by a Persian," and other works, is their leader.

Dr. Adams spent twelve years in the United States, where he successfully studied medicine and theology.

In an interview with a reporter for the Times, Dr. Adams said:

"The Nestorians are, of course, Christians, and will submit to all the laws of Canada as they exist. They have nothing odd in their beliefs, like some other races. It will be the earnest desire of all to learn your language, adopt your customs, and dress, and become loyal Canadians."

"Do the Nestorians refuse to carry arms?"

"No. They have no such objection. I have lived on this continent twelve years and am acquainted with British and Canadian law and there is nothing to which the religion and disposition of the Nestorian Christian can object."

"How many Nestorians are there in Persia?"

ARE PERSECUTED.

"About 150,000 souls. They have been persecuted for centuries by Turks and Persians, and all on account of their religious belief. I have brought out a number at my own expense, but am making arrangements by which I expect about 5,000 families will follow, the movement commencing in the spring. These people are good farmers and frugal, and will prove themselves an acquisition to the country.

"Have you decided on their final location?"

"No. But I will discuss the matter with the immigration commissioner, and will then go out and look over the country, considered suitable for them. In the meantime they will remain in the immigration hall.

THEIR BELIEFS.

Nestorius, the founder of Nestorianism, was born near the close of the fourth century. His doctrine is that Christ is a true man, born of the Virgin Mary. This man, God chose as his temple. So that God was in Christ, but that God, the Divine, did not, could not suffer and die. He refused to call Mary the mother of God, saying: "Has God a mother? The creature has not borne him who is uncreate."

Among the Nestorians marriage is considered a sacred duty, and the marriage of a son is looked upon as the happiest event in the parents' lives, and an occasion of the greatest rejoicing; for an unmarried man is considered the most miserable of beings. He is comapred to a bird sitting on the top of a tree, and not knowing where to fly.

In some cases children are betrothed in their infancy by their parents, and cases of marriage in infancy have been known. Under no circumstances in Persia are young people allowed to make love or speak to each other of marriage or enter into an agreement. To kiss a girl in Persia means that you rob her of her beauty, and the act would be considered a great and unpardonable crime.

SOUTH AFRICA AND VENEZUELAN AFFAIR

Mr. Chamberlain's Position in Regard to Questions Discussed

THE ALLIANCE WITH GERMANY

It is Still the Subject of Keen Criticism—Minister Bowen's Statement

New York, Jan. 22—The correspondent of the New York Tribune in London cables:

The Government ought to be grateful to Mr Chamberlain for diverting public attention from the Venezuelan affair to something more creditable. Since Sir Michael Hicks-Beach is no longer the watch dog of the treasury there has been no opposition within the Ministry to the settlement of the Transvaal loans on easy terms. Mr. Chamberlain's decisions have been connected with Premier Balfour, and the judgement of the press is favorable. The bargain made at Johannesburg is not a hard one, but a business-like solution of a complex problem. It does not involve an alliance between Downing street and the Park Lane millionaires, and the control of South African affairs is kept in the hands of the Secretary of Colonies until confederation.

Mr. Chamberlain receives full credit for his talent in exciting colonial enthusiasm, and carrying out an enlightened British policy in a masterful way after hearing what the representative men of all interests had to say. Those who anticipated a considerable rise in South African mining shares as a result of the Colonial Secretary's pronouncement have proved themselves false prophets. The measures contemplated by the settlement do not promise that quick solution of the labor problem, which most speculators desire to witness and prices for this reason gave way yesterday. Judging from the talk of one or two magnates in the city, there is a disposition to cling to the notion that a resort to Chinese labor is the only way out of the difficulty.

THE VENEZUELAN AFFAIR.

The comment is sometimes made that the British Government would not have surrendered its independence of action in the Venezuelan affair, if Mr. Chamberlain had been fully consulted. He was, however, at Sandringham when the German Emperor and the court and ministry entered into the alliance which has been generally condemned, and must bear the full share of the responsibility for it. The most creditable explanation of that coalition is that it was substituted for the details of a secret partnership in East Africa, which the ministers were not prepared to reveal. It seemed a safe undertaking, for the Washington Government had not objected to the collection of the German debts with carefully defined restrictions, and could not reasonably discriminate against Britain.

Whether the German Emperor dreaded the effect of a naval demonstration upon American opinion, and and looked upon British co-operation as a safeguard, or whether the Washington Government preferred the dual to single actions is not yet clear, but the risks and unpopularity of the conditions by which the two European powers were drawn into a hard and fast debt collecting alliance are fully apparent. Nobody outside of the foreign office supposes that the Washington Government considered Britain's agreement to assist in collecting Germany's claims against Venezuela a friendly act or that the continuance of wanton acts of provocation by the German fleet, like the attack on San Carlos fortifications is consistent with British traditions of Pacific diplomacy.

GERMANY'S ACTION.

Berlin, Jan. 22—The navy department has not received any official advice regarding the bombardment of Fort San Carlos at the entrance to Lake Maracaibo, by the German cruiser Panther on Saturday, and is unable either to confirm or deny the press despatches. But, the officials say, assuming that something in the way of a bombardment took place, no orders on the subject were sent from Berlin Whatever was done was the result of initiative of the commander on the spot to whose discretion the conduct of the blockade was left. The government relies on Commodore Scheder to observe all the formalities usual in applying force, and is confident that neither he nor any subordinate commander did anything not strictly in accord with the usages of international law.

MINISTER BOWEN.

Charleston, S.C.C, Jan. 22— United States Minister Bowen who arrived here yesterday, was questioned concerning the published reports that he had been offered extravagant sums of money by President Castro to represent the Venezuelan Government in the dispute with Germany and Great Britain. Minister Bowen said that many false reports had been circulated. "When the question of remuneration was mentioned," he said, "I informed President Castro that I would not accept more than was required for my actual expenses, and I put an outside limit of $5,000 on the agreement. This was paid me in gold on my departure from La Guaira. That is all that I asked and it is all I will receive."

DOWIE AFTER MILWAUKEE

Will Move on That City 3,000 Strong in April to Convert It

Milwaukee, Jan. 21—Dowie, the second Elijah, has set out to conquer Milwaukee. He will take the city by storm if an army of 3,000 singing, preaching elders can do the work. For three years this army has been at work trying to make Chicago religious but the force has now decided to abandon that city to its unrighteousness and try instead to wean Milwaukee from its beer.

The movement will take place in April when the army will take up a home in the suburbs and then make ad advance on every part of the city, invading the homes of the rich and poor alike with all the documents which tell of Dowie as the Great Healer of all ills.

CREATED SENSATION IN AMERICAN HOUSE

A Speaker Makes Untrue Statement About Canada

Washington, Jan. 22—In the House today something of a stir was caused just before Cochran (Mo.) concluded a speech by an unexpected interruption from the ladies gallery. Mr. Cochran was speaking of the "truckling policy of the United States toward Great Britain." "When that truckling shall have ceased," he declared, "the people of Canada, now intensely loyal to England, will change their attitude."

"You lie," cried a stylishly dressed young woman, in clear, ringing tones. All eyes were turned to the ladies gallery, where the young woman leaned forward defiantly, as if she intended to say something further. But a companion pulled her back. She then left the gallery.

CATHOLICS AND ELECTIONS

Archbishop Langevin Lays Down Rules for Their Guidance

Winnipeg, January 22—During the course of his sermon at St. Boniface Cathedral on Sunday, Archbishop Langevin made certain utterances which have aroused comment amongst his hearers. He said in effect:

"As we are not involved in any electoral contest at the present time in our Province, I am free to speak on your duties in regard to voting.

"Any man is bound to vote according to his own conscience.

"But, in any matter pertaining to the conscience, the duty of a Catholic is to follow the directions of his priest.

"Consequently, you are bound to ask for and to follow the directions given by your priest and clergy in election time.

"I tell you, it is not sufficient for your salvation to practice the ordinary duties of your religion; you should also, in order to be good Catholics, and as one of your most important duties, be obedient to your clergyman and follow his directions in matters concerning elections."

JANET CAMERON DISAPPEARS

Anxious Father is Inquiring Into Her Whereabouts

Winnipeg, Jan. 20—There is a mystery attached to the disappearance of Janet Cameron, a good looking Scotch lass, aged 18 years, who is supposed to have passed through Winnipeg in October last on her way to Qu'Appelle to take a position as a domestic in the family of a well known citizen of that town.

Janet Cameron was brought from Scotland by an association which makes a business of supplying young girls in the Old Country to fill positions in the homes of people in Canada. On Oct. 25 she landed in Montreal, and on the same day is supposed to have left the Windsor street station for the west. She was booked through for Qu'Appelle, N.W.T. The last seen of her, to all apparent knowledge, was when she was leaving Montreal.

BAGGAGE CLAIMED.

A singular fact in connection with the girl's disappearance is that her baggage, which was checked through to Qu'Appelle, was called for and claimed not long after its arrival.

The question of the identity of the person who presented the checks and secured the baggage, and also the question as to how the person came into possession of the checks can not be answered, and add to the mystery of the girl's disappearance.

On the strength of inquiries from Janet Cameron's father, in Scotland, the Canadian Pacific railway authorities are taking steps to locate the missing girl, although so far as they are concerned, all responsibility has ceased, both as to the disappearance of the girl and the safekeeping of her baggage. The fact that the checks for the latter were presented at Qu'Appelle and identified as the ones given to the girl at Montreal relieves the railway of liability for the baggage, but what it does not do is to throw some light upon what has become of Janet.

A lot of things may have happened her since coming to this country. It may be that, being young and pretty, she became enamored of the attentions of some young rancher, and, accepting his proposal of marriage, has gone into a remote part of the country, where she may be carrying on her wifely duties with all the ardor of "a bright young thing."

Another solution is that she may have listened to the offer of a family in some other place than Qu'Appelle, and for all her friends know may be working night and day at dish-washing, scrubbing and cooking anywhere between Montreal and Vancouver.

But there is the theory that Janet may have met with foul play. But this is not seriously considered as probable. What object could an evil-minded person have in making away with a harmless Scotch girl, who had no money, no friends, and with unknown prospects in this country?

INFORMATION WANTED.

But the question comes back: Who got Janet Cameron's baggage, and who presented the checks for her trunks at Qu'Appelle?

Any information that would lead to finding her present address would be to her advantage. Please address P. O. box 230, Winnipeg, Man.

NEW GRAIN IN THE FAR WEST

"Corn-Wheat" is The Cereal Which Promises To Add to The Pacific Coast

Tacoma, Wash, Jan. 21—A new grain now known as corn-wheat is being successfully grown in eastern Washington. It has the nature of both corn and wheat, possessing the fattening qualities of corn and the corn flavor. It resembles wheat. Its grains are twice as large as those of the ordinary wheat. It yields sixty to one hundred bushels an acre, and seems to solve the problem of fattening hogs in the Pacific Northwest. Corn is not successfully raised in this country.

Wheat growers at Moscow, Idaho, first introduced corn wheat four years ago. The entire production has since been taken for seed. Farmers generally are now raising the new grain and going into hog raising. As a result decreased shipments of packing house products from Eastern States are already noticeable.

POISONED UNCLE AND AUNTS

Nephew Kills His Relatives to Get Their Property—Suicide After Arrest

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 21—Robert Ray poisoned a family of three persons on a ranch fifty miles south of Pecos on Friday afternoon. The dead are T. J. Ray, and his two sisters, Louise and Amy, the latter being seventy years of age.

The poisoner was a nephew of Ray and was heir to the ranch property which fact is thought to have prompted the commission of the crime. Soon after the death of the three people young Ray loaded his wife and child into a wagon and drove to Pecos and boarded a west bound train for Colorado City. Arriving there he was arrested by the Sheriff.

When Ray saw the officer he swallowed a dose of poison and died soon after. The Rays resided on a little ranch about fifty miles southeast of the town of Pecos. The poison was administered to the three people in their food.

HITS AT MONROE DOCTRINE

Prof. Prince of Dickinson Says it is Weak and a Crisis is Coming

Carlisle, Pa., Jan. 21—Prof. Leon C Prince of the chair of international law at Dickinson College, delivered a lecture to his class today attacking the Monroe Doctrine.

After commenting on the success of Canning, the British Foreign Secretary, in urging Munroe to promulgate the doctrine, he affirmed his belief in an approaching crisis for it. The substance of the lecture was that the Monroe Doctrine is simply an impression of the will of the American people, scouted by Germany, lacking the concession of France and which England had never dared to violate flagrantly.

"As a simple statement of policy," he said, "the doctrine is strong, vigorous and uncompromising; but as a profession of chivalrous devotion to our feebler brethren it is weak, superficial and insincere, deceiving nobody except ourselves. The national consciousness never reposes in the masses of the people, but in the minds of the few who exercise the governing power and these few have decreased the doctrine's perpetuity."

Prof. Prince argues that the desire of the surplus population of Europe for new country will force the crisis. The United States occupies an impossible position in insisting upon the inviolability of South America. He said a Germanized or Anglicised South America is vastly preferable to the present irresponsible, weak and vicious republics, which lack honor and stability.

T.A.S. and Bobcaygeon Play To-night

The T.A.S. will put the same team on the ice against Bobcaygeon to-night as brought defeat upon the Lakefield seven and the Bobcaygeonites in their previous games. Capt. Lynch gave the boys a light work out last night between 10 and 11 o'clock, and is doing all in his power to land the T.V.L. championship. McCoy in goal is putting up a great game, while Lynch and Parnell, on the forward line, are showing up well, both being clever stick handlers and speedy skaters and get away well together. George, on the forward line, does very effective work and follows up well. McGrath injured his leg at practice on Saturday, but expects to be in the game to-night. Crowley and Meagher will play cover point and point respectively. The Bobcaygeon team is materially strengthened since their, first game with the T.A.S. and expect to make a good showing to-night.

The Culls will play at Fenelon Falls to-night.

Cobourg defeated Peterborough Juniors last night by 7 to 6.

The entertainment was very largely attended by parents of the school children, and the program was much appreciated by one and all. Every number was heartily received, especially the "Good night drill," by eight little girls in costume, which evoked enthusiastic applause. Prizes were distributed by the Rector, Rev. J. C. Davidson, and fruit and candies by Santa Claus (Mr. F. D. Kerr). A huge Christmas tree also had attached to its branches pleasing remembrances for the teachers from scholars.

The whole evening was an exceedingly enjoyable one, and perhaps the most successful Sunday school entertainment given by St. John's in several years.

THE STRIKE STILL ON.

Men Refuse to Return to Work Except as Members of Union

A Conference with Mr. Ackerman Yesterday Resulted in Nothing—The Strike will Continue Indefinitely

The strike at Ackerman's harness factory is still on, and apparently will continue for some days at least.

Yesterday morning Mr. Ackerman expressed a desire to meet a committee of the strikers, with a view to a settlement of the difficulty. A committee accordingly waited on him. Mr. Ackerman offered to reinstate the men back in a body, provided they would return as individuals, and not as members of the union. This the men refused to do, so there the matter stands.

In the meantime, the factory is said to be badly crippled, only two men, the foremen and apprentices beng at work.

YESTERDAY'S RACES

Some Good Sport at the Driving Park in the Afternoon

There was a large crowd in attendance at the first day of the Peterborough Turf Club Winter Races at the Driving Park yesterday. The day was not too cold for spectators, and some very exciting finishes were witnessed. The winners were "Gipsy Girl" in the 2.30 class and "Commodore K." in the 3.50 class.

The horses that will start to-day are all fast horses, and some close and exciting races can be looked for. In the 3 minute class the following horses will start:

Prince Hal, Keepa Bell, Texas May, Little Diamond, Harold D.

In the 2.30 class the horses entered are:

Erne Hunter, Little Boy, Lilliputian, Happy Paddy, Sphinx Bee.

In the 2.30 race all the horses are pretty evenly matched as to speed, and the public will have the privilege of seeing some fast and close racing.

RUSSIA'S NEW MOVE IN THE FAR EAST

Turkey Has a Gigantic War Fund and is Prepared For Any Event

AND IS PREPARED TO HOLD HER OWN

A Complicated Situation Which May Evolve a Tremendous Conflagration

London, Jan. 22—Affairs are rapidly thickening in the Near East. What the game of Russia in sending a fleet through the Dardanelles no hint is so far given of by the European press, which discusses the subject chiefly from the standpoint of Russia's breach of faith. It is a shock to the diplomatic conscience to find a highly civilized power deliberately waiving aside a treaty solemnly entered into and taking her own path in defiance of the accepted canons of international honor and probity.

A clue to what may be behind this demonstration, however, is given in a St. Petersburg letter to the Paris Soleil, in reference to the journey of the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs to Austria. It is held to mean an alliance with Russia to suppress what the despatch of yesterday calls "the criminal warfare in Macedonia," where two or three separate intrigues are going on by different nationalities so that the Bulgarian Committees murder the Greeks, the Greeks the Bulgarians, and the Macedonian Committees, pure and simple, murder both these others, all under Russian encouragement! Russia is at last to bring pressure upon Bulgaria and Austria to occupy Albania. As a part of these military measures a naval show in the Bosphorus is on the cards.

A demand is to be made on the Sultan for reforms in Macedonia, which if he refuses, war may be expected to ensue. As a preliminary, Great Britain has protested against the granting of the naval departure asked for by Russia. What step Germany will take remains to be revealed. It is possible that having been drawn into what is practically a Turkish alliance by the subtle lures which Abdu Hamid has woven to tempt its commercial greed, Germany may have to take a hand in support of the Mahommedan.

It is pointed out by a recent writer that the Macedonian question is but an outcropping of the general disease afflicting the Turkish Empire, which is ever the "Sick Man" of Europe, without any sign of death or convalescence. The St. Petersburg letter to the Soleil says "in any event the down fall of the Ottoman Empire is in sight." But it has been seemingly in sight for the past fifty years, yet to day under the Sultan's industrious and skilful generalship it is one of the greatest powers upon earth. As to Macedonia the chronic unrest is fostered by both Greece and Bulgaria, by the former in the desire, never relinquished, of seeing a restored Byzantine Empire; by the latter from the ambition of the Bulgarian Prince to be a king, while his Russian friend is forever urging him to acts calculated to keep the sore between him and the Sultan raw. What will happen should the Mahommedan power arouse itself in defence of its religion and its territories, for the first of these is the more important, can be only imagined.

Turkey is popularly supposed to be a poor country, badly administered, and unfit for warlike enterprise. In reality, the present Sultan has been accumulating a gigantic war treasure of the real extent of which no one knows but himself. During the past few years the Sultan has strengthened himself greatly in the Balkan Peninsula He has at present 50,000 trained troops in the Villayet of Salonika and Monastir, and probably as many more in Albania. These men are sufficient to keep down all revolutionary forces, but they form a rallying point for upwards of 250,000 reservists and old soldiers who would fight as heroically as old in defence of their faith. The army in Turkey alone numbers 450,000 or 500,000 fairly-drilled, well armed, brave and hardy men, all within 300 miles of Constantinople. Behind them stand over 2,000,000 men, decribed as still in the prime of life, and behind them again unnumbered millions, scattered over the earth, who would fly to the defence of their faith at the Sultan's call, he being the Caliph, or head of Mohammedanism.

Well informed observers declare that the Caliph, working day and night, has organized in the remotest parts of the earth as well as the most populous, a vast, silent, and secret Agency to carry out his idea—in India, in the most distant islands of the Indian Ocean and China Seas; from the western coasts of Morocco across the whole of Africa; on the plains of Mesopotamia and the frontiers of Persia. Then all over Asia Minor, in the very heart of Asia Proper, in the entire south of the Russian Empire, through all North-western China, in Afghanistan and among the Mahrattas of India, this agency is established, while for every man so employed in foreign parts there lives in Constantinople a counter part with whom he is in constant correspondence—the most complete and practical missionary effort in the world to keep the faith alive.

The whole of this complicated detail of foreign Agencies is personally superintended by the Sultan, showing a most remarkable grasp of business and a cognizance of everything that passes in his Empire. As one intelligent writer asserts, one of the most astute and statesmanlike moves of our times was employed by Abdul Hamid, while the world looked on in ignorance of its tremendous import; the move being that by which he drew the German on until he became a wedge driven between Turkey's to most formidable enemies, Russia and France. If German influence is now paramount at Constantinople it is so because the Sultan required this defence, and bought it as a matter of business, when he refused a great railway concession to Englishmen who would have paid for it without a subsidy, yet gave it to a German group with a subsidy thrown in. This was the occasion of the remark in England that the matter of Armenian massacres Lord Salisbury "backed the wrong horse," when he threw the Sultan overboard. By this move the Sultan has erected a barrier between France and Russia, and has practically rendered abortive, as far as Turkey is concerned, that standing menace to peace, the Dual Alliance. The vast and ever increasing commercial interests of Germany in Turkey made it impossible for Germany too look on while her peace was imperilled by either of them.

Only a few years back Germany had no interests in the Eastern Question beyond those affecting her relations with Austria. She was thus the most fortunately situated of the great powers. And now the most triflingst of incidents on the Bosphorus may involve Germany in a struggle not only in the Near East, but on both her eastern and western frontiers, with the two greatest military nations of the day—unless by leaving her subjects in Turkey in the lurch, she abdicates as a great power.

THE LONDON MORNING POST ON LACK OF WORKMEN IN THE DOMINION

Says Dominion Could Take Men to Relieve the Congestion in England

Sir John Colomb Again Attacking Canada on Account of Its Attitude Towards Canada

London, Jan. 21.—Sir John Colomb is again attacking Canada on account of its attitude toward Imperial defence. He says in the Morning Post to-day: "Australia is far in advance of Canada in recognizing her duty to maintain a fleet, while the Dominion flatly refuses to give a penny, though possessing a mercantile marine nearly equal to that of the United States, and never tired of urging on the Mother Country to undertake great cash subscriptions on a finance guarantee to carry out transmarine schemes of peculiar advantage to her own commercial interests."

CANADA'S NEED OF MEN

The Daily Mail, commenting on the amazing prosperity of Canada, notes only one great check, namely, the scarcity of Canadian labor, especially skilled, and says: "In view of the terrible congestion of the home labor field, the complaint must seem to many Englishmen an impossible mockery."

C.P.R. EXTENSIONS.

It is confidently asserted in some quarters that the Calgary-Edmonton railway arrangements with the Canadian Pacific are completed, and only await full sanction before the announcement is made. The hope is expressed that there will be a subsequent completion of the Qu'Appelle and Long Lake arrangements.

expansion, and announces an issue at par of the remaining $1,006,700 of unissued share capital in the proportion of 12 1-2 per cent, to all shareholders of record on February 12. It was resolved to hold a special meeting on March 2 to discuse the advisability of increasing the authorized capital from $18,000,000 to $20,000,000.

WEDDING BELLS

The Marriage of Mr. A. A. Lackie and Miss Isabella Mahood White

An exceedingly pretty house wedding took place at seven o'clock last evening at No. 679 George street, the home of Mrs. Francis White, mother of the bride.

The contracting parties were Miss Isabella Mahood White, youngest daughter of the late Francis White, of Peterborough, and Mr. Andrew Lackie, second eldest son of Mr. Hamilton Lackie of Cavan.

The parlor was handsomely decorated with house plants and flowers. In the corner in front of a bank of palms, and ferns, was a pretty evergreen arch, trimmed with roses and chrysanthemums.

At the appointed hour, the groom, supported by Mr. T. L. Moore, of Cavan, took his place under the arch, while the wedding march was played by Miss Minnie Haggart, of Peterborough. The bride appeared leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Francis White, who gave her away. She looked very pretty in a blue travelling suit, with white silk waist, trimmed with chiffon and ribbons She carried a beautiful bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid was Miss M. E. Lackie, sister of the groom. She wore a blue cloth dress, with pale blue silk waist, and carried pink roses.

Rev. B. F. Torrance, D.D., pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev J. A. Wilson, performed the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate friends.

The wedding dejeuner was served in the dining room, which was also tastily decorated with plants and flowers.

The handsome array of costly and useful presents received by the bride testified to the high place held by her in the estimation of her many friends, all of whom will join with The Times in wishing the young couple many happy years of wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Lackie left by the evening G.T.R. train for their wedding tour, after which they will take up their residence in Cavan.

NO POACHING ALLOWED

The local Peterborough Tory organ says in its issue of 19th:

"According to the World and the Mail and Empire Mr. Whitney is attending a meeting this afternoon of the Conservative Association, including delegates from the Riding Associations throughout the Province. There must be a mistake somewhere for the officers of the Peterborough Conservative Association have received no notification of the meeting.'"

Doubtless this is because Mr. Whitney does not wish to poach on Mr. Stratton's preserve.

DOES THE ENTERPRISE PAY

A question of some importance in Peterborough where municipal lighting will be undertaken some day, is whether a plant can be economically run by a public body. The question was squarely put to the Municipal Journal and Engineer and he answered:

"All depends on several considerations, the most important of which are those pertaining to the locality. Some cities make a complete failure, while others are tolerably successful.

We know of no instance, however, where a municipal electric light plant is managed as economically under public as under private ownership. Granting this statement to be a fact, it does not necessarily form a convincing argument against public ownership, for the reason that in almost every instance of public ownership the citizens of the community receive greater benefits from a publicly administered plant, than from a private plant. For instance, despite a bad management under public ownership, commercial lights are furnished at a lower rate, and are street lighting costs the town less, while the revenues from the plant, as a rule, take care of the interest, sinking fund, depreciation and repairs. There have been, and are, some notable exceptions to this rule. We do not advocate municipal ownership indiscriminately, but we do hold the opinion, on general principles, that it would be better for all cities either to own and operate, or control, all public utilities as rapidly as the local conditions would permit."

The success of the enterprise is not so clearly assured under a committee of the council as under commissioners who are elected for lengthened periods and who become skilled in its management. The council, for instance, changes its committee annually. It cannot help this as the personnel of the council is greatly altered. The result is evident. The details of the business cannot be readily mastered. It takes time for one to become acquainted with the operations of the department, and just when he is in a position to do efficient service, because well posted, he is replaced.

The man of business does not excel by the rapid changes of his occupation, or the occupations of his employees, and this is the lesson that municipal bodies do not learn. The advantage of commissioners is quite apparent. They hold office for several years. They are thus permitted to study their duties, and to apply themselves to their trusts with greater devotion and success. In this way and in this way only, can municipal enterprise be managed economically and profitably. If Peterborough becomes possessed of the electric lighting plant its policy should be to entrust its commissioners with instructions to develop and direct it along safe and remunerative lines.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

From Taking Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills

Editor of the Morning Times:

Sir,—I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow sufferers to say that after 12 years of indescribable torture from indigestion and debilitated constitution, I am now, I believe, thoroughly well. I spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief that never came, until I tried Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, 12 boxes of which did the work. I am now in perfect health, and want the world to know who cured me. E. S. Smith, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Chas. Richie writes: "I believe if I had not been for Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills I would have now been in my grave, as I was a long sufferer from stomach troubles. They are the greatest remedy on earth."

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. At Summer Resorts.

Glittering rays, hot from the sun's gridiron, are shooting down on beach and caravanseral.

Board walks are groaning, and the white sand is all flustered with a myriad attentions. The blue water, never ceasing in its murmurs, laps the feet of millionaire and underling, and touches vanity and vicissitude, swelling front and peaked form, emerging all in a countless array of crystalline drops. Fat women and lean men linger in the damp sand with tender looks. Plump maids and college athletes wanton ingenuously in the eternal blue. Hollow hearts look out at distant sails, and other hearts, teeming with joy, beat in unison to the cadence of the waters.

Flies are busy in hotel rooms. Fish are making fatal errors.

In the dark, cavernous depths of many a hotel piazza hands meet hands, hearts beat in moon time, and soul yearnings are being satisfied.

Bills are running up. Bartenders are busy, and good old church deacons, made mad by too sudden freedom, lose their balance in other foam than the sea.

Many a lonely rock is a party to strange oaths and sundry chirpings that it never heard before.

Cupid is working overtime.

Red coats flutter in the gentle wind. "Ping pong" is heard from the hotel corridor. Rainy-day poker parties hold afternoon sessions in back rooms. Wives are writing for more money. Husbands are hurrying back and forth, wishing it were all over with.

Hotel safes are complacent with riches. Clerks are smiling and registers are lined with heterogenity.

While in the dim distance the soul of old Ocean stirs and rhythmically murmurs:

A ROMANCE.

sinking, I was so horrified I did not know what was best to be done."

The excuse seemed so plausible Cecil did not know what to say. Sir Wilfred said not a word. Pale and grave, he bent over Hilda, employing what remedies seemed best until help arrived. Then they carried her up to the house. After a time she came to herself again, but she was frightened and nervous. She did not seem like the brave little girl she usually was. She turned with a moan and shiver from Florence's kisses and tears, and clung to Lady Leigh.

There were two days when she did not leave her room. No one saw her but Mrs. Courtenaye and Sir Wilfred's sister. They said that her nervous system had sustained such a shock from her accident that she could bear nothing. A bed was made for her in Lady Leigh's dressing-room, where she could tend her with her own hands night and day.

Those two days went wearily at Locksley Hall. Lady Leigh's door was besieged with anxious messengers from the earl and Sir Wilfred Hale. Cecil Courtenaye sent her a bouquet of roses. Florence wept because they would not admit her into the room.

But on the third evening Hilda came down to dinner. She was nervous still. She trembled when Florence kissed her and told her how sorry she was for her accident. She drew a soft white shawl about her shoulders, as of she were cold, and went and sat down in a quiet corner, where she was joined by the earl, who expressed his great delight at her recovery.

After dinner she stepped out on the low balcony to look at the fair, tranquil English landscape under the full light of the moon. Cecil Courtenaye was smoking a cigar, which he threw away as she came up to him with that quaint straightforwardness which he had once thought brusque and uncultivated, but which appeared so natural and charming now.

"Mr. Courtenaye," she said, in her clear, sweet voice, "Sir Wilfred has told me that you saved my life that day when —I— fell into the lake."

He looked at the bright, beautiful face. The unconscious tenderness with which she said "Sir Wilfred" chafed him.

"I only drew you out of the water," he replied, moodily. "If Sir Wilfred had not come up with the boat just as I was on the point of succumbing to a sudden faintness I do not think either of us would ever have come out of the lake alive."

She shrank a little at the carelessness of his tone and manner, but still said bravely:

"Then I have all the more reason to thank you for saving my life, since the attempt very nearly involved the sacrifice of your own."

Some impulse prompted him to say, in a gentler tone:

"You owe me no thanks, Miss Aylesford. Do you remember when you saved my life at New River Falls?"

"Yes," she answered; and he saw her tremble slightly. "I do not think I can ever forget that dreadful flood, Mr. Courtenaye."

"It was a brave and noble thing for a slight girl to do," he said; "and just before that I had spoken of you rudely and discourteously. Do you remember what you said to me when I wanted to thank you for saving the life that is so precious to my widowed mother?"

In the soft and brilliant moonlight he fancied he saw the faint flush deepen to crimson on her cheeks.

"Yes, I remember," she said; "I told you it was my revenge for your discourtesy."

"It was a noble revenge," he said, "and now I might tell you that I saved your life the other day as a noble revenge upon you for a wrong you had done to me."

The dark eyes flashed wide open. He could see how dark, how soft, how starry- bright they were as the thick, curling lashes fluttered, upward in blank surprise.

"A wrong," she cried. "Indeed you are mistaken, sir. What have I done?"

"You spoiled my life, that is all you have done, Hilda," he cried out, bitterly. "You saved me from that terrible death that day, and my whole heart went out to you, child as you were! Then, that night at the White Sulphur Springs, when I asked you to marry me, you refused me so scornfully, that the wound has never ceased to pain my heart. You have wronged me in that, you would not believe in my love. At least, you might have refused me kindly, without throwing doubt upon my truth. It is your scorn I have to complain of, Hilda. No— do not interrupt me, dear— you do not need to tell me it is too late to bring up the old issues now. I realise it in all its bitter truth. But, Hilda, I am miserable without you, since we cannot be more, let us at least be friends."

"He means that he is to marry Florence," thought Hilda, as the passionate words came to an abrupt close; then she answered in a voice that faltered ever so slightly:

"I am very sorry you felt my refusal so much, Mr. Courtenaye. I think I have misjudged you a great deal, owing to my early pique against you. If you can forgive me for my injustice, I am quite willing to be your friend."

"Give me that rose in your hair, as a pledge to our friendship," he said, eagerly, and he took the hand that held it out to him and pressed it to his lips, saying gravely:

"There is only one thing that could make me happier than your friendship, Hilda, and that would be your love."

"You must not say such things, Mr. Courtenaye," she said, quickly, thinking of Lady Florence.

"I know it," he said, thinking of Sir Wilfred, "you must forgive me, little Hilda. But you do not know how sweet it is to have you for my friend, even. Hitherto I have always thought that you despised me."

"Indeed, I do not," she answered, frankly. "I know now that you are both brave and true. I confess I was angry at you until that night when you carried me out of the burning cottage at the Springs. I knew then that I had been mistaken in my estimate of you, and I began to like you——"

She stopped suddenly, with a confused consciousness that she was confiding too much to Florence's betrothed. He looked at her, half maddened by the dark and sparkling beauty, to which the soft yet brilliant moonlight lent a subtle charm.

"Ah! Hilda," he cried, "you do not know how bitter it is to love in vain. In all the world there is no pain like it."

The CANADIAN STEEL AND COAL COMPANY was organized to mine and manufacture iron and coal, coke and steel in Canada at Atlantic tidewater.

The raw materials for these manufactures are:—

1.—COAL. 2.—IRON. 3.—LIMESTONE.

All these materials we have at hand.

1.—COAL.

The Company controls 3,000 acres of excellent coal areas in the Province of Nova Scotia, and efforts are being made to increase this to 10,000 acres by the purchase of some very valuable additional coal fields.

The coal has been thoroughly tested and found to be suitable in every way for the manufacture of iron and steel, and the supply is practically inexhaustible. The following analysis was made by the Canadian Geological Survey:—

ANALYSIS.

Moisture	4.05
Vol. Comb. Matter	30.72
Fixed Carbon	60.
Ash	5.23
	100.00

COAL VEINS.

The several layers or seams of coal available aggregate 27 to 30 feet in thickness.

TITLES.

These areas are held under C[illegible] a Lease for a period of 80 years. Royalty 10 cents per ton of coal sold.

2.—IRON.

The Company has acquired by purchase immense iron deposits on the North Shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 350 miles from Sydney. The deposits are estimated to contain 20,000,000 ton[illegible]re above sea level, with probably as much more below that line. The iron can be handled for $1.00 per ton or less. Quantities of this ore have been shipped to Great Britain and the United States, where it has given great satisfaction, and we can sell large quantities f. o. b. at the properties, netting us a profit of $2.00 per ton. This ore makes the finest steel.

3.—FLUX.

We are now negotiating for valuable deposits of dolomite and limestone of the most satisfactory quality, situated on the tide-water, within 100 miles of the works

MARKETS.

For six months in each year the Canadian markets can be reached by water at low freight rates, and at all times by rail. As Cape Breton is distant from Liverpool only about 2,300 miles; is nearer to Pernambuco, Brazil, than any point in the United States, and also nearer to Cape Town, South Africa, it has the advantage, in point of distance, for export business over any American steel-producing points, which, with scarcely any exceptions, are situated some distance from tide water. Under any conditions of the world's market, it is believed that the output of these works can be disposed of at satisfactory prices.

OUTPUT

When in full operation, the output is expected to be about as follows:—

1. IRON.—200,000 tons iron ore shipped direct from property, showing net profit of $2.00 per ton, total..........$400,000 00
200,000 tons fine iron ore shipped in briquettes, showing net profit of $4.00 per ton, total..........800,000 00
100,000 tons steel blooms, showing net profit of $3.00 per ton, total..........300,000 00
2. COAL.—600,000 tons coal, showing net profit, at least, of $1.00 per ton, total..........600,000 00
3. AIDS.—Government bounties (averaged) added to above per year for 6 years..........100 000 00
Total yearly revenue..........$2,200,000 00

GOVERNMENT AIDS.

To encourage the manufacture in the Dominion of iron and steel the Parliament of Canada has granted bounties as follows:—

	ON PIG IRON.	ON STEEL.
Apl. 21st, 1902, to July 1st, 1903	$2.70	$2.70
July 1st, 1903, " " 1904	2.25	2.25
July 1st, 1904, " " 1905	1.65	1.65
July 1st, 1905, " " 1906	1.05	1.05
July 1st, 1906, " " 1907	.60	.60

If the production of steel from the Company's works be as estimated, 300,000 tons per annum, the bounties to be received from the Canadian Government will be as follows:—

1904	$225,000
1905	215,000
1906	145,000
1907	85,000

or an average of $100,000.00 per annum for 6½ years..........$670,000.00

NET REVENUE

Total net annual profits..........$2,200,000.00
LESS FIXED CHARGES:—
7 per cent. interest on preferred stock..........$70,000.00
Sinking Fund..........60,000.00
Incidentals..........25,000.00
155,000.00
Net yearly profits..........$2,045,000.00

Equivalent to yearly dividends of over 30 per cent., or 15 per cent. half yearly on total capitalization.

If the capitalization was increased to..........$20,000,000.00 this estimate would still show a dividend-earning capacity of 10 per cent. per annum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Coal Co. is..........$20,000,000.00 earning fully 12 per cent., and is paying 8 per cent. guaranteed dividends on this enormous sum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. is..........$28,000,000.00 on which it is believed 6 per cent. dividends will be earned.

The capitalization of the Canadian Steel & Coal Company is only $6,000,000.00 controlling, it is believed, equally valuable properties, and it is reasonable to expect much larger dividends.

Within the last few months Dominion Coal shares common rose in market value from $40 to $144 per share, and Dominion Iron & Steel Company's share common rose over $30 per share in market value.

With such low capitalization the Canadian Steel and Coal Co's shares should show tremendous profits, and it is confidently believed they will.

SOCK MARKES

SOME SOUND MARKET VIEWS

New York, Jan. 21—The New York Stockholder of 20th inst. contains a paragraph which certainly could properly be taken as a text for a financial sermon covering the present situation. It is as follows:—Leaving aside the fleeting influences in the market the broad fact remains that no setback occurs to trade that every corner of the country is pushing forward to new records, that the railroads could not handle more traffic if they had it, and that the financial situation contains no figure of a distrubing character. Present operations are not conducted as though reflecting the superb conditions ruling. Even a brilliant bank statement passed for little or nothing. The facts are certainly most undeniable, absolutely true and bound in the end to rule prices. The decline on Monday and Tuesday was brought about by the bearish room traders, using the firing upon the Venezuelan fort by the German warship and the new Washington order to the banks to replace state bonds with government bonds. This the banks will do without any trouble. The Venezuelan affair will take care of itself and come out all right. As a result of the two days operations there has been a signal increase in the existing short interest, while for the effort displayed prices are off but very little. This room element is dangerous to follow, as they change their position in a moment, oftimes at a loss. To have a decline of note the recession in prices must be accompanied by an outpouring of long stocks. No such fact is evidenced in the present market. While not bidding up for stocks good buying is stimulated by every eighth decline. After some considerable backing and filling the last people to sell loking for a possible fractional profit will find themselves in a market trap and obliged to shoulder a loss. We frankly announce our inability to tell the exact moment this upward movement will start. There have been and possibly will be more false starts, but come it will. Those who are prepared for it, through possession of long stocks will be the ones to profit when it arrives.

LEAVING BRITAIN FOR THE STATES

A Demand for Measures to Divert Emigration to The Colonies

London, Jan. 20—While Canadian farmers organise expeditions to search the Old Country for much needed labor, and offer good wages to efficient men without a satisfactory response, official statistics show that British emigrants do not generally elect to make their home in the British colonies. Of 205,910 emigrants from this country last year, 108,501 went to the United States. This condition of things has induced one newspaper to declare that the future of the British race is imperilled by the drafts made upon it from the United States, and that the greatest and most beneficent work that British statesmen could perform for the welfare of the nation would be the inauguration of some scheme for redistributing the British people in the British Empire.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.
Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz, and quartzite, all horning more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $35 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?
BECAUSE
THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company, [illegible] raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or [illegible] in a short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

FOOD VS. DRUGS

A Drug Man's Wisdom That Counts

It's a shrewd man who, while in the drug business, learns that although drugs are all right in their place the use of proper food will make medicine unnecessary in the majority of cases.

"Travelling through various towns" writes a drug salesman from Lancaster, Pa., "drinking different waters to which I was not accustomed, eating strangely-prepared meals at irregular hours, I contracted dyspepsia, accompanied by nervousness, loss of sleep and consequent loss of energy. I often had the 'blues' that indescribably tough feeling which makes one look on the dark side of every picture, and see the shadows rather than the substance of life, imagine the thousand calamities that were never in existence, and so render life almost unbearable. Many thousands of men under the circumstances would have resorted to stimulation from drugs or liquor.

I happened to read an article on Grape-Nuts about a case similar to my own and determined to give the food a trial. It agreed with me from the start and the miserable distress that usually came after eating did not manifest itself when I ate Grape-Nuts. I asked for this food at every hotel at which I stopped and made it the principal part of the meal. My stomach soon got so that I could eat any kind of rich food in connection with Grape-Nuts without it distressing me. My dyspepsia and nervousness disappeared and life looked bright and happy once more. I am now well, healthy, happy and able to work 16 hours out of the 24, and can sleep like a healthy child the other eight hours.

My family soon tires of mushy cereals but we never tire of Grape-Nuts. The children thrive on it and enjoy it. You may publish this if you think it will encourage others to try Grape-Nuts instead of medicine, or spirituous remedies that stimulate the system for a time but do not build it up." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

At Hymen's Altar

The home of Mr. John Rose, North Dummer, was the scene of a pleasant event, on January 14, when his eldest daughter, Lydia Annie, was led to the altar by Mr. R. G. Charlton, of Lakefield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. L. Atkinson, of Warsaw, in the presence of many guests. Many handsome presents were received by the bride. The best wishes of many friends follow the young couple to their new home.

Epidemic About Over.

From investigations made by Dr. Bingham, it would seem that the scarlet fever outbreak is about over. No new cases have been reported in town since January 12, and those who have been ill are making good progress towards recovery. Of the thirteen families afflicted, nine were using well water. The inference is obvious, that the water of these wells was by no means wholesome.

The Scotchmen

The visiting Scotchmen, with members of the town council, local curlers, and other representative citizens, drove around yesterday forenoon to see the sights of Peterborough and Ashburnham. In the afternoon five rinks of Scotchmen curled against five visiting rinks. They left early for Lindsay, where they played last night and returned to Peterborough this morning and will proceed to Toronto to-day.

More Liberal Coal Supplies

Over two thousand tons of hard coal came into Toronto on Tuesday, says the Globe, and with the more liberal supplies that the railways believe are on the way considerable relief should be afforded to the situation. The Grand Trunk had in 47 cars of hard and 13 cars of soft, and the Canadian Pacific received 22 cars of hard and 9 cars of soft. This would make 2,070 tons of hard and 340 tons of soft coal received yesterday.

"I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice though I thought surely I would die."

"After my baby came in January, 1902," writes Mrs. Nancy Abner, of St. Paul, Ark., "I suffered severely from all sorts of aches and pains, until the following May, when I read one of your pamphlets, treating on female diseases. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice, although I thought surely I would die, as our physician told me I was more liable to die than to get well; your fatherly advice caused my health to be restored. I took five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of 'Pellets,' together with your other remedies, and I am now able to do all my work."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, and so obtain without charge or fee the advice of a specialist upon diseases peculiar to women. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The invitation to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free, is not to be confused with offers of "free medical advice" made by irresponsible persons who are not physicians and are professionally and legally disqualified for the practice of medicine.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a safe and reliable remedy for the cure of womanly ills. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

From Taking Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills

Editor of the Morning Times:

Sir,—I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow sufferers to say that after 12 years of indescribable torture from indigestion and debilitated constitution, I am now, believe, thoroughly well. I spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief that never came, until I tried Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, 12 boxes of which did the work. I am now in perfect health, and want the world to know who cured me. E. S. Smith, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Chas. Richie writes: "I believe if I had not been for Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills I would have now been in my grave, as I was a long sufferer from stomach troubles. They are the greatest remedy on earth."

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even where the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough, price 50c. per box.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that it will not permanently cure.

THE C. P. R. TO INVADE STATE OF WASHINGTON

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy Visits American Capital To Complete Arrangements

Company Expects to Secure Large Amount of Additional Business by This Extension

Montreal, Jan. 22—To obtain for the Canadian Pacific Railway the necessary rights to construct a number of branch lines down through the State of Washington, is the sole object, there can be little doubt, of the present visit of Sir Thos. Shaughnessy to the American capital.

The trip was undertaken at the end of a series of interviews with Mr. R. Maripole, General Superintendent of the Pacific Division, who has charge of the preparation of the plans for the new branches that will be built, in order that the Canadian Pacific may secure a share of rapidly increasing and already heavy wheat and lumber trade.

The action of the Canadain company in thus going into American territory is the outcome of the alliance between the Canadian Pacific and the Great Northern Railway, whereby it was decided to waive the rights of territory that had been respected by both companies for some time past, and by which the Great Northern was not to enter Canadian territory nor the Canadian Pacific Railway American territory.

Rights of Territory Waived.

By the waiving of the rights of territory the Great Northern has already established lines to tap the Canadian Pacific at Fernie, Grand Forks, Rossland, Nelson in British Columbia, and Crestow and Lethbridge in the Northwest Territories.

The plans prepared by Mr. Maripole, who for a number of years past has been regarded as chief official of the Company on the Pacific Coast, and for which plans Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is at present particularly anxious to have approved by the United States Government, will give the Company two entrances into the State of Washington, one down into the wheat territory on the east side, and one down into the lumber districts on the west side.

Considered For Some Time.

In discussing the new project of the Canadian Pacific with a Star representative, one of the directors of the company stated that it had been under advisal by the Board of Directors for some time past.

All that could be said until Sir Thomas returned from Washington was that the company expected to obtain a large amount of freight by going into the new territory. He would not announce the exact location of the new lines until it was seen they had been approved by the American Government. Such an action on the part of the Canadian Pacific, far from indicating any opposition to the Great Northern, he said, would show that it was intended that the alliance formed between the companies was to be worked out to the advantage of both railways.

IS LABRADOR AN EASTERN KLONDIKE?

United States Capitalists are Now Turning Their Attention To North-East America

A Country Abounding in Fabulous Riches Which are Soon to Be Developed

Ottawa, Jan 22—Progressive and far-seeing capitalists are now coming to regard Labrador as an Eastern correspondent, writes a St. John's, Nfld., correspondent. Scientific investigation has determined that the territory is rich in timber, minerals and farm lands, and its extensive exploitation is assured in the near future.

As an indication of its potentialities it is only necessary to state that three lumber mills are operating in the Hamilton Inlet this winter; that two large sulphide of iron deposits are to be worked at Rowsell's Harbor next spring; that an extensive copper bed is to be developed at Nain at the same time; that a gold bearing reef of much promise has been discovered near Cape Chudleigh, and that A. P. Low, formerly of the Canadian Geological Survey has been engaged by a syndicate to prospect the northland at an annual salary of $10,000, besides being allowed to furnish the Canadian Government with Geological and other data.

The position of Labrador on the eastern side of the continent, is almost identical with that of Alaska on the western, and research has disclosed that the rock formations are virtually the same.

Labrador has an area of 516,000 square miles. It forms an immense peninsula, extending 700 miles between Belle Isle and Hudson Straits, and stretching back 600 miles from its Atlantic seaboard to the Head waters of James Bay. Its total extent is about twelve times that of New York State, and except on the seaboard, it is absolutely unpeopled, save for a few wretched tribes of wandering Naskopee and Montagnais Indians, branches of the Cree race, woefully reduced.

Administratively it is divided between Newfoundland and Canada, the former occupying the seaboard, and the latter holding sway over the interior. Along the shore all the codfishing is done, which is the industry the Newfoundlanders pursue. They visit the coast every summer to the number of 20,000, and, establishing themselves in convenient harbours, carry on their trawling from July till November. There are also 3,500 permanent white settlers on the coast, known as "livyeres" (livehere), to distinguish them from the "summerers" (Newfoundland fisher folk.) Outside the belt of islands lie a series of submarine banks, frequented by halibut, which are the quest of many venturesome American fishing craft and all the rivers and inlets are the home of the salmon, which are taken in nets to the extent of 400,000 pounds annually.

HAS A BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

The coast line and hinterland which form Newfoundland's appanage are not very definitely limited, but are estimated to be about 120,000 square miles in extent. The remainder belongs to Canada and there is a boundary dispute between them. The whole country is thickly wooded, as far north as the 57th parallel, and dotted with lakes and streams, fully one-fourth of its surface being covered with water.

Some of the rivers of Labrador are of great size. The Hamilton is over 600 miles long and is navigable by boats for half that distance, until stopped by the famous Grand Rapids, a natural wonder, exceeding Niagara. The river in its inland reaches drains six lakes, varying in size from 250 to 550 square miles in extent, and all this immense volume of water surges seaward through a gorge 310 feet wide and enclosed between walls of rock 1,200 feet high. The river drops 400 feet in three miles, and the torrent that pours over the falls is stupendous in its size and force, 50,000 gallons of water descending every second. The roar of the rushing river can be heard twenty miles away, and the few travellers who have penetrated to it declare that the world holds no other such spectacle.

The soil of the interior of Labrador is suitable for wheat growing, as it is part of the rich arable belt which embraces Ontario, Manitoba and the Canadian Northwest. There is an idea abroad that a railway will be built through the peninsula to a deep water terminus in Hamilton Inlet, from where ocean freighters should carry grain to Europe for six months of the year. It is, indeed, said that James J. Hill paid his visit to the Labrador coast last summer with this object in view, and that the Glasier expedition was despatched to report upon the feasibility of the same scheme.

EXTENT OF THE MINERAL WEALTH.

But in the meantime Labrador's future depends mainly upon her minerals and timber, the former to the the chief extent. The metalliferous areas are in the remote northern parts of the territory. The whole region north is a paradise for geologists and mineralogists, and the past summer three parties from the American universities spent a time there exploring the fiords along the coast, and obtaining much data of commercial as well as scientific value.

The subject of iron deposits at Rowsell's Harbor will be worked by the Dominion Steel Company and the Nova Scotia Steel Company, the two concerns which are operating smelting works and steel furnaces at Sydney, C.B.

The iron ore deposits of Labrador suffer the same disadvantage as those of Sweden, because the Labrador coast is icebound for half the year; but this drawback is neutralized in a large measure by the fact that the ore is on the seacoast and involves no long railway haul, while the cheap labor and proximity of the region to Britain, only 1,800 miles, as compared with the longer distances to American ports, insures that the output can be laid down with British ironmasters at a figure that will defy competition.

The newly discovered copper deposit is in an [illegible] position. The only copper mine now working in Newfoundland, that at Tilt Cove, yields a profit of $300,000 a year. It is icebound for four or five months of every season, but that does not detract from its value. Its output is shipped to Swansea, Wales, where it is refined, and the gold extracted from the ore is one of the principal sources of profit. The same policy can be adopted with respect to the Labrador deposits.

A LARGE CUT OF TIMBER

In lumbering operations a long winter is an advantage rather than otherwise, because it admits of the easy hauling of logs to the riverside, and in the case of the three mills now at work in Hamilton Inlet, the owners count on making a large cut and stacking their output until summer frees the coast of ice, when they will quickly rush the material to market. The timber limits are spacious and well wooded, and a force of expert lumbermen has been located there. The only drawback from which industrial enterprises will suffer in Labrador is the same as in the Klondike, that for so many months December and lasting until April, the only means of reaching there is to go to Quebec, then travel down the north shore of the St. Lawrence to the Straits of Belle Isle, a distance of 1,100 miles, from which point a further journey northward must be made of 700 miles if the furthest posts are the objective, and of less distances, according to the terminus in mind.

SHE ELOPED WITH A YOUNG VILLAGER

Took One Child and $1300 From the Family Exchequer

HUSBAND FINDS HER IN MONTREAL

Woman Likes Montreal and Refuses to Return to Her Home With Him

Montreal, Jan. 22—Mrs. Sicker, who lived in a pretty little country village near Albany N.Y., and who is a very attractive looking woman, told her husband a few days ago that she was going to Albany to see a play.

The man, with whom she had lived for many years, had no idea that his wife was about to leave the country with another man, and little did he think when she left for Albany, that a once happy home was about to be broken up.

However, Mr. Henry Burgess, and Mrs. Sicker arrived in Montreal a few days ago and put up at the Albion hotel.

Mrs. Sicker, when she left home, took with her $1,300 of her husband's hard earned cash, and one of the children. It is thought she brought the child with her.

When Mrs. Sicker did not return home from "the play," Mr. Sicker went to Albany in search of his wife and was greatly shocked at not being able to locate her. He then consulted the police, who communicated the Detective Department of Montreal and Chief Carpenter's men found the missing wife and her child and Burgess in the Albion Hotel here.

The Chief then notified Mr. Sicker and wired for instructions. On receipt of the telegram Mr. Sicker, an uncle, and an aunt of Mrs. Sicker's lost no time in coming to the city.

Chief Carpenter and the relatives had a long interview with the couple but Mrs. Sicker absolutely refused to return home to her husband and four children, aged respectively 7, 4, 2 and 1. The chief, however, induced the woman to give back to Mr. Sicker $700 of the money which she had taken with her, and she also gave up the little girl.

Burgess is quite young and was considered to be one of the best looking men in the village.

Mrs. Sicker says she likes Montreal very much and is going to reside here permanently.

THE GREAT WINTER RACES CONCLUDED

Last Day of the Meet and List of Winning Horses

THE MEET A GREAT SUCCESS

Peterborough Turf Club Scores Another Success—Much Credit Due the Officers of the Club

On the second day of their winter meet at the Driving Park, the Turf Club was favored with ideal weather. The attendance was consequently good and the large number of entries of pretty evenly matched horses in each race resulted in some exceedingly close contests for first place.

The management of the Club are deserving of much credit for the careful way in which all the preparatory details of the meet were arranged, which permitted of their being carried out in such a manner as to give satisfaction alike to the owners of the many different horses from various outside points which were entered in the races, and, also to the several hundreds of spectators that were in attendance, not only from Peterborough and the surrounding country, but many others from distant points, attracted here by the well-deserved reputation which the meets of the Peterborough Turf Club are acquiring. Too much credit cannot be given to the President of the Club, Mr. J. M. Brooks, and to the Treasurer, Mr. R. J. Munro, as well as to the energetic Secretary, Mr. A. Rountree, each and all of whom were most painstaking in their efforts to have the meet the success which it certainly was.

Mr. Sid Passmore in his capacity as starter performed his duties in a very statistactory manner, while the decisions of the judges left no room for controversy.

Another point for which the management is to be commended, is the fact that the merchants of the town were not asked to contribute towards the purses, but all expenses were paid out of the Club funds, so that the outlay fell upon those who reaped the direct financial benefit.

Yesterday in the county race the horses finished as follows:

Prince Hal, Little Jimmy, Keepaball, Little Diamond.

In the 2.30 classes, the order was as follows:

Little Bell, Liliputian, Sphinx Bee, Happy Paddy, Ernie Hunter.

RESTORE LIFE

Dr. George W. Crile's Experiments With Ardenaline Border Upon The [illegible]

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 22—A large number of the physicians of this city are inclined to consider the experiments, which have been carried on by Dr. George W. Crite, of this city, in the use of adrenaline as being very successful, and that they show a step forward in the effects of the fluid.

The operation leading to the discovery of its power was performed on a dog by Dr. Crite, assisted by several other physicians. After anesthetic had been administered to a dog, the suspension of respiration was effected by clamping the windpipe.

After the dog was apparently dead for fifteen minutes a few drops of adrenaline were administered, and artificial respiration resorted to, which proved successful in restoring the dog to a comparatively conscious condition

It is stated that adrenaline has not been tried on humans yet and that its effect in that sphere is as yet unknown.

SOUTH DAKOTA DIVORCES

People are Not Excited by Ruling of the Supreme

Chicago, Jan. 22—The decision just handed down by the United States Supreme Court holding that the South Dakota divorce decree granted Charles S. Andrews, of Massachusetts is void, has not created any particular sensation at Sioux City, says the correspondent there of the Record-Herald. One of the most prominent attorneys in the state declares the decision will not affect the validity of South Dakota divorces in general. The decision may, of course, render void decrees granted in cases where only a semblance of residence has been maintained, but cannot apply to divorce applicants who have established a bona fide residence by remaining within the boundaries of the state for the six months required by the statute.

POISONED UNCLE AND AUNTS

Nephew Kills His Relatives to Get Their Property—Suicide After Arrest

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 21—Robert Ray poisoned a family of three persons on a ranch fifty miles south of Pecos on Friday afternoon. The dead are T. J. Ray, and his two sisters, Louise and Amy, the latter being seventy years of age.

The poisoner was a nephew of Ray and was heir to the ranch property which fact is thought to have prompted the commission of the crime. Soon after the death of the three people young Ray loaded his wife and child into a wagon and drove to Pecos and boarded a west bound train for Colorado City. Arriving there he was arrested by the Sheriff.

When Ray saw the officer he swallowed a dose of poison and died soon after. The Rays resided on a little ranch about fifty miles southeast of the town of Pecos. The poison was administered to the three people in their food.

A GREAT RECEPTION

Tendered to the Visiting Curlers in Toronto Yesterday

When the train from Peterborough reached Toronto yesterday, the shrieking of the engine was drowned by the skirl of the bagpipes. Pipe Major Beaton's band was blowing its lustiest in the midst of a throng of brawny bearded men, with beaming ruddy faces. Many of the beards were white, and the whiter the beard the jollier the face that greeted the exemplars of "the roarin game."

The procession proceeded to the Queen's Hotel, and a short rest was given the visitors.

At noon they were entertained at luncheon at the Granite Club. In the course of the speeches they spoke in the highest terms of their reception at Peterborough.

Hon. R. Harcourt, in welcoming them on behalf of the government, remarked that a Scotchman does not ask Providence for good things, but "point me out where the good things are, and I'll do the rest myself."

WOOD-LEONARD NUPTIALS

A quiet wedding took place last evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Stewart, Church street, Toronto. The bride was Miss Iva Leonard, of Toronto, sister of Mrs. Stewart, the bridegroom being Mr. Roland W. Wood, of the Crow's Nest Coal Co. The ceremony was held in the spacious drawing rooms, which were prettily decorated with white flowers and masses of green wreathing of smilax and ferns. The piano at the far end of the room was almost concealed by handsome drapery, with an arrangement of flowers and greenery, in front of which the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Thomas. The Wedding March was played by Miss Day, as the bride, robed in ivory Duchess satin, trimmed with embroidery of pearls and lace applique, entered the room. The long tulle veil fell over the long train, and a small wreath of orange blossoms was worn. A beautiful diamond and pearl pendant, the gift of the bridegroom, was the only ornament. The bridesmaid wore a charming dress of cream white crepe de chene over white taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The corsage was trimmed with beautiful lace, and an extremely pretty brooch of pearls in horse shoe shape, was the gift of the bridegroom. The groomsman was Mr. Frank Wood, brother of the groom, and he was presented with a handsome pearl pin. The going-away gown was a tailor-made one of coronation cloth, appliqued with red, and toque to match; and with this Mrs. Wood wore a handsome coat of Persian lamb, with Hudson Bay sable collar, and splendid muff. Only the immediate family and friends of the bride and bridegroom were present, and after a happy evening gathering, Mr and Mrs. Wood left for New York, and a trip in the States, before reaching their pretty home in Morrisey, B. C. The presents sent from far and near were very numerous and beautiful.

MOTIVE OF BOMBARDMENT IS NOT UNDERSTOOD

Germany Has No Information--Officals at a Disadvantage in Communicating With Venezuela

Berlin, Jan. 22.—Neither the Foreign Office here nor the Navy department has received reports of the bombardments of Fort San Carlos. At both places it is said no orders were given to bombard the fort. The naval officials admit they knew the Vineta was proceeding to Maracaibo, but they did not anticipate a bombardment. The Foreign Office regrets extremely that it is unable to publish a report on the subject, due to the fact that it is wholly without information through defective means of communication by way of Curacoa, and owing to the German Consul at Maracaibo being cut off from reporting by cable to the authorities at Berlin. The officials admit that the incident is likely to "renew anti-German agitation in the United States," and say they recognize the disadvantage Germany is placed in through the impossibility of getting prompt reports from Venezuela. The Foreign Office does not even know what was the purpose of the Panter in its first action against Fort San Carlos.

CANTATA AT ALL SAINTS

A Very Pleasing Performance by the Children and Others

The cantata at All saints' church last evening was cleverly performed. The recitations by the children, in addition, were also clever. A piano solo by Miss Ida Mulholland, entitled "Il Trovatore," was the first piece on the program. For one so young she plays with great brilliancy, and bids fair to become famous as a musician. She also took the part of the waif in the cantata very acceptably. Little Aleita Salisbury, who took an arduous part in the play showed wonderful histrionic ability. Master Herbert Rush, who took the leading part among the boys, acquitted himself creditably. Mr. Legg as Santa Claus was quite realistic. Miss Bullen in her accompaniments, and Miss Elliott in her singing are also worthy of praise. Indeed the part of everyone was rendered faultlessly, and redounds to the credit of the management. A vocal solo, entitled "Just for to-day," was admirably rendered by Miss Mary Rush. The Rector gave an interesting discourse on the origin of Santa Claus. The Rev. Mr. Langfeldt also delivered an address interspersed with humor. The whole concluded with "God Save the King," in which the large audience joined. The performance is to be repeated to-night.

T. A. S. Defeat Bobcaygeon Last Night

By a Score of Nine to One—Belleville and Peterborough Play To-Night

There was a good turnout last night for the T.A.S.-Bobcaygeon hockey match in the Brock street rink, this being the deciding game in this district for the Trent Valley League. The score at the finish stood 9—1 in favor of the T.A.S. During the first half none of the players were sent to the fence, and the play was fast at all times. Six goals were scored by the home team, two each by Lynch, Parnell and George. The visitors failed to make the nets at all up to this time, and their goalkeeper, Cameron, had been kept pretty busy besides, proving himself well qualified for the position. The left wing and centre of the Bobcaygeon team had particularly distinguished themselves, but to no avail.

Shortly after the commencement of the second half George scored again, then things became very interesting for awhile and within a short time four men had been ruled off, two from each team. After some hard work and good combination play by the left wing and center the Bobcaygeon men scored their first and only goal, but this had been preceded by a score to the credit of McGrath, who had had been doing good work throughout the evening, and another by Lynch.

Parnell, George and Lynch had the greatest opportunity during the play to get in good work, and they made every opening count. Crowley was up against one of the best men among the competitors, but kept him well in hand at all times. McCoy in goal had a fairly easy time of it, though several well aimed shots had to be stopped. Shortly before time was called Meagher took the puck down the greater length of the ice, and at various times during the evening was called upon to show his mettle.

Of the visitors probably the best playing was done by the left wing and centre, who did some very pretty combination work.

The teams lined up as follows:

Mr. J. Anderson, of Norwood, acted as referee, the goal umpires being Mr. T. J. Donoghue, for the T.A.S., and T. Edgar for Bobcaygeon, and the timekeepers Messrs. Walsh and Doris.

After the game the boys from the north were taken in hand by the T.A.S. and treated to an oyster supper at Potvin's.

The next game takes place on the 29th, between Lakefield and the T.A.S. to be played on the former's rink.

O.H.A. Secretary Buchanan has issued a permit to Ernie Wasson to play with Peterborough. He resided there until recently, when he moved out to the little village of Warsaw, nine miles from Peterborough. Wasson was the goal keeper of last year's intermediate champions, and he has been missed greatly in the games to date. He will play to-morrow night against Belleville.—Toronto News.

Next Saturday night, Jack McDonough and George Gauthier will meet in the opera house, to contest for the middle-weight championship. There will no doubt be a large attendance, and as both men are in good condition, a close contest is expected. The conditions are: best two out of three falls, [illegible] count, catch as catch can.

AMERICANS FILL THE GREAT WEST

North Dakota Sheriff Speaks in Winnipeg of His Own Experiences

Said to be Over Two Hundred Thousand Coming in the Spring

Winnipeg, Jan. 23. — John Hanna, sheriff of Hanna, N.D., corroborates the statements made from time to time to the effect that the immigration from the United States would be enormous next season.

Mr. Hanna was accompanied by E. F. l'Larem William Nelson and Lou a Collins, N.D., and the four went out to Lake Winnipegosis district and each selected and purchased a half section of land, on which they will settle next year.

"There are fully twenty other farmers that I know of who have decided to settle in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories," said Mr. Hanna to a reporter for the Telegram, "and they represent over one hundred souls. They will bring a good equipment of machinery and stock with them."

"You were well satisfied with Lake Winnipegosis country?"

"Yes. We didn't want to look anywhere else. The land is magnificent for farming."

"A large immigration is expected from the United States this year?" said the reporter.

"Yes. I have friends in two or three states who are coming out, and from what they say and the general talk there will be an enormous influx. I saw the other day where one of the immigration agents in the states predicted that 200,000 Americans would come to the Canadian Northwest this season. He is well within the mark in my opinion. The country is so thoroughly advertised, and there is nobody to contradict anything that is said about it. With such farming facilities as it offers, and with so many people waiting for an opening, why should the rush not come?"

Mr. Hanna and his friends are guests at the Manor house and they will remain in the city for a few days before returning to their families.

NEW GRAIN IN THE FAR WEST

"Corn-Wheat" is The Cereal Which Promises To Add to The Pacific Coast

Tacoma, Wash. Jan. 21—A new grain now known as corn-wheat is being successfully grown in eastern Washington. It has the nature of both corn and wheat, possessing the fattening qualities of corn and the corn flavor. It resembles wheat. Its grains are twice as large as those of the ordinary wheat. It yields sixty to one hundred bushels an acre, and seems to solve the problem of fattening hogs in the Pacific Northwest. Corn is not successfully raised in this country.

Wheat growers at Moscow, Idaho, first introduced corn wheat four years ago. The entire production has since been taken for seed. Farmers generally are now raising the new grain and going into hog raising. As a result decreased shipments of packing house products from Eastern States are already noticeable.

That wheat was grown in Alaska a century ago is proved by the discovery of two old flour mills, built by Russians in the southern part of the territory.

THE BOERS HAVE FOUND A MASTER

Though Mr. Chamberlain is thousands of miles away, and cable messages cost about seven times as much as transatlantic messages, his words and doings have filled the papers, even crowding down somewhat the records of the magnificencies of the Delhi ceremonials. Never before as the correspondents would have us believe, have the Boers had such a straight talking to. "Where is the money your original delegates took to Europe?" Mr. Chamberlain is reported as asking a Boer deputation at Pretoria. The rest of the incident must be quoted:—"This seems a very sore point with the Boers. Mr. Chamberlain was as cold as ice and as firm as iron. The money had been stolen, he said in effect; help me to get it back for your widows and orphans. The deputation had no adequate answer ready. An appeal had been made continued Mr. Chamberlain, for permission to the members of the late Government to return. But you are here; why bring others? Again there was silence. The attitude of the Boers was cold, almost hostile. They were obviously disappointed."

It is this kind of incident that leads the Pretoria correspondent of the Mail to declare that the crisis now has passed, and the Boers have found their master. More pleasing to Liberal ears is Mr. Chamberlain's emphatic assertion that the Government wants nothing from the Transvaal that it will not give willingly as a self-governing colony. Forced tributes are alien to an empire whose half-realized ideal is to be supported by voluntary contributions.

THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

So long as secret or other societies of a private nature choose to practise their little ceremonials for the amusement of those young men who have not yet reached the age of mental probity, well and good. Let the boys play. But when it comes to doing as the University of Toronto proposes doing, viz., giving up a portion of their time to teach a decidedly non-educational institution as the Kappa affair, we, in common with all who love the impartial administration of our public affairs, demand a halt. This sort of thing won't go. We think the men who compose the board of trustees could for one moment yield to the importunities of a Greek Letter Society positively alarms us.

Where are we if our representative men can commit such transparent follies? The University of Toronto has of late been gaining an unenviable notoriety for bureaucracy and if its authorities cannot see that educational institutions must be founded on the broadest of general principles, and upon those alone, then our provincial university will to our regret go down to an ignominious death. Already it has sunk very materially in the minds of those who love "light and a pure air," in the administration of our educational institutions. It is indeed our firm conviction that a few more such actions on the part of the university authorities and they will have to "go out of business."

While we are at it let us ask why it is that a great university cannot have a respectable magazine? Since the days of "White and Blue" (the childish outpourings of childish minds) the organ of the University of Toronto has been merely a mouth-organ. Queen's on the other hand, has a quarterly fit for circulation and for the enjoyment of men of average intellect. We are aware also that the present Toronto "monthly" is an organ of the board of management, a sort of censors of the narrowest description. Do these people think for one moment that public opinion can be either misled or coerced? The arrogance of learning makes some men mad. The University of Toronto has long since ceased to be in advance of the country; the people in fact are in advance of the university and we cannot flatter ourselves that this is to the credit of the university.

The Jesuit Pater Zottoli, who recently died at Shanghai, aged 76, was one of the leading authorities on the Chinese language and literature. He had been at work for many years on a dictionary of the Chinese language, which, when completed, will comprise ten or twelve volumes.

Hundreds of canal boats and barges fitted for carrying coal from the blockaded yards along the Kill von Kull and the west shore of the Upper Bay are idle in New York harbor. There are 125 canal boats, many of which are employed in summer in carrying coal to Lake Champlain, Whitehall and Canada, moored for the winter at Thirty-second street, South Brooklyn.

With a production of 16,329,905 barrels of flour in the year just closed, Minneapolis passed every previous record, the output running 407,905 barrels in excess of the product of 1901, which held the record. To make this quantity the Minneapolis mills consumed each day an average of 190,000 bushels of wheat, and for the year consumed a total of 70,400,000 bushels.

Injection of formalin into the veins for blood poisoning following child birth, is said to be a success. This is the discovery of Dr. C. C. Barrows of New York City. The remedy was tried recently on a negro woman at Bellevue hospital. She was in a very bad condition with blood poisoning and seemed to be near death. The process was tried and the woman is well again. It is stated that the remedy has been tried in 500 cases. Formalin is one of the important constituents of embalming fluid and a weak solution is used.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

From Taking Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills

Editor of the Morning Times:

Sir,—I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow sufferers to say that after 12 years of indescribable torture from indigestion and debilitated constitution, I am now, I believe, thoroughly well. I spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief that never came, until I tried Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, 12 boxes of which did the work. I am now in perfect health, and want the world to know what cured me. B. S. Smith, St. John's, Newfoundland.

Chas. Riehle writes: "I believe if I had not been for Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills I would have now been in my grave, as I was a long sufferer from stomach troubles. They are the greatest remedy on earth."

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough, price 50c. per box.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that it will not permanently cure.

A ROMANCE.

"If you talk to me like that I shall have to go in," she said, gently; "you must remember we are only friends."

Yet her own heart was throbbing, quick and fast, with the knowledge that Cecil Courtenaye, the proud, exclusive, fastidious Englishman really loved her. She had heard Lady Leigh say that he was considered a great catch, and that there were some beautiful and titled young ladies who would give their eyes for him. The feeling that came to her at his declaration of love for her, was almost allied to pain, it was so full of subtle rapture.

"You must forgive me," he said, almost humbly. "You will have to forgive me for a great many impulsive things, Hilda—friends often have to do that for each other, don't they?"

"I—suppose so," Hilda said, rather vaguely; then she looked away from him at the fair, quiet English landscape smiling beneath the soft rays of the moon.

"I did not know you were here when I came out," she said; "I wanted to look at the scenery."

"Do you admire our English scenery?" he asked, seeing that she was anxious to turn the conversation from its dangerous personal drift to the safe ground of generalities.

"Yes," she said, "I like it. It is calm, and sweet, and peaceful. It rests one to look at it. It is not grand, majestic and awe-inspiring, like the scenes among which I was raised. No greater contrast could be imagined than this gentle, tranquil lovely scenery around Locksley Hall, and the mountain cliffs and terrible grandeur of the New River. This awakens altogether different sentiments in the mind."

"This gentle landscape is attuned to love," said Cecil, speaking out the thought in his mind. "It is so beautiful and tender with the misty veil of moonlight spread over it. Do you smell the roses in the garden? The air is heavy with their fragrance. And listen, Hilda! there is the nightingale singing to the flowers. You have no nightingales in America. Did you ever hear anything so heavenly sweet?"

She did not answer—she was holding her breath to listen to the divinely tender strain. "It was as sad as earth, as sweet as heaven."

"'Tis the merry nightingale
That crowds, and hurries, and precipitates,
With fast, thick warble, his delicious notes,
As he were fearful that an April night
Would be too short for him to utter forth
His love chant, and disburden his full soul
Of all its music."

The romance and poetry of the summer night, and the near proximity of her lover, stole into Hilda's heart, touching it as it had never been touched before. How strange and sweet it seemed to have Cecil Courtenaye for her friend. Once she had disdained him with a pretty, imperious disdain. She had thought him a weak, white-handed, shallow-brained fop. Now she knew him better. Had he not saved her life twice? She was proud to call him her friend. She had never had such a winning, attractive friend as Cecil Courtenaye, and she had never dreamed how sweet such a friendship could be. Her heart still thrilled with the memory of the kiss he had pressed upon her hand when she had given him the flower she wore in her hair.

As she stood thus wrapped in tender musings over the friendship that was really nothing but love in disguise, she looked as lovely as a dream, with that tender light upon her sweet, spirited face.

Cecil felt as if he could have gazed upon her forever, but his dreamy enjoyment was rudely broken by a sudden footstep and voice that fell upon his ear discordantly.

"Oh, here she is, the shy little runaway, mooning on the balcony with Mr. Courtenaye! I did not know you were such a flirt, Hilda. Come into the house. Your papa has come from London, and is just dying to see you."

Hilda and Cecil turned around, and saw Florence looking at them with an expression of rage but ill disguised upon her fair face. They followed her into the drawing-room, where Mr. Aylesford stood waiting, in apparent affectionate impatience, for his daughter.

CHAPTER XIX.

What The Earl Heard.

Florence's letter had so fully prepared and forearmed Mr. Aylesford that he manifested no more than a proper modicum of surprise at the startling re-appearance of the girl whom he had hoped and believed to be dead. He kissed Hilda with just the proper amount of paternal affection, told her how glad he was to have her restored to his arms, and thanked Sir Wilfrid Hale and his sister for bringing her to England.

"My dear," he said, drawing his perfumed handkerchief across his eyes to dry an invisible tear, "the joy of this meeting has quite overcome me, and let me hear the story of your adventures when you ran away that night in the delirium of your fever. Where did you go, and what kind and benevolent friends did you meet?"

Hilda had remained perfectly calm and composed under the torrent of words and caresses, manifesting no emotion of any kind whatever, but she answered now with visible coldness and constraint:

"I went a long distance, sir, and met with the kindest and truest friend in the world. But the story is a long one, and I am not strong enough to relate it now. If you please, we will defer it until some other time."

He was burning with impatience to hear it, but he knew it would not be the least use to urge Hilda. Under her calm, unnaturally composed demeanment he knew there was slumbering a volcanic fire of passion and resentment, that he feared to provoke into a destructive blaze. He remembered their last night together at the White Sulphur Springs, when he had cruelly abused and maltreated her, leaving her like one dead upon the hard floor where he had rudely thrown her.

The memory of that night was smoldering in Hilda's passionate heart this moment. He knew it, though the delicate scarlet lips were set in a calm and quiet line, and the thick, dark fringe of her lashes swept her [illegible]

The CANADIAN STEEL AND COAL COMPANY was organized to mine and manufacture iron and coal, coke and steel in Canada at Atlantic tidewater.

The raw materials for these manufactures are:—

1.—COAL. 2.—IRON. 3.—LIMESTONE.

All these materials we have at hand.

1.—COAL.

The Company controls 3,000 acres of excellent coal areas in the Province of Nova Scotia, and efforts are being made to increase this to 10,000 acres by the purchase of some very valuable additional coal fields.

The coal has been thoroughly tested and found to be suitable in every way for the manufacture of iron and steel, and the supply is practically inexhaustible. The following analysis was made by the Canadian Geological Survey:—

ANALYSIS.

Moisture	4.05
Vol. Comb. Matter	30.72
Fixed Carbon	60.
Ash	5.23
	100.00

COAL VEINS.

The several layers or seams of coal available aggregate 27 to 30 feet in thickness.

TITLES.

These areas are held under C[illegible] Lease for a period of 80 years. Royalty 10 cents per ton of coal sold.

2.—IRON.

The Company has acquired by purchase immense iron deposits on the North Shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about 1350 miles from Sydney. The deposits are estimated to contain 20,000,000 ton[illegible] re above sea level, with probably as much more below that line. The iron can be handled for $1.00 per ton or less. Quantities of this ore have been shipped to Great Britain and the United States, where it has given great satisfaction, and we can sell large quantities f. o. b. at the properties, netting us a profit of $2.00 per ton. This ore makes the finest steel.

3.—FLUX.

We are now negotiating for valuable deposits of dolomite and limestone of the most satisfactory quality, situated on the tide-water, within 100 miles of the works.

MARKETS.

For six months in each year the Canadian markets can be reached by water at low freight rates, and at all times by rail. As Cape Breton is distant from Liverpool only about 2,300 miles; is nearer to Pernambuco, Brazil, than any point in the United States, and also nearer to Cape Town, South Africa, it has the advantage, in point of distance, for export business over any American steel-producing points, which, with scarcely any exceptions, are situated some distance from tide water. Under any conditions of the world's market, it is believed that the output of these works can be disposed of at satisfactory prices.

OUTPUT

When in full operation, the output is expected to be about as follows:—

1. IRON.—200,000 tons iron ore shipped direct from property, showing net profit of $2.00 per ton, total	$400,000 00
200,000 tons fine iron ore shipped in briquettes, showing net profit of $4.00 per ton, total	800,000 00
100,000 tons steel blooms, showing net profit of $3.00 per ton, total	300,000 00
2. COAL.—600,000 tons coal, showing net profit, at least, of $1.00 per ton, total	600,000 00
3. AIDS.—Government bounties (averaged) added to above per year for 6 years	100 000 00
Total yearly revenue	$2,200,000 00

GOVERNMENT AIDS.

To encourage the manufacture in the Dominion of iron and steel the Parliament of Canada has granted bounties as follows:—

	ON PIG IRON.	ON STEEL.
Apl. 21st, 1902, to July 1st, 1903	$2.70	$2.70
July 1st, 1903, " " 1904	2.25	2.25
July 1st, 1904, " " 1905	1.65	1.65
July 1st, 1905, " " 1906	1.05	1.05
July 1st, 1906, " " 1907	.60	.60

If the production of steel from the Company's works be as estimated, 300,000 tons per annum, the bounties to be received from the Canadian Government will be as follows:—

1904	$225,000
1905	215,000
1906	145,000
1907	85,000
or an average of $100,000.00 per annum for 6½ years	$670,000.00

NET REVENUE

Total net annual profits		$2,200,000.00
LESS FIXED CHARGES:—
7 per cent. interest on preferred stock	$70,000.00
Sinking Fund	60,000.00
Incidentals	25,000.00
		155,000.00
Net yearly profits		$2,045,000.00

Equivalent to yearly dividends of over 30 per cent., or 15 per cent. half yearly on total capitalization.

If the capitalization was increased to $20,000,000.00 this estimate would still show a dividend-earning capacity of 10 per cent. per annum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Coal Co. is $20,000,000.00 earning fully 12 per cent., and is paying 8 per cent. guaranteed dividends on this enormous sum.

The capitalization of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. is $28,000,000.00 on which it is believed 6 per cent. dividends will be earned.

The capitalization of the Canadian Steel & Coal Company is only $6,000,000.00 controlling, it is believed, equally valuable properties, and it is reasonable to expect much larger dividends.

Within the last few months Dominion Coal shares common rose in market value from $40 to $144 per share, and Dominion Iron & Steel Company's share common rose over $30 per share in market value.

With such low capitalization the Canadian Steel and Coal Co's shares should show tremendous profits, and it is confidently believed they will.

STOCK MARKETS

SUFFICIENT SET BACK TO WARRANT BUYING

New York, Jan. 22—In the latter part of the month of December and up to the 10th of January stocks were continuously strong and advancing recording an upward movement of from 10 to twelve points. Since the latter date there has been more or less backing and filling, with a considerable sagging tendency, due to the fact that the traders were to a man working tooth and nail upon the bear side of a naturally dull market. There has been sufficient set back in prices to warrant buying, though no where what would have been expected after the efforts put forth to break prices. It cannot be said that the downward movement was much of a success. The people who engineered it did not make much money out of it, and are today short of considerable lines of stock which could not, with any degree of certainty be covered at a profit did they try to cover it immediately. This short interest is a fresh lever upon which to predict a new advance. Some of the older heads upon the exchange while shouting most loudly about the bad state of the market have been quietly covering, picking up their stocks from others who have been induced to offer something for sale, which they do not own through the medium of the bearish floor utterances. To be short of a dull and listless market with considerable company is not only unwise but a dangerous proceeding. An old Wall Street adage is never sell a dull market. The shading of values since the 10th of the month makes prices now most attractive. The next upward movement should carry prices above the figures recorded on or about that date. There is no logical reason for a break in the market and every reason to anticipate an advance.

A renewal of hostilities on the Venezuelan coast checked a market whose last night's indications suggested considerable improvement to be directly ahead. Prices were shaded at the opening from 1-4 to one point, though some shares opened at parity with closing prices of last night. There was an absolute absence of liquidation, no stocks being offered for sale, neither was it possible to buy any amount of stock at recorded prices. What few buying orders were put in at the market lifted prices. The news simply caused stagnation. Seldom do we have a market where the indications are so plain that it is a good purchase, as a consequence strongly urge and advise immediate purchases. Money closed last loan 2 1-2. Sales, 201,200. To-morrow's letter, facts pertaining to G.G.W.

HAIGHT & FREESE.

More Liberal Coal Supplies

Over two thousand tons of hard coal came into Toronto on Tuesday, says the Globe, and with the more liberal supplies that the railways believe are on the way considerable relief should be afforded to the situation. The Grand Trunk had in 47 cars of hard and 19 cars of soft, and the Canadian Pacific received 22 cars of hard and 9 cars of soft. This would make 2,070 tons of hard and 840 tons of soft coal received yesterday.

Gem Consolidated Gold Mining Company Stock at 50 cents per share is one of the safest propositions ever offered to investors.

The property is located in the heart of a rich section of Eastern Oregon, and is steadily producing—no debts, well-equipped and practically ready to pay dividends.

Our shaft is now 175 feet deep, with a streak of pay ore starting at the grass roots, the vein is over 3 feet wide at the bottom of shaft, and runs from $44.00 to $80 00 per ton, mostly gold. We are only three-quarters of a mile from railroad and have a well traveled wagon road from mine to depot. There are thirteen stamp mills at Black Hawk, three-quarters of a mile from this property. Our company is managed on conservative lines by practical mining men who understand the business and are familiar with this field of gold.

We have placed a small block of this stock on the market at 20 cents per share which will be worth $1.00 in a short time. Now is the time to buy.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, is shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $[illegible] and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $[illegible] per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to instal either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,

Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

Price is now 25 cents a share, and we offer 50,000 shares at this price, but it may be advanced by January 1st, 1903, to 50 cents a share.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or [illegible] in a short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

COFFEE HEART

Life Insurance Companies Now Recognize the Disease

The "Dietetic and Hygenic Gazette," a famous authority, said in a recent issue; "Medical examiners for life insurance companies have added the term 'Coffee Heart' to their regular classifications of the functional derangements of that organ. It's effect is in shortening the long beat of the heart. 'Coffee Topers,' they say, are plentiful and are as much tied to their cups, as the whiskey toper. The effect of coffee upon the heart is more lasting and consequently worse than that of liquor."

A well known physician specialist of Ladoga, Indiana, treats low he treats such cases. He has had many such. He says; "I will mention one case in my practice—Mrs. H., aged 54, very fleshy, family history good, has been for more than three years a constant sufferer from headache, heart trouble and smothering spells, accompanied by nervousness. Had to lie down when attacked by these spells. She was treating all the time but got worse.

"I soon found out she had 'coffee heart' and promptly cured her in this way: I forbade her coffee and put her on Postum Cereal Coffee instead. She reported in five weeks and said she had not had a bad spell since and felt sound and well. This was four years ago and she is now a picture of perfect health and happiness.

"This is only one case out of many. I know the Doctor's bills would be small but I also know the case would bring lots of others to me. Few people realize the great value of Postum. It is not a 'cure-all' but it has been the means of relief to more people than anything ever introduced on the American bill of fare. I have seen some wonderful results from its use." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

OBITUARY

Captain Povah, Well Known Here, Died in Detroit

Those here who knew Captain Povah will receive with regret the news of his death, which occurred a few days ago in Detroit. The deceased was in Peterborough about two weeks ago, and was then in fair health. He was married to a Canadian, Miss Goddard, and hence was connected with a number of families here. For some years he represented the Collier Publishing Company, but lately he led a retired life.

OUR LETTER-BOX

NOTE—The Times does not hold itself in any way responsible for the opinions expressed by its correspondents.—Ed. Times.

ASHBURNHAM FIRE ALARMS

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—The question of a proper system of fire alarm boxes for Ashburnham has been brought up in the council at various times in the past, but up to the present no definite action in the matter has been taken. If a fire were to occur during the day, the only means at present available for sending in an alarm would be to go to some private telephone, if a person knew where to find one, or else walk over to Peterborough and give the alarm. At night the difficulty would be still greater. Fortunately, our village has been comparatively free from fires for some time, but this is no guarantee of our good fortune for the future. The council should at once take steps to provide a convenient way of sending alarms, and then have their action made as widely known as possible, so that if ever occasion should require, any one observing a fire would be able to notify the Fire Hall at once.

"EAST SIDE."

CURE OF BRONCHITIS

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—I see by a recent issue of your great family journal that a new cure for bronchitis has been discovered. With all due respect to the scientist who gives the new theory to the world I am of opinion that, in this matter at least, the following old treatment is the safest:

Honey, rum, lemon and egg
Will cure a cold in a wooden leg.
or
Lemon, rum, egg and honey
Cure colds, and cost little money.

I trust you will give the above equal prominence with the public-spirited production which I applaud, while I somewhat controvert it.

Peterboro, Jan. 20 D. H. M

We are pleased to give the above space in these columns, and take the liberty of adding a verse by this g. f. j.'s own special poet emphasizing the above:

Rum, egg, honey and lemon
Cure colds in ladies; also in gem'men.

If the poetry (?) don't kill, we are quite sure the disease won't — The Editor.]

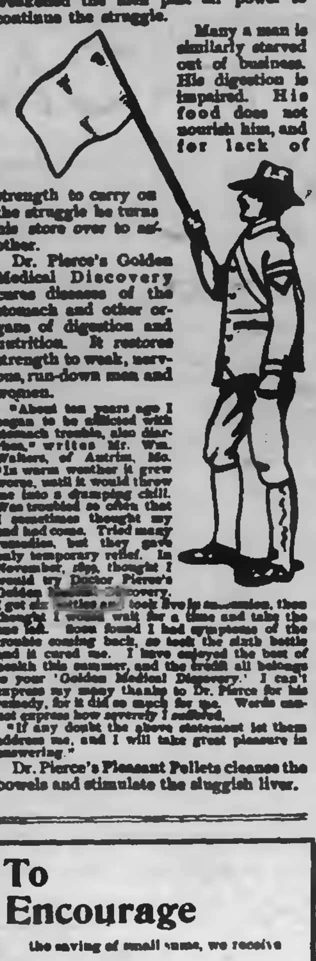
STARVED OUT.

Many a garrison has been forced to give up the fight and hang out the white flag of surrender, when lack of food has weakened the men past all power to continue the struggle.



Many a man is similarly starved out of business. His digestion is impaired. His food does not nourish him, and for lack of strength to carry on the struggle he turns his store over to another.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores strength to weak, nervous, run-down men and women.

"About ten years ago I began to be afflicted with stomach trouble, also diarrhea," writes Mr. Wm. Walters, of Antrim, Mo. "In warm weather it grew worse, until it would throw me into a dumping chill. Was troubled so often that I sometimes thought my end had come. Tried many remedies, but they gave only temporary relief. In November, 1899, thought I would try Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I got six bottles and took five in succession, then thought I would wait for a time and take the one left. Soon found I had symptoms of the trouble coming back, so took the sixth bottle and it cured me. I have enjoyed the best of health this summer, and the credit all belongs to your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I can't express my many thanks to Dr. Pierce for his remedy, for it did so much for me. Words cannot express how severely I suffered.

"If any doubt the above statement let them address me, and I will take great pleasure in answering."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

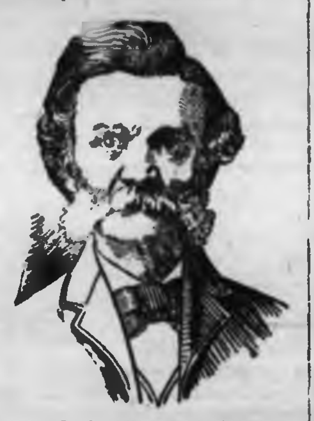
To-Day He is Well; His Old Trouble is a Thing of the Past and He Says: "God Bless the Men Who Invented Such a Good Remedy for People's Ills."

There is no case too old or deep-seated for Powley's Liquified Ozone to cure and it is a mistake to believe that when a case once becomes chronic that it is incurable. Mr. Jacob Church, of Sumach and Queen streets, Toronto, came nearly making this fatal mistake, but happily he did not do so, and to-day is alive and well.



MR. JACOB CHURCH.

The following is a statement of Mr. Church's case as written by himself:

"For 34 years I have had a sore throat, which reached down to my lungs. I also had an abscess on my neck. I have been in the hospital off and on for years, besides being treated by good physicians. I have also taken many different kinds of medicine, but from all these I never received any help. I at last lost all courage and felt that I would have to carry disease to the end of my days. I have taken so much medicine that all of my teeth except two are gone. I had to earn my living, and you will understand my feeling when I felt my health and strength deserting me. I was advised to try Ozone, and I had also read of Mr. Stevens, who was 71 years old, being cured. I felt greatly encouraged that I might get cured by Ozone, although I am 66 years of age myself.

"I commenced the use of Ozone and am glad to tell you that I am getting along splendidly. My throat and lungs are cured and the abscess is nearly gone. I am convinced I will get completely cured by the further use of Ozone. I can do my work now with comfort. I have great faith in Ozone, as it is the only remedy that has given me help, and I am sure I will be cured of my malady in a short time. God bless the men who invented such a good remedy for people's ills.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S MEN FOR IMPERIAL NAVY

A Very Serious and Perplexing Problem Has at Last Been Agreeably Solved

Newfoundlers Require no Instruction and Easily Learn the Gunners

London, Jan. 23—Great Britain is proposing to solve the problem of manning her warships by establishing a naval reserve among the fisherman of Newfoundland. She will station a warship at St. John, Nfld., permanently, to train bluejackets, and intends to fortify St. John's and make it a strategic base, like Halifax and Bermuda. It will in time become of even greater importance than either of these, for as the naval reserve grows and the force of trained fisherman attains a substantial strength the defences can be manned in time, of need, should such be desirable, besides providing large contingents to help man the seagoing battleships.

Last year the British navy required 155-000 men for effective purposes, 119,000 to actually mann the ships in commission, 29,000 for the reserve, and 7,000 to form a coast guard. For years past, as the number of ships in that navy has been increasing and their size enlarging, it has been felt that the time was not far distant when the British Isles would not supply a sufficiency of naval recruits. That time has been accelerated by the Boer war, with its abnormal enlistment of soldiers, forcing the navy to go without its full quota of recruits. Additions to the ships accentuated the stringency, and new measures had to be devised without delay.

REMEDY FOR SHORTAGE.

England's remedy for her shortage of bluejackets consists in establishing a naval nursery in Newfoundland, the oldest of her colonies and the greatest fishing country in the world. There are 70,- men and boys employed in the maritime pursuits of the island—cod, seal, herring, lobster, salmon and whale fisheries—and the sailorly qualities of these fisher folk, it is said, cannot be excelled. The remoteness and isolation of the island have kept its people at these advocations for nearly 400 years, generation after generation has toiled at the nets, and today there is a population along the seaboard that in seamanship, fearlessness and physical strength will compare favorably with any in the world. compare favorably with any in the world. Inured to every hardship of the waves, or the icefloes, familiar with every danger that besets the sea, they are ideal material for the purposes the British Admiralty has in view.

FIFTY ON THE CHARYBDIS.

The determination was reached by the Admiralty in 1900 to experiment with the Newfoundland fisher youths, and a contingency of 50 was enrolled to embark in November for a six months' training cruise in the warship Charybdis in the West Indies. This vessel is the flagship of the squadron that patrols the French shore each summer, and during the winter they go south. At that season, too, the icefloes blockade this coast and prevent any fishing being done, so that it is a season when the young men are necessarily unemployed, and they can therefore, undertake the six months' drill without interfering with their regular avocations. The first contingent proved eminently satisfactory, the commodore and officers of the Charybdis, being unqualified in their approval of the aptitude and "teachableness" of the new recruits. In purely sailorly work they required no instruction. They could hand, reef and steer, make knots and splices, bend and stow canvas, row and sail boats, mount the spars, and do everything of a seaman's work about a boat. As oarsmen they proved themselves the superiors of the whole fleet, winning prizes in the annual regatta at Barbados, where they beat even the admiral's crack crew. But in the gunnery and warship part of their education they were, of course, backward; but not so much so but that 44 out of the 50 secured first class passes when they were examined by a board of officers on finishing their cruise. The official reports to the Admiralty and the Governor were most encouraging as to the success of the movement.

CONTINGENT ENROLLED.

Last year a second contingent of 50 was enlisted from different parts of the island, and proved equally satisfactory. A picked team of oarsmen repeated the success of the previous crew against the fleet, showing that the physical strength and expertness were not exceptional. Of this contingent which returned here in May last, 47 gained the coveted first-class distinction. This satisfied even the doubting ones at the Admiralty that the plan was one which assured a favorable outcome, and this year 100 reserves will be taken, 50 in the Charybdis, and 50 in the Ariadne, the admiral's flagship. The cruiser Calypso, was also selected to be stationed in these waters as a training ship for the drilling of a still larger force. She will enroll about 200 men at a time, who will train and exercise in her, obtaining a thorough grounding in rudimentary naval knowledge and being polished off on board seagoing ships. It is hoped that when the autumn of 1904 comes around the British North Atlantic Squadron of ten or twelve ships will be able to assemble in this harbor and embark from 60 to 80 men each for the winter's training in the Caribbean. At the same time orphan boys and others willing to take service as regulars will be drafted into the Calypso, and after preliminary tuition will be transferred to the other ships to supplement their crews. The reserves of previous years who have done their sea drill will also assemble for a month's gunnery drill on her each winter, so that they may be kept up to their work and their fitness to do duty on the cruisers be insured beyond question.

ARE APT SCHOLARS.

It would not be possible to imagine a greater transformation than the reserves exemplify, seeing them before and after their voyage. They enjoy the advantage of consorting with the thoroughly matured "jackie"; they model themselves on him; they have regular calisthenics and other exercises, and the prescribed drills, and they are taught orderly habits and are properly disciplined. They return better men in every way, and in the inculcation of these more desirable traits into her young men will benefit by the movement as much as Britain will.

The movement is popular in the colony and you young men in the fishing villages are eager to join the reserve. The prospect is an attractive one to those doomed to the monotony and lonliness of these "outposts" from childhood, and the chances of seeing a bit of the great world from the deck of a British warship as well as of contributing in some degree to the patriotic colonial revival of the last two or three years, form the chief incentives to a large enrolment. The men are paid a retaining fee of $30 a year and their pay, food and clothing during their term of service amounts to about 60 cents a day, whereas if they remained at home they would probably have earned nothing at all, so little employment is there in this island in the winter, and so dependent are the people on the one industry.

CURLING BONSPIEL

Spirited Contest Results in a Victory for Davidson's Rink

The curling bonspiel, which has been in progress at the rink since Tuesday, ended last night, and resulted in a victory for Mr. Ray over Mr. Connal by a score of 16 to 8.

In the primaries, Mr. D. Davidson's rink was successful in defeating that of Mr. W. G. Morrow, although at the 13th end it looked as if the latter was going to win, but on the 15th end, the score was a tie, and at the close Mr. Davidson led by 4 shots.

The first prizes for the Primaries are two pairs of red bone curling stones, and the second four solid gold lockets. Messrs. Davidson and Morrow, with the other members of their rinks, deserve warm congratulations in winning out, considering there were about 30 competing rinks.

The prizes in the Consolation matches are two pairs of red bone curling stones, and four solid gold pins. Messrs. Ray and Connal have certainly done well.

With the visit of the Scotchmen and the curling bonspiel, curling has certainly had quite a boom in Peterborough this week.

Great credit is due to the committee in charge, Mr. R. Neill, Mr. W G. Morrow and Mr. T. F. Matthews. Also to Messrs. R. Kerr and J. McIntyre, who directed the work of decorating, and to Mr. J. S. Knapman, the efficient honorary-secretary, who has had an exceedingly busy week.

Everyone regretted Mr. R. Neill's absence, he having been called to Detroit on urgent business.

The rinks in the Consolation match were:

W. J. Thompson	S. A. Oke
J. S. Knapman	M. Green
C. N. Brown	Geo. Giroux
S. Ray sk...16	J. H. Connal sk......8

CANADA TO FOLLOW THE BOER STYLE

Canada to Profit Immensely as a Result of the South African War

THE COUNTRY TO HAVE MANY COMMANDOES

A Complete Revolution in the Military System of the Country Said to Be Contemplated

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, January 23—The Times' correspondent has received information that important changes are contemplated in the military system of the country. It is believed the price paid by Canada for her share in the South African war will be more than paid in knowledge she has gained for national defence.

The whole world profited immensely by the military lessons of the war. It was the first war with modern arms and ordnance and it was the first actual demonstration of the uselessness of the old military formation and tactics. As usual, England paid the bill, but the world has profited; France, Germany, Russia and other powers equally with England. It was a cheap lesson for them, but one they will be sure to learn.

As for Canada, the Boer war taught her how to defend herself against an invasion by any force, however huge. The government is already preparing plans for installing the commando system of defence used by the Boers in every part of the Dominion.

In the country districts commandos will be organized on the same plan as were the Boer commandoes precisely. These local organizations will be affiliated with the municipalities, counties and townships. Each township will be expected to enroll and parade at least one day a year, most probably Dominion Day its own quota of mounted men under local officers.

It is intended to make them, as far as possible, the leading men of each district. The men will each be furnished with a rifle and bandolier by the government. Each man will furnish his own horse and saddle. Each farm, according to acreage, will be expected to furnish one man mounted and equiped for commando duty.

The scheme has been received by military men in Canada and in England with unqualified satisfaction. England is perfectly frank about the value of her fighting against the Boers. It taught her that irregular troops were the most effective fighting troops and mounted infantry was the fighting force of the future. The ministry is committed in any event to the raising of a military reserve in Canada which shall give the country a fighting force of 100,000 men. Canada is better fitted than any other country in the world to emulate and improve upon the Boer idea of defence. Most of her young men can ride and shoot, and there is the most intense enthusiasm over this plan of military organization.

The British Government considers the plan calculated to still further cement the bonds of patriotic feeling between Canada and the mother country, if any such strengthening were needed. It is probable that no man of whatever nationality who travels from Halifax to Vancouver just now, however, will believe that Canadians need any spur to patriotism.

NOVA SCOTIANS GO TO DISCOVER GOLD

Equip Expeditions to Go to the Straits of Magellan to Do Placer Mining

The Region Said to Be Rich in Gold—A Second Klondike

Halifax., N.S., January 23—Nova Scotians think they have discovered a second Klondike. An expedition is being fitted out here for the Straits of Magellan. The vessel, a schooner of 130 tons, is expected to sail in less than a month, and will carry a complete apparatus for washing gold, amalgamating, etc. In fact so confident are the promoters of the scheme that they are sending out the necessary appliances to convert the yellow dust into bricks.

The schooner will take a complement of 27 men, and the expedition will be in charge of Capt. Charles H. McLeod, of Pictou, a mariner, prospector, and adventurer of considerable renown.

Capt. McLeod has been in the Straits of Magellan several times. It is alleged that the last time he landed there, in search of water, he was surprised at the brightness of the sand. On examination he found the sand to be rich in gold, and samples which he brought home proved this to be correct. He talked the matter up among his friends, and the result is that he will have a chance to demonstrate to them in a practical way the faith that is in him.

The natives in the strait are said to be a treacherous race and given to cannibalism and with this in view the schooner will go prepared to face any little unpleasantness that may arise.

Capt. McLeod made a trip to the Klondyke just after the craze broke out, sailing from Boston in a vessel fitted out for the purpose. He has spent some time at Nome and has thus acquired considerable experience in the line of "roughing it."

Nova Scotians seem to be reaching out for the treasures which are in distant parts. There is quite a fleet of sealers from Halifax in the Behring sea, and two more are on the way there now. The last to leave is commanded by Capt. Balcom, a son of Capt. "Sprot" Balcom, who, a few years ago, became almost a subject of international dispute by being seized on the Russian coast and thrown into prison on a charge of pelagic sealing. He is still in the city, but leaves in a few days for the Pacific coast.

A company of Nova Scotians own an electric light plant and tramway in Georgetown, British Guiana, and another in Port of Spain, Trinidad. Both are said to be good investments. It is now rumoured that a special syndicate is about to send a representative to South Africa to report on the chances for profitable investments there.

Killed His Former Sweetheart Shot Her Escort and Then Himself

Chicago, January 23.—E. J. Conlin, last night shot and killed Jennie Dwyer, his one-time sweetheart, seriously wounded Frank M. Merritt, the young woman's escort, then sent a bullet into his own head, inflicting a wound from which he died today.

A short time ago Miss Dwyer told Conlin that he need not call at the house any longer. He insisted upon calling and Miss Dwyer refused to see him. Last night he hid behind the storm door of the girl's home and waited for her return from a party. When she and Merritt came up the steps Conlin shot Miss Dwyer in the forehead. Merrit was shot in the jaw. The wound is not dangerous. Thinking he had killed them both he then shot himself.

PORT AND KHEDIVE

Strained Relations Over Route of Holy Carpet to Medina

Cairo, January, 23 — Relations between the Sultan and the Khedive continue strained. The Egyptian Government desired to change the route of the Holy Carpet pilgrimage to Mecca, and Medina, and telegraphed to the Hedjz, of Mecca, suggesting that the Holy Carpet, instead of proceeding as hitherto to Jedda, and Mecca, and hence by seventeen days' journey across the desert to Medina, and thence via Elwach to Cairo, should return from Mecca to Jedda and proceed by steamer to Yambo and make the pilgrimage to Medina from and returning to that point. The Hedjz referred the matter to the Sultan, who refused to guarantee the safety of the caravan between Yambo and Medina, stating the local tribes were hostile. The Egyptian Government thereupon despatched Rifaat Pasha who will escort the Holy Carpet on its pilgrimage to endeavor to arrange by means of Backsheesh with the Shieks of the local tribes for the safe journey between Yambo and Medina. Two days after the departure of Rifaat Pasha, the Grand Vizer at Constantinople telegraphthe Khedive that an irade had been issued absolutely forbidding the Holy Carpet making the journey between Yambo and Medina. The Khedive replied praying for the reconsideration of the decision, and stating otherwise that the Holy Carpet would not visit Medina at all. No reply has been received. Considerable disquietude has already been manifested among the devout Mussulmans here who while deploring the Sultan's decision by no means welcome that of the Egyptian Government. The question of the pilgrimage route is not the only bone of contention between the Porte and Egypt

About Three Thousand People Witness the Game, Including About 300 from Belleville

Peterborough met their third defeat on the Brock street rink last night from the fast Belleville hockey team, leaders in this district of the O.H.A. About 3,000 people witnessed the game, including about 300 from Belleville, who came up by special train to cheer their team unto victory, and a small contingent from Port Hope, who were deeply interested in the outcome of the match, they having a return match to play at Belleville, having been defeated at Port Hope by by the Belleville team by 3 to 2. It was a great game that brought defeat on the home team, and the spectators had the privilege of witnessing the fastest game of hockey ever played in Peterborough. It was a battle royal from start to finish for supremacy, although at half time the score indicated that Peterborough had to get into the game at a faster pace—the score being 4 to 1 in Belleville's favor.

The Belleville seven were heavier than the Peterborough seven, and used their weight to advantage, are very speedy skaters, and get away well together.

Their combination is good and fast, in following up they were always in their places ready to grasp every opportunity for an opening, while the local team, slow in following up, lost some good opportunities by falling back on the ice too far. The Belleville team showed no lack of training, and kept the same pace throughout the game, although the Peterborough boys played a harder game in the second half than in the first. McGuire at center for Belleville was probably the speediest skater on the ice, and played a great game, as did also Belleville's goal keeper, who stopped some pretty hot shots. Wasson in goal for Peterborough played a good game and was called on to put some good ones out of the way.

Referee Hugh A. Rose lined the boys up about 8.25 and started the rubber going. Peterborough made an attack on Belleville's nets, Cavanagh was sent to the fence. Belleville took the puck into Peterborough territory, when Wasson was called upon to stop a warm one from McGuire, Glover relieving, lifting the puck to the other end of the ice. Roy Armstrong sent in a shot but was blocked. The Belleville forward line went up the ice, but Harold Armstrong broke up the play. Glover was sent to the fence for 2 minutes, and Cavanagh followed him for 2 minutes. Wasson was here called upon to break up an attack which seemed like a goal for Belleville, but Erne proved himself equal to the task. Belleville brought up the rubber again and after a difficult shot scored after 11 minutes play.

In the 3rd Belleville sent some hot shots at Wasson which he picked out and cleared the nets. Graham started a pretty piece of combination, passing to Cavanagh to Whitcroft who scored. But Belleville again scored, and in 2 minutes McGuire scored for the visitors again, making the score 4 to 1 in Belleville's favor, neither team scoring again before half-time.

In the last half Peterborough went at it hard. H. Armstrong took the puck up the ice, but the forwards were slow in following up. Whitcroft sent in a hot one, but the man in the nets was in the way. H. Armstrong broke up an assault on the Peterborough nets, and after about 8 minutes play Cavanagh scored for Peterborough. Belleville started to play a defence game, and both teams were going at it for life and death, but after a shot from Roy Armstrong which was blocked, Whitcroft secured the rubber and passed it to Graham who scored. Peterborough tried hard to tie, but without avail. Whitcroft went to the fence three times, once for having a bout with McGuire, Roy Armstrong and Cavanagh also adorned the side. Belleville continued to play a block game, and peterborough failed to score, leaving Belleville 1 goal ahead. Score 4 to 3. Belleville now leads the district, having won 3 games and lost 0.

Referee Rose kept a pretty close eye on the players, although he dealt pretty severely with the home team. Both Cavanagh and Glover were sent to the fence at intervals without cause.

It remains now for Belleville and Port Hope to battle for first place. It looks like Belleville.

A SHARP BATTLE IS NOW IN PROGRESS.

Soldiers Killed and Wounded by Warship's Guns--Engagement is Renewed

Maracaibo, Jan 22. —The bombardment of Fort San Carlos by the German cruisers Vineta, Panther and Falke was continued yesterday afternoon until 6 o'clock. It was resumed this morning at daybreak. The first shell was hurled at the fort at 4 o'clock at long range. At 6 o'clock the Panther, being of light draught closed in and again became actively engaged. The fort replied. At 8 o'clock the engagement was proceeding as fiercely as that of yesterday. Twelve dead and fifteen badly wounded Venezuelan soldiers were counted in the fort at 7 o'clock last night by the correspondent of the Associated Press.

A RAIN OF SHELLS.

The Panther left her position close in to Fort San Carlos, which she took up earlier in the day, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and joined the Falke. This ship was half a mile outside the bar and about five miles from the fort. At 3 o'clock the correspondent of the Associated Press, in a rowboat approached one side of the fort, out of range, and from this point witnessed the long range fire of the German cruisers, which was continued from 3 until 6 o'clock. The Vinet and Falke were close together, and nearer the fort than the Panther; the first two vessels at a range of one and a half miles poured in a continuous rain of shell upon the fort, and only stopped firing with the advent of dusk at 6 o'clock. At this hour the German vessels retired seaward, after having made a second ineffectual attempt to land troops at the base of the fort.

At 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the correspondent who was accompanied by a Government telegrapher bearing a telegram from President Castro to the commandant of San Carlos landed on the island and entered the fort. The walls of the fort are terribly battered, and there were many evidences of the fierce engagement. Twelve dead Venezuelan soldiers were counted behind the ramparts, and fifteen other men, seriously wounded, were lying on a low platform. The fort is literally covered with pieces of broken shells. It was seen that a great many of the German shells had not exploded. The magazine had a very narrow escape, two shells having come within an acre of penetrating it. The walls of the fort which face towards the entrance of the lake suffered particularly, and were damaged. It is estimated by Commandant-General Bello that the German ships fired more than 1,000 shells at Fort San Carlos.

MAY REVIVE THE MANITOBIA SCHOOL TROUBLE

An Attempt to Reintroduce Manitoba Agitation at Ottawa is Forshadowed to Appear at an Early Date

Montreal, Jan. 22.—As a result of the series of conferences that Archbishop Bruchesi had with his Holiness the Pope, the principal work that will be carried out at the first conference of the Bishop of Canada, to be held under the presidency of the new Apostolic Delegate, Mgr. Sharretti, will be to decide on the action that will be taken at once on behalf of the Catholic minority of the Province of Manitoba, with regard to the school question.

In the interviews which he had with Archbishop Bruchesi, his Holiness displayed great interest in the school question, and expressed a wish that all rights should be secured to the Catholics of Manitoba. His Holiness, after being informed as to the rights given the Protestant minority in the Province of Quebec, desired that at least equal privileges should be accorded the Catholic minority in Manitoba.

Since his appointment, Mgr. barretti, the Apostolic Delegate, has not seen his Holiness the Pope to obtain from him his views on the subject, and as a result they will be placed before the conference of Bishops by Archbishop Bruchesi. Action will then be taken with the Provincial Government of Manitoba with a view of settling the question once for all, and it is expected by the Bishops that, owing to the largely increased Catholic population, the Government will recognize the justice of the rights demanded. Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface will act under the advisal of the Council of Bishops.

What a Man Says.

We are only men, mere men, and perhaps our opinions are of no consequence; therefore it is with due modesty that I assert we do not like to hear slang from maiden lips. Both slang and swearing in any degree are most unprepossessing in a woman. The girl who shouts her "By Jove!" in the faces of young men is usually induced to change her note as soon as she is engaged. It is no small credit to her if she wins a man's love in spite of her repulsive methods of speech. It is strange that we should feel such distaste at hearing girls use expressions we ourselves use so commonly. I can only account for it on the plea that we are eager to fancy that women are (as they ought to be) infinitely our superiors in refinement and delicacy. What do we mere men think of flirts? The girl who innocently exercises the gifts of magnetism which she finds she possesses over the other sex, and who innocently rejoices in her talents, is not a sinner. She may be unwise, even blamable, but she is not malicious. There are, however, flirts who seem to take pleasure in bending men on their knees before them and in dismissing them robbed of some of their self-respect. These are cold-hearted beauties, and to be shunned by men as if they were serpents. On the whole, I think it must be said that men do not like flirts. It is our business to woo, not to be wooed. Flirts seem to rob us of our prerogative. Girls should, of course, be nicely dressed; but, that said, all that need be said by us on the subject is said. Extravagant girls suit few of us. We are tempted to look askance at girls who come out every week in a new bonnet—and a bonnet, moreover, "chic" enough to have cost something handsome. One more matter may be mentioned. It will surprise some of my readers that we should trouble ourselves about so small a detail. When I see a girl who treats little children and babies either with indifference or disdain, I mark her down at once as not quite the right sort of girl; and others of my sex are quick to notice the same thing and make the same estimate from it.

Mouse Whiskers and Bears' Eyebrows.

There are trout and salmon-fishers who pay several thousand dollars a year for their flies alone. Few persons can learn to tie artificial flies—knotting hairs that can hardly be seen—so the skilled fly-maker commands high wages. The materials cost money, too, says the Maine "Sportsman." The earth is ransacked for feathers and hairs, and one hair wrong makes "all the difference."

The business done in mouse whiskers is considerable this year, for they are used in the making of a wonderful new fly, the "new gray gnat," and they are expensive—nearly two cents a whisker. Trout rise very much better at mouse-whisker flies than at the same "gnat" dressed in jungle-cock hackles, which look very much like them.

Bears' eyebrows, being stiff and exactly the right shade, are used in a newly-invented fly that is killing quantities of salmon this year. These eyebrows come from the Himalayan brown bear, and cost about one dollar and a half a set.

There are agents all over the world searching tropical forests for the right birds to supply fly hackles. One of the most sought-after skins is that of the rare "green screamer," an African bird about the size of a hen, which has a tiny bunch of feathers on each shoulder that is worth fifteen dollars a bunch to the fly-maker. One of these birds supplies only feathers enough to make rings for half a dozen flies.

There is no limit to the enthusiasm of an artistic fly-tier, who will use hair from his own eyelashes to finish off an "extra special" fly. Babies' hair is much sought after, if it is of the right shade—golden yellow—for all the lighter salmon flies, and one curl will make a dozen first-class flies.

It takes an expert only fifteen minutes to turn out a fly, which consists of a tiny hook, with wings of Egyptian dove feather, legs of fox hair, and a body of mouse fur, wound round with a thread of yellow silk. A carelessly made fly will have neither legs nor "feelers," but the true expert adds the legs and puts on a pair of long "feelers" of cat hair, white at the tips. All these tiny details will be exactly in their places, and so firmly tied to the hook that the fly will take half a dozen strong fish and be none the worse.

MRS. MAYBRICK AGAIN

On a plea that she may lose coal lands in Virginia, worth five millions if she is not in court to give evidence, Mrs. Maybrick again seeks release from an English prison. The suits are nearing trial, and the renewed efforts in Mrs. Maybrick's behalf are regarded here as simply a new development in the struggle for her release which has been carried on for many years. Should the world-renowned poisoner be released on parole and once set foot in America, she would have her freedom, as she could not be retaken without extradition proceedings. If her testimony is of vital importance to the issue of the suit it can be taken by commission, in prison, or if the Government allow it, she can be taken before a magistrate in England, where attorneys from the United States may cross-examine her.

In the case of Mrs. Florence E. Maybrick the world sees the inflexible course of British justice. She was convicted of one of the most heinous crimes known to the law, that of doing her husband to death by slow poison while carrying on a criminal intrigue with another man. The poison used by her was the arsenic, which she laboriously collected from "fly papers," and her criminal purpose was revealed in a letter which her own child was carrying to the post office in care of a nurse maid. The child providentially lost the letter on the way. It was found and opened. Her husband died, and Mrs. Maybrick was given the fairest trial possible before an English court, and she was sentenced to life imprisonment. Every sort of plea has been made by friends for her release—that the late Maybrick was a "hard" man, and therefore proper to be put away finally; that her own health was suffering by imprisonment; that her mind was giving away under remorse, and lastly, that she found it necessary to visit America to protect her estate by appearing in a law suit. To all pleas and appeals of whatsoever kind, the British judicial authorities have remained deaf and blind. No "pull" legal, political or social, has had the slightest effect in altering the decision that Mrs. Maybrick, the husband poisoner, can expect no mercy. Her crime must be expiated according to the inexorable law of the land.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

As to the monetary prospects, the indications are for lower rates than prevailed during the last three months of 1902. Until the crop demands assert themselves there appear to be no shoals ahead, save the April settlements and the July disbursements. For the next nine months there should be fairly clear sailing, if speculation is kept within reasonable limits. Nevertheless, the supply of loanable funds is not likely to prove over-abundant. The demand for capital for new enterprises is enormous, and the inelasticity of our currency system tends to encourage firm rates. —Henry Clews' New York Stock report.

An English letter says American legislation respecting coal has attracted considerable attention there since the strike, and has led to an enormous increase of exports of British coal to the United States as shown by the Board of Trade returns. In 1901 Great Britain shipped [illegible] tons of coal to the United States. Last year she shipped [illegible] tons, the figures in each case including Atlantic and Pacific ports. The development of the trade is more forcibly brought out in the monthly returns. In December, 1901, coal exports to Atlantic ports were 1,[illegible] tons. Last December they had risen to [illegible] tons. It is thought that the temporary abolition of the American import duty will give the British coal trade a still further fillip.

The Canadian Society of New York City is to erect a tablet, in Wall Street, to the memory of Morris Robinson, who was born in Wilmot, Nova Scotia, in 1784, and who was cashier of the New York branch of the United States Bank, when that was the great national financial institution of the States. The occasion of the Canadian Society's observance is the 60th anniversary of the establishment by Mr. Robinson of modern life insurance in the United States, which falls on February 1. The making of the Robinson tablet, which is to be of bronze, is in the hands of Tiffany. The tablet will be affixed to the front of the building now numbered 56 Wall Street, on the site of the original offices of the first permanent American life insurance organization. The Canadian Society is inviting as its guests at the unveiling, prominent officials of Canada, and the formal exercises will be followed by a banquet.

Brunette and Blonde

upon the faultless oval of her cheek. He was filled with secret dread at her presence in England, and most especially under the Earl of Devon's roof. Why had the baronet and his proud sister, one of the proudest ladies in all England, brought her to England, and seemed so deeply interested in her? Did they know anything? If not, did they suspect anything? Outwardly pleased and affable, he was inwardly racked with suspense and terror.

At the midnight hour when the old hall was locked in silence and repose, and the moon had gone down, he stole out to a private interview with Florence in a lovely little summer-house at the edge of the park. She came to meet him clothed in a long, disguising cloak and hood, from which her fair face gleamed ghastly white in the darkness.

"Is it not perfectly dreadful!" she said to him, in a low and agitated voice, as they sat down side by side on a rustic seat. "What will you do now?"

Mr. Aylesford smothered a terrible oath between his lips.

"I will rid myself of the cursed millstone somehow, you may be sure of that, Florence," he said.

"Whatever you do must be done quickly and cautiously, then" she replied, "for I believe that they suspect something. They guard Hilda as carefully as if she were some precious jewel. Tuesday I took her out boating on the lake, and adroitly tumbled her into the deep water. I managed it all so cleverly that she must certainly have been drowned, but that Cecil Courtenaye was lurking near, unseen by me, and swam to her rescue. He had seen the whole thing, and half suspected me. But I braved it out so cleverly that I staggered his belief."

"I suppose he has not come into the earl's wish yet?" Mr. Aylesford asked, anxiously.

"And never will," said the girl, with impatient wrath. "He is in love with Hilda."

"So I imagined," gloomily; "but of course the earl would never give his consent."

"Cecil can afford to do without it. The earl has no power to coerce him," Florence said, shortly. "But I do not apprehend that Cecil would have any trouble in that direction. You must have noticed to-night that the earl is charmed with Hilda.

"Yes, I saw it all; but it must be nipped in the bud. If nothing else betrays us, the girl's own face is a living protest against the fraud we have attempted. She actually resembles the earl."

"Do not say attempted," Florence said, nervously. "We have carried it out successfully. No one dreamed of an imposture. But of one thing I am certain; she cannot remain here. She shall not! You must take her away."

"I intend to do so, and that right speedily," said Mr. Aylesford, "but"—a little nervously—"do you think there can be any doubt of her going with me? Would she refuse to leave these people? You know she is quite capable of rebellion."

"It is quite possible she would refuse. She is fond of Lady Leigh, and would not like to leave her. I should like to know what the bond is between those two. I am a little afraid of their intimacy. Whatever it means, you must take her away. If she refuses to go assert your authority. Who could prevent you? She belongs to you. Who could refuse a man the custody of his own child?"

"You are right, Florence. No one could do it. I will persuade her to travel with me; take her to Switzerland—somewhere—anywhere, out of your way. She shall never return—you understand?"

"Yes" Florence murmured hoarsely, "and you must not come back yourself for a great while. I will send you money, and you must remain abroad."

"Why should I do that?" he asked, vexed.

"The earl detests you," she replied. "Your continual presence is a great trial to him. He is not over fond of me, and I believe the reason is because you are always around, and he is jealous of my affection for you."

"I wish the old dotard were dead," he muttered, brutally. "If he were only dead and you had inherited the fortune, all would be safe. Since the heir will not marry you, you can gain nothing by waiting for his death if he lived a hundred years."

"That is true. I had never thought of that. I, too, wish that he were dead. I hate him," Florence said, clenching her small fists angrily. "He is always lamenting that I do not resemble the Lornes. He is vexed that I am not an Amazon, and am afraid to ride a great prancing horse to the hunt with the fox-hunting squires around Lochamy Hall. Hilda's riding would set him wild with admiration, as her rescue of Cecil Courtenaye from the New River flood has already done. He has told me repeatedly that all the Lornes were dark and brave."

"Well, he is very old. Let us hope that death will soon silence his whinings. Then I shall have my reward for all I have done for you, my beautiful darling. It should be a large one, for I have dared and accomplished much for the sake of winning all this for you."

"It shall be large," Florence replied; "even to the half of my fortune."

They lingered a while longer, laying their guilty plans against the beautiful and innocent Hilda's peace and life, then separated, each returning to the hall by a different route.

The next afternoon the earl, in his courteous way, expressed a desire for Hilda to visit the picture gallery.

"Florence will be pleased to have you see the portraits of her illustrious ancestors," he said, giving a kind glance to his granddaughter, who had stood near, and heard the invitation to her rival.

"Oh, yes," answered Florence, carelessly. "I should like her to see the gallery; but I do not suppose she will care for the dark and queer-looking old fogies you call my ancestors. Americans do not care about ancestry, you know. But there are some pretty, simple, fancy things, by clever artists, that she may appreciate."

The earl felt annoyed at the spiteful speech, but he showed no trace of his vexation on his stern, handsome old face. Already he had heard something that morning that had filled his mind with terror and suspicion.

He had gone in from his early morn-

The Greatest Mining Proposition of Modern Times

This company has demonstrated its ability to produce ore at a profit and pay regular monthly dividends under the most adverse circumstances. Only the highest grade could be shipped and cost upwards of $25 per ton. With a mill it can be treated at less than $3 per ton. The company has nearly enough money to pay for the mill, which they promise to have in operation by April 1st, 1903.

FACTS PERTINENT TO C.G.W.

New York, Jan. 23—The authorized issue of C. G. W. common stock is $30,000,000 of which $23,500,000 was outstanding at the last annual report. Two months $6,500,000 additional common stock was issued. An announced stockholders will on February 18th vote to increase the common stock issue to $50,000,000 to pay for Omaha and Sioux City extensions and for acquirement of the Mason City and Fort Dodge line. By this arrangement the C. G. W. secures for all time 503 miles of valuable feeders without the investment of a dollar in cash or incurring any indebtedness or other liability save an increasing in its common stock. To complete the arrangements will only require part of the new contemplated issue, leaving the balance in the company's treasury. The income for 1903 showed a gross increase of $535,227, after payment of 4 per cent on the debenture stock the surplus earnings for the year amounted to $21,021. As a rate cutter this road has but few equals. Its rates have fluctuated sharply. It is bound to be absorbed by stronger and greater lines as we have said before in these letters when advising the purchase of the stock much before present figures. They must do it to eliminate a freelance from the field if fro no ather reason. The road has a freight traffic averaging lower in price than any other western line. The company is making commendable financial progress. In four years its net earnings have nearly doubled while its freight traffic has increased 25 per cent. The road is for sale, but at a price much above present prices. It is certain to be bought in by the other lines and President Stickney is preparing to force the issue. It will sell much higher and consequently is a good think to purchase and lay away. We have no doubt but that it will sell between 50 and 60 in time, and not a very long time either. Under control of other lines lines with regular rates it can be made to earn far in excess of what is doing at present.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz; and quartzite, all horning more or less. Where work has been done, is shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to instal either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

Price is now 25 cents a share, and we offer 50,000 shares at this price, but it may be advanced by January 1st, 1903, to 50 cents a share.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

CLEVER BOY

Took the Teachers Food

A pupil in a Philadelphia, Pa., school says, "I had a severe attack of typhoid fever, after which I was so very weak and delicate that I could not attend school regular.

One day, our teacher, who is a great student and able teacher, gave a lesson in physiology, in which proper food was discussed. She recommended Grape-Nuts to the class, as she had used the food a long while and watched results.

I thought that if Grape-Nuts had enabled her to teach a class of boys as she taught us, the food would do me good in my weak state and I commenced eating it.

I have used Grape-Nuts steadily for over a year, am a little past 15 years old, and now measure 5 feet 8 inches, weigh 117 pounds and am strong and well, having entirely recovered from my weak and delicate condition. I am very fond of athletics, and joined actively in all the sports in our vicinity.

I can truthfully say that Grape-Nuts is just the food for me and has built me up into a strong active boy. Name given by Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, will Entertain Lindsay Thursday Night

Lindsay Lodge, No. 100, I.O.O.F., has accepted the invitation from Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, to pay them a fraternal visit. The date has been set for next Thursday, January 29, when it is expected that a large contingent of Lindsay brethren will be here. Arrangements are being made to spend a very enjoyable evening. Probably some degree work will be exemplified by the degree teams of each of the lodges, after which refreshments, speeches, songs, etc., will combine for the entertainment of the visitors. The arrangements are in the hands of a capable committee, and it is hoped that all members of the local lodge will be on hand to extend the glad hand to the visitors.

Peterborough paid a very enjoyable visit to Lindsay last spring.

—Miss Lizzie Drake, of Grafton, left for a trip round the world. She will be joined at New York by a niece of hers. They expect to sail from San Francisco for Japan on Wednesday next, and thence to China, and will probably reach Calcutta about the 8th of April, and will spend two weeks in India. They will also take in the principal cities of Europe and reach home sometime in July, thus taking six months for the tour. We wish the fair globe-trotters bon voyage. Miss Drake has many friends here who will be glad to hear of her safe return after so long and hazard a trip.

A. O. U. W. CONCERT

A High Class Program by Talented Performers

Peterborough Lodge, No. 125, A.O.U.W., is to be congratulated on the success attending their concert last night in the opera house.

The Master Workman, Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., gave some interesting information in regard to the aims of the order, and the advantages to be obtained by being connected with this organization.

The different numbers on the program were rendered in a very efficient manner, calling for frequent applause, and many well-deserved encores. Mr. Harold Jarvis, always popular with a Peterborough audience, sang in such a way as to give entire satisfaction, as did Mrs. Alice Cooke-Stock, also of Detroit. Miss Edna Sutherland, elocutionist, and Mr. J. H. Cameron, entertainer, gave great pleasure by the different selections rendered by them. Miss L. McGarry performed the duties of pianiste in her usual excellent manner.

THE FARMER FAILS

In health just as does the city-man, and he fails commonly from the same cause, "stomach trouble." The farm is a wholesome place to live; the farmer's life is a healthy life; but no external advantages can overcome the effects of a diseased stomach. When the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased, the food eaten is imperfectly digested and assimilated, and the consequent loss of nutrition results in physical debility.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

"I used ten bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and several vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets' a year ago this spring, and have had no trouble with indigestion since," writes Mr. W. T. Thompson, of Townsend, Broadwater Co., Montana. "Words fail to tell how thankful I am for the relief, as I had suffered so much and it seemed that the doctors could do me no good. I got down in weight to one hundred and twenty-five pounds, and was not able to work at all. Now I weigh nearly one hundred and sixty and can do a day's work on the farm. I have recommended your medicine to several, and shall always have a good word to say for Dr. Pierce and his medicines."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose, therefore accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Tells How He Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters by Using Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Brock's Age is 114 Years.

MR. ISAAC BROCK, BORN IN BUNCOMBE CO., N. C., MARCH 1, 1788.

His age is 114 years, vouched for by authentic record. He says: "I attribute my extreme old age to the use of Pe-ru-na."

Born before the United States was formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Pe-ru-na the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal diseases.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 114 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

A short time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture. In his hand he held a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson, which has been carried by him ever since. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 114 years ago.

Surely a few words from this remarkable old gentleman, who has had 114 years of experience to draw from, would be interesting as well as profitable. A lengthy biographical sketch is given of this remarkable old man in the Waco Times-Herald, December 4, 1898. A still more pretentious biography of this, the oldest living man, illustrated with a double column portrait, was given the readers of the Dallas Morning News, dated December 11, 1898, and also the Chicago-Times Herald of same date.

This centenarian is an ardent friend of Peruna, having used it many years.

In speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 114 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but of course subject to the little affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhœa.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

Yours truly,

Isaac Brock,

For a free book on catarrh, address The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

GERMANY RESENTS STATES CRITICISM.

Declares That the American Press is Unfair in Its Comments In the San Carlos Affair—The Forts Fired First—The Germans Claim They Acted Within Their Rights

Berlin, Jan. 24—The Foreign Office representatives today, in conversation with the correspondent of the Associated Press, comments upon the bombardment of Fort San Carlos. One official said:

"In view of Commodore Scheder's report, Germany has a just right to feeling indignant at the fact that a portion of the American press is aroused over the false statements of what occurred at San Carlos without waiting for the facts in the case, and thereupon attacking a friendly power. The Panther's action, the official report shows, was strictly within the limits of international law. She was proceeding past the fort to enter the lagoon of Maracaibo in order to prevent the importation of contraband articles from Columbia, and in so doing was fired upon. The Panther, of course, answered the fire, as she was entitled to do. The attack was not made by us, but by the Venezuelan fort. We are quite unable to see why any neutral should express disapproval because the Panther replied, or because our vessels afterwards leveled the fort, since it was a hindrance to an effective blockade.

"The assumption that we want to prevent a settlement of the matters at Washington and the speedy raising of the blockade is wholly mistaken. We want the blockade to be raised just as soon as the powers have adequate guarantee in hand that their claims will be met. We do not even ask for the immediate payment of money, but only for guarantees. We cannot raise the blockade empty-handed, without any form of guarantee."

THE TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

The EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING of the Shareholders of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, was held at the Company's Offices, Peterborough, on Friday, the 23rd day of January, 1903 at two o'clock p.m.

The President, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, having taken the chair, the Manager, Mr. W. G. Morrow was requested to act as Secretary to the meeting.

After reading the notice convening the meeting, the Secretary read the Eighteenth Annual Report and the accompanying Financial Statement.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The Directors submit herewith their Eighteenth Annual Report, showing the result of business for the past year, accompanied by the balance sheet to the 31st December, 1902.

The gross earnings for the year amounted to $180,748.12, and after the payment of interest on deposits and debentures and all expenses of management, there remained a net profit of $118,590.21. To this amount has been added $7,256.27, the amount carried forward from last year making a total sum of $125,846.48 for distribution, which has been disposed of in the following manner:—

(1) By the payment of four quarterly dividends of 1 1/2 per cent each, being 6 per cent. per year on the paid up-Capital	$60,695 52
(2) By the addition to the Reserve Fund	57,000 00
(3) By amount carried forward to the credit of Profit and Loss Account	8,150 96
	$125,846 48

During the year under review, the Directors of the Company decided to give holders of 20 per cent paid stock of the Company, the privilege of paying up their stock in full on payment thereon of a premium of 60 per cent., the result being that at the 31st of May 1902, the sum of $400,000 was paid in, together with the sum of $240,000 representing the premium thereon. The latter amount of $240,000 has been transferred to the Reserve Fund, along with the sum of $57,000 added from the earnings of the year, creating a total addition to the Reserve Fund for 1902 of $297,000, and making the total amount now at the credit of that fund, $460,000, very nearly 50 per cent. of the total paid up Capital.

At the 31st December, 1902, the total amount due Depositors and Debenture Holders of the Company was $878,154.86; by reference to the statement of Assets and Liabilities, it will be observed that this amount was increased during the year by $217,594.92, and now stands at $1,095,749.78.

The total Assets of the Company have been increased by $923,849.75, and now reach the substantial sum of $2,579,822.96.

The payments maturing during the year, on the Company's investments have been satisfactorily met, and the rentals from the property owned by the Company have also been promptly paid.

The books, accounts and securities have been carefully examined by the Auditor, and his Report is appended to the Financial Statement.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors.

GEO. A. COX,
President.

Terrible Death of a Sawyer

Three Rivers, Jan. 26— Farmers coming in from St. Prosper, a village some distance from this city, report the tragic death of Albert Jobidon, a sawyer in the saw mills at that place. He was using a saw which was not provided with a guard, when his arm got caught, and he was dragged into the saw where he was literally cut in two. He died four hours later, after suffering intense agony.

A PATHETIC SCENE AT TREASON TRIAL

Prisoner's Wife Faints in the Court—Lord Derby on Canada

London, Jan. 23.—I was present today at the close of Colonel Lynch's trial, and a painful scene it was. The prisoner was sentenced to death by the Lord Chief Justice, Lord Alverstone, in a most impressive manner. Colonel Lynch was pale as death, and had to be supported by two warders. His wife swooned, and was removed. The general opinion here is that King Edward will exercise the prerogative of pardon, thus pacifying the Irish, and also being in accord with recent precedent.

LORD DERBY'S TRIBUTE.

The Earl of Derby, formerly Lord Stanley, the Governor-General of Canada, presided at a large meeting in the interests of the Dominion, in Saint George's Hall, Liverpool, last night. The Earl spoke enthusiastically of Canada, saying it was the colony. He advised Englishmen to emigrate to Canada rather than to the United States. Mr. Hickman, lately appointed a Dominion lecturer, Mr. W. T. R. Preston, and Sir Alfred Jones also spoke. This is one of a series of important meetings organised throughout the Motherland.

Next to Africa, Canada is at present the most-talked-of colony. The last of some fifty discontented Canadians who enlisted in the South African Constabulary sail for home to-day. These men signed for five years, but for various reasons tired of the service. Some bought their discharges, others have been dismissed. Many have been assisted to Canada by Lord Strathcona, owing to his influence with the War Office. The fact is, that after the excitement of real war, these colonials soon tired of routine, pacific constabulary duties. Africa they say is a rocky desert, compared to Canada.

Rev. J. M. Barr, the Anglican clergyman, at one time a Toronto University student, then of Oakville, and later of Tennessee, says he has 2,000 English people ready to sail from Liverpool to St. John, en route to Saskatoon, March 21, by the Beaver steamer. I have just interviewed Mr. Barr, who says the party is composed of some of the best blood of England. The capital taken out by the emigrants is over £500,000. The idea of a homogeneous English settlement has appealed to the best class. Mr. Barr is assisted by Rev. Mr. Lloyd formerly chaplain of the Queen's Own, who fought at Cut Knife Creek, and was wounded there. There is no religious or other qualification demanded of the emigrants, except that of being thoroughbred English. Mr. Barr considers his scheme the best antidote to "Americanism."

THE PRINCES WEAR ROPE OF PEARLS

Solid Phalanx of Emeralds and Pearls at the Durbar

London, Jan. 21—The Delhi correspondent of the Daily Mail, in describing the coronation durbar, says:

Very soon the seats reserved for the native princes began to present the appearance of a solid phalanx of emeralds and pearls. It was hardly possible to distinguish the color of the chogas or ceremonial dress that each wore. Pearls and emeralds in descending curves from shoulder to shoulder covered many of the maharajahs; from collar to waist, displaced only to exhibit the star of their Order. Many of the jewels had been taken out from the hoarded treasuries for the first time for many years. At a distance the effect was superb, and yet intensely refined.

Looked at closely the jewels worn by the princes almost defied belief. There were ropes upon ropes of pearls of perfect lustre and the size of pigeon's eggs, emeralds the size of hen's eggs, and one swordhilt composed of a single emerald.

The two purdah boxes on either side of the subway, behind the Viceroy, veiled with green netting and bamboo "chicks," soon filled with the misty forms of women and a few children, among whom was the infant chief of Bharatpur. Round the red road below the ramped amphitheatre ran a light ripple like flakes of mica glittering under the vault of blue from which the sun beat cruelly.

THOSE PRESENT.

All were here now; every one who came from within the official limits of India—from the north-west entrance of the Straits of Malacca to Cape Comorin and from Cape Comorin to Aden—governors and lieutenant-governors, councillors ordinary, and presumably also extraordinary, agents and residents, commissioners and consul-general; chief justices and their learned brethren of the bench, bishops territorial and bishops non-territorial, secretaries ordinary chief, senior, private and military comptrollers, advocates-general, archdeacons and generals; inspector-generals, remembrancers and directors. All the pomp and celebrities of the Army, the Church and the I. C. S. were there, and conspicuous among them all a strong set, hard-eyed man, with a young, blunt-ly-cut face, with the sand of South Africa still ingrained in the crevices of his sword-handle —Lord Kitchener of more places than one.

And the English visitors, almost lost and insignificant in the mass, betrayed themselves in their dress only less than by their complexions. Among them, too, were men of high interest, mufti concealed many well-known figures in their block. This bench has upon it three of the most useful soldiers in the late war; that below them is known in every capital of Europe.

The Governors-General of Goa and of Pondicherry sit apart, with enough, indeed, for them to think upon. The one had the chance, the other almost had the empire. Supreme in their tiny patches of land, they still cherish the saddening ceremonies that always hedge about a might-have-been; it may be that in their heart of hearts they recognise that all has been for the best. Whatever the faults of our Administration of India, the imiganiation recoils from the results of a change. It would be difficult to guess whether France or Portugal would be the more, and which the less successful. Pro-consuls at our gates—representatives of two powers of which one has been and the other still is of world wide importance—they are given high place and full honor when they come. Still, they suggest by their very presence a hurricane of reminiscences, and if a successful persecution of the first English traders in India by the ancestors of both the one and the other is remembered they must be inclined to smile.

Still the crowd pours in over the back of the stands, and the clock points to eleven.

The weather is of the most brilliant description. Light fleeces of "mackeral" cloud, peromising a continuance for the remaining days of festivity, fleck the sky, which is otherwise of that whitened cobalt that hardly deserves the name of blue, as blue is known in Europe. No Italian wealth of color, depth below depth sapphire hearted, and paling only to a turquoise on the very horizon, but a hard, fiery, canopy without rest or relief, without depth or richness, in which the "unmerciless, unsympathizing sun" glares whitely and unkindly all its course.

But for the scene of the Durbar such a flood of the intensest white light was the true medium, and beneath the furnace-glitter of sky and plain the thousand and one colors of the mob merged into a harmony that in the duller air of Europe would have seemed painfully absent.

The massed bands have been playing for some time; a selection from Lohengrin has just been played by an orchestra of which Wagner in his wildest madness never dreamed, and played with all the effect that a month's hard practice together and the best conductor in India were bound to produce. It seemed impossible that so steady and soft a volume of sound could be given out by the acres of brass and wood and string and string that surround the Imperial flagstaff in the centre.

There is a pause. Then, almost before the amphitheatre is aware, the most moving incident of all the day is upon them.

As punctually as ever they obeyed an order in 1857 a company of 300 men, old and grey-headed, some still in the uniform that they then wore, some in later kit, many in plain clothes, march slowly across the northern opening and wheel round—a little raggedly, God bless them—and move up. It is impossible to describe the emotion of the packed ranks. Not that there was much noise. Only one wished that the band would keep quiet.

Of course every possible touch of banality was given to the moving spectacle by the brazen band, marching much too fast, playing stridently, "See, the Conquering Hero Comes," and helping in true British manner to detract from the solemnity of the occasion. Fancy playing "See, the Conquering Hero Comes" on an occasion like that! However, it covered much, the banal sequence of obvious chords. A man behind me was picking at the cushion and swearing quietly; another within arm's length was staring at the men with a white face and dry lips. Three or four others were frankly crying.

PATHETIC PARADE.

It was altogether a high trial. Here in the midst of the most splendid celepration of triumphant India, in the centre of a gathering that bespoke security and peace, surrounded by the chosen representatives of many nations to celebrate a throne made stable for many years, here comes in the risen voice of a horror and a gallantry that children of England study as past history in their schools. Perhaps many, certainly some, had seen the breach carried by Nicholson three miles away. Some, at any rate a few, may have seen him before he died. This man held out for the eighty-seven days at Lucknow that helped to disarm the mutineers of Lahore.

The little band of 300 — selected from 1,500 anxious applicants by a somewhat arbitrary and unnecessary process of elimniation—moved round the circular road below the densely-packed blocks, the least affected as all—not as weakly as might have been thought. As they passed one saw that one at least of the natives—who do not stand years as well as ourselves—was quietly supported by his neighbor's arm. It was a strange thing in one way with which to prelude so magnificent a ceremoinial. Those who have been through the South African war in any capacity will remember the curious thrill of unreality that the first sight of a scarlet coat in England caused. It was smart, it was traditional, but it was not business. And the sight of this variegated company of lod ment hrew over the whole ceremony that followed that touch of the unreal that from some point of view might be regretted. Speaking personally this entry of the mutiny veterans fulfilled the essentials of the durbar more completely and more dramatically than the best planned proclamation or speech could ever have acheived. There is only one word for it— it brought the King into the middle of the arena in a flash.

BRITAIN MAY HAVE TO USE RETALIATION

American-Cuban Treaty Causing Considerable Feeling in England

London, Jan. 24—The reciprocity treaty between Cuba and the United States threatens to raise one of the most serious differences of opinion between Great Britain and the United States that has occurred for years. So much importance is attached to the matter that a meeting of the Cabinet is being specially summoned to see what action can be taken. There is of course, no alarmist feeling as to any possible straining of diplomatic relations, but Great Britain's entire commercial policy is believed to be vitally concerned.

The matter came to a head through the deputation from the Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom, which waited upon Foreign Secretary Lansdowne yesterday. It included several members of Parliament, and represented the most powerful business interests from all the British industrial centers. Replying to the delegates' argument that all the advantages which the Government had gained by securing the abolition of the sugar bounties would be sacrificed if the Cuban reciprocity treaty became operative, Lord Lansdowne said he thoroughly realized the gravity of the situation, and proceeded to read despatches, showing that Ambassador Herbert had forcefully represented the British objections to the treaty, pointing out that it was to all intents and purposes a discrimination against all the British possessions in the West Indies. Secretary Hay's reply maintained that the United States was doing no more than it had the right to do, and intimated that it had no intention of modifying the Cuban treaty.

Lord Lansdowne added that all the information available pointed to the fact that the treaty would pass, but he announced that the Cabinet would consider if anything further could be done.

The delegates said they understood the treaty contains a secret clause stipulating that no further measures of reciprocity shall be undertaken by the United States towards the British West Indies. If such were the case, it was suggested to Lord Lansdowne that Great Britain would only be within her rights in retaliating with an increased duty on grain. The Foreign Secretary gave no intimation on this point, which, apparently, was only suggested in the hope that some of the members of the Cabinet who are reported to be strongly in favor of a more protective policy might use it as a handle to forward their views.

A LARGE PROGRAM FOR THE ASSEMBLY

Many Important Matters will Come Up Before the Legislature—New Assessment Act is to be Introduced.

The indications are that the approaching session of the Legislature will be no light one in point of important legislation. It is understood, although no definite announcement has been made, that the draft assessment bill, which was submitted by the Assessment Commission over a year ago, will be introduced probably as a Government measure. The bill cannot but provoke prolonged discussion, and it will stand it, too, for there is a lot in it. It will be recalled that the reason it was not introduced last session was that the Government thought it would be unadvisable to press it until it was read and understood by the people at large. That this end might be accomplished, large numbers of the reports of the Commission, containing the bills recommended, were distributed to the municipalities and full discussion requested. It is not likely that the Government will again postpone consideration of the measure.

The Attorney-General proposes to present a consolidation of the Municipal Act. The Municipal legislation has not been consolidated for five years, and it has become very confusing in the meantime. Amendments and amendments to the amendments have been adopted in great numbers, to meet changing conditions, within the past five years, until now it has become almost imperative to have a boiling down and straightening out operation.

Railway legislation, of some kind, or another, in connection with the new transcontinental line, is expected, and will be important enough to produce discussion.

With these questions in the van, to say nothing of the mass of private legislation, which is sure to appear, the members of the new Parliament will not have as much chance as they usually have for the airing of campaign speeches which are a feature of post election sessions.

HE COMPLAINS ON BEHALF OF CANADA

Correspondent Who Pretends to be Member of Ottawa Cabinet—End of the Preference?—The Charge Made That the Dominion Gives Much and Gets Nothing in Return

London, Jan. 24—A correspondent who hides his name but claims to be a member of the Canadian ministry, indulges, through correspondence in the Daily Mail, in direct threats against England if she persists in refusing preferential treatment for Canadian goods. The letter declares that Canadian manufacturers are suffering form the preferential tariff, some severely, while Canada is getting nothing in return, and asks how the Canadian ministers can meet a new party which must be reckoned with. The letter resents the influence of Washington in London in relation to Canadian affairs, and asserts that there is growing Canadian dissatisfaction, and a strong idea in favor of separate national existence.

The letter has caused some questioning whether it means the end of the preferential tariff.

THE PATRIOTIC GIRL IS A CANADIAN

Excitedly Corrects Misapprehension on Part of Cochrane of Missouri

The Brave Girl Not Afraid to Stand up for Her Country

Montreal, Jan. 25.—'You lie,' was the uncompromising answer of a patriotic, high-spirited Canadian girl to charges against the loyalty of her country, made by Mr. Cochran, of Missouri, a member of the Lower House of Congress in Washington.

The girl who, among strangers in a foreign country, thus bravely defended her home land, was Miss Gladys Grant, a Canadian girl, who numbers among her warm friends many Montrealers.

Miss Grant, who has been engaged for some time in literary work, spent last year in New York. Last autumn she came to Montreal and visited friends here, gaining at the same time many new friends, who admired her spirit and talent. Miss Grant at that time had in contemplation a trip to India, with a view to a series of articles describing that wonderful country, but the plan was later on abandoned. Miss Grant left here to visit relatives in Ontario, and went thence to Washington, where she is at present staying.

WHAT CAUSED THE RETORT.

The remarks made in the Lower House of Congress, which led to the dramatic outburst above referred to, were during a general debate on the District of Columbia appropriation bill, which branched off to a discussion of the Alaska boundary dispute.

Mr. Cochran (Missouri), bitterly criticized the attitude of the United States to England, which he considered cowardly.

The climax came when the speaker said "when the truckling policy of the United States to Great Britain ceases, the people of Canada, now intensely loyal, will change their attitude."

From the ladies' gallery came like a flash the answer of the Canadians, as represented by one woman.

"You lie."

DUKE'S TRUNKS ATTACHED

Held For Security for a Diamond Merchant's Bill

New York, Jan. 23—The one hundred and twenty-five pieces of luggage of the Duke and Duchess of Manchester, which were taken from the Luciana on her arrival at this port on Saturday to the Holland House, are under a Sheriff's attachment at that hotel. The trouble, is over a bill for $856 which the Frederic Diamond Company of this city says his Grace owes. This bill, the plaintiff says, is for a necklace bought by the Duke for the Duchess on December 6th, 1900.

The Duke sent for a lawyer, Mr. Cadawlader, while the proprietor of the Holland House telephoned for George M. Pinney, jr., the attorney for the hotel. These two and Deputy-Sheriff Altman went into the cafe and conferred on the matter. It was finally decided that the house should stand responsible for the goods attached. It was understood that a bond would be furnished covering the value of the effects, and when that is executed properly the Duke and Duchess will be at liberty to go where they please, taking their belongings with them.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthener

Said a druggist today, "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives the best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble, and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, its action is prompt, and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large boxes cost 50c.

An Infant Prodigy

Syracuse, N.Y., January 26— Ontario Wayne county, has a whistling wonder which is attracting attention in that part of the State at present. It is the four months old son of Frank Denater, of that village.

Since birth the boy has been remarkable for a lusty pair of lungs, and his father spent much of his time walking the floor with him and whistling up to date coon songs. The child was an apt pupil, learnt the tunes himself, and is now whistling them, to the amazement of the community which flocks to the Denater home to hear the prodigy.

Ottawa Milliner Got Damages

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 26 — At the assizes yesterday, Miss Walker, milliner, was awarded $2,000 damages from the Ottawa Electric Lighting Company for injuries. She was walking along Sparks street where men were stringing wire. The wire fell and the end struck Miss Walker on the shoulder. She claims that it permanently disabled her and was awarded $2,000. She asked for $3,500.

South African Medals

Ottawa, Jan. 26— There does not seem to be the remotest chance of the Imperial authorities modifying the regulations, under which the South African medal is granted. Requests for extension of time, so as to include particular corps, colonial and otherwise, have been preferred, but this answer has been given in every case. Once the regulations are departed from, there would be no end to importuning for further changes. The opinion therefore prevails at headquarters here that there will be no change.

"MAPLE" SUGAR

The Montreal Trade Bulletin tells of the wholesale adulteration of maple sugar in the province of Quebec, and says:

To what extent maple sugar is adulterated may be learned from the fact that about 18 to 20 carloads of granulated sugar have been shipped to the sugar districts in the eastern townships during the past season for the purpose of mixing it with genuine maple product; and it is safe to say that although some makers still turn out the pure maple sugar, the greater portion of the product sold in the eastern townships is adulterated. There are some who maintain that the adulterated article is as good as the pure maple sugar, as they say nothing but the best white granulated sugar is used, whilst sufficient of the pure maple is mixed with it to give it the full natural flavor of the latter. Considerable quantities of this mixed sugar have been deported during the past season, the United States taking most of it. Quite a lot of glucose has also been shipped to the sugar districts of the eastern townships for the manufacture of so-called maple syrup, enough of the pure product being used to give it the natural flavor of the maple. As we said before, there are trades who will not use the above adulterants; but there are quite a number who do. The price of the adulterated maple sugar is close upon the basis of the pure, being quoted at 8 to 8 1-2c. against 9 to 9 1-2c. for pure.

Canadian granulated sugar is not bad in itself; but it is not maple sugar, and should not be sold for maple sugar, nor at maple sugar prices. To charge a man double price for granulated sugar, in pretence that it is maple sugar, is simply to swindle. Glucose is imported into this country in large quantities. But it is never sold to consumers as glucose. It is always sold for something else, and that is a very good reason why it should not be permitted to come into the country at all. No article which is sold under any disguise should be allowed a place in Canada. Cane or beet sugar is cheap enough for any and every purpose. It may be that glucose is harmless. We don't know. But if it is sold at all it should be sold as glucose and under no other circumstances.

No-Pay Hotel Guests.

"I wish you would have some new pens put on the writing-table," said a well-dressed man to the clerk of an uptown hotel.

"Certainly. Front!" and a boy was called and instructed to attend to the matter.

"Now, wouldn't you think that he was our star guest?" asked the clerk. "If you did think so you would be wrong, for he never spent a cent in this house. He lives quite a distance from here, but comes in as regularly as the day, reads his papers here, writes his letters at our desks and receives his callers in our reception rooms. He is not alone in his class. There are hundreds of men just like him. They are respectable, and in no way offensive, but they enjoy a lot of hotel privileges for nothing so long that they finally look upon them as vested rights."

The clerk told about the various kinds of "no-pay guests" to be seen in all New York hotels, and said that they were a source of expense to the hotels, but that they helped to distribute the hotel stationery, and occasionally some of their friends left a dollar there.

"The man with the long hair over there," said the clerk, pointing to a distinguished looking man who lolled in an easy chair with an air of proprietorship, "is one of our 'regular' guests. His specialty is newspapers. He has his breakfast at a coffee and cakes place near by, and comes early every morning. He sits about with his eyes half closed, apparently oblivious to all around him, until someone lays down a paper and walks away. Then he will jump for the paper quick as a flash, and begin to read. While he is reading he keeps an eye on the others in the room, and as papers are cast aside he adds to his store, but when he has finished reading he leaves the papers in the reading-room, and some of his fellow 'regulars' carry them away. At the writing-desks our expense for stationery is looked upon as legitimate, but there is one feature that goes a little beyond the limit, and is rather exasperating. That is the pilfering.

"Penholders, with pens and without pens, pens new and old and blotters in all stages, are carried away in great quantities. A man who is known as 'the professor' in the hotels in this neighborhood, probably because he was once a school teacher, used to sit around a writing-table for a long time every day, pretending to read, but he really watched for an opportunity to conceal a new blotter in the folds of his paper. When this had been accomplished he folded up the paper and walked out. What he wanted the paper for I don't know, because he did all his writing here. One day I called him aside and told him that he must stay away. He asked no questions, but he understood why. I am sure, however, that his place as a blotter pilferer has been filled."

In the winter these hotel loungers make the public rooms their club, and in warm weather they cannot be distinguished from the real guests in the fresh air parts of the hotels.

"Of course," said the clerk, "if we would allow everyone to make our house his headquarters we would soon have no room for our guests, but we do not. Our 'sitters' are reputable people, who have no business to occupy their time; old men whose day has passed or men who are waiting for something to turn up, and I am sure that they are all honest people, even if they do occasionally take a few pens and other articles of stationery or the daily papers.

"This class belongs to a New York hotel as much as that other class which consists of men who stand around the ticker all day figuring how much money could have been made if a certain amount had been invested on a certain stock. These people never speculate, because they have no money, but they haunt the hotel ticker, and live in hopes some day to play the game again which they understand so much better now than they did when they played it before."

A ROMANCE.

ing walk, and gone into a charming little alcove curtained off from the library by thick and heavy curtains of fringed Persian silk. He had thrown himself on a luxurious silken couch, and, yielding to the feebleness and weariness of old age, had fallen asleep.

He was awakened by the sound of voices in the library. It seemed as if Hilda had come into the library, and Florence had followed her.

"Hilda," said Florence, in a high, imperious voice, "what are you doing in here alone?"

The earl lay still, listening dreamily for the pleasant voice of the charming visitor he admired so much.

"Nothing, Florence," the clear, sweet voice replied; "I only came in here this moment for a book Mrs. Courtenaye was so kind as to recommend me to read."

"Mrs. Courtenaye has installed you as her prime favorite, I presume," sneered the heiress. "Where have you acquired your taste for reading, Hilda? You used not to be fond of it, I remember. Have you been at school?"

"Yes," Hilda said, tranquilly.

"Where?" Florence asked, with a start.

"I spent the year of our separation at the best school in Richmond," Hilda replied with perfect calmness. "You will remember it, no doubt, Florence, as you received your own education there, at my father's expense, while I was suffered to run wild, untutored, and uncared for as a little savage."

"Your father has already explained the reason to you, Hilda," the heiress said, sharply. "He was too poor to afford us both a college education, and thought it only just that I should receive the superior advantages, in order to fit me for the position I might some day take as the earl's granddaughter and heiress."

"Certainly," Hilda assented, in a tone of keen and polished sarcasm. Its sharpness cut Florence like a knife.

"Allow me to congratulate you on having obtained a smattering of education that makes you presentable, at least," she said. "Your balcony scene with Cecil Courtenaye, last night, was very fine."

"Florence! you were mean enough to listen!" cried Hilda, in dismay.

"I could not well avoid it," Florence said, coolly; "I was just inside the window. And let me tell you, Miss Hypocrite, that you need not think to win my lover from me by your artful wiles. We are to be married soon, and I hope you will see the propriety of letting him alone."

"You do me an injustice," Hilda said, with a reproachful glance. "If you heard all we said, Florence, you must have heard him avow his love for me. I did not encourage him—you know that, Florence. If I had, I think he would have forgotten everything else but me."

Florence was so enraged by the girl's straightforwardness, she could not speak for the moment. Hilda went on, a little complainingly:

"You have been unjust to me always, Florence—harsh and unkind always. Why is it? When we were sisters I tried to be loving and kind to you, but you always repulsed me except when you had some selfish motive in view. Since I have come to England you treat me more unbearably than ever. What harm can I do you? Why did you push me into the lake that day?"

"I push you into the lake? Girl, you must be mad!" cried Florence, in breathless alarm and anger. "Has Cecil Courtenaye dared to tell you——"

"He has told me nothing. No one needed to tell me," Hilda said, spiritedly. "You deliberately tried to drown me. I distinctly felt you give me a furtive push with your hand; then you whirled the boat around quickly before I could recover my balance. Florence, what had I done that you should seek my poor life?"

"Girl, you speak falsely! How dare you bring such a charge against me, the earl of Devon's granddaughter?" cried the heiress, clenching her little fists in wrath and hatred. "Another word, and I will have you hunted from the Hall by my grandfather's dogs!"

Then Hilda arose and faced the furious girl, with a proud, imperious scorn in her regal bearing and flashing eye.

"Florence," she said, in a clear, sharp, ringing voice, with a tone of power in it; "I should advise you not to attempt such a thing, for your own sake. Unpleasant developments might come to light. I tell you, frankly, I suspect you of some underhand dealing with me. You and Mr. Aylesford plotted my life that night at the Springs when I ran away from you. Tuesday you boldly attempted my life. I have no doubt that you will make another attempt to kill me the first opportunity you have. It must be that I am in your way somehow, or you would not be so anxious to get rid of me. I warn you that I am on my guard against you, and I will unmask your wicked designs if I can."

She paused, breathless, after her brave defiance.

Florence regarded her, with parted lips and terrified face, for a moment, then she broke into a taunting laugh.

"You are mad—mad as a March hare, Hilda Aylesford!" she cried out, wrathfully. "I shall go and tell your father so, and have you consigned to a lunatic asylum, where you deserve to be this minute!"

With the words she swept from the room. A minute later, Hilda followed her.

And that was what the Earl of Devon heard as he lay crouching in the alcove, spell bound by a nameless horror that would not let him speak nor move. What did it all mean? Was the brave and beautiful Hilda mad, indeed, as Florence said, or was his fair and tender granddaughter, the descendant of the brave and noble Lornes, the designing murderess Hilda's frank accusation had made her out to be?

CHAPTER XX.

In the Picture Gallery.

Before the projected visit to the picture gallery was made, Lady Leigh sent for Hilda to her room.

"My dear," she said, "before you go into the gallery I want you to put on the ruby silk, with velvet trimmings, that I ordered for you in London."

Hilda looked at her in some surprise, and the color rose in her olive cheek.

"It is quite too fine for me," she began. "I am already indebted so

THE DEED OF A JILTED MAN

Killed His Former Sweetheart Shot Her Escort and Then Himself

Chicago, January 22.—J. J. Conlin, last night shot and killed Jennie Dwyer, his one-time sweetheart, seriously wounded Frank M. Merritt, the young woman's escort, then sent a bullet into his own head, inflicting a wound from which he died today.

A short time ago Miss Dwyer told Conlin that he need not call at the house any longer. He insisted upon calling and Miss Dwyer refused to see him. Last night he hid behind the storm door of the girl's home and waited for her return from a party. When she and Merritt came up the steps Conlin shot Miss Dwyer in the forehead. Merrit was shot in the jaw. The wound is not dangerous. Thinking he had killed them both he then shot himself.

DEPENDABLE INFORMATION

is the only right sort to receive relative to stock movements; when such is received in connection with any property, an analysis of the property should be carefully made, to learn if the facts warrant the likelihood of the information being correct. If the two agree, then one should make his trade immediately, in accord with the knowledge thus obtained. It is unwise to buy into a property when selling above its value; also, equally injudicious to sell when prices are below intrinsic values. Those who will keep within their means and will operate in accord with the above axiom, need never take a loss in Wall Street. We maintain a complete Statistical Department, with the view to laying before our clients the actual facts about any property whose shares are dealt in upon the Exchanges; also, we issue for free distribution, at considerable expense, a most complete 400-page, illustrated,

"DAILY MARKET LETTER" and "GUIDE TO INVESTORS"

They are both yours for the asking, and are distinctly essential to dealers in stocks, inasmuch as they give complete and exhaustive knowledge of every company, either industrial or railway, the latest authentic obtainable facts pertinent thereto.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $35 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?
BECAUSE
THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

COFFEE AGAIN

An Old Philadelphia Physician Tells the Truth About It

A physician of Philadelphia, of many years practice, during which time he has carefully watched the effects of coffee drinking upon his patients, writes:

"During my practice in Philadelphia, I have had many serious cases of stomach kidney and liver disorders which I have traced to the use of coffee.

"Last year a fellow physician called my attention to the merits of Postum in the place of coffee. In many severe cases of torpid liver, various kidney diseases, etc., since then I have forbidden the use of coffee and prescribed Postum.

"In many cases the results were almost miraculous and in all there was marked improvement due solely to the use of Postum in the place of coffee.

"If you wish it I will furnish you the names of my patients so cured.

"Owing to the feeling that exists among the medical fraternity against physicians using the columns of the papers to advertise themselves, I request that you withhold my name, but you may refer any inquiries to me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

An Exciting Runaway

The Lindsay Post says:—Mr. Wm. T. Moore, a farmer residing near Peterborough was driving a spirited team of black horses into town on Friday hitched to a sleigh. When nearly opposite the Separate School on Lindsay street the animals took fright at a small boy and made a dash for liberty. They ran north to Kent street, but on turning west, they jumped on to the sidewalk in front of Riggs' store, where they were brought to a standstill, but not before considerable damage had been done to Mr. Riggs' property. The large plate glass window on the east side was broken and four or five hand-sleighs were wrecked. The horses escaped injury, but the farmer's sleigh was badly smashed. We understand the plate glass window was insured.

LOUGH-RUNNINGS NUPTIALS

In St. John's church, Ida, on January 21, a very pretty wedding was held when Miss Maggie Runnings, of Ida, and Mr. O. G. Lough, of Cavan, were joined in matrimony. The bride was becomingly attired in a white silk organdie dress and carried a beautiful boquet of white chrysanthemums. Miss Jennie Vance, of Ida, played the wedding march. Many handsome and useful presents were received by the popular bride. The groom presented the bride with sable furs, and to the organist and bridesmaid he gave an opal ring each. "Low Grove Hall," of Cavan will be the future home of the happy couple, to whom The Times extends most hearty congratulations.

VERY PROSPEROUS YEAR

The Toronto Loan and Savings Company Has Been Unusually Successful

The reports presented at the eighteenth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto Loan and Savings Company, on January 23rd, were exptremely satisfactory to those who are interested in the welfare of this popular and progressive company, and reflect great credit on the good judgment of the board of directors and especially on the Manager, Mr. W. G. Morrow, on whose shoulders much of the work has fallen.

After paying all expenses for the year there remained a net profit of $118,890.21. Last year $237,000 was added to the Reserve Fund, which now amounts to the handsome sum of $450,000. The total assets are now over two and a half millions of dollars. The past year's business has been of such a nature as to call for hearty congratulations.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox, was re-elected President, and Mr. W. G. Morrow as Manager, so we may safely conclude that this well-established and reliable company will make the present year a very successful one also.

ARE GETTING READY TO RAISE THE BLOCKADE

Berlin Believes That an Agreement will Soon be Arrived At

Seized by the Germans—Fort San Carlos Said to be in Their Hands—The Panther Disabled

Berlin, January 26.—Written declarations regarding raising the blockade of the Venezuelan ports have been exchanged between Minister Bowen and the representatives of Great Britain, Germany and Italy. In their declarations the representatives of the European powers promised to consent to the immediate raising of the blockade as soon as an agreement is concluded between them and Mr. Bowen, embodying the conditions laid down by the powers. These conditions chiefly relate to the guarantees to be furnished by Venezuela, which has offered a portion of the Customs revenue of La Guaira and Porto Cabello.

An Unpopular Alliance.

New York, Jan. 26 The Anglo-German alliance becomes more unpopular every day, according to a despatch from London to the Tribune. Rightly or wrongly, the feeling is growing that the Berlin Government is doing its best to involve England in a quarrel with America. It is difficult to say what will be the outcome of the San Carlos incident.

Henry Norman, who is one of the ablest critics of foreign affairs in the House of Commons, points out that although the Monroe doctrine has been formally recognized by Great Britain it has not been recognised by Germany, and, as nobody who follows German opinion closely doubts for a moment that a misunderstanding between this country and America would be very far from being a matter of sorrow in Germany, it was a master stroke of diplomacy for the Kaiser to inveigle the British Government into this alliance for joint action within the sphere of the Monroe doctrine.

Seized by Germans.

New York, Jan. 26—Persons in close touch with the blockading forces, say, according to the Herald's Puerto Cabello, Venezuela correspondent, that Fort San Carlos, which commands the entrance to Lake Maracaibo, has been captured by the Germans, and been blown up.

They also report that the German gunboat Panther, has been disabled and is being towed by the German cruiser Falke to Willemstad, Curacoa.

Castro's Forces Defeated.

New York, Jan. 26 —President Castro's troops have been defeated by the Venezuelan revolutionists in an important battle about forty miles west of Puerto Cabello, says a despatch to the Herald from Willemstad, Island of Curacoa. Scattered bodies of the defeated Government soldiers are residing in Puerto Cabello. Their commanding general was captured by the revolutionists.

THE GERMAN FLEET BRITAIN'S STRENGTH

An Anglo-German Alliance Strongly Urged by a German Affair

London, Jan. 26.—Just now, when England is not certain that she acted wisely in joining Germany in the attack on Venezuela, does not seem to be an opportune time for the proposal made by Count Reventlow, a German naval expert. He seriously proposes a permanent Anglo-German alliance, "purely naval in character," against the world. Count Reventlow contends that in 1920, if not sooner, the German navy will be the largest in the world except the British, that England should realize that her monopoly of the sea in peace and war can no longer be maintained, and that her interests can best be served by a naval alliance under which both contracting parties, England and Germany, "can warm themselves side by side on the sunny side of the world." The German fleet, the Count points out, "has three simple tasks to perform—to defend the coasts of the empire, to defend the territory that Germany has acquired abroad, and to keep the sea open for her ever-increasing trade."

The English will probably want to wait until they get out of their present scrape with the Germans before forming the alliance so kindly offered by Count Reventlow. And when they do get a little time to think about it perhaps they will think that the time has not yet come when Britons need to help pull chestnuts out of the fire for Germany. The proposal of Count Reventlow is decidedly calm, if not cheeky.

THE IRISH LAND QUESTION

London, Jan. 26.—The report agreed to by the Irish Land Conference has naturally provoked the liveliest comment from the newspapers of Great Britain and Ireland.

A special correspondent of the Irish Times estimates that the financial proposals of the Conference would involve the state in an absolute grant of at least £50,000,000 as the cost of the transfer of land from the landlord to the tenant. He takes the case of a farmer who now pays £100 a year as a second term rent. According to the proposals of the the conference, the tenant is to receive an immediate reduction of at least 15 per cent, and the landlord is to receive an annual sum of £100 a year, subject to a deduction not exceeding 10 per cent. for the costs, if any, which he now incurs for collection. Whether the landlord is paid in Three per Cent. stock or in cash, the calculated result is extremely discouraging to the British tax payer. In the latter case the landlord would receive at least £2000, and the tenant would pay an annuity of £25. Under the Act of 1891, the tenant's annuity was calculated at 4 per cent. This extinguished the advance in 49 years, or, if adopted, in 70 years; £25 is 4 per cent. upon £625 only, consequently the State would have to provide the balance of the purchase money—viz., £375 for every £100 of present rent, or a total for all Ireland of £70,000,000. Under Mr. Wyndham's Bill last year an annuity of 3 3-4 per cent. was to pay off an advance in 68 years; £25 is, however, only 3 3-4 per cent. upon £1266 13s. 4d. The balance to be provided by the State would be £733 6s. 8d. This would mean a total absolute grant by the State of over £54,000,000.

SOME PRESS COMMENTS.

London Times: "The gist of the whole scheme is that the State—which means, of course, the Imperial Treasury—is to make good the difference between the price when the tenants are ready to pay for their holdings and the price which the owner, who is usually a limited owner subject to the payment of considerable charge, can afford to accept. . . .We confess that on a first view it seems to us that the scheme, apart from other objections, would impose upon the taxpayer a burden which, with the best will in the world, he must decline to assume."

London Daily Chronicle: "Undoubtedly the recommendations of the Conference have given a strong lead to Mr. Wyndham for the Bill which he proposes to introduce early in next session. Will he have the courage and wisdom to follow the lead? . . . It ill becomes us as a nation to scrutinize too closely the cost of the settlement of the land question from the point of view of a mere investment. . . . If we solve this problem of land tenure, as we can solve it, we shall substitute strength for weakness, we convert discontent into satisfaction, poverty and unrest into peaceful and continuous progress."

Irish Times: "The conference has disposed of the idea that the representatives of the tenants want to abolish not only 'landlordism,' but landlords themselves, or that the representatives of the landlords regard the tenants as persons possessing no real interest in their holdings, and no rights to be maintained. The fact that so many of these proposals accord with those put forward by the Landlords' Convention, and with the provisions of Mr. Wyndham's bill of last year, make it all the more likely that they will receive legislative sanction."

Irish Daily Independent: "The report should now make it easy for the Chief Secretary to pass a bill which the House of Lords can easily swallow."

Freeman's Journal: "That a conference at which the landlords of Ireland were so ably and significantly represented should have unanimously agreed that the existing land system is adverse to the interests of Ireland and a menace to the State, and that a satisfactory settlement of the land question can be effected only by the substitution of an occupying proprietary in lieu of the existing system of dual ownership, is an event of the first importance."

Dublin Daily Express: "How is it that Mr. Russell, who, in October, offered the landlords twenty-three years' purchase of the second term rents, is now willing to give them thirty-three years' pur*chase of the selfsame incomes?* The answer is not difficult to find. The Nationalist leaders have not been convinced by argument, but by bribes."

Northern Whig: "The scheme is, in its main lines, an admirable one. . . . We are well aware that much hard and practical work lies before the Government and before Parliament. But the work has now been begun in the right spirit, and the measure of agreement already reached affords bright hope for the future."

Belfast Telegraph: "That it should be possible for four representative landlords and four representatives of the one agreement upon any public question, but especially upon the vexed problem of Irish land, surely indicates the dawn of a new era in the history of the country. . . .Mr. Wyndham may proceed at once with the drafting of his Irish Land Bill. He can rely that it will receive sympathetic and impartial consideration."

Glasgow Evening News: "We have been told that this is to be an Irish session. Is it too much to hope, further, that it will be an Irish session in which there will at last be forthcoming some evidence of a real Irish settlement? May no untoward circumstance spoil the welcome promise now afforded?"

ENGLAND'S ARBITRATION

Are Sixty-Six in Number, and Show Extent of Empire

London, Jan. 27—There are many ways of estimating the power and extent of empire. One is the number of times in which a State has been engaged in international arbitration. Since the general pacification of 1815 there have been, till July, 1898, 158 instances of this resort for the settlement of disputes between nations, and in 66 of these Great Britain appears as a party. The proposed arbitration with regard to Venezuela will make the sixty-seventh in which this country has been involved. In seven of these cases Venezuela was concerned, twice with Great Britain, twice with the United States, twice with Colombia and once with France. The progenitor of these international tribunals was the Amphictyonic council of Greece, which was the deliberative assembly of an association formed among neighboring tribes of Greece for the regulation of their mutual intercourse. The latest is of course The Hague Tribunal. There have been many other interesting schemes for securing universal peace, notably one formulated by China in 1890, on the suggestion, it is understood, by a distinguished Japanese statesman. But war goes on all the same.

BUBONIC PLAGUE THREATENS

Epidemic in Mexico and Many Cases in California

Washington, Jan 27—No country in the world excels the United States in efforts to ward off the invasion and spread of deadly plagues, but it is certain that we are now threatened by that great Asiatic scourge, the bubonic plague. It has reached the epidemic stage in the republic south of us and has invaded California. It has made its dreaded appearance in several parts of Mexico, but is at its worst in Topolobampo where the people are dying like plague-stricken sheep. In Mazatlan there have been over 150 deaths and half the population has fled.

The disease has been present in California for several years and the cases have become so numerous that at a conference of 21 State Boards of Health it was resolved this week that California must take immediate action or be cut off from commercial relations with the other States. Eighty-seven cases have been found in San Francisco's Chinese district alone. Of 22 dead rats picked up in Chinatown 11 were found to be infected. It is recommended that Chinatown be burned to the ground, and the inhabitants sequestered at some place outside the city.

Paine's Celery Compound stands unforms of rheumatism. At this season its good work is apparent in thousands of Canadian homes. Men and women, lame and crippled and utterly helpless from the terrible disease are being restored to activity, health and strength. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that rescues and saves the despairing victim who is told that he or she is incurable. Mr. W. Morissette, Roxton, Que., says:

"Having been given up to die by some of the best doctors in the United States, I came to Canada last autumn terribly ill, and had lost all hope. Suffering agonies from inflammatory rheumatism, I was strongly urged to use Paine's Celery Compound. I gave it a trial, and the first bottle did me so much good I continued with the medicine until I had used seven bottles, when I found myself perfectly cured; indeed, I never felt better in all my life than at present. I use every possible means to tell others of Paine's Celery Compound, and will always recommend it to those troubled with rheumatism.

MEXICAN PROJECT IS TO BE PUSHED

Organization of the New Canadian Company is Completed

TO START AT ONCE

One Section to be Done in Two Years, the Other in Four.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—Final arrangements were made yesterday for the organization of the Mexican Light and Power Company, when the officers were elected and contracts closed that will permit of the work being started at once. The following will be the officers: President, Mr. James Ross; vice-president, Mr. J. H. Plummer, Toronto; 2nd vice-president and consulting engineer, Mr. F. S. Pearson, New York; Board of Directors, in addition to the officials, Messrs. E. S. Clouston, Hon. G. A. Drummond, F. L. Wanklyn, G. R. Wood; treasurer, H. G. Ross; secretary, A. R. Dobell; and resident engineer, Hugh L. Cooper, of New York.

The first announcement of the nature of the work that will be necessary to transmit electric power a distance of 85 miles to the City of Mexico was given to a newspaper representative to-day by Mr. F. S. Pearson, the consulting engineer of the company.

"The water powers that have been acquired," he stated, "are distant 83 1-2 miles in a direct line from the City of Mexico. The transmission lines, on the route selected, will be 85 miles long, with a branch to the City of Pachuca, 26 miles in length. The plan for the development of power and the generation of electricity is briefly as follows: Three rivers have been secured, and the diversion of the waters of the Tenango and Catepuxtla rivers into the Necaxa is by an open cut and tunnel. A fall of 1,300 feet will thus be formed and at the foot of it a storage dam will be erected. A small dam will be situated lower down to form a regulating reservior. A tunnel and four lines of 46-inch feeders to the power station will then be added and a power station containing hydraulic and electric machinery for the generation of 40,000 horse power. The static head in the first installation will be 1,353 feet.

"The second installation will utilize a further fall of 1,220 feet and will be practically a duplicate of the first, but it will not cost nearly so much, because many items provided in the first installation need not be duplicated. Work will be started early in February, and the first installation will be completed within two years. The second installation will be completed within four years."

BREATHE ELECTRICITY

California Scientist Claims a Startling Discovery

San Francisco, Jan. 26.—Dr. Albert J. Atkins, lecturer on principles of medicine at the California medical College, in a paper read before the San Francisco County Association of Physicians and Surgeons, claims experiments conducted by him demonstrate that it is electricity not oxygen, which purifies the blood in the lungs.

Dr. Atkins says that no oxygen passes through the membrane of the air cells of the lungs into the blood stream; also that the air cells secrete carbon.

He has discovered that the action which takes place in the lungs in breathing is electrical.

Samuel Pearson. The party is looking for a location for the Boers in the South-West, to which between 5,000 and 10,000 of them will remove from South Africa.

A THRILLING TALE OF A SHIP AT SEA

Over Three Months on the Winter Journey From Nome to Seattle

TWICE THE SHIP RAN OUT OF COAL SUPPLY

Buffeted by Gales, the Boilers Leaked and the Machinery Battered

Seattle, Wash, Jan. 26— A special from Port Townsend says:

After having been so long on the journey that recent advices of safety were received with undisguised incredulity, the little steamer Dawson City, one of the first of the new fleet to leave and the last to arrive, came sailing into port at noon yesterday like a spectre. Few here had ever seen the vessel, and it was not until former Nomeites confirmed the supposition that it could be believed that the little vessel was really the long-overdue packet.

The steamer gives few outward signs of the terrible voyage, but casual inspection aboard shows the differences. The boiler is leaking to the point of being absolutely useless, while the machinery, through continuous buffeting about and the lack of facilities for repairs, tells a plain story. Felix Brown, owner of the vessel, shows the effects of the troubles to which he has been subjected in his efforts to get his property back to civilization.

From October 8 last year, when the Dawson City started from Nome for Seattle, her voyage has been one of perpetual misfortune and disappointment. When but a few days out the boilers commenced leaking, and the steamer headed for Nunivak Island, where temporary repairs were made.

She left there November 10, during very bad weather. To add to the discomforts, several boiler tubes blew out, disabling the steaming facilities. Several days later the steamer was forced into Port Moller by the fact that both the water and fuel supply was beginning to run low. The chart showed that coal was available at this port, but the statement was omitted that the deposit was located five miles inland, with no road available to tidewater. Nothing daunted, the crew, from master to boy, went at the task, and succeeded in filling the bunkers again, each man carrying a gunny sack with 50 pounds of coal on each journey, covering ten miles going and returning. While taking water casks ashore the crew lost one of their available boats, which was dashed on the rocks and smashed. After two weeks spent in this tiresome work at Moller, the vessel started out again. The severe winds commenced. The Dawson City was caught in terrific gales, but weathered them surprisingly well. Soon the coal was exhausted again. The vessel was forced to head for Dutch Harbor, using such canvas as was found aboard for a makeshift.

Two weeks were spent at Dutch Harbor; a new canvas was secured and on January 8 the packet resumed her trip Off Cape Flattery Friday night the vessel met a strong gale, but was fortunate in having a shift of wind which brought her to a safe anchorage here.

The crew includes Captain H. Hansen, Mate A. C. Heckman, Chief Engineer William Smith, Fireman Mitchell, Steward Fredericks, and George Schultz, cabin boy.

Utica, N.Y., Jan. 27—The Rev Theophile Wittlinger, pastor of Trinity German Lutheran church, Rome, was arrested on a charge of rubbernecking." The complainants are the Misses Mary and Caroline Geisler, who charge the reverend gentleman with playing the part of a "Peeping Tom."

Officers traced a man's footprints from beneath the bedroom window of the Misses Geisler to the home of the clergyman. They rapped on the door and through the curtain saw the reverend gentleman descend the stairs with a lamp in one hand and a club in the other. Mr. Wittlinger did not let the officers in. Subsequently he appeared at police headquarters for an explanation. He stoutly denied the charge against him, but was arrested when the Misses Geisler positively identified him.

The affair has created big sensation in Rome, where the Rev. Mr. Wittlinger is very prominent in religious circles. The minister went to Rome from Tonawanda last May. He is 29 years old and unmarried. He is a graduate of Elmhurst College, St. Louis, and the McCormick Theological Seminary at Chicago.

Rome, January 27—The formation and aims of the Catholic Truth Federation in America is causing considerable discussion in the Vatican. As understood here, this society, organised by Bishops McFaul (Trenton) and Messmer (Green Bay), aims to organize the Catholic party in local and national politics, modeled after the Catholic "Center party" of Germany, which, by holding the balance of power in the reichstag, has been able to get many valuable concessions for the church.

Archbishop Ireland has sent a report to the vatican denouncing the proposed federation, and in the main the Vatican prelates have agreed with Ireland, regarding the effort as premature. It is stated that Messmer's connection with the proposed federation has defeated his hopes of being archbishop of Manila.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 27—Bishop Joseph C. Hartzell, a missionary of the Episcopal church spoke at Olive street M. E. church last night on "South Africa." He told of Kimberley and the wonderful diamond mines, in which 3,500 people were sheltered during the seige in the recent war. Interesting stories were also related of the great men of South Africa, with all of whom the bishop is acquainted. "The best element of the Dutch are glad that the war is over and that they are now helping the English to build up the country," he said. "The Dutch preachers and the Boer women are the slowest to accept the situation for the reason that they are governed more by their prejudices than the leading men among the Boers."

The latter debts were contracted mainly in attempts to bolster up two companies in which he was a director.

GERMAN-AMERICAN RELATIONS MAY BE STRAINED

A Corresponding Hostility Shows Itself in Germany Against the United States

Nasty Feeling Still Grows—Europe Suspicious of German Policy in the Venezuelan War

London, Jan. 26—The London Times in an editorial this morning, say sthat an act of uncompromising hostility committed by German warships in Venezuelan waters has startled and dismayed all who were bent on a speedy and tranquil solution of the problem. "There is a time for the exercise of force," continues the editorial, "and there is a time when its exercise, even its display, should be avoided. The surprise and resentment of the United States are natural, but what is unexpected is the unanimity of the French and Austrian comments in the matter.

The Paris correspondent of The Times says: "Nobody here suspects England of having anything in view in the Venezuelan matter except her avowed object, or is seeking to use the Venezuelan difficulty for any ulterior purposes. On the other hand there is a concensus of opinion that Germany's action in Venezuela is merely part and parcel of her world policy, and that she is using her claims against Venezuela to further the far-reaching schemes, which she has good reasons for not disclosing. It is impossible to converse on the subject with any French politician without his asking what is the Kaisers secret motive in the affair? The fact is the suspicion of the whole world has been aroused against these motives and nobody outside of Germany believes them anything but hostile to the United States. The American people have every reason on this occasion to take European public opinion seriously into account. Germany's peculiar methods of international politics are too well known on this side of the Atlantic not to be easy of application, but the United States, although no novice in the field of diplomacy, had had little opportunity of treating questions so rife with dangerous possibilities with a country which for the last thirty years has outwitted all most every continental Government, and is exciting the profound suspicion of even her own allies."

GERMAN FEELING ALSO WORKED UP

New York, Jan. 26 —The Herald's Berlin correspondent cables: "I had an opportunity today of talking with a German member of the newly established league for the promotion of good relations between Germany and the United States. He deplores bitterly Germany's having gone into the Venezuelan question. After talking over the growing force of anti-German sentiment in the United States and expressing his regret at the same, he said: "I have never known sentiment in Germany so highly wrought up against Americans. not even at the time of the Spanish war. Wherever I go I hear the same thing. Strong sentiments are expressed against the American attitude and against the idea that the United States seems to have that she can dictate to this country. Germans are not Spaniards, nor will they stand being so treated. God forfend that President Roosevelt should make any call upon Germany, as proposed by The Journal, to raise the blockade. He would receive such a supply from here as would astonish Americans.' The Frankfurter Zeitung publishes a cable stating that Herr Gossler, son of the former Minister of War, has been grossly insulted at a public dinner in New York, and also that anti-German sentiment is growing which has not tended to diminish the rapidly growing ill-humor spreading over all classes here. Among our own countrymen the feeling of irritation and apprehension is universal and undisguised. We certainly never contemplated that the bombardment would be carried in Venezuela simultaneously with the transaction of diplomatic business in Washington. It is perfectly clear that these ill-timed punitive measures will not make easier the already difficult task of determining the conditions for a speedy removal of the blockade."

VENEZUELAN FORCES DEFEATED.

Persons in close touch with the blockading forces say, according to The Herald's Puerto Cabello, Venezuelan, correspondent, that Fort San Carlos, which commands the entrance to Lake Maracaibo, has been captured by the Germans and been blown up. They also report that the German gunboat Panther has been disabled, and is being towed by the German cruiser Falke to Willemstad, Coracoa.

The Washington Attitude.

Washington, Jan. 26 —The Venezuelan situation was discussed at length at today's Cabinet meeting but it can be said by authority that no change in the attitude of the United States is in contemplation at this time. The Government will continue its policy of "sitting tight." The bombardment by the German warships at Fort San Carlos is regretted sincerely by officials of the Administration, because of their apprehension that it may complicate seriously the pending negotiations. However, while the Administration regards the bombardment as unwarranted, the United States has no intention of taking official cognizance of it.

Berlin, Jan. 26 —Written declaration regarding raising the blockade of the Venezuelan ports have been exchanged between Minister Bowen and the representatives of Great Britain, Germany, and Italy. In their declarations the representatives of the European powers promised to consent to the immediate raising of the blockade as soon as an agreement is concluded between them and Mr. Bowen embodying the conditions laid down by the powers. These conditions chiefly relate to the guarantees to be furnished by Venezuela, which has offered a postion of the customs revenue of La Guaira and Porto Cabello.

AUTHORITY OF POLICEMEN

Is Not Donned and Doffed with His Official Uniform

Arising out of a little trouble at the rink the other night, when there seemed a doubt as to the authority of Policemen Stewart and Moore to interfere, comes the question as to whether a policeman in civilian clothes may legally arrest a man.

From the Criminal Code we clip the following:

38. Everyone who witnesses a breach of the peace, is justified in interfering to prevent its continuance or renewal, and may detain any person committing or about to join in or renew such breach of the peace, in order to give him into the custody of a peace officer, providing the person interfering uses no more force than is reasonably necessary for preventing the continuance or renewal of such breach of the peace, or than is reasonably proportioned to the danger to be apprehended from the continuance or renewal of such breach of the peace.

39. Every police officer who witnesses a breach of the peace, and every person lawfully assisting him, is justified in arresting anyone whom he finds committing such breach of the peace, or whom he on reasonable and probable grounds believes to be about to join in or renew such breach of the peace.

BACKWARD CHINESE WON'T BE CIVILIZED

Education Making But Little Progress in the Flowery Kingdom

A RATHER CHEERLESS OUTLOOK

The Rev. Gilbert Walshe of Shanghai, Says the People Won't Learn

Washington, Jan. 26.—The Chinese don't take as kindly to being educated in a reformed way as they ought to. The Rev. Gilbert Walshe, the recording secretary of the Society for the Diffusion of Christian and General Knowledge at Shanghai, declares that there is very little foundation for the general idea that genuine educational reform is making any headway in China. There is not, he declares, any defined scheme for the basis of such a reform. The Emperor, in his edict, decreed that universities should be established in each province, colleges in each prefecture, and schools in each district, but as the Chinese language makes no distinction between singular and plural forms, the local officials took for granted that one university in each province, one college in each prefecture, and one school in each "hsien" would be sufficient to meet the case. The absurdity of such provision is manifest in the fact that some of the smallest "hsiens" or districts contain no less than 10,000 scholars. And though the nature of the schools required was roughly outlined, there was no suggestion as to the curriculum to be adopted, nor any rules as to management and direction. Nor was any adequate provision made for the financial maintenance of such institutions, so that six months after the proclamation, the Emperor complained in the strongest terms that little or no notice had been taken of his behest. In those exceptional cases where action was taken, the officials endeavored to evade the imputation of laxity by giving new names to the already existing Chinese colleges, calling them "Chinese and Western Halls of Learning," by employing a small number of professors for the teaching of Chinese literature, etc., and a much smaller number of utterly unqualified natives for the teaching of English, French, science, etc.—not one of the "faculty" having the least idea whether the "English" teacher could speak English or the science master had ever studied the subject. Establishments of this kind are to be found all over the country.

IMMIGRANTS FROM BRITAIN

A correspondent of the Toronto World writing on emigration from England to Canada, says:

In 1880 I was present at the final interview between Sir John Carling, then Minister of Agriculture in John Sandfield Macdonald's Government, and Mr. Thomas White, then of the spectator, whom he was sending on a special mission to England, with the view of capturing farm laborers. As the minister shook hands with the editor, he said: "Good-bye, White, and remember the only way to do the thing is to make the name of Canada ring throughout England. You must raise hades!" Mr. White said he would; but I fancy that the amount of money placed at his disposal only enabled him to raise—a comparatively small cloud of dust. There are larger sums of public money now available for such a purpose. But it must be remembered that the rents in the Old Country are today very low, and wages very good; and, by comparison with the state of things prevailing there 25 years ago, both tenants and workmen have more reason to be satisfied with prevailing conditions at home. Nevertheless, a live man and a live system of making Canada known will be sure of more or less success.

Sifton and Smart are live men, with a live system. Just keep your eye skinned for results. For instance a London despatch says:

A party of British emigrants, consisting of 2,000 persons, will sail from Liverpool on March 31st for St. John, New Brunswick. Rev. J. M. Barr has the authority of the Dominion Government to take out these emigrants, and foreigners will not be permitted to settle in the territory reserved for them at Saskatoon.

WHAT WILL THE HARVEST BE ?

That shrewd mortal, Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, in floating stupendous corporations and, apparently, achieving permanent triumphs. If the trusting people who are investing their good dollars in the trusts would only study Mr. Morgan's methods, they might place less reliance upon the glowing accounts of big dividends now being derived from the Billion Dollar Trust and other trusts. Mr. Morgan does not use his own money in the financial ventures which are startling the world. His ability as a constructive financier has won him such a reputation that men with millions are willing to pay him a pretty price for organizing a trust likely to pay the original investors all cost 200 per cent. upon their money. When Mr. Morgan financiered the Billion Dollar Trust, the understanding was that the scheme would be backed by $200,000,000, if required. Not more than one-eighth of that sum was invested in the company by the promoters. For his share in the transaction Mr. Morgan received about $10,000,000.

Of course the immense income which the king of trust promoters is deriving from his remarkable financiering comes directly from the thousands of people who confidently believe that anything which has Mr. Morgan's backing is bound to succeed. While we are convinced that the Steel Trusts and other gigantic enterprises will repay stockholders for a time, we also believe that many investors will be ruined when confidence is withdrawn from the corporations now flourishing upon inflated stock. What will the harvest be when the people refuse to purchase more unfloated stock?

EDITORIAL COMMENT

British Colombians are to make another effort to propogate wild song birds in the forests of that province, and a fund of $700 is to be expended in importing a variety of singing birds from Great Britain. In this country the feathered songsters have been almost exterminated by the heartless hunters, whose sole delight seems to be to take life.

Some of the power company organs of New York State are crying out against the "vandalism" of the Canadians who are proceeding by various schemes to harness the Niagara. It is sad indeed that all that sort of thing is not to be left to our neighbors. But we don't like to see all that water going to waste, and there's enough for both of us. They should not play dog in the manger.

The Transvaal Government has decided to reduce from February 1st, the railway rates on local traffic within the Transvaal. The effect of this will be a reduction of the railway revenue of the colony by several hundred thousand pounds per annum. But the Government recognizes that the matter must be approached with courage, and that, is the country is to be materially benefited, a large reduction must be made immediately.

Rush of Oil Prospectors

Blenheim, Ont., Jan. 26—The town of Blenheim is crowded with prospectors, owing to another find in the oil fields of Raleigh. Mr. McRae has developed a rich strike on lot. No. 13, on the Talbot road, about 145 feet below the surface. Mr. McRae is very quiet about his find, but in a private interview said it was equal to a one hundred-barrel well.

Buys Western Lands

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 26—Col. Sam Hughes, M.P., who has been in Winnipeg and the West for some time, left for Minneapolis, Des Moines and Chicago, yesterday afternoon. While West the colonel invested in sixty-four additional sections of land. Different parties had previously been negotiating for this land which lies in the Swan River district, but it is understood that the purchase price is about $4.50 per acre, bringing the amount paid to something over $100,000.

Brunette and Blonde

A ROMANCE.

much to you and Sir Wilfred for your kindness that —"—

"Hush! not another word," the lady interrupted, with pleasant impatience. "You know that Wilfred and I do not consider our affectionate care for you in that light. I had a certain end in view when I ordered the dress made for you. The time has come for you to wear it."

Hilda sighed deeply. Florence's deliberate attempt on her life had weighed heavily on her heart and spirit.

"Lady Leigh," she said, "I am almost ready to ask you to take me away from here. Even if I am really the true heiress, as you think, I do not believe it can ever be proved. And my life is in hourly danger. Do you realize that?"

"Yes, Hilda, I realise that fully," the lady answered, gravely, "but you must not feel afraid, dear, for we guard you too carefully for any secret harm to reach you, and your enemies would not dare attempt an open outrage. I know it is an unpleasant position for you, but I do not despair of proving you the earl's granddaughter yet, although our only hope at present is in your great resemblance to the Lornes. I do not think the earl can help seeing it when once you stand side by side with the portraits of your noble race. Once get his suspicions awakened, and it may be we can force Aylesford into the truth. It is strange how carefully the villain has covered up his tracks so that all of Wilfred's efforts to learn aught of his past have failed so persistently. But, my darling, I believe that success will yet be ours. Surely heaven cannot permit such a guilty fraud to live."

"Mr. Aylesford told me this morning that he had been making arrangements for a tour in Switzerland, and intended taking me with him," Hilda said, with a troubled brow.

"And you —what did you tell him, dear?" the lady asked, troubled also by this unexpected intelligence.

"I told him I had promised to remain some time with you, with his kind permission," replied the young girl.

"That was well. You acted wisely," said Lady Leigh. "We have to temporize with the wretch. We have to oppose fraud with fraud, and cunning with cunning. On no account would I permit him to take you away. Why do you look so troubled, Hilda?"

"I will tell you," the girl said, frankly. "I acted my part very well with Mr. Aylesford, but I was not so successful in restraining myself with Florence. I have let her know that I suspected the fraud."

She related what had occurred in the library that morning, blushing that her high spirit and smarting sense of wrong had led her into such an unfortunate altercation with the fair impostor.

Lady Leigh looked dismayed.

"I know you could not help it, Hilda," she said. "Your nature is too frank and open to successfully sustain you in any contest where the real feelings of the heart are best concealed. But I deeply regret this quarrel. It will precipitate matters. Your enemies will be in the greatest haste now to consummate their designs against you."

Hilda grew pale for a moment, and leaned against her friend. She was brave and true as steel. No outward danger could daunt her brave spirit. But the hidden malice of her enemies the horror of their secret conspiracy against her life, thrilled her with a terrible dread. She was young, fair, she loved the beautiful, bright world, and the kind friends Heaven had sent to her in her helplessness and despair. The thought of death —such a death so vaguely and mysteriously menaced her — terrified even her brave spirit.

"Do not be frightened, dear," Lady Leigh said, kissing the pale cheek fondly. "No one shall harm you. Wilfred and I shall constantly be near you to guard and protect you now. Cecil Courtenaye watches, too, as was evidenced by his prompt rescue the day Florence tried to drown you."

The color that had been banished by her fears returned now in a swift tide to Hilda's cheek.

"Does — does Mr. Courtenaye know?" she asked, surprised.

"No; we have not confided in any one. Wilfred thought it best not to at present. But Cecil evidently suspects Florence's antagonism to you, and his fears and his love keep him on guard always against his vague foreboding of evil for you."

Hilda made no answer. A thrill of shy, tremulous sweetness ran through her heart at Lady Leigh's assertion of Mr. Courtenaye's care for her. How pleasant it was to know that her friend —her new friend, as she shyly called him in her thoughts — was keeping anxious watch that she should come to no harm from her foes.

"Hilda, why are you blushing so?" the lady asked, teasingly. "Have you found out Cecil's secret, too? We all see that he is in love with you. And that is just as it should be. If the earl's heir marries the earl's granddaughter, all will go well."

"Mr. Courtenaye is engaged to marry Florence," answered Hilda, trying to appear very grave and unconcerned.

"Who told you such a falsehood, Hilda?" cried Lady Leigh.

"Florence told me herself," answered Hilda, and Lady Leigh laughed scornfully.

"My dear, you should have known better than to believe her," she said. "It is not true. Mrs. Courtenaye told me herself that the earl had desired Cecil to marry Florence, and he had flatly refused to entertain the idea."

A thrill of happiness, so sweet it was almost painful, ran through Hilda's young heart at that blissful intelligence. She had not known how terribly she hated the thought of Cecil's marriage until now, when her whole being thrilled at the thought of her lover's freedom.

"Run to your maid now, and be dressed," said Lady Leigh. "I will come in myself and see how she does your hair. I wish it arranged in a particular style to-day."

It seemed as if the proposition to visit the picture-gallery was agreeable to all the family. Florence declared her intention of accompanying her grandfather and Hilda. Mr. Aylesford invited himself, with ready tact. One after another joined them as they proceeded to the long and spacious apartment where every artist of note was represented.

BUY MAY CORN NOW!

The letters that follow speak for themselves, and should prove that our judgment, while not infallible, is to be depended upon.

Last October, when December Corn was selling around 43 1-2 cents we urged all our customers to buy. Those who followed our advice and kept their trades in force made enormous profits.

We now urge the purchase of MAY CORN. MAY CORN is selling around 43 1-2 cents, and we believe that a purchase of this Cereal NOW will earn as great profits for the purchaser as did December Corn.

Read the following letters carefully, then send for our FREE BOOKLET giving reasons for our advice to buy MAY CORN.

St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 3rd inst., enclosing check for my balance, $125.00, and for my friend Chesley, of $51.54, which I have turned over to him. This is a very handsome profit on less than a month's transactions, on $100.00 investment in corn.

I appreciate your kindness very much, indeed, in closing the account so promptly following my request to do so.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sirs,—Your favor of the 29th ult., with enclosure, came to hand yesterday, but I was so busy that I could not find time to reply to same until today.

I note your remarks regarding December corn, that you sold my holdings and invested the same, with profits, in May corn, which, under the circumstances, was and is satisfactory.

I also note your remarks regarding May corn, and leave you the handling of same, as you may think best and most profitable.

Awaiting your further favors, I remain yours truly,

St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—Your letter and account duly received, for which accept thanks. I wired you this morning to forward by check my deposit and also profits, total of $98.80.

This is a very handsome showing for a $25.00 investment for ten days, and I assure you that you shall do business for me again, and also many of my friends.

Yours very truly,
JOHN CONWAY.

Hugh Dennis, President.

Dear Sir,—You cannot imagine my surprise upon receiving your personal check for last week's profit, and then upon receiving check for this week's profits, makes me completely satisfied that you do business upon a solid basis, and I can almost GUARANTEE any one of profits if they make a deposit with you.

Very respectfully,
J. J. UNDERWOOD.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I received yours of the 22nd with check for $84.28, and I note that you say you have invested the $165.00 in 3,500 bushels of May corn for me.

Please accept my sincere thanks for the $109.28 which you made for me on the $50.00 investment. Had I left you alone, as I should have done, you would have made me nearly $300.00 in the three weeks; but I am satisfied with what you have done.

Hoping you will do as well, or better, with my May corn, and again thanking you, I am yours truly,

J. VALEK.

Whipple Barracks, Ariz., Nov. 21, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I received your telegram last evening saying that you had sold the corn that I had directed (9,000 bushels) at 57 3-4. I thank you for your promptness and success with the order. If you have not already done so, on receipt of this, please send me the entire proceeds from this sale by check, $766.40.

I will watch the market, and a little later will take a flyer in May corn.

I assure you of my appreciation of the faithful interest and good business judgment with which you have handled my investment and which insures me a nice little sum of Thanksgiving and Christmas money. Very sincerely.

E. E. HATCH.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I notice by the reports that corn is gradually on the rise. I am telling my friends how well you used me, and I hope you will hear from this city in the shape of a good amount to invest. I certainly boost you with all my might. If my May investment proves as good as did the December, I will be satisfied.

Kindly let me hear from you occasionally. Thanking you, I am yours truly,

Hugh C. Dennis, Esq.
St. Louis, Mo.:

My Dear Major,— You are a daisy. Yours of the 21st, with account of sale and purchase, almost took away my breath, $92.10 and $87.00 in such a short time on the small investment is almost beyond comprehension.

Thanks to your grand success in dealing with the market, I now see my way out to pay a debt of honor I have been wanting to pay for a long time.

Please remit about $50 by American Express to Dayton, Ohio, and apply the rest due to me to more December or May corn, as your good, and almost infallible judgment may decide. I see from your purchase order that you have already bought 6,000 bushels of corn (May market.)

Thanking you for your kindness and hailing you as my benefactor, I am,

Most truly yours,
G. J. RESCHE.

We told the public this last Spring about September and December Corn. We tell them the same thing now: BUY MAY CORN. Common sense and your own sound business judgment must tell you that May corn, bought now, will make for you enormous profits within the next sixty days. May corn will, we believe, reach a price higher than it has touched in twenty years for this option. We respectfully submit the following digest of a few of our customers' trades in December Corn. The Affidavit as to the correctness of these statements is made by our Assistant Auditor, Mr. W. Arthur Clemes. What we did for our customers in DECEMBER Corn may be duplicated many times over by a purchase of MAY Corn at its present low price.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Your letter of the 26th ult. received, together with enclosure of draft for $426.50, and please accept my thanks for same.

I am very well pleased with your manipulation of my holdings, and can find absolutely no cause for complaint. At one time my case most certainly looked rather hopeless, but, thanks to your suggestions, on which I acted, you brought me through with flying colors, and I trust that our future business relations may prove as congenial and profitable as they have in the past.

Thanking you for the kind and just treatment that I have received at your hands, I remain very truly yours,

Toledo, Ohio., Dec. 6th, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Yours of the 3rd, with check for $25.00 enclosed, was received today, and I want to say to you that I was agreeably surprised to receive it. I am more than pleased with your treatment of my investment. I have shown the check and your letter to my friends and told them if they had any idea of investing to place their money in your hands. My writing to you in the first place was an accident.

I assure you that I shall take great pleasure in recommending your firm for honest, upright dealing in every way. I trust that the investment you have made me will be one-half as successful as the one just settled.

Again thanking you for your kindness in the transaction, and if nothing happens after the holidays you may expect to hear from me, together with some of my friends.

Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year and many years of prosperity, I am,

Gratefully yours,

Gentlemen,—I received your favor of the 29th ult. today, with statement and remittance of my account, for which I thank you.

I also wish to express my appreciation of your fair dealing with me, and say that I am much pleased with the large profit you made for me.

In closing I would ask, on what do you base your opinion that May corn will be much higher.

Yours very truly,
EDWIN L. HALL.

Rockland, Me., Dec. 2nd, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—I have your letter of the 29th ult, and note with much satisfaction the result of the investment in December corn.

The investment which you have made in May corn is in keeping with my advices to use your own judgment about this investment.

I hope the investment in May corn will be profitable. Yours truly,
E. S. FARWELL.

Tuscumbia, Ala., Nov. 24th, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,

Gentlemen,—Many thanks for the deal. I drew on you today for $206.25, being the $50.00 I invested and $156.25 profits made by same, full amount of my credit. Please honor the draft, as I need the money for a few days only; then I will figure with you on a larger scale.

With thanks again, I am,
Yours very truly,

Gentlemen,—I wired you November 20th to sell my account out at 58 cents and wire remittance. Yesterday I received by mail statement of my account, showing a profit of $42.19 on my $25.00 investment.

I am very much pleased with the way you have handled my account. Will buy May corn later. Respectfully yours,

Watertown, N.Y., Dec. 6th, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Yours of Dec. 3rd, enclosing draft for $78.63, received, for which accept my sincere thanks. I wrote to you last night asking reason for your delay in sending same, but received yours this noon.

I feel that you did finely with my last investment of $25.00, and if we had understood each other better on my first, I can see where your handling would have made a few hundred on it, which I think is sufficient to prove to any one that your firm is sound and able.

I thank you again, and hope to be able to help you to more customers, and, may be, myself dabble again soon.

Yours sincerely,
1-2 High St. W. J. KELLOCK.

Binghamton, N.Y., Dec. 5th. 1902

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,— I am in receipt of your valued favor of the 4th and acknowledge receipt of check for $50.00, profits on December corn holdings. Also confirmation of purchase of May. Thank you very much for same. Thought one time I saw larger profits coming my way, but feel satisfied as it is, and am confident there will be something in May corn after a time. Protect it as you did my last December holdings, and I will remit margin, if necessary. When it goes up a fair gain, sell and remit whole amount.

Respectfully,
FRANCIS L. GREEN.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 28th, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Your valued favors of Nov. 24th and 26th came to me today, and I assure you that I thank you for them. You have convinced me that May corn is a very desirable purchase, and I wish that I had had more of it.

That you know what you are doing, as well as you know the future of corn goes without saying, and I am glad that I am tied up to your house, and before we are through I shall try to turn all the business towards you that I can, and I hope soon to make my own personal investments thousands instead of hundreds.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours cordially,
GEO. S. SILSBY.

Arapho, Okla., Nov. 21st, 1902.

Mr. H. C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your letter notifying me of the sale of my December corn, received; and to find I had actually doubled my money to a penny in about five days, you cannot imagine my surprise. That beats our western ways of making money. Here interest runs from 12 to 24 per cent. but that is not in it with December corn.

You must have misunderstood my letter ordering immediate sale—I meant to say, sell latter part of November, 28th or 29th, to avoid any delivery, and to rebuy December 2nd or 3rd to sell about December 26th. I am not in a financial condition to invest more now, but will finely invest in May corn more heavily in a short time. Use the original purchase together with the profits, to best advantage, using your best judgment, but avoid delivery.

Should I be able to deal heavier, I shall pick your judgment in the matter.

Trusting that good luck may continue with us, I am very truly yours,

W. C. HAWKINS.

Dr. Guillermo Vives, Oculist,
Ponce, Puerto Rico,
Ponce, Dec. 30th, 1902.

Mr. Hugh C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Sir,—Your favors dated December 12th and 16th were duly received inclosing check for $422.13-100. I am very glad to state that the return I had for the invested was $322; a pretty fair amount for one month's outlay.

As I already took the liberty of writing you I will take great pleasure in sending you as soon as I possibly can, all the funds at my disposition.

In the meantime I am explaining your excellent method of doing business to my friends, and I am sure that they, as well, will give you a trial.

If it is not too much trouble for you I would be very much obliged if you would keep me informed about the movements of the market.

Giving you my best thanks for the careful and speedy attendance you have given my interests, I am,

Very respectfully,
GUILLERMO VIVES.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Your letter and check of the 24th received a few days ago. Am well pleased with the way you handled my business for me, for the profit I received from that little amount I invested with you far exceeded my most sanguine expectations.

Very respectfully
A. D. FONTAINE.

Fitchburg, Mass., Dec. 2, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—I am in receipt of your letter dated Nov. 28th, which more than pleased me. I was surprised at such profits in a month, and I am satisfied with that May corn investment. If I am right, I have to my credit 2,500 bushels of May corn. I leave the whole matter in your hands, and make as much as you can out of it; what you do will suit me.

I thank you for what you have done for me, and I hope by the first of next May I will be able to buy 2,500 bushels of July corn. Yours truly,

GEO. BEAUREGARD.

Green Springs, W. Va., Dec. 2 1902

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—Yours of Nov. 26th to hand containing cheque for $77.52, leaving two-cent margin on 1,500 May corn, which makes nearly 400 per cent. on investment of $25.00 on Nov. 7th.

Hope you will make out on the May corn as well. Respectfully yours,

J. A. WILSON.

P.S.—Excuse delay, as I wrote and forgot to mail same.

Hugh C. Dennis, Esq.,
Pres. Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your favor of 28th ult., advising me of the closing out of the small deal I have made with you, and the investment of proceeds in May corn has been received and is satisfactory. You did better than I expected. I have been through the West and observed the wonderful production through that country, so that I expected a decline in December corn.

Thanking you for your attention, I am,
Very truly yours,

DEPENDABLE INFORMATION

is the only right sort to receive relative to stock movements; when such is received in connection with any property, an analysis of the property should be carefully made, to learn if the facts warrant the likelihood of the information being correct. If the two agree, then one should make his trade immediately, in accord with the knowledge thus obtained. It is unwise to buy into a property when selling above its value; also, equally injudicious to sell when prices are below intrinsic values. Those who will keep within their means and will operate in accord with the above axiom, need never take a loss in Wall Street. We maintain a complete Statistical Department, with the view to laying before our client's the actual facts about any property whose shares are dealt in upon the Exchanges; also, we issue for free distribution, at considerable expense, a most complete 400 page, illustrated,

"DAILY MARKET LETTER" and "GUIDE TO INVESTORS"

They are both yours for the asking, and are distinctly essential to dealers in stocks, inasmuch as they give complete and exhaustive knowledge of every company, either industrial or railway, the latest authentic obtainable facts pertinent thereto.

STOCK MARKETS

IMPROVEMENT AHEAD

New York, Jan. 26.—Market inactivity will soon be followed by extreme activity. Diffidence and a lagging market is to give way to a buoyant and active one, with speculators again on the quivive. Many have dropped out at present, but are watching for a renewal of activity to come back. It will be wise to precede their reappearance; to do so will be to secure stocks at more advantageous prices than if you waited a handicap in Wall street. To get the advantage we advise purchasing now. Stocks have gone off from the prices of the middle of the month about as much as may be expected; every effort has been made by the traders to depress them, and they now appear to have run the length of their tether upon the downward side. The next market change will benefit the bulls, and indications are most strong that it is about ready to put in its appearance. No one has any amount of stock to sell upon any advance as the marginal holdings of commission houses are extremely low at present. An advance of 10 to 15 points will double these holdings. This fact guarantees a market for an immense amount of stock after the market has been advanced. It is a strange fact that the average person will not buy stocks when they are down, but will do so when prices are high. The greatest outside purchases are always made near the top prices of a market movement. Not in a years time have stocks been in so strong hands as they are at present. The manipulators of larger pools and great Wall street speculators have the floating supply at present. These veterans of the street always purchase when the public desire to sell and hold them until such time as the public want them again. They know that a decided and sustained advance, manipulative or otherwise, will draw buyers to them. The renewal of fighting on the Venezuelan coast last Thursday simply opened the market down, then stagnated it. There were no real stocks for sale consequently hardly a market. To sell one holding under such conditions is obviously foolish. To buy stocks at such a period, the market acting as it did, would appear to be the act of wisdom. Apply logical reasoning to your market trading. It will more often yield you a profit than lead you astray.

Summary—The market today was almost featureless, lethargy ruled quotations, but the undertone was exceedingly strong. Commission house business was almost at a stand still. The market appears to be waiting the outcome of the Venezuelan embroglio. No one seems disposed to close out long holdings. The short interest is very large. We anticipate an almost satisfactory settlement of the Venezuelan dispute, accompanied by an uplifting of prices. Money closed last loan, 8 1-2 per cent. Total sales 847,-700.

Why Is It?

There are a few regular occasions on which every pretty girl feels inclined to give vent to her feelings by a "good cry." One is when her plain sister enters into the bonds of matrimony with an exceedingly good-looking man. It is very mortifying, if you happen to be pretty, to be left out in the cold, and the pretty girl never has understood, and never will understand, how it is. And perhaps it is really a good thing for the beauty of the family that she is so ignorant on this matter. If she fully comprehended the brain workings of that strange creature Man, matrimony would lose its dearest charm. The handsome man marries the plain girl. Cry as we will, this is a fact, and one that we may test the actuality of every day if we will.

To take up the question of forlorn beauty. Why is it? A man who is good-looking must admire beauty. He does admire it; he cannot help himself. Then why, the pretty girl enquires, does he marry her plainer sister?

The answer may best be found in the letters of twelve intelligent men on the subject of choosing a wife. Each one stated seriously what qualities he would look for in a possible partner, and set them down in order, the most important first, the less important following. Taking an average, their ideal was to be as follows: (1) Kind-hearted, true and sympathetic; (2) lively and fond of children; (3) proud of herself for the sake of her friends; (4) a good housekeeper and a busy bee; (5) a graceful figure and beautiful; (6) wealthy and clever.

The plain girl scores at once with her sympathy; it is her chief and most powerful weapon against a man. The girl with good looks has no need to find friends by being sympathetic, and it is doubtful if people would believe her sympathy to be genuine. At all social gatherings the plain girl is so much alone that her manner appears at once modest and retiring. Let a handsome man give her half an hour of his company and her whole mind is bent on being agreeable. But the pretty girl has a score of men to talk to, and falls into a habit of inattention. The pretty girl really has a harder time than the plain girl.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $30 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $35 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain. Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. [illegible]

Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

What a Two Dollar Bill Did

This little incident happened in a blacksmith shop in Peterborough and is worth a place in the columns of the g.f.j. Mr. Blank, the smith handed his helper $2 that he owed him. There was a farmer standing by whom the helper owed, and he passed the money over to him. The farmer owed Mr. Blank and paid him the money. Thus the $2 paid $6 in less than six minutes and got back where it started. You never know how much machinery you are going to put in motion nor how much good you are going to do in this world when you pay a debt.

Once in a while some one who has travelled to the very edge of the danger line of stomach disease stops just in time to save his health. But the majority of people go across the line, and slight symptoms of indigestion grow to disease of the stomach, involving the other organs of digestion and nutrition.

The first symptom of indigestion should receive prompt attention. Indigestion and other forms of stomach "trouble" are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the whole body by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"I have been suffering for about eight years," writes Mrs. H. Pierce, of Millsprings, Ky. "Have had several doctors to treat me—some for female weakness and others for stomach trouble, but received no relief. When I wrote you for advice I was hardly able to work, and you advised me what to do. I began to take your medicine and the effects have been good. I was under the doctor's care every summer before this. I took nine bottles, five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' four of 'Favorite Prescription,' also two vials of the 'Pellets.' Dr. Pierce's medicines will do all that you claim for them. Believe I would have been in my grave if I had not taken them."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Bathing Costume.

Montrose considered the summer plans of his family settled and that bother away behind him once and for all, when his spouse suddenly jarred him by announcing: "George, I must have a new bathing costume this year." It is hardly worth recording that he grunted and replied to the effect that she'd better have it, then:

"What color do you think would be nice?" asked Mrs. M. Again he grunted, and advised her to have anything she liked. "I was thinking of white," she said, and when he laid down his paper she added, "There is a new material, a kind of sacking with a very coarse mesh. It's very pretty, and lets the water right through without clinging at all. A bathing costume that clings is so uncomfortable. Heavy awning cloth is nice, too. That comes a pretty little red stripe on white. Would you like that?"

His voice was awestruck as he returned: "What on earth do you want to get yourself into a white bathing dress for?"

"I want to get into it 'on earth,' to go into the water!" Somehow the idea of a new bathing dress made her feel gay and clever.

"Yes," said he, scornfully, "one with big meshes that lets the water through, but not big enough to let you through! My dear Marian, this is all nonsense! Why have a bathing costume at all?"

She hates him when he calls her Marian, and she answered with energy: "I would have a bathing costume because it would be indecent to bathe without one."

"Well, why bathe?"

"George!"

"There is the tub."

"I am not talking about the tub. I am talking about the seashore."

"No, you are talking of white bathing dresses with big meshes. Are you losing your mind, Marian?"

"I must be to discuss any matter of taste with you! What is your idea of a bathing dress?"

"For a person like you, something suitable, modest and useful."

"My dear George, you first saw me in a white silk bathing dress with lace on the edge and gold buttons."

"One reason I married you was to exercise some control over your wardrobe, and I shall not have my wife appear in —"

"Didn't I look well?"

"That has nothing to do with the matter—now."

His emphasis on the "now" was bloodcurdling, but she was not warned, and began:

"Do you mean to say that I—"

"You weighed 125 then and were five years younger than you are now."

That was too much! "George Montrose," said she, "I shall have a white bathing dress, the biggest mesh I can find, and—and—I shall not go bathing without it. There!"

And George does not know whether she will or will not, but abundant precedent makes him uneasy.

It Couldn't be Worse.

Mrs. Mellon is one of those inoffensive persons who are continually dreading that they may, by some mischance, hurt the feelings of others. Added to this, she has had considerable trouble in getting a suitable cook, and does not wish to offend her.

"John," she said to the man-servant, on the morning following the party, "do you happen to know whether—that is—I mean, can you find out, without asking the cook, whether the tinned salmon was all eaten last night? You see, I don't wish to ask her because she may have eaten it, and then she would feel uncomfortable," added the good soul.

"If you please, ma'am," replied the man, "the new cook has eaten the tinned salmon; and if you was to say anything to her you couldn't make her more uncomfortable than she is."

Vast Plan Proposek to Shut Out the Ice of the Arctic Ocean

WILL CLOSE THE STRAITS OF BELLE ISLE

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—The world is diverted now and then with some startling and gigantic scheme for changing the course of nature in some important particular for the general benefit of mankind. Thus it has been proposed by several geniuses with an engineering turn of mind to cut a channel through the northern highlands of the African continent, letting the waters of the Mediterranean overflow the Sahara desert, and adding thereby to the comfort and happiness of the people in the regions adjacent. Others with purposes not so benevolent have discussed the feasibility of switching off the Gulf Stream from its accustomed course up from the equator, and thus depriving England and other parts of the European coast of the genial climate which they are supposed to enjoy from the modifying influence of this tropic current.

An enterprise somewhat akin to these, but possessing many elements of real practicability, is that described by the Newofundland correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald. Under this plan it is proposed to close Belle Isle strait, between Newfoundland and Labrador, by building a breakwater across it at the narrowest part, where the channel is but 10 miles wide and 180 feet deep. The benefits to be derived from such a scheme are that the shores of Quebec, Anticosti, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island would become veritable gardens, in which semi-tropical fruits and vegetables would flourish, and that the portion of Labrador west of the causeway would have a climate as salubrious as that of France, being in about the same latitude.

The argument is that Belle Isle strait is the channel or doorway from the north by which icebergs, floes, and the frigid waters from Greenland and the Arctic ocean find their way into the Gulf of St. Lawrence, chilling its area, causing fogs, cold, damp and late springs, and generally imparting to the region the semi-arctic aspect. As conditions now are, with this seaway open, the ice begins to drift in towards the end of November, and the navigation of the gulf is then impossible until the following May. If this channel were closed, it is maintained by the promoters of the new scheme, little ice would be found in the gulf during the winter, for then the frozen plains and chilly waters from the north would be forced out into the Atlantic ocean and along the east coast of Newfoundland.

Among the greatest benefits to be derived from this climatic change in the region of the St. Lawrence would be in rendering the river bearing the latter name navigable all the year round up to Quebec at least, and in giving Labrador, now a sterile and forbidding wilderness a climate that would eventually render it fit for the support of a large population. It is estimated that the project would involve an expense of about $20,000,000, a modest sum truly if all the benefits promised can be realized.

ELOPING WIFE IN DEADLY PERIL

The Wife of Rich Chinaman Elopes With the Cook and is Being Followed by the Terrible Chinese Tong

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Mrs. Jessamina Don Sang, the beautiful young wife of one of the wealthiest Chinese physicians of the United States, who eloped with her cook, Chin Wong Yu, last Monday, is fleeing for her life across the country, pursued by the agents of the terrible Chinese tong, of which her husband is a member.

No hunted deer, followed by a hungry pack of wolves, ever floundered through the snows of midwinter with less chance of escape than has this woman who left her home and her all for love, and is fleeing for a refuge in some secluded place. Behind her follow the agents of secret societies of China, than which no organization in the world is greater. They are armed with descriptions of her and her companion, and they are tireless as an East Indian runner.

In front of her, warned through the mysterious power of the society, await others, as patient and as tireless. Among her own people there is no place on the face of the earth where the wife of Don Sang can rest and be safe.

In the Chinese criminal calendar there is no crime unless it be the murder of a parent, more terrible than the elopement of a married woman. For centuries the law has been unchanged, and the punishment of the woman consists of torture of the most barbarous character, lasting for a week or until she dies. The man is killed outright.

Behind her when she eloped Mrs. Sang left a beautiful home, a loving husband and five little children, three boys and two girls, one of the former still a tiny baby. Her husband, Dr. Sang, is 70 years old.

A WONDERFUL MACHINE

PETERBOROUGH MAN'S PREPAYMENT METER

A Satisfactory Test Made in Ottawa by Mr. A. A. Dixon—Some Advantages Claimed

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—Messrs. J. H. McClellan and Geo. L. Gowland, of Peterborough, are in the city in connection with a new prepayment or nickel in the slot electric metre, of which Mr. Gowland is the inventor and patentee and which is manufactured by the Gowland Company, of Toronto.

The metre, which is the only prepayment electric metre in existence, is the invention of Mr. Gowland, who is a Canadian by birth, having been born in Antigonish, N.S. He is the possessor of 42 patents and was formerly one of the head electricians for the Canadian General Electric Company.

A test of the metre was made yesterday by Mr. A. Dixon, chief of the Ottawa Electric Light Company, who describes it as supplying a great want. He stated that both the recording and prepayment metres were perfect and correct from one lamp up, the ratio from one lamp to twenty being perfect.

The prepayment metre is similar to the Watt metre and to the well-known prepayment gas metre, of which there are 18,000 in use in Montreal and 60,000 in Canada. It is strictly automatic in action, there being no switches or handles to turn. All the operator desiring light has to do is to go to the metre and deposit therein 25 cents or any number of quarters, which will be used consecutively as the light is consumed. Another important feature is that the consumer can check his own machine by the clock, which is modelled after the cash register system, keeping check on the light used for the consumer and of the number of quarters deposited for the company.

The metre will do away with all suspicion on the part of consumers that they are being defrauded by metres which they cannot read. If any customer thinks that he is being robbed, all he has to do is to turn on one light, and with his watch or the family clock he can tell at a glance how much light he is getting for a quarter. Another important feature is that this metre enables the company to do a cash business, at the same time ridding the consumer of light bills, as the clock keeps tab on the number of quarters deposited and which are collected periodically throughout the year.

Messrs. McClellan and Gowland are on their way to Montreal, where a number of influential electrical men are anxious to see the metre. They are not in any way hawking stock, as there is no stock in the company for sale. There are already some hundreds of these metres in use. One apartment house in New York is using 715 of these metres.

BOARD OF HEALTH

Held Their Annual Meeting and Receive Reports

At the inaugural meeting of the Board of Health, Mr. Robert Nell was elected Chairman, and he presided yesterday morning at the meeting to receive the report of the Medical Health Officer, Dr. Bingham, which reads as follows:—

To the Board of Health, Peterborough.

Gentlemen, — During the year that is past 122 deaths were reported. Many different diseases were set down as the cause of this vitality, viz., pneumonia, old age, tuberculosis, heart disease, gastritis, diphtheria, bronchitis, cerebral hemorrhage, erysipelas, apoplexy, croup, softening of the brain, constipation, peritonitis, the kidneys, abdominal tumour, suppression of the urine, scarlet fever, pernicious anæmia, and cholera infantum. The appearance of smallpox here in the month of January caused no small alarm, but at great financial loss, both to private citizens and to the town at large, the dreaded scourge was isolated and thereby prevented from spreading among the people. Other infectious diseases were common enough in the town during the year. Scarlet fever was quite prevalent, but in such a mild form that during the first eleven months of the year not one death was reported as distinctly due to that cause. But in the month of December, unfortunately, diphtheria and scarlet fever broke out in such a malignant form that the results were most deplorable. The virulence of the disease was so intense that it defied the most skilful treatment, and in some very sad cases it carried the patient away in a few hours. Under these distressing circumstances, your Health Officer, and Sanitary Inspector, did all in their power, not only to prevent a panic among the people but especially to stamp out the disease as quickly as possible. The houses were placarded, we visited them, we quarantined the people, we enforced private funerals, and in every instance fumigated the houses, and placed the surroundings of the patient in as sanitary a condition as the circumstances would permit. It is now gratifying to be able to state that the worst is over, and that the few cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria which still remain in town, are of the milder type, and all are in a fair way of recovery.

To enjoy good health it is necessary to have plenty of sunlight, pure air, pure water, pure food, and absolute cleanliness in all things. If these conditions were strictly obeyed by everyone infectious diseases would be less prevalent than they are at present. Among causes of infectious diseases may be named sewer gas, decaying animal or vegetable substance in any part of the dwelling house, also stuffy sleeping apartments, which are ill ventilated, and without the healthy influence of sunshine. Bad water is another well known cause of infectious diseases. Your Sanitary Inspector and Health Officer recently visited 13 families where they had had scarlet fever or diphtheria, and we found 9 out of 13 families used well water. It is a settled opinion at present among sanitarians that wells in a town or city are a dangerous source of disease. Bad milk causes disease, and severe punishment is due to any man who would sell milk in town from any house or dairy where any infectious disease exists.

Before the schools opened, however, on Monday last your Health Officer and assistant had disinfected and fumigated every school in town in strict accordance with the instructions of this Board at its last meeting, and the public can rest satisfied that everything has been done to place the schools in a perfectly sanitary condition.

During the year the work of the Sanitary Inspector and men were much the same as in other years. As soon as the frost had lost its grip they visited all the yards and premises in the corporation, and gave strict orders to clean up, and they ceased not from their daily task until the town was placed in a fairly good sanitary condition. As it was, many complaints of varied character reached the Health Officer during the year, but with the able and willing assistance of your Sanitary Inspector, the complaints were adjusted, generally in a satisfactory manner.

In conclusion, it may be said that with the zealous co-operation of the citizens with the Board of Health, Peterborough, with its unrivalled natural and material advantages will soon be the healthiest town or city in the Dominion.

Yours respectfully,
J. BINGHAM,
Med. H. O..

It was decided to request the Provincial Secretary, Hon. J. R. Stratton, to send a competent man to fully investigate the causes of the recent outbreak of contagious diseases in Peterborough.

A special meeting will be convened when this officer arrives.

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY OPPOSED TO SUBSIDY

The Dominion is Growing Great Enough to End Such a Policy

CANADIAN PACIFIC PRESIDENT SPEAKS HIS MIND

If the Government Aids New Lines Canadian Pacific May Ask Grant for Its Branches

Montreal, Jan. 27.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, speaking on the Grand Trunk scheme said:

"In principle, I am opposed to any further Government aid to railroads, whether it be the Grand Trunk or any other road. The Dominion is getting old enough now to do away with a policy which lends its funds for the promotion of private enterprises.

"In effect, the Government is asked to become a competitor of those pioneer companies which have struggled for years with unprofitable ventures. Now, these investments have reached a stage where they can be realized upon, and a syndicate comes forward and requests the Government to enter into partnership with them, to divide the business developed by them, after many years of attention and risk of capital.

OPPOSED TO SUBSIDIES.

"Personally, I am opposed to Government subsidies. The policy is demoralizing. Sometimes it is the choice of two evils, but the situation now does not warrant the Government in such partnership schemes.

"I think the more profitable policy for the country is the enlargement and development of the lines already in operation. As evidence of what the C.P.R. is doing in this line, I may say we ordered some ten million of dollars' worth of rolling stock in July, 1901. This consisted of 185 modern locomotives and other necessary equipment. Less than half of that has been received thus far; but it will all be ready to be utilized in moving this year's grain yield. During that period, I may add that we bought and used all the rolling stock the market would afford, or our facilities turn out. This was to keep the equipment up to the standard.

"Then, too, we have been doing all that we could be reasonably be expected to do in this time to improve the roadbed, straighten the curves, reduce the grades, and construct the branches which the development of the country demanded. The expenditures in this direction have been enormous. Our appropriation sheet this year for these purposes show some seventeen million dollars, with some millions added for new construction. Half of these seventeen millions has already been expended, and the balance will go into line betterments as rapidly as the world can be done this year. This covers some 1,300 miles of lines alone. We practically completed over two hundred miles of new line last year.

SUBSIDIES FOR BRANCHES.

"Now, our idea is that, if the government policy of subsidizing lines is to be continued, we would be entitled to large sums for the new lines being constructed and in contemplation. No; we are not asking aid for these branches. True, we have made application for a subsidy for the Moosejaw extension, but the circumstances in that case are somewhat different from the other work of new construction. It naturally follows that we should have this subsidy, too, if the Grand Trunk Pacific is to become our competitor, with the government as a partner. Of course, I know the Grand Trunk Pacific will not be a paying proposition at first, but it will pay in time, with exertion and settlement of the country; but this means time. I concede this.

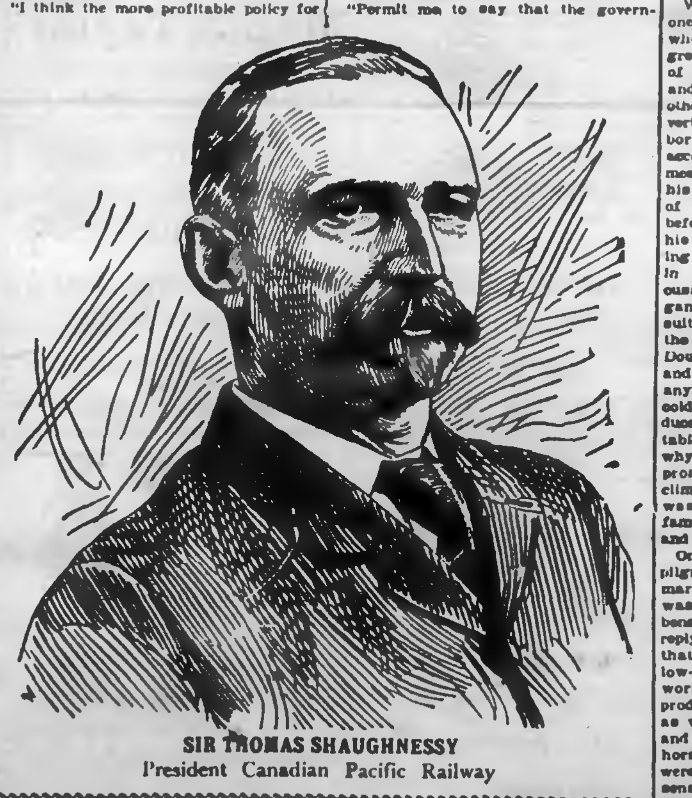
"I think I may say it is policy of the C.P.R. to spend millions annually in running branch lines into the settled country, which demands these facilities reasonably, from the business offered. This means the line will cover with a network of feeders the territory adjacent to its main line. This will be done as fast as the material can be secured. This work of improvement had to be deferred until the C.P.R.'s business warranted it. We could not raise the necessary funds at first for this work. Neither did the condition of the country warrant better rolling stock, lower grades and feeders.

GOVERNMENT PARTNERSHIP.

"Permit me to say that the government cannot grant this subsidy, in my estimation, with all fairness to those companies now in the field. It is very nearly akin to the government's going partnership with a company, to become a competitor to existing lines. It is not only not fair to capital invested, but there is no demand for such a policy. When the C.P.R. was built it was a different proposition, an entirely new condition. The road was a necessity both commercial and military. The country keenly demanded it, and the demand was reinforced by a necessity that was wholly apparent, from every point of view. Conditions have changed now. It is not a pioneer condition which confronts the country. In fact, the period where subsidies are necessary has passed for all time.

"Then, capital could not be reasonably expected to invest in a transcontinental line, as a private venture. Every pound of material had to go overland long distances. As a private venture, it would have been impossible, ruinous. There was no business to be developed, and no prospects of a profitable income for years. All this had to come as a result of the construction of the road and continued heavy expense to the company. All is different now. The cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific is a mere bagatelle as compared with the cost of the C.P.R. This cost alone would more than account for the difference between the C.P.R. subsidy and the expense of constructing the Grand Trunk Pacific as a private enterprise wholly.

"In conclusion," said Sir Thomas, "I am not referring particularly to the Grand Trunk, but speaking on general principles."



SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY
President Canadian Pacific Railway

A CALLING DOWN

The Visiting Scotch Curlers are Severely Censured in Toronto

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 27.—"I hope," said Dr. Milligan in the course of his sermon at old St. Andrew's church, yesterday, "that it is not true that Scottish Curlers have gone on a Sunday jaunt to Niagara Falls. If they have gone they should be ashamed of themselves, and if there is a minister among them the matter is still worse. The fight to keep Sunday free from the secularities of the world is hard enough now, and these friends who come from the Old Land and Scotchmen should not make things harder by setting an example which too many will be willing to follow. As a Scotchman I feel it my duty to enter a protest. I had hoped for and expected better than the spectacle of Scotchmen, with a minister at their head, taking a Sunday jaunt to Niagara Falls."

FIFTY MAD PERSONS MEET DEATH IN A FIRE

Wild with Excitement, the Panic Stricken Patients Make Rescue Difficult

London, Jan. 27.—Fifty insane patients were burned to death by fire at the Colney Hatch Asylum this morning.

The outbreak occurred in the Jewish wing of the institution. The flames spread with great rapidity, and before they could be got under control five wooden buildings, including the dormitories and the doctors' apartments, were gutted. All the efforts of the officials were directed to removing the insane inmates, but the latter became wild with excitement and so panic-stricken that not only were they unable to help themselves, but greatly impeded the operations of those trying to save them.

WOMEN THE VICTIMS.

There were nearly 600 women in the burned annex at the time the fire was discovered and most of them were safely transferred to the main building, which was uninjured. Some, however, escaped, and are still at large, rendering it difficult to ascertain the exact number of those burned to death.

The work of searching the ruins continues. The officials admit that about fifty bodies have been recovered, but it is feared that the full extent of the disaster is not yet known.

A HORRIFYING SPECTACLE.

All the victims were lunatics. There charred remains presented a horrifying spectacle. The asylum was besieged by anxious relatives or friends of the patients, who arrived from all quarters. Pitiable scenes were witnessed as weeping men and women left the premises after ascertaining that relatives had perished in the flames.

SOME BURNED IN BED.

Some of the lunatics were burned while in bed, and the charred remains of others were found huddled together in corners, while groups of partially consumed bodies of the site of the corridors showed that many persons lost their lives and sacrificed those of others in their frantic efforts to force a passage through the flames to the main building.

The latest estimate of the superintendent of the asylum placed the number of deaths at 52. All the victims were women.

THE ASYLUM.

Colney Hatch Asylum drew its name from that of the old suburb of London, where it was erected, and which is now known as New Southgate. The late Prince Consort laid the first foundation stone in 1849, and it was opened in 1851 for the reception of patients. The cost of its erection is estimated at a little over half a million pounds sterling and the yearly cost of maintenance has been about sixty thousand pounds. It is supported, not as are Ontario Asylums, by the Government, but by the ratepayers of the metropolitan County of Middlesex. It was designated in plain Italian style, and was built of brick, with stone dressing. Its ground plan is that of a large E. Its equipment was considered admirable, and the chapel alone had a seating capacity of 600.

The nurses had a terrible experience in trying to assist the insane people, who were so panic-stricken that they had literally to be driven to a place of safety. The inflammable premises about immediately became a furious furnace. Nothing was left standing. The corrugated iron roofs of the dormitories and the bedsteads of the patients were melted by the intense heat.

Registration of Births

A more stringent effort is to be made for the prompter registration of births throughout the Province. With this end in view a circular letter from the deputy registrar-general has been sent out, giving these instructions which will entail considerable work to comply with: Ascertain from local physicians what births have occurred in their several practices during the previous six months; examine the baptismal reports of the local clergy, check over births in newspapers for the past six months; encourage local newspapers to emphasize the necessity of parents registering all births within thirty days of their occurrence; promptly notify their department of any case of parents refusing to register births.

A Close Call

Mr. Wm. Anderson, M.P.P., for East Peterborough was in town yesterday attending the County Council. This was the first day that Mr. Anderson had been out for some time. About two weeks ago he met with a very serious accident, while taking out cedar on his farm in Otonabee. As a tree was falling it brought with it another which had apparently rotted at the butt, and before Mr. Anderson was aware of his danger he received a blow on the back of the head from the falling tree and sustained the fracture of two or three ribs. Mr. Anderson was not rendered unconscious, but was rather dazed. He managed to walk to his home at some distance, where a doctor was called and his injuries attended to. He considers his escape from very serious, if not fatal injury, as bordering on the miraculous.

INGENIOUS WAYS OF A WISE LEADER

Doukhobor Arguments Met With Reason

Why the Horses and Cows May be Used by Settlers

Winnipeg, Jan. 26.—Peter Verigin, one of the leaders of the Doukhobors, who has been in Russia, and of whom great things are expected in the way of inducing the people to settle down and give up their foolish idea of another pilgrimage in the spring to convert the world, is now in the Doukhobor villages north of Yorkton, and, according to reports from there is meeting with considerable success in his effort. He started at the village of Proterpersky, where his home was before leaving for Russia, and where his mother still lives. His first meeting was held in his own house, and in the course of his address he discussed the whole situation. He began by taking up the question of the suitability of Canada as a place for the Doukhobors. He declared that the Doukhobors were here by God's will, and that there was no need to look anywhere else. While the climate was cold it was healthy, and the soil produced all manner of grains and vegetables, so that there was no reason why they should not be happy and prosperous. Having a good soil and climate, the other essential to success was the possession of animals. Every family should have a team of horses, and two or three cows.

One of those who had been on the pilgrimage here broke in with the remark that in Canada all the work was done by horses, and man got the benefit of enslaving them. Verigin's reply was that the relation was not that of master and slave, but of fellow-workers; that while the horse worked for the man, both labored to produce oats for the horse as well as wheat for the man. Hay was cut and stacked and stables built for the horse's benefit, so that the benefits were mutual. Animals were in this sense to be considered members of the community. But the leader was not yet "out of the woods," for the same pilgrim raised the point that if they kept cows for the milk and butter, there would be the annual excess of males, and it would not be right to sell these to the butcher. Verigin had evidently thought this matter out further than the pilgrim, and he was ready. He said that on the ship he came across from in England there were 700 immigrants, poor people, who expected to settle on land. If the Doukhobors found they had too many bullocks they could give the surplus to these poor immigrants to plow with.

Then he went on to counsel them to adapt themselves to their surroundings and settle down. He urged them to take up land without delay. They had been in Canada four years, and had been acting as if they were not going to stay. The Government might have given away the lands to others but they had been patient. It was not right for them to be looking for trouble, and expecting evil. They were no longer in poor Russia, ground into the dust by bad government. Canada was a free country, and he saw no dangers ahead, but even if evils did come they would meet them like men as they had before. They should also comply with the law in regard to the registration of vital statistics, which, law was meant for their good.

Verigin dealt with the late pilgrimage. Some felt called on to do no work, but to go out and preach the conversion of the world. Of course, if they saw that as their duty they must go, but they should consider it well. Were they so perfect that there was no reforming to be done in their own lives before they were quite ready to preach perfection? If such was the case, why, of course, they should start again in the spring. But they must remember this, that while they were free to adopt such a mode of life and to subject themselves to any privations they might see fit, they had no right to involve their relatives, and especially their wives and children. If any of them should again go out they should leave behind their wives and children with their relatives who would, no doubt, be glad to take care of them.

Verigin is now travelling from village to village with a party of selected followers and talking to all in the same strain. The party travel in sleighs drawn by horses, and have met with a very good reception wherever they have appeared. The appearance of milk and butter on the tables indicates that part at least of the Doukhobors have given up the worst features of the craze. It cannot be told until spring how successful Verigin has been, but everything now looks very hopeful for another pilgrimage being prevented.

WANT NO BREACH WITH UNITED STATES

Venezuela Terms Prove Acceptable at Berlin—War Must now Cease—British Opinion Wotked to a High Pitch

New York, Jan. 27.—The Herald's London correspondent cables that an impression is abroad that the beginning of the end of the Venezuelan affair is near at hand, and that the initial stage that of the raising of the blockade, is now only a question of a very short time. The powers have practically agreed to accept Mr. Bowen's offer of guarantees on the part of Venezuela. The bombardment of Fort San Carlos by German warships had considerable to do with the hastening of this action. The British Government had realized that its alliance with Germany was unpopular with the entire nation, but it was unprepared for the outburst of denunciation of the debt-collecting campaign which arose in every part of the kingdom when the details of the German bombardment became known, the press and people, with one voice, called upon the Government to cease to be bound to Germany's side.

BRITISH SENTIMENT AROUSED.

When Mr. Bowen's proposition arrived at the Foreign Office, it was found to be of a satisfactory nature, and the British Government made strong representations to Berlin that it be accepted, and at the same time intimated that there was a limit to the extent in which Great Britain would co-operate with Germany.

THE THUNDERER'S OPINION.

The Times, in an editorial this morning on the Venezuelan situation, says. "We are not yet out of the woods, but if Minister Bowen's efforts are crowned with success it is hardly conceivable that the risk involved in the blockade of the Venezuelan coast is to be deliberately incurred afresh. It would certainly require very urgent necessity to induce England to sanction or condone again a policy which might easily have endangered the good understanding and kindly feelings that recently have drawn closer the people of Great Britain and the United States. We have had rather a sharp lesson. Undoubtedly it has been taken to heart."

CASTRO'S OFFER AT BERLIN.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—President Castro's offer of thirty per cent. of the Customs receipts of La Guaira and Porto Cabello as a guarantee of the payment of foreign claims is regarded in official circles here as evidence of the sincerity of his intention to make a satisfactory settlement. As the offer, however, includes the claims of other countries besides those taking part in the blockade, some doubt is expressed as to whether thirty per cent. is adequate. A discussion is now proceeding to determine this point. It is also uncertain whether the allies will admit that Powers which did not join in the blockade shall share in the results the former secured through expensive naval operations.

A SKATING CARNIVAL.

"Why should we not have a skating carnival in Peterborough?" writes a young enthusiast. "We have a good rink; and it is an open secret that many of our fast amateur skaters are anxious for a meeting." Why not? Here is a suggestion we think the Powers that Be may profitably consider.

SKATING.

We hear that that sterling young skater, Oliver Dusty, is anxious to meet skaters of some repute, to compete for the town and county championship, and will stake any reasonable amount to arrange such a meeting. This sounds like business. In the interest of local sport we should like to see the challenge responded to.

CURLING.

—Skip Flavelle's Lindsay rink will travel to Winnipeg with the Scotsmen, leaving Toronto, Monday, February 2. They may be accompanied by an Oshawa rink, skipped by J. A. Sykes, and there is a possibility also of a Peterboro rink making the trip. The bonspiel opens February 4.

The Thistles and the Granites sent two rinks each to Lindsay on the noon train to contest for the Tankard. The Thistles are matched against Beaverton, whilst the Granites oppose Lindsay. Great things are expected from our boys in their different engagements. We wish them every success.

LOCAL NUISANCES

At the present moment there is probably nothing so erratic and unsatisfactory in the whole town as our timepieces—the town and the postoffice clocks. We do not complain of the attention paid to them by their caretaker, for of that we know little or nothing, but we do complain, in common with hundreds of others, of the irregular and misleading time they keep. It is a common thing in Peterborough when complaints are made to ignore them out of pure spite and cussedness. It is the revenge of weak men. We hope, however, that in the future some effort will be made to have the correct time for us. Every day, at noon, or at whatever other hour may suit the Aldermanic fancy, we might receive the time from the observatory at Toronto, just as it is done in every town in England.

Slippery sidewalks and public timepieces that go regardless of time are two of our most patent nuisances. In a town where there are so many men and women employed in manufactories it is a downright shame that nothing is done to give them the correct time.

Alderman McWilliams was returned at the head of the poll for no other reason than that he was likely to infuse some energy into our civic administration. The people are looking to him.

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY COMMISSION

The treaty signed by Sir Michael Herbert on behalf of Great Britain and by Secretary Hay on behalf of the United States agreeing to refer the question of the Alaska Boundary to a joint commission representing the two countries shows at least a friendly disposition on both sides. Exception has been taken to the composition of the commission because it is to consist of six members only, three appointed by each of the interested powers, and there being no provision made for a neutral umpire in case of difference of opinion. We are far from believing that the joint commission will necessarily be a failure on this account. Its decisions may be of the nature of a compromise; but at least the commission will bring out all the evidence of both sides that is obtainable; and under the circumstances all the members will feel particularly bound to give good reasons for the opinions they express. It is something of a novelty in the way of international arbitration (if such it can be called), but if it can arrive at an agreement its decision ought to be generally acceptable to all concerned.

GOOD TIME FOR A PATRIOTIC ACT

The men and women of Canada know that the American coal operator and the American railway magnate have combined to make them pay enormous prices for the coal they are consuming this winter.

Do they mean to submit to the extortions of which they are victims without hitting back at the country which has produced a crop of coal tyrants in its hard coal regions?

Is it not a good time to resolve to buy nothing in the line of United States manufactures that is produced in this country? Would it not be acting patriotically at this stage to combine to lessen our imports from the neighboring Republic? We have been sorely oppressed. From the United States comes an ever-ed from that quarter this winter and the situation should find us ready to adopt measures of a defensive character.

increasing volume of manufactured goods. We can cut that volume in two within twelve months and in doing so enormously increase our own prosperity. Then why in view of the Yankee hold-up which is carrying consternation to Canadian communities, and producing untold suffering in Canadian homes, not do it?

Buy more Canadian goods, less American. Let that be the resolve of every man and every woman who is to-day the unwilling and hard pressed subject of the United States Coal Baron.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Colonel Lynch may not be hanged; but he has already been drawn, and will no doubt be safely quartered in one of His Majesty's institutions.

The Quebec Golf Club has objected to the location of the Dominion rifle factory there, because it will spoil the seventh hold on the links. The factory will probably employ a thousand hands eventually. The Government should not thrust public buildings on a community that is so particular.

If Colonel Lynch had been an American citizen, had gone to the Philippines two or three years ago, accepted the command of a Filipino regiment, and had fought against American troops; then, after the war was over, suppose he had been elected to Congress from some disaffected district and had attempted to take his seat as representative — what would have been the result? His name suggests it.

This great family journal doffs its hat to the manager of the Guelph opera house, who cancelled the performance of the luridly anti-British play, Nathan Hale, at his house when he learned the character of the play. A Canadian manager who protects his patrons from insult deserves encouragement. And this play, from all accounts, is an insult in four acts to every British audience that is lured to witness it.

ENGLAND'S ARBITRATION

Are Sixty-Six in Number, and Show Extent of Empire

London, Jan. 27—There are many ways of estimating the power and extent of empire. One is the number of times in which a State has been engaged in international arbitration. Since the general pacification of 1815 there have been, till July, 1896, 136 instances of this resort for the settlement of disputes between nations, and in 66 of these Great Britain appears as a party. The proposed arbitration with regard to Venezuela will make the sixty-seventh in which this country has been involved. In seven of these cases Venezuela was concerned, twice with Great Britain, twice with the United States, twice with Colombia and once with France. The progenitor of these international tribunals was the Amphictyonic council of Greece, which was the deliberative assembly of an association formed among neighboring tribes of Greece for the regulation of their mutual intercourse. The latest is of course The Hague Tribunal. There have been many other interesting schemes for securing universal peace, notably one formulated by China in 1890, on the suggestion, it is understood, by a distinguished Japanese statesman. But war goes on all the same.

Brunette and Blonde

A ROMANCE

They passed down the apartment to inspect the family portraits first, the earl leading, Hilda walking on one side of him, Florence the other.

As they walked slowly along, the earl pointing out his ancestors, rehearsing stories of their knightly deeds with a kindling eye, the difference between the blonde and brunette was more marked than ever before.

Florence looked bored beyond measure, though she tried her best to hide it under an affectation of pride and interest. Hilda was bright, pleased, interested, her bosom thrilling with the inward consciousness that these brave men and beautiful women of whom the earl told her such grand things, were her own ancestors. They belonged to her; she belonged to them, though she might never be able to prove her claim.

Lady Leigh had superintended her dressing, as she declared she would. For the first time, Hilda had appeared richly dressed, and the stylish costume of bright, ruby-colored silk and velvet, with picturesque dashes of fine black lace here and there, was marvelously becoming to her piquant brunette beauty. A full cluster of deep crimson roses was fastened in with the creamy lace that shaded her round, white throat. Her beautiful black hair was arranged in a shining coronal of braids, and confined beneath a fillet of dead gold.

Beautiful as every one deemed her, no one was prepared for the dazzling effect Lady Leigh had designed with such perfect taste. In her simple, girlish costumes of white they had thought Hilda a lovely, artless, gentle girl. She had suddenly blossomed out into a brilliant and sparkling woman. The flush glowed deeper on her delicately rounded cheek there was a soft and tender light of happiness in her eyes, but no one guessed what had brought it there. From time to time the earl turned a puzzled yet admiring look upon her. Something in her dusky loveliness had had a strange, haunting effect upon him from the first. It began to dawn upon him startlingly now.

They had gone more than half way through the list of portraits, when Florence, who looked very fair and pretty in a tasteful costume of blue and white, yawned dismally, and exclaimed:

"Hilda are you not tired of looking at all these grim dead-and-gone people? Let us go over to the other side and look at the beautiful angels and the Madonnas by the old masters.

Hilda looked reluctant. The earl broke in suddenly before she could reply:

"Do not coax her away, Florence, before she has seen your mother's portrait, and your own, which I had painted when you first came to me last year."

"Mine is a mere daub," Florence began, anxious to get away before they proceeded farther.

The earl interrupted her with a displeased look.

"Florence, you may return if you like," he said, with distinct displeasure, "but I propose to show our visitor all the family portraits, unless she is weary."

Florence cowered before this sudden sternness, and declared she had been jesting when she spoke, and was not willing to return yet. Hilda emphatically declared her delight in inspecting the portraits, so they continued with no further remonstrance from Florence.

They paused at length before a full-length portrait of Florence, taken in a pretty, coquettish attitude. The picture was a very fair and pretty one, but the blonde impostor looked strangely out of place among the haughty, dark-eyed Lornes. They were all noble and earnest-looking—the men brave and proud, the women like heroines, all of them. Florence's blonde, regular features, when transferred to canvas, without the charm of her delusive smiles, were utterly soulless and heartless. Hilda glanced at it a moment, then turned silently to the next one. It was Lady Ethel, the earl's youngest daughter, painted, as he explained to her, a year before she ran away and married Guy Aylesford.

Hilda turned to look at the portrait she had so longed to see, then started back with such a startled cry as Eve might have uttered when she first beheld her reflected image in the brook.

Lady Leigh's clever design in arranging her dress flashed over her. For in the beautiful portrait of the earl's youngest daughter she beheld her reflected image. The dark, soft eyes were there, the delicate, clear-cut features, the sweet yet spirited mouth, the dark braids bound with the golden fillet. About the slender, stately figure swept the graceful folds of the ruby silk and velvet; against the rounded whiteness of the throat nestled the bunch of vivid crimson roses. Hilda caught her breath—it was like looking into a mirror.

The dark, stern earl stood looking from the portrait to the vivid face of the startled girl.

"Miss Aylesford," he said, slowly and meaningly, "you see the wonderful resemblance between Lady Ethel and yourself as plainly as I see it. It is marvelous."

Florence broke into a scornful, uneasy laugh.

"Oh, grandpapa!" she cried, "how can you imagine such a thing? Hilda is no more like my dear, beautiful mamma than the man in the moon! It is only that she has dressed herself on purpose to look like the picture and delude you. Don't you see, grandpapa," she continued, shaking him by the arm as he continued gazing earnestly at Hilda, "that her face is not the least like mamma's —only her dress!"

The earl's dark eyes, full of brooding trouble and vague suspicion, looked down at the imploring face of the fair impostor.

"Hush, Florence!" he said abruptly. "I spoke only the truth and you know it. Hilda is the perfect image of my daughter Ethel at her age. Moreover, in her mind and spirit, as well as her person, she resembles the Lornes much more than you do."

Florence stared at him with wide, frightened blue eyes.

Mr. Aylesford ventured to come forward from the group that stood around silently listening. He touched the earl's arm.

"My lord," he said, "pray do not allow my daughter's silly prank in dressing herself like a picture to disturb you thus, and cause Lady Florence, your sweet granddaughter such poignant distress. Hilda has always been a freakish child. She has been to the gallery before to-day.

BUBONIC PLAGUE THREATENS

Epidemic in Mexico and Many Cases in California

Washington, Jan. 27—No country in the world excels the United States in efforts to ward off the invasion and spread of deadly plagues, but it is certain that we are now threatened by that great Asiatic scourge, the bubonic plague. It has reached the epidemic stage in the republic south of us and has invaded California. It has made its dreaded appearance in several parts of Mexico, but is at its worst in Topolobampo where the people are dying like plague-stricken sheep. In Mazatlan there have been over 150 deaths and half the population has fled.

The disease has been present in California for several years and the cases have become so numerous that at a conference of 21 State Boards of Health it was resolved this week that California must take immediate action or be cut off from commercial relations with the other States. Eighty-seven cases have been found in San Francisco's Chinese district alone. Of 22 dead rats picked up in Chinatown 11 were found to be infected. It is recommended that Chinatown be burned to the ground, and the inhabitants sequestered at some place outside the city.

BUY MAY CORN NOW!

The letters that follow speak for themselves, and should prove that our judgment, while not infallible, is to be depended upon.

Last October, when December Corn was selling around 43 1-2 cents we urged all our customers to buy. Those who followed our advice and kept their trades in force made enormous profits.

We now urge the purchase of MAY CORN. MAY CORN is selling around 43 1-2 cents, and we believe that a purchase of this Cereal NOW will earn as great profits for the purchaser as did December Corn.

Read the following letters carefully, then send for our FREE BOOKLET giving reasons for our advice to buy MAY CORN.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 3rd inst., enclosing check for my balance, $125.00, and for my friend Chesley of $61.56, which I have turned over to him. This is a very handsome profit on less than a month's transactions, on $100.00 investment in corn.

I appreciate your kindness very much, indeed, in closing the account so promptly following my request to do so.

Very truly yours,
HARRY E. FIRST.

Gentlemen,—I have received your check for $112.50, amount I made by investing $25.00 in December corn and holding it about twenty days.

Thanking you for your good judgment in buying December corn at low price for me, and selling it at the very highest price, I remain yours very respectfully,
H. S. DOWNS.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—Your favor of the 29th ult., with enclosure, came to hand yesterday, but I was so busy that I could not find time to reply to same until today.

I note your remarks regarding December corn, that you sold my holdings and invested the same, with profits, in May corn, which, under the circumstances, was and is satisfactory.

I also note your remarks regarding May corn, and leave you the handling of same, as you may think best and most profitable.

Awaiting your further favors, I remain yours truly,
W. H. LOVE.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,

St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I received two letters from you today, which inform me that you have, according to my instructions, sold my holdings in December corn and bought 2,500 bushels of May corn at 43 cents, on a margin of 3 cents. This means a profit of $31.25 in fifteen days on an investment of $25.00, which, I must say, is very satisfactory to me, as it is my first venture in margins in grain or any other like investment.

Kindly continue to re-invest as your judgment dictates. I am satisfied to have you make the investment earn what it can.

Again thanking you, I am

I am well pleased over your action in the above deal, and hope to see you soon and express my thanks to you in person.

Gentlemen,—I received yours of the 22nd with check for $64.38, and I note that you say you have invested the $105.00 in 3,500 bushels of May corn for me.

Please accept my sincere thanks for the $169.38 which you made for me on the $50.00 investment. Had I left you alone, as I should have done, you would have made me nearly $300.00 in the three weeks; but I am satisfied with what you have done.

Hoping you will do as well, or better, with my May corn, and again thanking you, I am yours truly,

Hugh C. Dennis, Esq.
St. Louis, Mo.:

My Dear Major,— You are a daisy. Yours of the 21st, with account of sale and purchase, almost took away my breath, $93.19 and $67.00 in such a short time on the small investment is almost beyond comprehension.

Thanks to your grand success in dealing with the market, I now see my way out to pay a debt of honor I have been wanting to pay for a long time.

Please remit about $50 by American Express to Dayton, Ohio, and apply the rest due to me to more December or May corn, as your good, and almost infallible judgment may decide. I see from your purchase order that you have already bought 5,000 bushels of corn (May market.)

Thanking you for your kindness and hailing you as my benefactor, I am.

Most truly yours,
G. J. REICHE.

We told the public this last Spring about September and December Corn. We tell them the same thing now: BUY MAY CORN. Common sense and your own sound business judgment must tell you that May corn, bought now, will make for you enormous profits within the next sixty days. May corn will, we believe, reach a price higher than it has touched in twenty years for this option. We respectfully submit the following digest of a few of our customers' trades in December Corn. The Affidavit as to the correctness of these statements is made by our Assistant Auditor, Mr. W. Arthur Clemes. What we did for our customers in DECEMBER Corn may be duplicated many times over by a purchase of MAY Corn at its present low price.

Gentlemen,—Yours of the 3rd, with check for $25.00 enclosed, was received today, and I want to say to you that I was agreeably surprised to receive it. I am more than pleased with your treatment of my investment. I have shown the check and your letter to my friends and told them if they had any idea of investing to place their money in your hands. My writing to you in the first place was an accident.

Again thanking you for your kindness in the transaction, and if nothing happens after the holidays you may expect to hear from me, together with some of my friends.

Gentlemen,—Yours of Dec. 3d, enclosing draft for $78.63, received, for which accept my sincere thanks. I wrote to you last night asking reason for your delay in sending same, but received yours this noon.

I feel that you did finely with my last investment of $25.00, and if we had understood each other better on my first, I can see where your handling would have made a few hundred on it, which I think is sufficient to prove to any one that your firm is sound and able.

I thank you again, and hope to be able to help you to more customers, and, may be, myself dabble again soon.

Gentlemen,— I am in receipt of your valued favor of the 4th and acknowledge receipt of check, for $50.00, profits on December corn holdings. Also confirmation of purchase of May. Thank you very much for same. Thought one time I saw larger profits coming my way, but feel satisfied as it is, and am confident there will be something in May corn after a time. Protect it as you did my last December holdings, and I will remit margin, if necessary. When it goes up a fair gain, sell and remit whole amount.

Gentlemen,—Your valued favors of Nov. 24th and 26th came to me today, and I assure you that I thank you for them. You have convinced me that May corn is a very desirable purchase, and I wish that I had had more of it.

That you know what you are doing, as well as you know the future of corn goes without saying, and I am glad that I am tied up to your house, and before we are through I shall try to turn all the business towards you that I can, and I hope soon to make my own personal investments thousands instead of hundreds.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours cordially,
GEO. S. SILSBY.

Arapaho, Okla., Nov. 21st, 1902.

Mr. H. C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your letter notifying me of the sale of my December corn, received; and to find I had actually doubled my money to a penny in about five days, you cannot imagine my surprise. That beats our western ways of making money. Here interest runs from 12 to 24 per cent, but that is not in it with December corn.

You must have misunderstood my letter ordering immediate sale—I meant to say, sell latter part of November, 28th or 29th, to avoid any delivery, and to rebuy December 2nd or 3rd to sell about December 20th. I am not in a financial condition to invest more now, but will likely invest in May corn more heavily in a short time. Use the original purchase together with the profits, to best advantage, using your best judgment, but avoid delivery.

Should I be able to deal heavier, I shall risk your judgment in the matter.

Trusting that good luck may continue with us, I am very truly yours,
W. C. HAWKINS.

The Greatest Mining Proposition of Modern Times

This company has demonstrated its ability to produce ore at a profit and pay regular monthly dividends under the most adverse circumstances. Only the highest grade could be shipped and cost upwards of $35 per ton. With a mill it can be treated at less than $3 per ton. The company has nearly enough money to pay for the mill, which they promise to have in operation by April 1st, 1903.

UNION PACIFIC'S DECLINING OPERATING COST

New York, Jan. 27.—A Boston statistician has figured out the declining expenditure of operation brought about through improvement of the property. The comparisons which we give below in detail, are most striking, and most bullish figures as far as the future value of the stock is concerned. During the last four years about $37,000,000 has been spent by the Union Pacific for improvements of which only $10,000,000 has been provided for through sale of securities. The balance having been charged to cost of operation. The reason is a steady decline of cost of the transportation in rates to gross earnings. The result of the $37,000,000 authentic expenditures in four years in the report of the system which is as follows:

Year.	Earnings.	Trans.	P.C.
1899...	$33,647,042	$9,304,172	27.9
1900...	38,308,419	10,479,136	27.3
1901...	42,789,917	11,603,704	27.01
1902...	46,639,629	11,[illegible],328	25.00

The gross earnings of the company's water lines are deducted from this calculation of gross earnings. Now, here is the point of the above analysis: Had the rates in 1902 been as high a per cent. as the rates in 1899, expenses of conducting transportation would have been larger by almost $14,000,000. Almost $14,000,000 as the interest on the $10,000,000 4 per cent. bonds issued on account of improvements amounts to only $400,000 per annum. The company is $1,000,000 to the good in its net earnings for 1902 in addition to the fact that the actual intrinsic cash value of its property, independent of earning power, is $37,000,000 greater than it was four years ago. An analysis of all American roads whose policy is running largely to improving their property, will show the same gratifying results, indicating most strongly the wisdom of their respective managements.

Summary—Today's dealings were marked by increased strength, though trading was but spasmodically spirited. The Venezuelan complication appears to be clearing. Neither good nor bad news seems to effect prices materially. Peoples' Gas and Copper were the particularly firm features of the industrials. Both issues look like going immediately higher, variations were but fractional. A small recession in prices took place between 1.30 and 2.30 p.m. Manhattan sold ex-rights today. Holders have privilege of purchasing of the company at par 15 per cent. of their present holdings. Tipster letters are inclined to the bear side of the account. Opinions that way are getting to be too unanimous. Today's weakness in wheat was a favorable feature. It stimulates export demand and insures a continuance of the recent sharp inquiry. Money closed 3 1-2 and 3 3-4. Sales 443,300.

While we gladly accord honor to the courage of active heroism, let us not forget also to reverence the courage of patient endurance, the courage of absolute sincerity, the courage of devotion to principle. The hope that inspires effort is always a blessing. Not only does it strengthen the human faculties and improve the character; it also makes rapid advancement in its own line, even when failing to reach its far-off goal.

Why Coughing is Weakening.

The amount of energy expended in coughing is very considerable; indeed, one of the patient statisticians for which Germany is renowned has calculated that a patient who coughs once every quarter of an hour for ten hours expends energy equivalent to two hundred and fifty units of heat, which may be translated as equivalent to the nourishment contained in three eggs or two glasses of milk. In normal respiration the air is expelled from the chest at the rate of four feet per second, whereas in violent coughing it may attain a velocity of three hundred feet.

DEPENDABLE INFORMATION

is the only right sort to receive relative to stock movements; when such is received in connection with any property, an analysis of the property should be carefully made, to learn if the facts warrant the likelihood of the information being correct. ENTIRELY OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms? The oil now brings $1.50 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over $100,000 in 60 days time on an investment of this kind; also have wells making from 10 to 200 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their outlay. The oil business conducted on business principles, with honest management, is bound to succeed. You do not have to look farther than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce, they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. For particulars write THE RANGER CO., MARIETTA, OHIO.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, is shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $30 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings ofttimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to instal either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain. Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

The Board of Education met in Mr. W. G. Morrow's office last night, for the purpose of revising the by-laws of the Board. No other business was taken up, and the Board will meet in regular session on Tuesday evening next.

Resulted in Death

The injuries received on January 17, by Mr. John A. Jewell, at Goose Lake, Fenelon Township, terminated fatally last Friday. The young man was engaged in felling trees when he received most frightful injuries, with the above sad result.

To-Night's Ball

The Non-Com's ball in the Opera House to-night promises to be very largely attended. The committee in charge are sparing no pains to have it an unqualified success. Tickets have been sold in large numbers, so it is quite probable that even greater success than in former years will be the result.

Sabbath School Conference

Some time ago a very successful Sabbath School Conference of the Anglican churches was held at All Saint's church. On Wednesday, February 4, at 8 o'clock another rally will be held at St. Luke's Schoolroom. If everybody manifests as much interest as before, the success of the conference is already assured. Programmes will be published as soon as they are completed.

Mr. Stanton's Accident

Mr. Hector Stanton, who has been employed as C.P.R. operator at Smith's Falls, had the misfortune to severely injure his right hand about two weeks ago in attempting to raise the window, which was frozen down, his hand slipped and broke the glass, cutting a severe gash across the hand. The wound was a very painful one, but we are glad to state that it is improving satisfactorily. Mr. Stanton is spending a few days in Peterborough at present.

EMBALMS THE FOOD

A California Physician's Idea About Coffee

A well-known California physician, John M. Read, of Redding, Cal., maintains that coffee, when taken with the meals, has a tendency to "embalm" or "preserve" the food so that it will not digest. With this knowledge he has made many complete cures of indigestion, stomach troubles and nervous diseases by taking away the coffee and giving his patients Postum Cereal Coffee, which helps digestion.

Dr. Read's theory is spoken of in a letter from a gentleman of Oak P. O., Cal., who says: "Twelve years of indigestion had made me so nervous and thin that I could scarcely work. I had noticed the newspaper articles about Postum Coffee but didn't think seriously of the matter. Finally, however, they impressed me and I went to my family physician, Dr. John M. Read, of Redding, and asked him about Postum.

"He immediately recommended it, having used it in his own and other cases for exactly the same purpose. Dr. Read is well-known throughout northern California and he surprised me by the following statement: 'Coffee acts in many cases like a large dose of alcohol taken after meals; it preserves the food so it cannot be digested.'

"I have great faith in Dr. Read and immediately commenced Postum with the result that at the end of one month I was greatly improved and now, at the end of three months I am a well man, nerves steady and digestion O.K. Am gaining steadily in weight and can do a hard day's work.

"My brother who suffered from palpitation of the heart when drinking coffee, claims that his heart does not trouble him in the least when using Postum." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THE NEW WARDEN

Mr. Crowe Has Been Chosen for That Office for 1903

In electing Mr. Richard Crowe, of Dummer, Warden for 1903, a wise selection has been made. He is a man of considerable municipal experience, and his elevation to this most responsible and honorable position, is a deserved tribute at the hands of his colleagues in the County Council. In discharging his new duties we can safely look for the same carefulness and despatch for which his public services have always been noted.

In the absence of Mr. W. A. Stratton, Mr. R. P. Watt was appointed sessional clerk, pro tem.

Messrs. W. O'Brien, of Douro, and Geo. W. Bennett, of North Monighan, were appointed auditors for 1903.

The council then went into committee of the whole to strike the standing committees.

After Fifty Years

The Toronto Globe is giving its readers extracts from its fyles of 50 years ago. The one appended may interest many here It was first published January 22, 1853. It read as follows:—

"Information has been received that the Government has sanctioned the Port Hope and Township of Hope by-laws for taking stock in the Peterborough and Port Hope Railway. The stock now subscribed amounts to £50,000. Tenders for the contracts are immediately to be advertised for. No doubt exists that this railway will now go on."

BACK AT WORK

The Ackerman Employees Resumed Work Yesterday Morning

The public will be pleased to learn that work was resumed yesterday by the employees of Mr. Ackerman's factory, as a result of the various meetings of the Striker's Committee, the Conciliation Committee and the management of the company.

An agreement was signed, which was declared satisfactory to all concerned. No further demands will be made by the men for at least six months, and then at least one month's notice will be given.

The conference was carried on in a very fair-minded manner by the different parties interested. If this were always done strikes would often be settled much more speedily.

Turning Down the Doctors

The marvelous cures of Catarrhozone are being much talked about. Thousands are daily recognizing the exceptional merit of this simple inhaler treatment, and instead of running to the doctor with their winter ills they protect themselves by Catarrhozone; it kills colds in the head in ten minutes, quickly relieves Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Lung Troubles, and cures even though all other remedies have failed. Catarrhozone is very pleasant, safe and convenient to use. Its best recommendation is its enormous sale; try it to-day. Price $1.00, small size, 25c., at Druggists.

JUST IN TIME.

A motorman in Chicago ran his car into the approach of an open bridge but stopped it with the fender actually overhanging the gulf below. He wouldn't want to repeat the experiment because the chances are that he'd never again have the same good fortune.

Once in a while some one who has traveled to the very edge of the danger line of stomach disease stops just in time to save his health. But the majority of people go across the line, and slight symptoms of indigestion grow to disease of the stomach, involving the other organs of digestion and nutrition.

The first symptom of indigestion should receive prompt attention. Indigestion and other forms of stomach "trouble" are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the whole body by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"I have been suffering for about eight years," writes Mrs. M. Pierce, of Millsprings, Ky. "Have had several doctors to treat me—some for female weakness and others for stomach trouble, but received no relief. When I wrote you for advice I was hardly able to work, and you advised me what to do. I began to take your medicine and the effects have been good. I was under the doctor's care every summer before this. I took nine bottles, five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' four of 'Favorite Prescription,' also two vials of the 'Pellets.' Dr. Pierce's medicines will do all that you claim for them. Believe I would have been in my grave if I had not taken them."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Agonizing Pains of Rheumatism

Swollen, aching joints, muscles are stiff and sore, every movement accompanied by pain. The most potent remedy is Polson's Nerviline, which has five times the pain subduing power of any other preparation. Apply the Nerviline copiously, rub it on well and then bind in a hot flannel bandage. This will cure the worst cases in a short time. Try Nerviline for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica or Lumbago—it's all right and only costs a quarter.

GENERAL SPORTS

The Young Ladies Hockey team had a practice on the rink yesterday afternoon.

The Port Hope Juniors defeated the Junior Colts last night in a close and exciting game by six goals to five.

The Ontario Bank played a game with the combined banks last night between five and six. Result 6—3 in favor of the Ontario's.

Port Hope, Jan. 27—The game which decided that Port Hope will wrestle with Belleville for the O.H.A. intermediate championship in this group, was played here last evening with Peterborough before the largest crowd of the season, resulting in a score of 6 to 1 in favor of the local team. Neither team displayed much brilliancy in the first half, but Port Hope had the better of the play throughout, and at half-time the score was 2 to 1 in favor of the local team. In the second half Peterborough made a desperate effort to change the score but the brilliant rushes of their forwards were fruitless. Their flags were in constant danger and before full time the combination play of the Port Hope team proved effectual.

The ice was in good condition, and the game was an excellent exhibition of clean hockey. Referee Telfer proved a strict and impartial official. The teams:

Peterborough (1) Goal, Wasson; point Glover; cover-point, Harold Armstrong; forwards, Whitcroft, Roy Armstrong, Cavanagh and Graham.

Port Hope (6) —Goal, Marter; point, Roach; cover-point, Brown; forwards McCarthy, Bunny, Mastertin, and McMillan.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN AND THE BELGIAN PRESS IN BETTER ACCORD

New Zealand's Governor Advises Subsidies for Australia—The Pan-American Movement in Austria not Favored

London, Jan. 28—All news concerning the Venezuelan negotiations comes from New York and Washington. Here nothing is given out. There is a spirit of thankfulness that Great Britain will soon be independent of her aggressive ally, for the conviction is increasing that Germany had a far deeper motive in entangling Great Britain in her warlike policy that the Venezuelan affair of itself would, account for. Sir Robert Giffen, in The Times this morning points out some reasons why Germany might be found engaging in far more serious business than bombarding Venezuela for a settlement. Sir Robert writes: "Even if matter were patched up now the general danger of situation will remain. Monroe doctrine is a convenient one for the United States, and to some extent for this country. It suits us every way that United States should cry, 'hands off.'"

London, Jan. 28 — Lord Strathcona tailed analysis showing the effects of publishes in to-day's papers a long dethe preferential tariff, and explains the disparity between Canadian imports from the States and Britain He claims by figures that this preference resulted not only in arresting a continuous decline of Anglo-Canadian trade, but stimulated it. If the British manufacturer has not fully availed himself of the undoubted advantages, it is not the fault of the Canadian Government or the preferential policy.

London, Jan. 28—Herr Wedel, the new German ambassador to Austria Hungary has lost no time in defining his position towards the Pan-German agitators, who encourage German citizens to meddle in the international affairs of Austria-Hungary, says the Vienna correspondent of The Times. In speaking at the German colony's banquet in celebration of the Kaiser's birthday, the ambassador tendered the wholesome advice that his countrymen should be mindful of the duties imposed upon them by the privileges of the hospitality they enjoyed. He urged his hearers to remember that a guest ought not to meddle with the domestic matters of his host.

HIS POPULARITY REVIVES.

London, Jan. 28—A favorable impression in regard to the outcome of Mr. Chamberlain's visit to South Africa is gradually gaining ground in Brussels according to The Times' correspondent. This impression is reflected in the comments of the Belgian newspapers. Mr. Chamberlain's unpopularity was not greater anywhere than in Belgium, and the modified tone of the press marks another stage in the decadence of Anglophobia, says the correspondent.

SUGGESTED NAVAL POLICY.

London, Jan. 28—The Times' representative in Westerton, New Zealand, says that Governor Lord Ranfurley, in speaking of the British navy, suggested the subsidizing of the steamship companies to build special fast passenger vessels, available as armed cruisers in war times, to protect the trade routes. Such action, the Governor urged, would enable the regular navy to strike where action was needed.

ENGLISHMEN FAIL TO SEE SURRENDER

Both Parties Have Yielded Something in the Alaska Affair

BRITAIN NEGLECTS CHANCE

St. James Gazette Thinks Britain Should Reduce Postal Rates to Canada

London, Jan. 27 — Lord Strathcona was the guest of Major R. G. Edwards Leckie and officers of the Canadian Mounted Rifles at a dinner in the Cafe Royal last night and received an enthusiastic welcome. He said that in the dreadful though necessary war in South Africa it had been demonstrated that England's children looked on themselves as English in the best sense of the word and regarded the dignity and the interests of the Empire as in their keeping. There must always be mistakes, from which Canada suffered. That was due to ignorance, not to a desire to do Canada an injury. Alike in Canada as in other colonies, no Government could resist an appeal on the part of the whole people to maintain the whole Empire. Happily for England, Canada would be able to produce every pound of wheat needed to keep this country from starvation in time of war. He hoped to see the Atlantic passage reduced by an Anglo-Canadian service to four days.

The Footballers.

The Canadian footballers were present. Farrell, speaking on their behalf, said they had come to England more or less as a pioneer team to learn the game. They were getting their own back a little now, and regarded it as a good omen. They had won the first match they played, in the capital of the Empire.

The Alaskan Treaty.

Englishmen find it difficult to understand what Canadian critics of the Alaska treaty mean when they suggest that the treaty is a startling surrender by Britain to the States, and due to Britain's desire to atone for the folly of the Anglo-American co-operation in Venezuela. The idea Englishmen have is rather that the treaty is due on one hand to Canada's graceful concession in forfeiting appointment of Umpire and on the other hand to the United States' concession in throwing Skagway and Dyea into arbitration. It is stated here that Lord Lansdowne had no other objection to the convention as finally signed except the absence of an umpire.

The Daily Mail, in an editorial, fears a deadlock as the result of the absence of an umpire and sees no way out impasse unless an unbiased American umpire is admitted to the commission.

Canadians Congratulated.

The papers today congratulate the Canadians on their win yesterday. The Express says they play the game for all all they are worth all round. The Daily Mail says they possess the pace, weight, and features, that their game is keen, their kicking remarkable for length and accuracy, and adds that their passing yesterday was most effective, eliciting hearty applause. All the papers speak highly of the magnificent play of Darling. Speaking at the dinner after the match, Lindsay, an old Oxford Captain, said Canada was doing grandly in field sports. Mr. McClure said they were enjoying the tour immensely. He had seen Rowland Hill, who held out hope of an English team visiting Canada soon.

THE NEW RULE NOW AT HENLEY

Project to Utilize Ottawa Valley Power

THE VACATION AND FRANCE

An Odd Temperance Move in London—Only Drink at Meals—Many Men out of Work, Yet Free Labor Discouraged for the Mines on the Rand.

London, Jan 27—The Henley regatta stewards have ruled that no amateur oarsman can be coached by a professional during the month prior to the contest.

Big Project Being Discussed.

The Westinghouse Company are negotiating with a Canadian here with a view to the utilization of the Chats Fall on the Ottawa River, and the establishment there of electric smelting iron works and pulp mills involving millions. The company officials here strongly recommend the enterprise to the head office at Pittsburg, which is strengthened by the expert opinion of Lord Kelvin. The contracts will be sent to Pittsburg for settlement. The Canadian in question is Mr. Louis Simpson, formerly of the Valleyfield Cotton Mills.

The Papacy and France.

The estrangement between the Pope and France grows. M. Combes, the Premier insists upon the right of the Government to select the Bishops, and the Pope declares the Church would rather have no French bishops, than submit to political nomination. Several sees are now vacant, and the belief is that the Premier will win, as France is determined upon absolute separation from the Vatican.

A Phase of Temperance.

The Manchester Technical School Board are spending a part of the rates in the erection of a brewery plant for teaching scientific brewing. The temperance people are roused, and have formed a semi-teetotal society in London, a pledge to abstain from drinks except at meal times, knowing that Englishmen usually suggest a short time between meals. The society is supported by the eminent doctor, Sir Frederick Treves, and the well known judge, Sir Francis Jeune, as a step in the right direction.

The Rand Labor Problem.

The gist of the Rand labor question, which is one of the problems Mr. Chamberlain has on hand, presents two alternatives, to compel the Kaffirs, who are so well off since the war that they won't work; to import two hundred thousand Chinese. This is advocated unanimously by the mine-owners, who are omnipotent in the Rand. To import Britishers is condemned by the mine owners as being far too expensive. The attitude of the magnates is stirring up indignation in the Motherland, especially as tens of thousands of unemployed are tramping the streets, begging. People are asking here is the result of the war to be the introduction of a Chinese horde, and an embargo on the new colony.

New Tuberculosis Serum

Vienna, Jan. 27—The Tageblatt credits Dr. Margorek, a young Viennese bacteriologist, attached to the Pasteur Institute, in Paris, with the invention of a new tuberculosis serum which has been successful in a number of cases at various dates since Professor Koch's tuberculin failed twelve years ago.

BRIDGEPORT.

—Friends will be glad to learn that Mr. Herman Thompson, is recovering from his recent illness.

—Mr. Albert Muse has built himself a handsome residence, and will entertain his friends, as soon as the house is completed.

—Mr. T. Wood entertained several of his Otonabee and Monaghan friends one night recently.

NON-COMS' SUCCESS

Held Their Annual Ball Last Night in the Opera House

The Opera House never looked prettier than it did last night on the occasion of the ball of the Non.-Coms. of the 57th. The handsome decorations were the work of that well known and capable firm, Mr. J. J. Turner & Sons., and as usual reflected much credit upon them.

The music was in charge of Prof. Glidden which is sufficient guarantee of its excellency. All the details had been carefully, pre-arranged, and were carried out without a single hitch—unless some were arranged between some of the many handsome young ladies and estimable gentlemen who graced the occasion with their presence.

Score one more success for the Non-Coms. of our grand old 57th.

VISITING BRETHREN

Will be Here To-Night From Lindsay Lodge of Oddfellows

There will be great things to-night in the Oddfellow's Lodge Rooms at the corner of George and Hunter streets. Lindsay Lodge, No. 100, I.O.O.F., has accepted an invitation from Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, to pay them a fraternal visit, and it is expected there will be a large detachment present this evening from Lindsay and also a good attendance of the members of the order in Peterborough. Visiting brethren from other lodges will also be most cordially welcomed. The degree work will be exemplified, and in addition there will be refreshments, music, speeches, etc.

The Peterborough brethren will do their best to make matters pleasant for the visitors. The Oddfellows of Lindsay and Peterborough have paid several visits to each other, and most enjoyable evenings have been spent on such occasions.

Ladysmith to be an Exhibition Spot

London, January 27. —Ladysmith is preparing to make herself another such center for the historic scenes around her as Brussels is for Waterloo. A regular coach service, it seems, is to be organized to Spionkop and when the passengers have walked over the fatal summit they will find refreshments and lodging at "Spionkop Hotel, which is to be built forthwith on Three-Tree hill.

TO MAKE A NEW CABINET POSITION

Former Governor Ross of the Yukon to Fill It

REWARD FOR PARTY SACRIFICE

It is Said That He Will be Made Minister of Mines for Winning New Seat for Government

Ottawa, January 28 —It is intimated on pretty good authority that the Government will create an additional Cabinet position during the coming session of Parliament and that it will take the shape of a Dominion Department of Mines.

The man for whose benefit this department is created is Hon. James Ross, lately elected member for the Yukon and formerly Governor of the Yukon.

It has been suspected for some time that a move of this kind would be made for no one who is in the inner circle of Liberal politics imagined that Mr. Ross would, of his own free will, resign his position of Governor of the Yukon to enter Parliament.

It appears however that the Government could not put their hand on anyone whom they were certain would win the new constituency for the Liberal party, except "Jim" Ross, as he is popularly called.

He has been in the West for years, and his popularity among the Western pioneers as well as the miners of the Yukon is something tremendous. He won the hearts of the latter by his strong opposition to the Treadgold concessions, which he virtually defeated. He told them that he would go to Ottawa himself and prevent the scheme from passing or he would never put his foot amongst them again. When he finally did come back successfully among them, he could have possessed, and the Government took advantage of that fact.

He was told that they wanted him to resign and run for the Yukon, and no doubt the promise which is now said to be close upon fulfilment, was made at that time.

Personally, Mr. Ross just about that time did not care much what he did.

Though extremely fortunate in professional life, the greatest of misfortune had befallen him, in the loss of his wife and child, who went down with the ill-fated Islander.

He was ill of body and sick at heart and the physicians whom he consulted were not very sanguine about him.

He went to Southern California, and was there trying to recuperate, while his election campaign was going on, and as a proof of his popularity he was elected by a great majority, although he did not make a speech, did not show his face, and was some four thousand miles from his constituents.

WILL CLOSE AT SIX

On February 2nd the New Plan will Go Into Force

As was stated in our columns a few days ago, a movement was on foot to have the stationery and fancy goods stores close at six, except on certain evenings. The appended shows that matters have been arranged satisfactorily:—

We, the undersigned, dealers in Fancy Goods, Stationery, Wall Paper, etc., agree to close our stores at six o'clock every evening of the year, excepting the month of December and on Saturday evenings, and on evenings before public holidays, commencing Monday, the 2nd of February, 1903.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

Presentation of Reports of the Various Auxiliary Societies

THE FINANCIAL REPORTS

There Was a Good Attendance and Considerable Discussion

The Financial Position of the Church Satisfactory a Small Deficit in Current Expense Account

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was fairly well filled last night on the occasion of the annual meeting of the congregation of that popular church. The chair was occupied by Mr. John Carnegie.

The reports from the different branches of the work were of a satisfactory nature, and indicated that good progress is being made.

Rev. E. F. Torrance, D.D., presided in opening, and after the singing of the Doxology, Rev. J. A. Wilson, B.A., led in prayer.

Mr. John Carnegie was then appointed Chairman.

Rev. Dr. Torrance gave the report of the Session.

During the year, there have been 18 deaths, the largest number recorded in any one year. Reference was made to the regret at Rev. Mr. Yule's removal, and to the faithful services of Rev. J. A. Wilson, B.A., the present assistant pastor. About 480 families and 790 communicants are now connected with the church. The new Mission will be opened next Sunday, and will add materially to the responsibilities of the congregation.

BOARD OF MANAGERS

Mr. J. W. Bennett reported for the Board of Managers, showing a deficit of $580. We began with a deficit of $206. Our triennial insurance cost $240, and there were extra expenses for plumbing, musical services, etc.

The year's revenue was slightly better than for the year before, but an increase in the number of contributors is very desirable. There is a large increase in the receipts compared with 1899-1900.

The increase in the fixed annual outlay over former years is about $1,000.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

By Mr. W. G. Ferguson, showed the total receipts to be $6,113.72, and the expenditure $5,856.64 leaving a balance of $587.91 owing to the Ontario Bank. But as the year began with a deficit of $205.00, and there have been heavy extra expenses for insurance, plumbing, etc the showing is really better than these figures would seem to indicate.

On the mortgage account $3,000 is still owing.

MISSIONARY REPORT.

Mr. R. Innes submitted the report of the Missionary Society for 1902:

The total revenue was $1,795.53, of which $750 was to support three missionaries in the Northwest.

The total number of contributors was 302, an increase over the previous year, and also an increased contribution.

The remaining $1,045.53 was divided between Home and Foreign Missions and French Evangelization.

The $750 referred to is the contribution of three or four individuals.

Dr. Torrance called attention to the particularly satisfactory nature of the report.

Mr. R. B. Wood reported for the Building Committee. The new Mission has cost $4,048.27. Of this all but $1,217.77 is provided for. The Ladies' Aid have paid for the furnishings.

Mr. Wood spoke strongly on the necessity of an increase in the number of contributors, and in the amounts contributed in many instances.

Mr. Sheriff Hall emphasized the same ideas.

It was decided that as soon as the duties of the Building Committee were finished, that they be discharged, and steps taken to arrange for the balance of the debt on the new Mission.

Mr. A. J. Johnston reported for the Sabbath School, showing an increase in attendance and in giving to missions.

Madeleine Baptie was the only scholar present every Sabbath in the year. The past year has been one of great encouragement.

WOMEN'S F. M. S.

M. H. Leeh gave an extremely interesting report from the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. The membership last year was 105. Of these 56 are members of the General Society, and 16 are life members. The average attendance has been 44. Much good literature and several church magazines have been sent out, and a box of clothing worth $67.72 was sent to the Hurricane Hills Reserve.

The total income for the year was $432.-38, and prospects are bright for another very successful year.

MISSION BAND

Miss M. A. McDonald gave an encouraging report of the Faithful Worker's Mission Band. The average attendance was 13 out of a membership of 18.

The Board raised $100 during the year and sent 150 yards of rag carpet to the Northwest.

A number of the older members have been transferred to the Fraser Mission Band. The prospects of the work are very encouraging.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

The Christian Endeavor Society reported the election of the following officers:

Hon. Pres.—Rev. E. F. Torrance, D D
Pres.—Rev. J. A. Wilson, B.A
Vice-Pres.—Mr. Sanford Hall.
Secretary—Miss K. McQuay.
Treas.—Miss M. Godfrey.

Conveners of Committees.

Prayer Meeting—Miss A. B. Patterson.
Missionary—Miss A. I. Dickson, B.A.
Lookout—Miss E. K. Carey.
Social—Miss Mary Robson.
Flower—Miss Jordon.
Musical—Miss J. Hall.

During the year able assistance has been rendered by Miss A. I. Dickson, B. A., Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, Mr. E. Elcome, Rev. R. P. McKay and others.

The Society has paid current expenses and also given $30 toward the support of Rev. J. H. Bruce, B.A., one of the church missionaries in Honan, China.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY.

Mrs. R. R. Hall, Secretary-Treasurer of the Ladies' Aid, submitted a very encouraging report, showing receipts for the year of $461.95 and a balance on hand of $352.87.

During the year great interest has been taken in the work, as the society has been raising funds to furnish the new mission church.

Mr. J. H. Connal gave the First annual report of the Young Men's Guild.

The Guild has supplied young men to act as ushers and to take up the offering.

They also look after strangers.

The following were appointed on the Management Committee:—Messrs. R. Innes, J. H. Connal, John Crane, W. Pringle, P. Hamilton.

Mr. Connal is to complete the term of Mr. R. B. Wood, who resigned.

Messrs. R. McWilliams and R. E. Wood were appointed auditors.

Mr. D. H. Moore moved, and Mr. R. F. McWilliams seconded, that steps be taken to retain, if possible, the services of Rev. Mr. Wilson for another year.

Mr. J. A. Fife, Mr. A J Johnston, and Mrs. J. W. Garvin made brief remarks, and the motion carried unanimously.

It was resolved to request the Session to send missionary envelopes to each member of the church, and that each one be asked to promise a definite amount.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the members of the choir for their services.

It was decided to publish the names and addresses of all members of the church in the annual report for 1903.

The names of those contributing by envelopes and for missions will not be published in this annual report.

Rev. Dr. Torrance dismissed the meeting with the benediction.

THE GRAND TRUNK AND MACKENZIE-MANN

Rumored That Purchase of Latter's Property Has Been Acquired

AN OUTLAY OF $18,000,000

Payment of $6,500,000 in Cash—Mr. R. S. Logan States That So Far He Has Not Heard of Deal

Montreal, Jan. 28.—Mr. William MacKenzie, of MacKenzie and Mann, sailed on Saturday for England, and it is generally believed that he carried with him the acceptance of the Grand Trunk Pacific people in regard to the purchase of the entire MacKenzie and Mann railroad interests in the Northwest, Manitoba and New Ontario.

From quarters friendly to Messrs. MacKenzie and Mann the news came today that the sum agreed upon is about $3,500,000 over and above the entire cost of construction up to the present time. The total outlay, according to the same authority, will be in the neighborhood of $18,000,000, and Mr. MacKenzie carries the most minute financial details, so that the deal already agreed upon can be consummated with little or no difficulty after he reaches London.

Mr. R. S. Logan, assistant to the general manager of the Grand Trunk, said today:

"That is the first I have heard of it."

When asked if it would do any good to see Mr. Hays about the matter, Mr. Logan replied: "I hardly think so. I should likely have heard something if it were true."

A gentleman in close touch with both the interested parties said: "There is no doubt that Mr. MacKenzie's trip to Europe has all to do with the sale of the MacKenzie-Mann railroad interests, and I think you will get a cable to that effect within a very short time."

LORD STRATHCONA ON CANADIAN UNITY

The High Commissioner Speaks at a Military Banquet

MISTAKES OF GREAT BRITAIN

Canada Has Suffered, But They Were Made Through Ignorance Not Malice

London, January 28.—Lord Strathcona was the guest of Major R. G. Edwards Leckie and officers of the Canadian Mounted Rifles at dinner at Cafe Royal last night, and received an enthusiastic welcome. He said that dreadful though the war in South Africa had been, it had demonstrated that England's children looked on themselves as English in the best sense of the word regarding the dignity and interests of the Empire as in their keeping. There must always be mistakes and England has made great mistakes from which Canada suffered. This is due to ignorance, not to a desire to do Canada injury. Alike in Canada as in her colonies, no government could resist an appeal on the part of the whole people to maintain the Empire. Happily for England Canada would be able to produce every pound of wheat needed to keep this country from starvation in time of war. He hoped soon to see the Atlantic passage reduced by an Anglo-Canadian service to four days.

GETTING READY FOR INFLUX OF SETTLERS

CANADIAN PACIFIC WARNS LUMBER DEALERS TO PREPARE FOR RUSH

The Big Railway Looks for an Unprecedented Rush Into the Great West Country in the Spring

Winnipeg, Jan. 29.—The C.P.R. is already preparing for the large influx of settlers, and it is going further and urging others to do the same.

The general freight agent, W. B. Lanigan, has issued a circular, which has been approved of by Assistant Traffic Manager Peters, in regard to the lumber business. It is addressed to the agents of the road throughout the whole of the Northwest, and reads as follows:

CIRCULAR TO AGENTS.

The large influx of settlers into western Manitoba and the Northwest Territories during the early spring is going to create a heavy demand for lumber, and it is very important that sufficient stocks of lumber of all kinds required for the construction of houses, barns, etc., be at once ordered and moved into the different districts, so that settlers can commence putting up their buildings immediately on their arrival.

We are in a position to supply cars for the movement of this lumber from all mills at the present time and during February, but after that time it may be difficult for us to do so.

You are, therefore, requested to call upon the lumber dealers at your station and impress upon them the necessity of placing their orders for immediate shipment, and report to me fully what orders have been placed by your dealers, giving name of shipper and point of shipment.

Mr. Peters was interviewed in regard to the above.

He said: "Mr. McNichol has given me instructions to take steps to get a good supply of lumber into the Territories immediately for the use of settlers coming into the country, for building purposes.

"Last fall a good many settlers came in just when we were busiest in the movement of grain, and we found it very difficult to supply the cars asked for immediately at all the lumber mills. In many cases the lumber dealers had let their stocks run down.

"As there will be a large immigration this year the demand for lumber will be very great, and we wish the lumber dealers to give in their orders for the season's supply at once. The cars are now plentiful, and it will be easy for us to supply all demands and have the lumber delivered before the roads break up.

MEETS LUMBERMEN.

"I have arranged with Isaac Cockburn, secretary of the Western Retail Lumber Dealers' association, which embraces all the lumber merchants in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, to go west today and hold meetings at central points. He will be accompanied by W. H. Mills, our travelling freight agent, and among the places they will visit will be Wolseley, Regina, Prince Albert, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge.

Mr. Cockburn will point out to the dealers at the various points the absolute necessity of ordering their stocks of lumber for the coming year immediately.

"We have already seen the principal owners of mills and manufactories, and they are heartily in accord with us in our object, and say they are now ready to fill all orders."

"Do you think the lumber dealers will acquiesce in your suggestion?"

"We consider the matter of such importance that at points where there is likely to be a shortage of lumber, we will ourselves keep a supply on hand to meet the demand. It is the last thing the road would do to interfere with the regular business, but the wants of the country must be met. We do not, however, anticipate any trouble in this connection."

Mr. Peters expects to see an enormous immigration this year, especially to the Territories, and he says the demand for building material will be exceptionally large."

C. P. R. REJECTS A TEMPTING OFFER

Refuses Forty-Two Million Dollars for a Large Block of Land

A Great Future for the Western Country is Undoubtedly Assured

Montreal, Que., Jan. 28.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has received an offer from a colonization syndicate of $42,000,000 for 14,000,000 acres of the company's land, on a basis of $3 an acre. The offer has been rejected, as the management considers it a better course to continue to sell its land direct to settlers.

The terms of payment offered by the syndicate are not stated, but as the company has lately been getting $3 an acre, payable in instalments, by settlers, and as it is thought that before long, even higher prices may be received, the management thinks it would be in the best interests of the company to adhere to the present system. The payments now being made, by settlers on their mortgage notes are said to be equal to the interest on all the bonds of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and it is predicted that eventually there will be sufficient to retire the company's entire bonded debt.

People identified with the bull side of the stock market, say, that while Canadian Pacific will for the present probably go with the rest of the market, they are confident that within the next few months considerably higher prices will be seen. Added to large earnings and heavy receipts for land sales, a material reduction in operating expenses, made possible by working out of extensive betterment plans, should, it is argued, make Canadian Pacific look attractive even at the present prices.

—In future the regular meetings of the Peterborough Board of Education will be held on the first Monday in each month.

STRATHCONA ON THE PREFERENCE

CLAIMS THAT IT ARRESTED DECLINING TRADE WITH GREAT BRITAIN

The Fault is the Briton's—If He Has Not Taken Advantage to Secure Business with Great Britain

London, Jan. 28.—Englishmen find it difficult to understand what Canadian critics of the Alaska treaty mean when when they suggest that the treaty is a startling surrender by Great Britain to the United States, due to Britain's desire to atone for the folly of Anglo-German co-operation in Venezuela. The idea of the Englishmen rather is that the treaty is due, on the one hand, to Canada's graceful concession in foregoing the appointment of an umpire, and, on the other hand, to the United States' concession in throwing Skagway and Dyea into the arbitration. It is stated here that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, like Lord Lansdowne, had no other objection to the convention as finally signed except the absence of an umpire.

The Daily Mail in an editorial fears a deadlock as the result of the absence of an umpire, and sees no way out of the impasse unless an unbiased American umpire is admitted to the commission.

February Canadian Magazine

Mr. E. W. Thompson, author of "Old Man Savarin," contributes a splendid story to the February Canadian Magazine. Mr. Thompson has recently returned to Canada and is now living in Montreal. His many admirers will be glad to know that some of his work is now appearing in Canadian publications. There is a remarkable and rare photograph in this issue which is worthy of mention. It is a picture of three young golden eagles in a nest. The picture of an eagle's nest is rare, but one which shows three young birds instead of two which is the usual number, is much rarer still. This picture was taken in British Columbia. Among the other features are—British Guiana, illustrated, by Wm. Perot Kaufman; the Passing of the Wild Pigeons, by C. W. Nash; a sketch of Hon. L. J. Tweedie, Premier of New Brunswick; a poem by W. A. Fraser, author of "Thoroughbreds"; Dr. Bell's Flying Machine, by Thomas Johnson; a Visit to the Toronto Zoo, illustrated, by W. T. Allison; Railway Taxation by H. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P., and The Incorporation of Trades Unions by Professor Adam Shortt. The second instalment of Dr. Hannay's "War of 1812" is well illustrated, and the Departments are also attractive.

FEED FOR SWINE

We are indebted to a North-West contemporary for some interesting facts on the subject of feeding roots to swine. A prejudice has formerly existed among swine breeders against roots as feed on account of the idea that their use was responsible for a considerable portion of the soft bacon produced in the Canadian packing house at certain seasons of the year. Our authority, however, asserts that careful experiment has shown that roots can be fed in moderate quantities combined with other feed without any injurious effect on the quality of the pork produced.

This is a matter of considerable importance to farmers. The census of opinion at the Copenhagen, Ottawa, and several American experimental stations is that eight pounds of mangels or carrots and about the same weight or a little less of sugar beets are equal in value of one pound of grain. As heavy root crops can be easily and economically grown in nearly all those portions of Canada where swine raising is carried on extensively, this manner of feed would certainly be a positive benefit as far as the general thrift of the animal is concerned.

Prejudices of this nature certainly take a great deal of removing from the mind of careful breeders. But the authorities are so great, which, our contemporary quotes, that we think roots will soon be admitted eminently satisfactory, as well as the most economical of swine rations.

THE BOUNDARY COMMISSION

Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated yesterday to our Ottawa correspondent that the whole question of the Alaskan Boundary without any reservations whatever is to go before the Joint Commission. This indicates a very important modification of the position hitherto taken by United States statesmen. Even those who did not go the length of insisting that there was nothing to arbitrate, were not prepared to submit the question to arbitration without making most important reservations in the interests of their own country. The assumption which is being freely expressed that the British member of the commission "will give Canada away," is a gratuitous one and an ungenerous one. It is curious how people who kick at the idea of Canada sharing in the burden of imperial defence expect Great Britain to embroil herself with the United States at any moment in defence of the smallest vestige of Canadian rights. The probability is that the British Commissioner will be as jealous of Canadian interests as the Canadian Commissioners themselves. It is also worth while to bear in mind, that had there been no British power behind Canada, our Uncle Samuel would probably have maintained his original intention that there was "nothing to arbitrate."

THE COAL COMBINE

It is stated that a prosecution has been entered against the Ontario coal dealers association, as it is called in the despatch, with headquarters at Brantford, for alleged conspiracy to prevent anyone but members from buying coal from the operators. This refers to the action of certain manufacturers in Brantford, who bought large quantities to sell to their men at the market price. The local dealers took steps to prevent this form of trading.

If it is found that the traders have formed an illegal combination to fleece the public, the parties should be "strung up" to the fullest penalty. The public at large will not "stand for" anything of the kind. This, however, is the ingredient in any combine that is to be condemned. A union of traders to make rules for their common guidance is as intelligible and defensible as a union of any other persons. It is only when they use their organization to cheat and oppress the people—poor and rich alike—that it comes under the law and the lash of public disapproval.

"'TWAS PITIFUL! 'TWAS WONDROUS PITIFUL."

The lack of public appreciation and co-operation was evidently responsible for the poignant gloom resting on the various members of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society, at their annual meeting on Tuesday evening, last.

The feeling, too, was infectious, and we make bold to ask: Why should these things be? No man can plead ignorant of the objects of this noble institution, and surely none will be guilty of such barbarity as to deny its usefulness, nor the admirable principles its worthy representatives are devoting their leisure to propagate. What, then, we would like to ask, is the meaning of this apparent lack of interest on the part of our fellow townsmen on this matter? The love of the beautiful in nature is surely a passion worthy of cultivation, and the good work already done by the Horticultural Society towards the beautifying of our town should, we would imagine, be of itself a sufficient stimulant to call forth not only our admiration, but our best energies to add to the effectiveness of its work.

"We are not wood, we are not stones, but men."

And being men we should be able to recognize not only the unselfish labors expended on our behalf, but the duty devolving on ourselves to do all that lies in our power to propagate such principles that tend to inculcate in our fellowmen the love of the beautiful.

INCREASE IN CRIME

The statistics of crime, as set forth in a report made to Congress by Dr. Arthur MacDonald, indicate that for thirty years past crime has been increasing in the world. In spite of the progress of education and the labors of philanthropy, mental and nervous diseases, suicide, insanity, juvenile crime, and pauperism are increasing faster than the population. This increase, due apparently to concentration of population and increased strain on the mental apparatus of mankind, does not necessarily imply that the world is growing worse, but merely that it is changing. An increase of crime may be an incident of a development that in the long run will be salutary.

LOCAL NUISANCES

At the present moment there is probably nothing so erratic and unsatisfactory in the whole town as our timepieces—the town and the postoffice clocks. We do not complain of the attention paid to them by their caretaker, for of that we know little or nothing, but we do complain, in common with hundreds of others, of the irregular and misleading time they keep. It is a common thing in Peterborough when complaints are made to ignore them out of pure spite and cussedness. It is the revenge of weak men. We hope, however, that in the future some effort will be made to have the correct time for us. Every day, at noon, or at whatever other hour may suit the Aldermanic fancy, we might receive the time from the observatory at Toronto, just as it is done in every town in England.

Slippery sidewalks and public timepieces that go regardless of time are two of our most patent nuisances. In a town where there are so many men and women employed in manufactories it is a downright shame that nothing is done to give them the correct time.

Alderman McWilliams was returned at the head of the poll for no other reason than that he was likely to infuse some energy into our civic administration. The people are looking to him.

The Fame of Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Pills Spreading

Editor of the Morning Times:

Sir,—At the request of the makers, I cheerfully furnish the following statement in the hope that others like myself may be cured. I was a lifelong sufferer from rheumatism and stomach troubles, and was a total wreck. Nothing did me any good until I tried Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills, and, thank God, I am now almost well, after taking only six boxes. They undoubtedly saved my life. Clara B. Humphrey, Victoria avenue, Halifax, N.S.

R. F. Henry, Vancouver, writes: Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills have worked a marvel in my case. I was unable to walk with paralysis and rheumatism, and am now entirely well. These marvellous pills have done what no doctor or medicine could do.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. Sold by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough, price 50c. per box.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price, $500 will be paid for any case that is cured not permanently cure.

A ROMANCE.

and this costume, so like Lady Ethel's, was designed by her to startle you. There is no resemblance between the faces save that both are dark. You do my daughter and myself too much honor in ascribing to her a resemblance to the noble race of Lornes."

The earl looked at Hilda. She was regarding her persecutor with curling lips and blazing eyes.

Lady Leigh, Sir Wilfred, Cecil Courtenaye, and his mother had drawn near, and formed a protecting semicircle about her.

"Hilda does this man speak the truth?" demanded the earl. "Have you been in the gallery before? Is this dress a masquerade designed to startle me, as he declares?"

"My lord, he speaks falsely," Hilda replied, firmly. "I have never been in the gallery until I entered it with you to-day."

The earl looked around him at Hilda's friends grouped fondly about her.

"Lady Leigh," he said, "you were Ethel's dearest friend. Tell me, does not this girl resemble her marvelously?"

"My lord, she is Ethel's living image," was the eager, emphatic answer.

"And you, Wilfred —you were once her betrothed —you loved her so that you have lived unwedded for her sake —her image is enshrined in your heart: Does not Hilda Aylesford resemble her?"

He bowed and repeated his sister's words.

"She is Ethel's living image."

The earl waited for no more. He turned to Hilda, and took her trembling hands in his own.

"I call you all to witness," he said, solemnly, "that a monstrous fraud has been perpetrated upon me by that false and deceitful man yonder. He has endeavored to foist his own namby-pamby daughter upon me in place of my own brave, beautiful Hilda, whose face, whose mind, whose every glance betrays the heritage of noble blood of which they have tried to cheat her. But I can no longer be deceived. Ethel speaks to me through the dark eyes of her daughter. This is my granddaughter —this brave and beautiful girl whose hands I hold in mine. Is it not so, Lady Leigh?"

"My lord, I firmly believe it," said Lady Leigh, emphatically.

Mr. Aylesford made a step forward as if to tear Hilda from the earl's grasp.

"Hilda, my love," he said, "come away, and do not sanction the earl's folly by your countenance. See how deeply you are distressing your gentle cousin by your waywardness."

Florence had indeed thrown herself upon the floor at the earl's feet, and with bitter tears was imploring him to recall his cruel and unjust words. He looked down at her with scorn.

"Get up, Florence," he said, "and go to your father. I utterly repudiate you. You are no granddaughter of mine. You are utterly unlike the Lornes. I always felt it."

"It is false!" Florence cried, defiantly, looking around her to see if there was one left to espouse her part. "Oh! my friends, is it not dreadful for my own grandfather to insult me thus? But I will not be repudiated if there is any law in this land to defend the wronged! I will prove that he is old, weak, imbecile, doting, and that he has been deceived by this wretched girl!"

Mr. Aylesford came forward suddenly.

"Lady Florence," he said, "allow me to conduct you to your room. This is no place for you among those who are deliberately seeking your ruin for the furtherance of their own schemes for wealth and aggrandizement."

CHAPTER XXI.

The Dead Alive.

Florence was so enraged at the earl's attitude, and at the cold, averted faces of the group, that she would have liked to remain and vent her spite and rage upon them in vituperative words. But she gathered from a certain significance in Mr. Aylesford's tone that he wished her to leave them. She took his arm, and cast a last scornful glance upon her oppressors as she moved away.

The earl looked at Sir Wilfred Hale as the heavy door clanged behind them.

"Wilfred," he said, anxiously, "do you not think I have acted rightly?"

The baronet moved forward, impetuously, and shook hands with the earl.

"I congratulate you," he said, "that your eyes have been opened to the truth. It was for that purpose I brought Hilda here. I always suspected that Aylesford had perpetrated a fraud upon you. I have been in America many months seeking some clew by which I might fasten his guilt upon him. Hilda was under my care at a school in Richmond all the while. But I was unfortunate. I failed utterly. My sister was in my confidence. We determined at last to bring Hilda here, hoping, since all other efforts had failed, that her perfect resemblance to the Lornes would attract attention and excite suspicion in you."

"As it did," declared the earl. "Her likeness to some one I could not recall struck me at first, though I could not understand why she held me from the beginning with such a strong, indefinable charm. But as soon as we came into the gallery I saw that she was like the Lornes, and suspected Aylesford's fraud."

Cecil Courtenaye, who had stood silently by, listening eagerly to all that had passed, now came forward to congratulate the earl. His proud and handsome face was pale with emotion as he bowed over Hilda's hand, raising it a moment to his lips.

She blushed deeply at his murmured congratulation, raising her dark eyes a moment, then swiftly dropping them to hide the shy happiness that filled their starry depths.

"Sir Wilfred," he said, reproachfully, "if you had told me when you hurried back to the United States so soon after our return to England what mission you were upon, I would have gone with you and given you all the assistance in my power."

"Then I beg your pardon, Cecil," the baronet answered, frankly. "Once or twice I was on the point of taking you into my confidence, but, to tell you the truth, I was afraid of being

BUY MAY CORN NOW!

The letters that follow speak for themselves, and should prove that our judgment, while not infallible, is to be depended upon.

Last October, when December Corn was selling around 43 1-2 cents we urged all our customers to buy. Those who followed our advice and kept their trades in force made enormous profits.

We now urge the purchase of MAY CORN. MAY CORN is selling around 43 1-2 cents, and we believe that a purchase of this Cereal NOW will earn as great profits for the purchaser as did December Corn.

Read the following letters carefully, then send for our FREE BOOKLET giving reasons for our advice to buy MAY CORN.

Gentlemen,—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 3rd inst., enclosing check for my balance, $125.00, and for my friend Chesley of $61.54, which I have turned over to him. This is a very handsome profit on less than a month's transactions, on $100.00 investment in corn.

I appreciate your kindness very much, indeed, in closing the account so promptly, following my request to do so.

Very truly yours,

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I received yours of the 22nd with check for $64.35, and I note that you say you have invested the $100.00 in 2,500 bushels of May corn for me.

Please accept my sincere thanks for the $100.35 which you made for me on the $50.00 investment. Had I left you alone, as I should have done, you would have made me nearly $300.00 in the three weeks; but I am satisfied with what you have done.

Hoping you will do as well, or better, with my May corn, and again thanking you, I am yours truly,
J. VALEK.

Whipple Barracks, Ariz., Nov. 21, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I received your telegram last evening saying that you had sold the corn that I had directed (9,000 bushels) at 67 3-4. I thank you for your promptness and success with the order. If you have not already done so, on receipt of this, please send me the entire proceeds from this sale by check, $766.40.

I will watch the market, and a little later will take a flyer in May corn.

I assure you of my appreciation of the faithful interest and good business judgment with which you have handled my investment and which insures me a nice little sum of Thanksgiving and Christmas money. Very sincerely,
E. E. HATCH.

Gentlemen,—I notice by the reports that corn is gradually on the rise. I am telling my friends how well you used me, and I hope you will hear from this city in the shape of a good amount to invest. I certainly boost you with all my might. If my May investment proves as good as did the December, I will be satisfied.

Kindly let me hear from you occasionally. Thanking you, I am yours truly,

Hugh C. Dennis, Esq.
St. Louis, Mo.:

My Dear Major,— You are a daisy. Yours of the 21st, with account of sale and purchase, almost took away my breath, $92.19 and $67.00 in such a short time on the small investment is almost beyond comprehension.

Thanks to your grand success in dealing with the market, I now see my way out to pay a debt of honor I have been wanting to pay for a long time.

Please remit about $50 by American Express to Dayton, Ohio, and apply the rest due to me to more December or May corn, as your good, and almost infallible judgment may decide. I see from your purchase order that you have already bought 6,000 bushels of corn (May market.)

Thanking you for your kindness and hailing you as my benefactor, I am.
Most truly yours,
G. J. REICHE.

We told the public this last Spring about September and December Corn. We tell them the same thing now: BUY MAY CORN. Common sense and your own sound business judgment must tell you that May corn, bought now, will make for you enormous profits within the next sixty days. May corn will, we believe, reach a price higher than it has touched in twenty years for this option. We respectfully submit the following digest of a few of our customers' trades in December Corn. The Affidavit as to the correctness of these statements is made by our Assistant Auditor, Mr. W. Arthur Clemes. What we did for our customers in DECEMBER Corn may be duplicated many times over by a purchase of MAY Corn at its present low price.

Gentlemen,—Your letter of the 28th ult. received, together with enclosure of draft for $438.00, and please accept my thanks for same.

I am very well pleased with your manipulation of my holdings, and can find absolutely no cause for complaint. At one time my case most certainly looked rather hopeless, but, thanks to your suggestions, on which I acted, you brought me through with flying colors, and I trust that our future business relations may prove as congenial and profitable as they have in the past.

Thanking you for the kind and just treatment that I have received at your hands, I remain very truly yours,

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Yours of the 3rd, with check for $25.00 enclosed, was received today, and I want to say to you that I was agreeably surprised to receive it. I am more than pleased with your treatment of my investment. I have shown the check and your letter to my friends and told them if they had any idea of investing to place their money in your hands. My writing to you in the first place was an accident.

I assure you that I shall take great pleasure in recommending your firm for honest, upright dealing in every way. I trust that the investment you have made me will be one-half as successful as the one just settled.

Again thanking you for your kindness in the transaction, and if nothing happens after the holidays you may expect to hear from me, together with some of my friends.

Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year and many years of prosperity, I am,
Gratefully yours,

Dear Sirs,—I have your letter of the 29th ult, and note with much satisfaction the result of the investment in December corn.

Gentlemen,—Yours of Dec. 3rd, enclosing draft for $78.64, received, for which accept my sincere thanks. I wrote to you last night asking reason for your delay in sending same, but received yours this noon.

I feel that you did finely with my last investment of $25.00, and if we had understood each other better on my first, I can see where your handling would have made a few hundred on it, which I think is sufficient to prove to any one that your firm is sound and able.

I thank you again, and hope to be able to help you to more customers, and, may be, myself dabble again soon.

Yours sincerely,

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,— I am in receipt of your valued favor of the 4th and acknowledge receipt of check for $50.00, profits on December corn holdings. Also confirmation of purchase of May. Thank you very much for same. Thought one time I saw larger profits coming my way, but feel satisfied as it is, and am confident there will be something in May corn after a time. Protect it as you did my last December holdings, and I will remit margin, if necessary. When it goes up a fair gain, sell and remit whole amount.

Respectfully,
FRANCIS L. GREEN.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 25th, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Your valued favors of Nov. 24th and 25th came to me today, and I assure you that I thank you for them. You have convinced me that May corn is a very desirable purchase, and I wish that I had had more of it.

That you know what you are doing, as well as you know the future of corn goes without saying, and I am glad that I am tied up to your house, and before we are through I shall try to turn all the business towards you that I can, and I hope soon to make my own personal investments thousands instead of hundreds.

With best wishes, I am.
Yours cordially,
GEO. S. BILSBY.

Arapho, Okla., Nov. 21st, 1902.

Mr. H. C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your letter notifying me of the sale of my December corn, received; and to find I had actually doubled my money to a penny in about five days, you cannot imagine my surprise. That beats our western ways of making money. Here interest runs from 12 to 24 per cent, but that is not in it with December corn.

You must have misunderstood my letter ordering immediate sale—I meant to say, sell latter part of November, 28th or 29th, to avoid any delivery, and to re-buy December 2nd or 3rd to sell about December 20th. I am not in a financial condition to invest more now, but will likely invest in May corn more heavily in a short time. Use the original purchase together with the profits, to best advantage, using your best judgment, but avoid delivery.

Should I be able to deal heavier, I shall risk your judgment in the matter.

Trusting that good luck may continue with us, I am very truly yours,
W. C. HAWKINS.

Mr. Hugh C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your favors dated December 13th and 16th were duly received inclusive check for $425.15-100. I am very glad to state that the return I had for $100 invested was $322; a pretty fair amount for one month's outlay.

As I already took the liberty of writing you I will take great pleasure in sending you as soon as I possibly can, all the funds at my disposition.

In the meantime I am explaining your excellent method of doing business to my friends, and I am sure that they, as well, will give you a trial.

If it is not too much trouble for you I would be very much obliged if you would keep me informed about the movements of the market.

Giving you my best thanks for the careful and speedy attendance you have given my interests, I am,
Very respectfully,
GUILLERMO VIVES.

Gentlemen,—Your letter and check of the 24th received a few days ago. Am well pleased with the way you handled my business for me, for the profit I received from that little amount I invested with you far exceeded my most sanguine expectations.

Fitchburg, Mass., Dec. 2, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—I am in receipt of your letter dated Nov. 29th, which more than pleased me. I was surprised at such profits in a month, and I am satisfied with that May corn investment. If I am right, I have to my credit 2,500 bushels of May corn. I leave the whole matter in your hands, and make as much as you can out of it; what you do will suit me.

I thank you for what you have done for me, and I hope by the first of next May I will be able to buy 2,500 bushels of July corn. Yours truly,
GEO. BEAUREGARD.

Green Springs, W. Va., Dec. 3, 1902

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—Yours of Nov. 24th to hand containing cheque for $77.82, leaving two-cent margin on 1,500 May corn, which makes nearly 400 per cent. on investment of $25.00 on Nov. 7th.

Hope you will make out on the May corn as well. Respectfully yours,
J. A. WILSON.

P.S.—Excuse delay, as I wrote and forgot to mail same.

Hugh C. Dennis, Esq.,
Pres. Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your favor of 29th ult., advising me of the closing out of the small deal I have made with you, and the investment of proceeds in May corn has been received and is satisfactory. You did better than I expected. I have been through the West and observed the wonderful production through that country, so that I expected a decline in December corn.

Thanking you for your attention, I am,
Very truly yours,

STOCK MARKETS

BIG SHORT INTEREST IN THE MARKET

New York, Jan. 28.—The Venezuelan entanglement and bearishness of the board room contingent, headed by the so termed Waldorf-Astoria clique, composed principally and practically exclusively of a coterie of larger room traders, has engendered a short interest in the market of considerable proportions. It has slowly but surely been increasing daily since before the middle of the current month, and the surprising feature of the situation is the comparatively small decline in prices, due to the efforts of this bearish combination. Though unusually apathetic and listless with a marked tendency to drift, and indications pointing to the fact that the market has been largely left to care for itself, prices have withstood bear attacks remarkably well. It is now more than likely that a rod is im-pickled for the gentlemen who are short of stocks, and that it will be exercised against them very soon. As indicated right along in these letters, the difficulty in Venezuelan waters will be satisfactorily adjusted. Were this not so long ere there would have been a pronounced weakness in the London market for Americans, bordering upon demoralization, while Washington wires would have been freighted with selling orders. The tail of the tape for the past week plainly showed no trouble and a satisfactory adjustment. As a result of the episode, the short interest has been largely augmented, and is now being carefully nursed in the parlance of the street. Some buying orders have been temporarily cancelled as a result. They will speedily be renewed. At present writing it certainly looks as if punishment was drawing near for those who have been operating for the decline. The international controversy simply affords unusual opportunity for prospective stock purchasers. The thing to do is to take advantage of it. Send us a liberal immediate buying order.

Summary—Stagnation with listless trading all day long. St. Paul held around 178, Copper around 66, while fluctuations generally were within a radius of half a point. There was not a movement of moment in any part of the list. There was nothing to say about the current situation, otherwise than stocks are not freely offered for sale, while buying demand is for the present quiescent. Any renewal of activity will in our opinion bring about an advance in prices. We look for more active and better market ver soon. Money closed 3 3-4. Total sales 391,300.

Interesting Items.

It is a mistake to suppose that the land boom in the West applies only to Canada. More than four million acres of land in the Western States have been sold by the Northern Pacific Railway Company during the past year, most of it to actual settlers. Farming does not seem to be losing its popularity.

The allurement of the bargain-counter works its spell not upon the well-to-do shopper alone. In a Salvation Army rummage store in New York a certain sign reads: "Shoes with hole in sole, five cents; shoes without holes, ten cents. Wrappers, moth-eaten, ten cents; not moth-eaten, fifteen cents. Stockings without holes, two pairs for five cents; with holes, three pairs for five cents."

Mosquitoes are now charged with communicating erysipelas as well as malaria and yellow fever. A New York physician has issued a death certificate in the case of a fourteen months old babe in which he says: "Death was caused by erysipelas due to the bite of a mosquito." It is only fair to the mosquito to record that the Board of Health officers refused to accept the certificate until a coroner's physician had investigated and concluded that there was no other apparent cause for the death than the mosquito bite.

M. de Blowitz, in the Paris "Matin," tells how a subscriber to the "Encyclopaedia Britannica" used that work. He was a professional writer of begging letters, and in them he represented himself to be now one sort of a person, and then another, "getting up" from the pages of his encyclopaedia the necessary historical knowledge to give his letters plausibility. Thus, he explained, that having written a letter in which he was a potter who had been chemically poisoned and unfitted for work, "he used the encyclopaedia for details of his pottery trade, of which he himself was entirely ignorant. The one word, 'kaolin,' which he used in his letters, and the explanation of the use of the material, made everyone believe in the genuineness of his appeal, and brought him a perfect harvest of banknotes and postal money-orders."

There has been very little agitation of the shirt-waist problem this year, partly, probably, because the heat has not been intense enough to make coats unbearable, and partly, too, because both as to advocacy and opposition, the novelty has passed away. Postmen in several cities have this year been permitted to don the shirt-waist without any public outcry whatever, but it has remained for the Rev. Albert Eaton Fitch of Cleveland, O., to extend the limit of shirt-waist possibilities a distance not hitherto contemplated. He presides over the spiritual welfare of a Congregational church, and recently he preached in a shirt-waist. He says that he will continue to do this as long as the weather is so warm. Believing in personal comfort for himself, he believes in it also for his congregation, and has invited the women of his church to remove their hats during worship, and the men to remove their coats.

PETERBOROUGH MAN'S PREPAYMENT METER

A Satisfactory Test Made in Ottawa by Mr. A. A. Dion—Some Advantages Claimed

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—Messrs. J. H. McClellan and Geo. L. Gowland, of Peterborough, are in the city in connection with a new prepayment or nickel in the slot electric metre, of which Mr. Gowland is the inventor and patentee and which is manufactured by the Gowland Company, of Toronto.

The metre, which is the only prepayment electric metre in existence, is the invention of Mr. Gowland, who is a Canadian by birth, having been born in Antigonish, N.S. He is the possessor of 42 patents and was formerly one of the head electricians for the Canadian General Electric Company.

A test of the metre was made yesterday by Mr. A. Dion, chief of the Ottawa Electric Light Company, who describes it as supplying a great want. He stated that both the recording and prepayment metres were perfect and correct from one lamp up, the ratio from one lamp to twenty being perfect.

The prepayment metre is similar to the Watt metre and to the well-known prepayment gas metre, of which there are 18,000 in use in Montreal and 60,000 in Canada. It is strictly automatic in action, there being no switches or handles to turn. All the operator desiring light has to do is to go to the metre and deposit therein 25 cents or any number of quarters, which will be used consecutively as the light is consumed. Another important feature is that the consumer can check his own machine by the clock, which is modelled after the cash register system, keeping check on the light used for the consumer and of the number of quarters deposited for the company.

The metre will do away with all suspicion on the part of consumers that they are being defrauded by metres which they cannot read. If any customer thinks that he is being robbed, all he has to do is to turn on one light, and with his watch or the family clock he can tell at a glance how much light he is getting for a quarter. Another important feature is that this metre enabled the company to do a cash business, at the same time ridding the consumer of light bills, as the clock keeps tab on the number of quarters deposited and which are collected periodically throughout the year.

Messrs. McClellan and Gowland are on their way to Montreal, where a number of influential electrical men are anxious to see the metre. They are not in any way hawking stock, as there is no stock in the company for sale. There are already some hundreds of these metres in use. One apartment house in New York is using 200 of these meters.

ENTIRELY OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms? The oil now brings $1.50 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over [illegible] in [illegible] days time on an investment of this kind; also have wells making from 10 to 300 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their coming. The oil business conducted on business principles with honest management is bound to succeed. You do not have to look farther than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce, they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. CAPITAL STOCK $300,000 Par Value $1.00

We are working this mine every day doing a great amount of development work which will enable us to commence regular shipping very soon. Our shaft is now 175 feet deep, with a streak of pay ore starting at the grass roots, the vein is over 3 feet wide at the bottom of shaft, and runs from $46.00 to $95.80 per ton, mostly gold. We are only three-quarters of a mile from railroad and have a well traveled wagon road from mine to depot. There are thirteen stamp mills at Black Hawk, three-quarters of a mile from this property. Our company is managed on conservative lines by practical mining men who understand the business and are familiar with this field of gold.

We have placed a small block of this stock on the market at 20 cents per share which will be worth $1.00 in a short time. Now is the time to buy.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all burning more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings oftitimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to instal either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

TO THE ROOTS

A School Boy Digs Down to Find Food to Build Him Right

A good straightforward letter was recently sent by a bright clever youth which shows his ability to go to the bottom of a trouble and rectify it.

He says, "I attended High School for three years but made little progress. I did not enjoy good health; my food was not properly digested; this caused headache and hence I could not study. I tried taking exercise in the foot-ball field but was unable to stand it as it always increased my headache.

During the summer holidays I began eating Grape-Nuts and the benefit was immediate, the headache stopped, my food digested properly so that I had no more stomach trouble, my general health improved, my weight increased and my brain was clear and bright.

The result was that this summer I procured Junior Leaving and Junior Matriculation Standing. I also took my place on the foot-ball team as half-back and played in the games of 1902.

This wonderful increase in mental and physical health I attribute to no other cause than the nourishment I get from Grape-Nuts. I recommended them to everybody who desires health. I am only a boy of 17 years, but my weight is 148 pounds and this weight was procured solely by the use of Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Cereal Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There is a reason why Grape-Nuts should correct a delicate, physical, or a sluggish mental condition. The food is highly nutritious and is predigested so that it helps the digestive organs to assimilate other food. It is also rich in the phosphates that go directly to make up the delicate grey matter of brain and nerve centres.

PETERBOROUGH TO PLAY ST. GEORGES

At Brock Street Rink on Saturday Night

The St. George's, of Toronto, will play the senior Colts on Saturday night, the game to commence at 8.45.

Wants to Skate Dusty.

Mr. Walter Jackson is anxious to meet Oliver Dusty in a skating race for a trophy (not for money), and as soon as arrangements can be made with the management of the rink, these two local speeders will test their speed. Mr. Jackson accepted Dusty's challenge about a week ago.

WRESTLING.

We hear that Geo. Gauthier, that sturdy young wrestler, who further added to his laurels on Saturday evening last by his successful bout with John McDonough, is now looking for fresh fields to conquer. His eyes are turned westward, and it would not surprise us to hear that a match had been arranged between him and Wm. Neilson, of Toronto. Neilson holds the welter-weight championship of Canada, so that a meeting with Gauthier would prove an interesting event at this period.

Sportsmen will remember that the two men have met on a previous occasion, —early in the year 1901, if memory serves us right. Neilson was given the decision on this occasion, though he failed to throw his man, who stepped from the ring with a broken ankle. Gauthier has wonderfully improved since that occasion, and we incline to the opinion that the local lad would now give the champion a hardy tussle to retain his title should the opportunity present itself.

Smallpox and hockey must not travel together as will be seen by the word sent from Paris to Sec. Buchanan, of the O.H.A.:

Toronto, January 29—Secretary W. A. Buchanan of the O.H.A. received word from the Paris club today that the Medical Health Officer refused to allow their team to go to Galt on Friday night to play the first of the home-and-home games for the district intermediate championship because of the prevalence of smallpox in Galt. Neither will the M.H.O. allow the Galt team to visit Paris. He threatens to put everybody in quarantine, if the present arrangements are carried out.

Documentary evidence was requested from both clubs and the O.H.A. subcommittee will meet to-morrow to decide the question.

Toronto, Jan. 27—As a result of a meeting last night of the Wellington Hockey club, Senior O.H.A. champions, Secretary Alexander Milne today forwarded to Mr. P. D. Ross, of Ottawa, one of the trustees a formal challenge for a series of games for the Stanley Cup.

The Wellingtons ask that the games be played during the first week in March, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, the 3rd, 5th, and 7th, being the suggested dates.

The defending club will not necessarily be either the Montreal or Winnipeg Victoria teams. If Montreal retained the cup they will have to win the Quebec League championship to continue in possession. Should the Winnipeg Vics win the series, which commences tomorrow, night, the Wellingtons would be compelled to play the Winnipeg Rowing Club team, which has practically won the Manitoba championship.

In commenting on the Peterborough-Belleville game the Intelligencer says:

"The Peterboroughs lost the series because they failed to realize that here in Belleville we had a team that was going to make any of them travel in record time. Had Peterborough gotten into the game earlier, trotted out their best man, worked up their condition, and looked after their condition properly, they would probably have tied Belleville in the round. As it was, they smiled disdainfully, said, "Oh, we've been playing hockey while Belleville has been asleep," and then found, when too late, that the team they laughed at was going to put it all over them. And just here it may be remarked that Belleville's O. H. A. team this year is the best that ever upheld the name of the city. The boys have worked hard, showed themselves to be gentlemen, on and off the ice, and deserve all the boquets which anybody can hand them."

(From the Toronto Star.)

Peterboro and Upper Canada College who won the championship of the intermediate and junior series of the O.H.A., respectively last season, are already down and out, not even having had a chance to win the honors in their districts.

Peterboro did not win a solitary game. The Belleville papers say the champions were traveling on their reputation, while Belleville and Port Hope teams trained faithfully for the games. This is hardly correct. The probable reason was the delay in the completion of the new rink at Peterboro, which did not give the players a fair chance to get in shape. The Peterboro Juniors played in just as hard luck as their seniors. They went through the season with continuous defeats, their one chance of victory being taken away last night by Port Hope Juniors after 20 minutes of extra play.

Upper Canada's defeat at Newmarket last night was a surprise. By some blundering in the schedule Newmarket was forced to play 3 games in 4 days, on Friday night with Upper Canada on the latter's ice, Monday night with St. Andrew's here, and last night at Newmarket with Upper Canada. Upper Canada won on Friday from Newmarket by a big score, 17 to 2, and it was expected they would win the return match and thereby secure a chance to tie St. Andrew's for the leadership of the district. Their defeat last night, however, puts them down and out for good.

The Wellingtons are the only champion team that held their own from season to season. They are three times winners of the O.H.A. senior championship, and the prospects look good this year for another clean sweep.

T. V. League.

Norwood defeated Keene at Norwood last night by a score of 4—2.

BIRTHS

REID—At Peterborough on the 26th inst., a son born to Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Reid.

"I have no more nervous headaches and rest very well at night."

When a woman suffers from female weakness and irregularity or other forms of womanly disease, the effect is certain to be marked in her nervous system, the general effect being, as in Mrs. Woodin's case, "nervous headaches, restlessness at night" and a run-down condition. It is simply common sense then which says if you cure the female weakness, irregularity, etc., you will cure the nervousness, sleeplessness and other consequences of womanly disease.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It cures headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, etc., by curing the womanly diseases which cause these ailments.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I feel more than grateful to you for the benefit I have received from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Ervie E. Woodin, of Millerton, Dutchess Co., N. Y., care of Box No. 1. "For a number of years I had been troubled with female weakness, nervous headaches, irregularity, restlessness at night, and, in fact, was all run-down, but after taking three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery' find that I am entirely cured. I have no more nervous headaches, and rest very well at night; in fact, feel like a different person, thanks to your kind advice and wonderful medicine. I earnestly advise all who suffer from any similar troubles to write to Dr. Pierce at once. They will not regret it."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

VAGUE THREATS BEING MADE AGAINST ENGLAND

Ottawa Correspondent of the Manchester Guardian Sees Great Danger Ahead

BUT THE BRITONS REFUSE TO BELIEVE IT

Little England Newspapers are Making the Most Possible out of the Matter

London, January 29—The Manchester Guardian and other Little England journals are making the most of the statements said to emanate from a leading supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and designed to frighten the British Ministry and people by threats of Canadian separation from the Empire. The Guardian in leading type, what it calls "plain talk in Canada." From its Ottawa correspondent, who claims to be in touch with the members of the Government, he says the Government is face to face with the fact that a strong public opinion is being against the continuance of the preferance to Great Britain. The correspondent remarked to this Government authority, "your talk means separation from the Empire." "Of course," was the reply. "It means the loss of Canada to Great Britain and perhaps eventually the loss of all British America. We may soon have to decide which road we take. The two roads lead in entirely opposite directions. The further we go the further they take us apart."

To ninety-nine out of every one hundred Englishmen these vague threats are meaningless. The Alaskan treaty, they say, was Sir Wilfrid's own, while the preference was presented to John Bull as a free gift, as a small return for Britain's past protection. What Englishmen ask is, "What is Canada's exact complaint?"

TO BE TRIED ON A POISON CHARGE

Mrs. Marsten's Case Comes Up at Fredericton Next Week—History of the Crime—Defence Will Probably Be That Marsten Took Poison Himself—Fifty Witnesses In the Case

Fredicton, N.B., January 29.—On Tuesday before Judge Gregory, at Fredericton, Annie Marsten, of the village of Meductic, twelve miles below Woodstock, will be placed on trial, charged with having killed her husband, by giving him strychnine. Marsten died on June 11 last, and was buried two days later. A week or so later the body was exhumed and an inquest held, it having been reported that there was reason to suspect foul play. It was some little time after the opening of the inquest that the analyst, M. V. Paddock, of St. John, gave in evidence the result of his analysis of the portions of the stomach, liver, kidneys and brain. In some 15 ounces of matter which he subjected to analysis he found 1.25th of a grain of strychnine.

Drs. Rankin and Turner, who held the post-mortem on the body, had testified previously that they found nothing in the post-mortem to account for death, although there was fatty degeneration of the heart. Dr. Turner said not sufficient to have caused death. After the evidence of the analyst both doctors said that they had no doubt that George Marsten died from strychnine poisoning, and that according to the amount of poison found by the analyst in his examination, the whole body would contain over 6 grains of strychnine.

Mrs. Marsten in her evidence at the Coroner's inquest said that she had given her husband a dose of cream of tartar and wormwood the morning before his death. He had been complaining of feeling miserable all day. He had a light tea at 6 o'clock, but had nothing to drink except a cup of hot water, which he got for himself. Shortly after having his tea he went upstairs to his room. About seven o'clock, according to her story, she went up to his room and asked him if she would bring him up a dose of cream of tartar and salts, but he said he did not want it, and told her to pull down the windows and shut the door. Then, according to her version, she went down to the river bank near, and when she came back in the course of half an hour or so her husband was dead. In the house when he was dying were two sisters of Mrs. Marsten, Celeste and Birdie Stairs. In their evidence they said they heard a man scream and make distressing cries, they were afraid to go to his room, but ran across the road to a neighboring store, and called two neighbors named Olts and Higgens, who went up to Mr. Marsten's room, followed by the girls. They noticed twitching of the limbs, but apparently there was no very violent spasms, and there was no sign of purging or vomiting.

The relations between Mr. Marsten and his wife were evidently not ideal. He was much older than she, and was of a morose temperament.

One witness said that in her hearing Mrs. Marsten, when at a neighbor's place, had referred to her husband as a poor old soul, who was only living to be a nuisance and a bother to others, and that when he got his business settled the sooner he was dead the better.

The Coroner's jury found that George M. Marsten came to his death by strychnine poison, administered by an inmate or inmates of the household. On this finding Mrs. Marsten was arrested, and after the preliminary hearing before the magistrate, she was committed for trial Between the two hearings Mrs. Marsten gave birth to a fine baby boy. After her committal she was brought here with her child. Her counsel, Mr. Hartley, made formal application to have her admitted to bail. After some delay her case was considered exceptional, and she was allowed on bail in $10,000, her own for $4000, and three other sureties for $2000 each.

What the Crown may have succeeded in getting in way of additional evidence none but its representatives know. Strychine was found in George Marsten's stomach, but strychnine has not yet been traced certainly to his house, in any other vessel, anyway, nor to Mrs. Marsten's possession.

The case is likely to be a long one. Some 50 witnesses were examined at the Coroner's and Magistrate's hearings. Of course many of them testified at both hearings. The defence has not made known its plans, but it is likely that they will contend that George Marsten himself, was the "inmate" who administered the poison. He left property of the value of about $2000. There are two children besides the boy who arrived at such a critical time in his mother's career.

COAL MINERS MAY GO ON A STRIKE

Their Demands Will Make an Agreement With Operators Next Spring Difficult

THEY DIFFER IN OPINION

Some Operators Think Increase in Wages Should Be Granted Others Do Not

Pittsburg, Pa., January 29.—Coal operators have about reached the conclusion that unless they agree to very material increases in the compensation of miners for the year commencing April 1, next that there will be serious trouble with the mine workers in the March scale convention to be held in this city. Some of them are disposed to think there is likelihood of a strike or lockout.

That the miners will demand an increase in the price paid for mining coal of at least ten cents a ton for screened coal and five cents a ton for mine run coal, making the price $1 and 80 cents, is generally conceded. Whether the operators will be willing to grant this advance remains to be determined. The question has been discussed in an informal way by the operators, but there is a wide difference in opinion as to what should be done. Some of the operators want to grant the advance and prevent trouble and a rupture with the miners, and others want to compromise, while still others think that the present scale is high enough.

It has even been suggested that the miners will ask that all coal be paid for on a mine run basis and that it shall be weighed before it goes over the screen. If this is done the cost of railroad coal and clean lump will be materially increased and the benefit the miners will receive is estimated at an advance of fully 15 cents on the ton over the present arrangement.

The probabilities are that every mine in the state will be represented in Des Moines during the convention by both miners and operators and that the questions at issue will be referred back by the scale committees to the meetings for ratification. Heretofore the miners have pursued this policy, but the operators have entrusted their business to an executive committee. The feeling that there is to be a decided difference of opinion between the two houses of the conference has caused considerable correspondence already as to the advisability of calling in all the operators.

Operators say that their own numbers are to blame for the position they find themselves in, that many of them, because of good business and stiff prices, have voluntarily advanced the price from 90 cents to $1 a ton and have been paying it all winter. They admit that with this precedent it will be hard to convince the miners that they should not have an advance.

ANOTHER RAILWAY DISASTER

Over Twenty Bodies Recovered From a New Jersey Train Wreck

New York, Jan. 28—An appalling railway accident took place near Westfield, Jersey, at a place called Graceland, last night. A fast express of the Philadelphia & Reading, running on the New Jersey Central tracks, overtook and plowed into the rear of a local train. The latter had orders to proceed on the express track to Dunellen, and there take the outside, or No. 4, track. Shortly after receiving orders the train had to stop for a hot box, which delayed it so that when it got under way again it was due at Dunellen. The train had just started and was moving slowly, when Royal Blue, travelling apparently at full speed, which at that point usually approximates 65 miles an hour, crashed into the rear end.

Then fire broke out, many bodies and cars being destroyed. Two wrecking crews worked all night taking bodies from the wreck. In all 21 bodies were taken from the wreckage, and a number of identifications of bodies of persons residing in Plainfield have been made. W. H. Davis, the engineer of the Reading express, died today.

A policeman who aided in the work of rescue, made the following statement:—"I assisted in carrying Davis, the engineer, from the wreck. He was terribly injured. He said, 'I am responsible for the accident. I saw the danger signal, but expected it to turn white.'"

The wrecking crews at work trying to clear the tracks and get out bodies, were assisted by hundreds of persons from Westfield, Cranford, Plainfield, by the news of the collision. Bonfires were built of the wreckage, and old railroad ties to light up the scene. More than one thousand persons remained about the wreck all night, and there were many tearful scenes, as bodies were dug out of the wreckage and recognized by latives and friends.

New York, Jan. 29—Later details of the New Jersey railway horror, say that up to noon today the total loss of life was believed to be 26. Thirteen bodies had been identified, and ten were held at Plainfield for identification. From the wreckage 21 bodies were taken, and two men—W. E. Davis, engineer of the Philadelphia and Reading Express, and Thomas McCarthy, fireman of the same train—died in the hospital today. More than 60 persons were injured, some of them very severely The hospital reports today, however, were that, with one or two exceptions, all will recover.

The blame for the dreadful occurrence is placed on the officials of the Jersey Central on W. E. Davis, engineer of the Philadelphia and Reading Express, and according to a policeman who took Davis from the wrecked engine, Davis admitted that he had taken chances, disregarding the danger signals displayed, expecting to see the red and green lights change to white as he neared them. They did not change. It was too late to stop, and change, and in an instant the crash came, carrying death to more than a score of human beings. The scenes following the wreck were unusually horrible, because, as the cars were splintered almost to kindling wood by the force of the collision hot coals from the engine poured from the fire box and the wood was soon burning fiercely. An east bound train then ran into the wreckage of the other two and added to the loss of life.

THE LIQUOR QSESTION

Strong Temperance Vote May Force Premier Ross to Act

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 28—Premier Ross, it is understood, in Government circles, has decided to act on the mandate of the 199,000 odd electors who supported the Liquor Act in the recent referendum vote, and will introduce some further drastic measure of temperance legislation at the coming session of the House. He is persuaded that the prohibition sentiment of the province is too strong to be ignored. Just what form the legislation will take is yet to be determined The Premier has friends who favor Government control, but his own sentiments are understood to be against any step of this kind and the militant temperance are as bitterly opposed to this system as they are to the license system. The Premier, however, when he spoke of the responsibility of the Legislature, probably had in mind the occasion when the Hardy ministry was defeated in committee by a majority of 22, on the small measure of restriction and the coming session will probably see a strong lobby by the liquor party against any radical legislation.

Victim Blew out Gas

Hamilton, Jan. 29—T. Johnston, a well-to-do resident of Port Dover, and his wife, nearly lost their lives through blowing out the gas at the Simcoe Hotel Hamilton, last night. Not only was their room, but the whole house was filled with the deadly gas. Both are ill today, but will recover.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL

The Business Transacted at the January Session

Wednesday Morning's Session—Committees Appointed

The County Council went into session at ten o'clock, the Warden in the chair. All the members were present.

The minutes of the last session were read and adopted.

Councillor Johnston submitted the report of the committee to strike the Standing committees. It was as follows:

The committee appointed to strike the Standing committees for the year 1903 beg leave to report, recommending as follows:

County Property — Messrs. Johnston, Moloney, Hunter, Peck and Menogue. Mr. Menogue to be chairman.

Appointments to Office — Messrs. Menogue, Johnston, Curtis and Shaw. Mr. Shaw to be chairman.

Roads and Bridges — Messrs. Peck, Johnston, Fitzgerald, Hunter, Shaw, Menogue, Buck, Curtis, Moloney. Mr. Fitzgerald to be chairman.

Schools — Messrs. Peck, Curtis, Fitzgerald, Buck and Moloney. Mr. Curtis to be chairman.

Petitions — Messrs. Johnston, Fitzgerald, Menogue, Shaw, Buck and Hunter. Mr. Hunter to be chairman.

Printing — Messrs. Shaw, Johnston, Menogue, Hunter and Buck. Mr. Buck to be chairman.

Finance — Messrs. Peck, Johnston, Fitzgerald, Hunter, Shaw, Menogue, Buck Curtis and Moloney. Mr. Peck to be chairman.

Equalization and Assessment — Messrs. Peck, Johnston, Fitzgerald, Hunter, Shaw, Menogue, Buck, Curtis, and Moloney. Mr. Moloney to be chairman.

Joint committee — Messrs. Menogue, Curtis, Peck, Moloney, Johnston, and Shaw. Mr. Johnston to be chairman.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

T. J. JOHNSTON,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

The Warden announced that he had a number of letters from treasurers of the various municipalities, stating the amount paid by them to the County Treasurer during the year.

The letters were referred to the Finance committee.

Upon motion of Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, council adjourned and went into committee work.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The County Council went into session at two o'clock.

A deputation from Hiawatha was on motion first heard.

Mr. Davis, a trustee of the Hiawatha school, said he would like to have a new school built there, the present one having been condemned by the Health Inspector, and the section is now practically without a school.

Mr. Troop said there was no school in the section; there certainly was a temporary building, which had been condemned. It would only hold 18 scholars and the teacher. At present, he remarked, there were 30 scholars attending this school. To get a proper school section a portion of the Indian Reserve must be obtained. This question had been before the Council at previous sessions.

Mr. Mather said that a new teacher and a new school were badly needed, but that no other teacher could be obtained. The school was, he said, in a shocking state. The Indians were quite willing to give up some of their reserve.

Mr. Thompson said the school had been re-fitted, inside and out only seven years ago and he did not see how the school could be in such a shocking state as is alleged.

Mr. Gray said that Mr. Thompson was the first one to ask for a new school seven years ago, and now did not want one.

Mr. Troop read the minutes of a special meeting of the School Board, held in Feb., 1876, and said all that is wanted is a fair site for a school house, some children had to walk three miles to school, he thought the best thing would be to belong to another section.

Mr. Fitzgerald moved that the question be brought before the School committee. This was done.

Dr. Gray wanted the County Council to allow him to appoint a stenographer for inquests, as it would be a great saving to the county.

Mr. Hunter said that the western people died natural deaths, and required no inquests, and moved that it be referred to the Finance committee.

MR. CULVERWELL KICKS BACK

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—Permit me to reply to a letter over the alias "Peter" in a Peterborough issue of the 28th inst., which is directed at me.

Whatever J. Alexander Culverwell has done or endeavored to do to benefit Peterborough, and therefore his own interests, all has been done openly and above board, and not like the cur, who snarling and snapping, escapes a well-merited and thoroughly expected kick owing to the darkness in which he has ensconced himself.

Any who have read my letters in the press, must see instead of instructions, only suggestions anent the annexation of Ashburnham and the incorporation of both into the "City of Peterborough," which I hoped might meet the views of the Councils and citizens of both communities.

That my suggestions, as well as those of others viewing the future from the same standpoint as myself, have borne fruit, is proven by the energetic action of the Mayor, Reeve, members of both Councils, and citizens of Peterborough (and Ashburnham, and last, but not least, our local press, and which has no doubt disturbed the bile of our "Peter," and his disciples, if any there be.

As to his reference to the "Hamlet on the bank of the untamed Otonabee," I may say that it is citizens of like calibre to "Peter" who would make such conditions possible.

If "Peter" objects to what I have not accomplished in Peterborough, doubtless the more I will accomplish, such as bringing factories to Peterborough and and furnishing them with cheap water-power, the greater will be my offence to him.

Unfortunately for my business transactions there was already too much of the "untamed" Otonabee in and around Peterborough better geographically situated than my portion, and instead, therefore, of running into opposition with these several idle developed and undeveloped water powers, I "made haste slowly" rather than run into useless competition. "Peter" will now, no doubt, be sorry to learn that the days of waiting are past, and the many dollars, that I and my associates have invested in deeds of water power property, and in advertising Peterborough, will return a good interest.

In conclusion, I have never claimed that I brought the "Alladin Lamp" condition of manufacturing to Peterborough, which "Peter" describes, but I do think that I have ever had the interest of Peterborough at heart, and have made it at least a little better known to the outside manufacturing world, and who knows but that also possibly others have been awakened to the fact that there was "a good thing" in the great quantities of "untamed" Otonabee lying in and at Peterborough, and which is now being at last utilized, and is probably producing "that good thing."

Again the end is not yet.

Permit me to decline at once and forever the honor "Peter" would confer upon me in naming the new proposed City of Peterborough either "Alexandria" or "Culverwell." "Peterborough" is good enough for me.

J. ALEXR. CULVERWELL.

LUMBERMAN SERIOUSLY HURT

Pat Sweeny, in the Dickson Co's Employ Meets With Accident

On Tuesday last Pat Sweeney, an employee of the Dickson Company, arrived home from the Glamorgan camp in a serious condition. It appears he was driving a team attached to a big load of saw logs, and while descending a small declivity the binding chain gave way and the logs rolled off the sleigh. Several of them fell on Sweeney, and pinned him down in the snow. When released it was found that his back had been severely sprained, and indications pointed to internal injuries as well.

DEATH OF JUDGE M'DOUGALL

The Father of Mrs. "Dr." Young Dies Suddenly in St. Catharines

The sad intelligence was received yesterday morning of the death of Judge McDougall, of Toronto, by his daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Young.

It appears that the Judge and Mrs. McDougall went up to St. Catharines on Friday last, in the hope that the Judge, who had been in poor health for some time, would recuperate. His illness was due to overwork.

Mrs. McDougall was awakened by her husband moaning. Dr. Radcliffe was immediately summoned, but when he arrived the Judge had passed away.

Dr. and Mrs. Young went up to Toronto on the evening train.

ON A FIRM FOOTING

An Effort Being Made to Re-Organize Central Exhibition

The adjourned meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society will be held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday next. The Times is pleased to notice that strenuous efforts are being made to place the society on a firm footing, and it is not unlikely that a prominent and influential citizen will be induced to accept the presidency. It is difficult to understand the apathy existing on matters of such vital importance to the general prosperity of the town. The geographical situtation of Peterborough is such that we ought to be able to provide one of the finest agricultural exhibitions in Canada. No noble task was ever easy, but we think it only requires the enthusiastic energies of our townsmen to bring about effective reforms. We hope that the initiative will be made, by a large and enthusiastic gathering at the Council Chambers on Wednesday evening. As a pure matter of business the influential men of the town should lend their valuable assistance to the reorganization of the society, that Peterborough may demonstrate its zeal in a matter of such vital importance to the welfare of the town and county.

A REAL NEED

A New Band Stand should be Built in Victoria Park

At the adjourned annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society, of which an account was given in Wednesday's issue of The Times, remonstrant voices were raised concerning the condition of the band stands in our parks. We consider the complaints were timely. Of the two present stands in Victoria Park, the one lacks the necessary accommodation, while the other is fast falling to decay. We have in Peterborough one of the finest bands that any town in Canada can boast of, and therefore we think our appreciation of this distinction should take a practical form by using our efforts to provide a suitable stand for the use of those who ably contribute to our pleasure. The present stands are neither ornamental nor useful and could therefore be dispensed with without a sigh for their loss. What is now necessary is a Bandstand erected on modern scientific principles that would give scope to the instrumentalists to do justice to their fine art. This is a need the town should immediately consider. Mr. Gliddon would no doubt be ready with many useful and practical suggestions, and we know of no man more capable to aid the Council in the work.

At the Opera

A large audience greeted the return of Mark's Bros Dramatic and Vaudeville Co to the local Opera House last evening, after a too long absence. This company has reached that stage of popularity when great things are expected, but it is only fair to say they more than sustained their reputation on this present occasion.

"At the Point of the Sword" was the attraction presented, and the audience appeared well pleased at each effort made for their entertainment. It is hard to single out for praise where so many were worthy, but we cannot refrain from expressing pleasure at the delightful acting of Miss May A. Bell Marks in the part of Nadine, the Gypsy Queen. The olio with which the program was interspersed was of a very high order and would constitute an excellent entertainment in itself. We have little doubt the present visit of this popular combination will prove both pleasant and profitable

—The Lindsay Oddfellows arrived last evening at 8.15 by special train to visit Peterborough Lodge, No. 111.

WILL MEET THE FARMERS IN MANY MARKET TOWNS

The Tour of Canada's Sturdy Western Men Being Arranged in England on an Extensive Scale---Will Boom Immigration

London, Jan. 29—Lord Strathcona was present last night at a dinner at the Hotel Cecil, given by members of the West India Club, and proposed the toast of "Prosperity of the West Indies."

To Welcome Canadian Farmers.

The tour of Canadian farmers is awaited with great interest here. Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Canadian Immigration Superintendent, is now arranging for visits to all market towns, where some farmers will lecture, meet inquirers, and describe Western Canada at first hand. The project is expected to be of great service in stimulating emmigration, which promises well for the spring. Other authorities urge the necessity of careful selection of the Manitoba delegates, especially avoiding political nominees.

The Footballers.

Today's papers note the well-contested game of the Canadians and Oxford. The Canadians were best forward, and Oxford showed good combination and backs. The Daily Chronicle says the Canadians cannot be regarded as having failed entirely in scoring a try to one goal, two tries. Even the best clubs in England experience difficulty in holding their own with the Varsities' playing at home, and adds that the Canadians are hardly up to first-class form, but are improving, and are seen at their best in open work.

New C.P.R. Steamer.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Victoria, for the Vancouver and Victoria service, made an excellent trial trip and a speed of 18 3-4 knots was maintained in very stormy weather during the four hours' trial. The steamer sails for Vancouver to-day via the Straits of Magellan.

The new Canadian Government immigration offices will be ready at the end of next month. They are still awaiting the internal fittings. This time the delay is due to Canadian, not British workmen.

CANADA'S COURSE A HINT TO AFRICA

Had Better Teach the Kaffirs, West Indian Outlook

DECLARED TO BE SEADILY IMPROVING

Prospect of Less Taxes—Britain's Voice Against Kaffir Slavery

London, Jan. 29—A leading article in The Morning Post (Conservative), dealing with the Canadian Indian, praises the Indian agents and missionaries and calls the reserves an admirable system. The Indian himself, it says, is a hobbledehoy among the racial types of today. This paper urges the Government to apply the Canadian system to the Kaffirs, saying that the Government's first duty is to teach the Kaffir to work for himself, as the Canadians teach their Indians.

A West India Banquet.

The West Indian Club entertained Sir Marcus Samuel, the Lord Mayor, at the Hotel Cecil last night. The Lord Mayor said he believed the colonies were drawing into federation, because of trade interests. Lord Strathcona, the Canadian High Commissioner, proposed prosperity to the West Indies. Sir Alfred Jones, in the course of his speech, said he believed the West Indies had turned the corner, and that Mr. Chamberlain was doing his best to bring the British possessions into touch under the imperial flag.

Lower Taxes Possible.

The Right Hon. Charles J. Ritchie, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech yesterday, hinted at a possible reduction in the strength of the standing army, and also a possible reduction in the taxes of the next budget. He said the war and its after expenses were enormous and continuous. Also was England's hope of free trade.

No Slavery Allowed.

Mr. H. H. Asquith, who was Home Secretary in the last Gladstone Ministry, and also in the Rosebery Ministry, said, in a speech yesterday, that the settled judgment of the British Empire was resolutely opposed to the establishment or recognition in South Africa, under any name of open or disguised slavery. This certainly is the general opinion here, and is made stronger by the opposition of the mine-owners to the importation of British labor. Mr. Leopold Albu, one of these magnates says: "We've lived on sintiment for four years, now let us have business and 300,000 Chinamen."

A Literary M.P.'s Divorce.

Mr. Henry Norman, the author and M.P. for Wolverhampton got a divorce this afternoon from his wife, who is the authoress of many novels. The suit was undefended. The co-respondent was Mr. Fitzgerald, who is also an author. Mr. Norman spent some months in Canada once, writing it up for the Pall Mall Gazette. He is one of London's best-known journalists.

The Aberdeens.

The Aberdeens continue to take the keenest interest in Canada. The Countess will read a paper before the Society of Arts on February 18 on "Women in Canada."

Colonies Want Contracts.

Leonard Courtney writes on the position of the Colonial representatives here, urging the War Office to revise its methods in army contracts, and representing that as the forms for meat contracts in South Africa were not obtainable in Canada and Australasia, it was impossible to send colonial tenders. He urges that in order to secure real competition, the War Office must issue the conditions of contract tender forms in sufficient time to enable Canadian and Australasian contractors to tender direct.

Speculation in Food Supply.

Regarding the new Imperial Food Supplies Company, it is announced today that a subsidiary company has been successfully floated in Cape Town, with a capital of $400,000, which will commence operations immediately, with frozen meat and other produce. The Westminster Gazette asks, "Are we not for the present getting perilously near the borderline of sense in relation to speculations in food supply?"

London, Jan. 29—From Berlin The Times correspondent sends word that the German capital appears to be hopeful, as it certainly is desirous that the Washington negotiations may be brought to a speedy and favorable issue. Dissatisfaction with the present situation finds expression wherever semi-official influences are not able to affect the attitude of the press. The Frankfurter Zeitung regards Venezuela as a fresh example of the lack of "la main heureuse," in Germany's foreign policy; "we are taking pains to cultivate friendships all over the world," said this newspaper, "we want too many friends and our wooing is too importunate. The result is that we impair friendships we already have and consequently none is our sincere friends and we encounter mistrust in all quarters."

Nordhausen, Prussian Saxony, Jan. 29—Prince Wolfgang Zu Stolberg-Stolberg, who was found shot in the head early Tuesday in the park of his castle at Rottleberode, probably committed suicide. His father lay dead in the castle of Stolberg, and the son started to drive from his own castle at Rottleberode to spend the night by his father's body. The Prince took a hunting rifle with him in the carriage. As the family explains, it was his custom to shoot game during his drive. While his carriage was still in Rottleberode Park, the Prince told the driver to stop, got out and walked, carrying his rifle into the thick woods. The driver later heard a shot, and waited a long time for the Prince's return. Then the men searched the woods and found the Prince dead, shot in the head, and his hands still clutching the rifle.

The Prince, who was 52 years of age, was the hereditary member of the Prussian House of Lords. His father was elevated from the rank of count to that of Prince this year. The bodies of the father and son will likely be buried side by side.

General - Sports

The Young Lady hockeyists had a practice yesterday afternoon.

Belleville, Woodstock, and Barrie will be the storm centers in the intermediate O. H. A. hockey to-night. Port Hope, Woodstock and Collingwood can create a tie in their respective districts by winning their matches. Woodstock plays Stratford at home, while Port Hope and Collingwood play on foreign ice.

The T.A.A. will play their return game with Lakefield tonight if ice can be obtained.

Much interest is being centered in the Belleville and Port Hope game tonight, which takes place on the former's ice. The Belleville team lead in this district, and Port Hope must win to have a look in, as the loss of tonight's game gives Belleville the district. Should Port Hope lose Belleville will be booked to play Prescott. Mr. E. H. Taller will referee the game at Belleville.

The draft of proposed arrangements for the second round of the O. H. A. is as follows:

CANADA'S IMMEDIATE NEEDS

A correspondent who styles himself "A Mere Englishman," contributes the following:

"The three matters most worthy of immediate consideration for Canada are Education, Transportation, and Population." So remarked the Hon. Geo. W. Ross in an important speech delivered the other evening at a private banquet at the Toronto Club. To my mind, population is the solution of Canada's future greatness, for given the population, the wealth, and therefore the prosperity of the country would increase.

Truly your artizan may need some education in the production of first-class goods so as to give Canada a worthy place in the markets of the world; but I think with the hon. gentleman, that it is more the people of Great Britain who need educating in the wonderful resources and possibilities of the Dominion. The ignorance that prevails in the old land as to her greatest colony is truly appalling, but there cannot be an effect without a cause! What is the cause? There are thousands of enterprising and ambitious men in Great Britain to-day, who, if they only knew what they could gain by the emigration, would not hesitate to make the change. But they lack the confidence, not in themselves, but in the truth of the statements made. So many "bogies" have found their way across the waters, that they fear to give up their positions, on the principle that a bird-in-hand is worth two in the bush. Like the experienced desert traveller they are no longer inclined to chase the mirage, deeming it water, and need something more than bare statements and dull statistics to arouse them to action.

The Government have shown, and still are showing, that they are prepared for the expenditure of a considerable sum of money to bring about the desired results; but whether the present means will accomplish the object is a question open to dispute.

It was recently published that forty farmers were to be sent to England in the spring to assist in the emigration campaign. This certainly appears to us a move in the right direction. Yet still the question arises: are they the right people. What the British farmer wants is conviction, and in order to bring him to that state of mind he must be approached by persons in whom he can trust. If the afore-mentioned farmers are men who emigrated from England, then they may go into the districts where they were formerly known, and wield a mighty influence. But on the other hand, if they are strangers to the people they are being sent to influence their success appears to me doubtful.

From the larger cities of the Old Land, as well as in the rural districts, a useful mass of emigrants can be drawn, and the attention of the Government may profitably be turned towards influencing numerous sturdy and industrious young men whose ambitions are dwarfed through the cruel competitive system resulting from overcrowding. It is not only British gold that is needed in Canada, but British brains, energy and usefulness. This has been proved by the success of our forefathers who assisted to make Canada what she is to-day. Your industries are crying for more help, your farmers are embarrassed for the want of help, and your prairies invite the ploughman and the harvesters. These are facts all are prepared to acknowledge. The need, therefore, is a suitable class of men to occupy these positions. This need can be supplied without drawing wholesale from foreign-speaking nations, or even inviting the assistance of the United States. In my humble opinion, it only means a better system of handling the young blood of Great Britain, who once aware of the opportunities open to them would gladly avail themselves of the undoubted opportunities Canada affords them.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

It has just been discovered that there exists at Rapperswyl, Switzerland, a fund consisting of nearly $50,000, which has been subscribed by Poles in various parts of the world for the purpose of waging war on Russia when a propitious time shall arrive.

It is related that before the last solar eclipse the colonel of a German regiment of infantry sent for his sergeants and observed: "There will be an eclipse of the sun to-morrow. The regiment will meet on the parade grounds in undress. I will come and explain the eclipse before drill. If the day is cloudy the men will meet in the drill shed as usual." Whereupon the sergeants drew up the following order of the day: "To-morrow morning, by order of the colonel, there will be an eclipse of the sun. The regiment will assemble on parade ground, where the colonel will come and superintend the eclipse in person. If the sky is cloudy the eclipse will take place in the drill shed."

—There is plenty of snow here, and sleighing is good.

—Mr. C. R. D. Booth was re-elected by acclamation on Monday last, as Reeve of Burleigh, etc. Mr. Booth is the right man in the right place.

—Our M.H.O. is very fond of fishing, winter or summer, and lately has been getting in a supply of minnows as bait for salmon. The creek below his residence is in places not very safe any time of the year, and the Dr., while walking down to procure a fresh supply, forgot or mistook the exact place where the ice was thin and broke through where the water was very deep—some nine feet, he says—but was saved by the aid of the ice chisel from going quite to the bottom. Still he found the water both wet and cold. He has quite recovered from the effects of his sudden bath. Ned says he, the Dr., tried Presbyterianism and Methodism, but concluded both put up such poor communion wine that he would rather take water and join the Baptists.

A ROMANCE.

laughed at. I fancied you would deem me foolish and quixotic, so I decided to go on my quest alone."

Cecil accepted the explanation in silence, but his heart was heavy with pain. He had become possessed of the idea that Sir Wilfred had won Hilda's heart. The thought was torture to him, yet he was forced to endure it without a sign of his pain. He stood silently with downcast eyes, unconscious that Hilda now and then regarded him with a gravely questioning glance, as if in wonder that he seemed so calm and cold.

"My lord," said Lady Leigh, as she kissed the cheek of the earl's granddaughter fondly. "I confess freely that it was I that designed Hilda's costume. I knew the resemblance could not fail to strike you anyhow, but to make sure of drawing your attention I dressed her like the twin to Ethel's picture."

"It was a happy thought," laughed the earl, "but it did not need the aid of dress to assure me of her kinship to the race. I suspected it as soon as I entered the gallery."

"What shall we do about Florence?" asked pretty, timid Mrs. Courtenaye, feeling a little sorry for the fair impostor who had loved her son.

"Aylesford must take her away from here to-morrow," said the earl, decidedly. "I cannot endure the sight of her. I always had some vague distrust of Florence. I never loved her. I could not force myself to it. The force of her wickedness is almost repugnant to me. If I could forgive all else, I could never pardon her heartless attempt to drown Hilda."

"Who told you of that?" they all cried out at once.

For answer the earl related the conversation he had overheard between the two girls that morning. Hilda looked distressed, but Cecil immediately confirmed the truth of her accusation against Florence.

"I saw it all through the willows," he said. "She deliberately tried to drown you."

"Oh! How wicked and terrible!" Mrs. Courtenaye cried, with a shudder. "I could scarcely have believed it of Florence, who seemed so sweet and winning."

"She has a devil's heart beneath an angel's face," said the earl with impatient wrath. "It is a wonder I did not suspect this imposition long ago, seeing how Aylesford clung to her, and how fond she was of him. But it is all as clear as daylight now."

"Is it not possible that the crafty Aylesford may attempt to take Hilda away from you, and deny your claim?" exclaimed Lady Leigh.

But the terrible flash in the dark eyes of the earl augured ill for Aylesford should he dare to attempt it.

The twilight shadows were beginning to lengthen long and dark over the beautiful pictured face of Lady Ethel, and they all adjourned to the drawing-room to discuss the event of the evening in all its bearings.

At dinner neither Mr. Aylesford nor Florence intruded their unwelcome presence. They were conspicuously absent from the family circle, but their absence boded no good.

In "the dead waste and middle of the night" the terrible cry of "murder" rang through the long, dark corridors of Locksley Hall.

In a minute all was excitement and bustle. They rushed to the earl's room, from whence the sound had proceeded, and found the aged but hale old man sitting upright in his bed, and grappling with a slender, wiry-looking man with bushy black beard and hair.

It was terrible to see them struggling so frantically there, the yellow light of the night-lamp shining fitfully on a huge knife that gleamed in the hand of the would-be murderer.

They pulled the assassin away from his victim and bound him with stout thongs, while others cared for the earl, who cried out that he had been stabbed by the villain.

"I do not believe it is a fatal wound," said Sir Wilfred, who examined it carefully, after he had sent off in haste for the nearest surgeon.

But knowing how old the earl was, he felt uneasy. He knew he could not recuperate as easily as a younger man.

"Wilfred, tear off the villain's wig and false whiskers," said the earl faintly. "It is Aylesford in disguise."

Sir Wilfred hastened to obey him, and found that he had spoken truly. The would-be assassin was Mr. Aylesford, who crouched upon the floor shivering with terror, found out in his villainy at last.

The earl raised his night-capped head and pale face from the pillow and demanded, sternly:

"Aylesford, you craven wretch, why did you steal upon me in the darkness of night and try to murder me?"

"Because I hated you," was the bold reply, "and wanted you dead before your imbecile whim of repudiating your own granddaughter, and taking an impostor in her place, could be consummated."

"What, do you still persist in claiming that Florence is Guy Aylesford's daughter?" exclaimed Cecil Courtenaye, astonished at the villain's hardihood.

"Yes, I do persist in it," said Aylesford, unblushingly. "Florence is the daughter of Guy Aylesford and Lady Ethel, and I will maintain it with my dying breath."

"Aylesford, how dare you persist in such a wicked untruth!" cried the earl. "No falsehood can avail you now, or help your cause. The law will punish you for your attempt upon my life, and I shall send Florence away. Confess the truth that Hilda is my own granddaughter, and you shall go free. I will not hand you over to the law."

"I will not buy my freedom at the expense of my truth," cried Aylesford, with a hypocritical air of honesty. "Florence is your granddaughter, and I will swear to it and prove it before any court in the land. You have accepted her as your granddaughter, and you will find it hard to repudiate her now. I will make it so hard for you that you will never succeed in shaking her off."

His evilly triumphant tone impressed them all with a vague dread. Sir Wilfred looked depressed and uneasy, Cecil indignant. The earl began to realize that, after all, it might not be so easy as he thought to shake off the vampire that had fastened upon him. The men servants that had come in to assist the earl had got an inkling of the matter, and whispered eagerly together. The wretch saw that he had gained an advantage over his opponents.

OBJECTS OF THE COMPANY

The Manitoba Cement Company has secured incorporation for the purpose of manufacturing a high-grade Portland Cement. It owns one of the most valuable cement deposits in Canada, located south of Morden, S ½ Sec. 4, Tp. 1, Rge. 6 west. The raw material has been thoroughly analyzed by the highest authorities on cement and pronounced by them suitable for the manufacture of a superior quality of Portland Cement.

When the plant shall have been completed the Company will own material sufficient for at least 200,000,000 barrels of cement, and a mill capable of converting this material into cement of the highest grade, and by reason of its position and open market in the West, can without question manufacture and market its product at a maximum profit.

USES OF CEMENT

Among others, Portland Cement Concrete may be used with advantage for the following purposes:—Bridge Piers, Foundations, Chimney Stacks, Sewers, Canals, Sidewalks, etc., for which it is more lasting and much cheaper than stone or brick. The demand for Portland Cement is rapidly increasing in the West, where building stone is scarce, and by the time it can be put in a 1,000 bbl. mill will not nearly meet the demand. All cement used in Manitoba is at present shipped from Ontario, the freight being $1.20 per bbl. The Manitoba Cement Company will, therefore, have practically no competition in supplying Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

PROBABLE RESULTS TO SHAREHOLDERS

The following statement of probable results to be secured is based on a very conservative estimate of cost and selling price:

Average selling price per bbl at factory.......$2.25
Cost per bbl., incl. office and general expenses.. 1.20
Profit per bbl...............$1.05
Annual output, 300,000 barrels

Gross Annual Profit.............$315,000
Sinking Fund..........$20,000
Repairs and depreciations..... 50,000 — 70,000
Total annual profit for surplus and dividends.............$245,000

N.B.—The present wholesale selling price of cement in Winnipeg is $4.00 per bbl.

THE PLANT

The Manitoba Cement Co. will have associated with it a staff of the most competent, practical and thoroughly experienced engineers, who have superintended and designed the construction of some of the largest and most successful mills in Canada, United States and Europe.

The buildings will be constructed of brick, cement and steel, and will be fire-proof throughout. The entire plant will be electrically driven by the direct current system.

The stock is now offered to the public at par in shares of $5.00 each, 25 per cent. payable with the application for stock, the balance to be called by the Directors, as required. BUY MAY CORN NOW!

The letters that follow speak for themselves, and should prove that our judgment, while not infallible, is to be depended upon.

Last October, when December Corn was selling around 43 1-2 cents we urged all our customers to buy. Those who followed our advice and kept their trades in force made enormous profits.

We now urge the purchase of MAY CORN. MAY CORN is selling around 43 1-2 cents, and we believe that a purchase of this Cereal NOW will earn as great profits for the purchaser as did December Corn.

Read the following letters carefully, then send for our FREE BOOKLET giving reasons for our advice to buy MAY CORN.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 3rd inst., enclosing check for my balance, $125.00, and for my friend Chesley, of $51.56, which I have turned over to him. This is a very handsome profit on less than a month's transactions, on $100.00 investment in corn.

I appreciate your kindness very much, indeed, in closing the account so promptly following my request to do so.

Very truly yours,
HARRY E. FIRST.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I have received your check for $112.50, amount I made by investing $25.00 in December corn and holding it about twenty days.

Thanking you for your good judgment in buying December corn at low price for me, and selling it at the very highest price, I remain yours very respectfully.

H. S. DOWNS.

Montreal, Can., Dec. 3rd., 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—Your favor of the 29th ult., with enclosure, came to hand yesterday, but I was so busy that I could not find time to reply to same until today.

I note your remarks regarding December corn, that you sold my holdings and invested the same, with profits, in May corn, which, under the circumstances, was and is satisfactory.

I also note your remarks regarding May corn, and leave you the handling of same, as you may think best and most profitable.

Awaiting your further favors, I remain yours truly,
W. H. LOVE.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,

St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I received two letters from you today, which inform me that you have, according to my instructions, sold my holdings in December corn and bought 2,500 bushels of May corn at 43 cents, on a margin of 2 cents. This means a profit of $31.88 in fifteen days on an investment of $25.00, which, I must say, is very satisfactory to me, as it is my first venture in margins in grain or any other like investment.

Kindly continue to re-invest as your judgment dictates. I am satisfied to have you make the investment earn what it can.

Again thanking you, I am
Respectfully yours,

St. Louis, Mo.:

My Dear Major,— You are a daisy. Yours of the 21st, with account of sale and purchase, almost took away my breath, $83.19 and $67.00 in such a short time on the small investment is almost beyond comprehension.

Thanks to your grand success in dealing with the market, I now see my way out to pay a debt of honor I have been wanting to pay for a long time.

Please remit about $50 by American Express to Dayton, Ohio, and apply the rest due to me to more December or May corn, as your good, and almost infallible judgment may decide. I see from your purchase order that you have already bought 6,000 bushels of corn (May market.)

Thanking you for your kindness and hailing you as my benefactor, I am.

Most truly yours,
G. J. REICHE.

We told the public this last Spring about September and December Corn. We tell them the same thing now: BUY MAY CORN. Common sense and your own sound business judgment must tell you that May corn, bought now, will make for you enormous profits within the next sixty days. May corn will, we believe, reach a price higher than it has touched in twenty years for this option. We respectfully submit the following digest of a few of our customers' trades in December Corn. The Affidavit as to the correctness of these statements is made by our Assistant Auditor, Mr. W. Arthur Clemes. What we did for our customers in DECEMBER Corn may be duplicated many times over by a purchase of MAY Corn at its present low price.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I wired you November 20th to sell my account out at 56 cents and wire remittance. Yesterday I received by mail statement of my account, showing a profit of $42.19 on my $25.00 investment.

I am very much pleased with the way you have handled my account. Will buy May corn later. Respectfully yours,

WALTER A. HARRIS.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Yours of Dec. 3d, enclosing draft for $75.64, received, for which accept my sincere thanks. I wrote to you last night asking reason for your delay in sending same, but received yours this noon.

I feel that you did finely with my last investment of $25.00, and if we had understood each other better on my first, I can see where your handling would have made a few hundred on it, which I think is sufficient to prove to any one that your firm is sound and able.

I thank you again, and hope to be able to help you to more customers, and, may be, myself dabble again soon.

Yours sincerely,
1-3 High St. W. J KELLOCK.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,— I am in receipt of your valued favor of the 4th and acknowledge receipt of check for $50.00, profits on December corn holdings. Also confirmation of purchase of May. Thank you very much for same. Thought one time I saw larger profits coming my way, but feel satisfied as it is, and am confident there will be something in May corn after a time. Protect it as you did my last December holdings, and I will remit margin, if necessary. When it goes up a fair gain, sell and remit whole amount.

Respectfully,
FRANCIS L. GREEN.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Your valued favors of Nov. 24th and 25th came to me today, and I assure you that I thank you for them. You have convinced me that May corn is a very desirable purchase, and I wish that I had had more of it.

That you know what you are doing, as well as you know the future of corn goes without saying, and I am glad that I am tied up to your house, and before we are through I shall try to turn all the business towards you that I can, and I hope soon to make my own personal investments thousands instead of hundreds.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours cordially,
GEO. S. SILSBY.

Arapho, Okla., Nov. 21st, 1902.

Mr. H. C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your letter notifying me of the sale of my December corn, received; and to find I had actually doubled my money to a penny in about five days, you cannot imagine my surprise. That beats our western ways of making money. Here interest runs from 12 to 24 per cent, but that is not in it with December corn.

You must have misunderstood my letter ordering immediate sale—I meant to say, sell latter part of November, 28th or 29th, to avoid any delivery, and to rebuy December 2nd or 3rd to sell about December 20th. I am not in a financial condition to invest more now, but will likely invest in May corn more heavily in a short time. Use the original purchase together with the profits, to best advantage, using your best judgment, but avoid delivery.

Should I be able to deal heavier, I shall risk your judgment in the matter.

Trusting that good luck may continue with us, I am very truly yours.

W. C. HAWKINS.

Mr. Hugh C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your favors dated December 12th and 16th were duly received inclusive check for [illegible], I am very glad to state that the return I had for $100 invested was $322; a pretty fair amount for one month's outlay.

As I already took the liberty of writing you I will take great pleasure in sending you as soon as I possibly can, all the funds at my disposition.

In the meantime I am explaining your excellent method of doing business to my friends, and I am sure that they, as well, will give you a trial.

If it is not too much trouble for you I would be very much obliged if you would keep me informed about the movements of the market.

Giving you my best thanks for the careful and speedy attendance you have given my interests, I am,

Very respectfully,
GUILLERMO VIVES.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,

Dear Sirs,—I am in receipt of your letter dated Nov. 29th, which more than pleased me. I was surprised at such profits in a month, and I am satisfied with that May corn investment. If I am right, I have to my credit 2,500 bushels of May corn. I leave the whole matter in your hands, and make as much as you can out of it; what you do will suit me.

I thank you for what you have done for me, and I hope by the first of next May I will be able to buy 2,500 bushels of July corn. Yours truly,

Dear Sirs,—Yours of Nov. 24th to hand containing cheque for $77.22, leaving two-cent margin on 1,500 May corn, which makes nearly 400 per cent. on investment of $25.00 on Nov. 7th.

Hope you will make out on the May corn as well. Respectfully yours,

Dear Sir,—Your favor of 29th ult., advising me of the closing out of the small deal I have made with you, and the investment of proceeds in May corn has been received and is satisfactory. Thanking you for your attention, I am,

STOCK MARKETS

COPPER AGAIN ALSO ATCHISON

New York, Jan. 29.—These two issues are looking well again. A slow and tiresome market most naturally effects their market movement, causing them to fluctuate more or less sluggish. It also discloses the efforts of the insiders to accumulate these stocks. A buying or selling effort is more easily detected and traced in a dull market than it is in an active market. The more outsiders that are placed in a stock the more difficult it is to trace the hands of the manipulator. In order to deceive outsiders as to their real purposes and to cloak their operations with more or less mystery, pools and operators, when dealing in certain stocks place heavy orders with different brokers upon both sides of the market, thereby greatly increasing activity and volume of business with a view to covering up their real market operations. In an intensely dull market this can not be satisfactorily done without drawing attention. The copper situation is improving greatly. Price of metal is again hardening and the stock has been persistently bought by insiders for some time past.

TO MAKE A NEW CABINET POSITION

Former Governor Ross of the Yukon to Fill It

REWARD FOR PARTY SACRIFICE

It is Said That He Will be Made Minister of Mines for Winning New Seat for Government

Ottawa, January 28.—It is intimated on pretty good authority that the Government will create an additional Cabinet position during the coming session of Parliament and that it will take the shape of a Dominion Department of Mines.

The man for whose benefit this department is created is Hon. James Ross, lately elected member for the Yukon and formerly Governor of the Yukon.

It has been suspected for some time that a move of this kind would be made for no one who is in the inner circle of Liberal politics imagined that Mr. Ross would, of his own free will, resign his position of Governor of the Yukon to enter Parliament.

It appears however that the Government could not put their hand on anyone whom they were certain would win the new constituency for the Liberal party, except "Jim" Ross, as he is popularly called.

He has been in the West for years, and his popularity among the Western paissmen as well as the miners of the Yukon is something tremendous. He won the hearts of the latter by his strong opposition to the Treadgold concessions, which he virtually defeated. He told them that he would go to Ottawa himself and prevent the scheme from passing or he would never put his foot amongst them again. When he finally did come back successfully among them, he could have possessed, and the Government took advantage of that fact.

He was told that they wanted him to resign and run for the Yukon, and no doubt the promise which is now said to be close upon fulfilment, was made at that time.

Personally, Mr. Ross just about that time did not care much what he did.

Though extremely fortunate in professional life, the greatest of misfortunes had befallen him, in the loss of his wife and child who went down with the ill-fated Islander.

He was ill of body and sick at heart and the physicians whom he consulted were not very sanguine about him.

He went to Southern California, and was there trying to recuperate, while his election campaign was going on, and so apropos of his popularity, he was elected by a great majority, although he did not make a speech, did not show his face, and was some four thousand miles from his constituents.

(From the Toronto Star.)

Peterboro and Upper Canada College who won the championship of the intermediate and junior series of the O.H.A., respectively last season, are already down and out, not even having had a chance to win the honors in their districts.

Peterboro did not win a solitary game. The Belleville papers say the champions were traveling on their reputation, while Belleville and Port Hope teams trained faithfully for the games. This is hardly correct. The probable reason was the delay in the completion of the new rink at Peterboro, which did not give the players a fair chance to get in shape. The Peterboro Juniors played in just as hard luck as their seniors. They went through the season with continuous defeats, their one chance of victory being taken away last night by Port Hope Juniors after 20 minutes of extra play.

Upper Canada's defeat at Newmarket last night was a surprise. By some blundering in the schedule Newmarket was forced to play 3 games in 4 days, on Friday night with Upper Canada on the latter's ice, Monday night with St. Andrew's here, and last night at Newmarket with Upper Canada. Upper Canada won on Friday from Newmarket by a big score, 17 to 8, and it was expected they would win the return match and thereby secure a chance to tie St. Andrew's for the leadership of the district. Their defeat last night, however, puts them down and out for good.

The Wellingtons are the only champion team that hold their own from season to season. They are three times winners of the O.H.A. senior championship, and the prospects look good this year for another clean sweep.

DEPENDABLE INFORMATION

is the only right sort to receive relative to stock movements; when such is received in connection with any property, an analysis of the property should be carefully made, to learn if the facts warrant the likelihood of the information being correct. If the two agree, then one should make his trade immediately, in accord with the knowledge thus obtained. It is unwise to buy into a property when selling above its value; also, equally injudicious to sell when prices are below intrinsic values. Those who will keep within their means and will operate in accord with the above axiom, need never take a loss in Wall Street. We maintain a complete Statistical Department, with the view to laying before our client's the actual facts about any property whose shares are dealt in upon the Exchanges; also, we issue for free distribution, at considerable expense, a most complete 400 page, illustrated,

"DAILY MARKET LETTER" and "GUIDE TO INVESTORS"

They are both yours for the asking, and are distinctly essential to dealers in stocks, inasmuch as they give complete and exhaustive knowledge of every company, either industrial or railway, the latest authentic obtainable facts pertinent thereto.

ENTIRELY OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms! The oil now brings $1.30 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over $[illegible] in 60 days time on an investment of this kind; also have wells making from 50 to 200 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their outlay. The oil business conducted on business principles, with honest management, is bound to succeed. You do not have to look further than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce; they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. For particulars write THE RABCKE CO., MARIETTA, Ohio.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is situated southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show high ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $50 and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings oftitimes running as high as $35 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire values of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

Price is now 25 cents a share, and we offer 50,000 shares at this price, but it may be advanced by January 1st, 1903, to 50 cents a share.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

Laid at Rest

The remains of the late Wellington J. Bell were laid to rest at two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bell was a member of the Charlotte Street Sunday school, orchestra, and other worthy institutions, as well as a clarionet player in the 57th Regimental band. We deeply sympathize with his parents in their sad bereavement.

Good News

Mrs. John Cameron, residing at 348 Garry street, Winnipeg, received word last week from her brother, Fred Pearson who was supposed to have died in California 30 years ago. He has accrued a large fortune in Arizona through mining investments. Pearson is a brother of Wm. Pearson, of Ottawa.

St. Paul's Mission

St. Paul's Mission building, located at the corner of Wolfe and Reid streets, will be opened for service on Sunday next, Feb. 1st. Rev. J. A. Wilson will conduct the morning service at 11 o'clock, and Rev. Dr. Torrance the evening service at seven o'clock. The Sabbath school and Bible class will be held at three o'clock in the afternoon.

At St. Luke's

The Ladies Auxiliary Society of St. Luke's held a preliminary meeting yesterday afternoon. The Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was down to deliver an address, but was unfortunately called away. The main object of the afternoon's gathering was to stimulate the members to secure a large attendance at the annual meeting to be held next month, when the selection of Toronto delegates will be made.

—A missionary meeting which proved both pleasant and profitable was held in the Charlotte street school room on Wednesday evening. The statement of the work done by the Woman's Missionary Society spoke well for its flourishing condition.

PREACHER OUTWITTED

In Another Preacher's Family

"It is easy to sing the praises of Postum Food Coffee; in fact, I should be most ungrateful did I not," says Mrs. R. B. Wright, the wife of the minister of the First Congregational Church of Boise, Idaho.

"Five years ago I was a nervous wreck and yet hard to convince that coffee was injurious. Postum was recommended by a friend and found to be delicious and strengthening. In a short time my nervousness left me, and today I am well and hearty without a moment's sickness.

"My husband has been relieved of biliousness by its use and our eldest daughter, who was a delicate child, has wonderfully improved in health. She has gained in flesh and is stronger than ever before in her life, while I scarcely know I have any nerves. The whole family children and all, prefer Postum to coffee.

"How sorry I feel when I hear any one say: 'I don't like Postum.' I know they have not properly prepared it and have frequently suggested another trial. —four teaspoonfuls of Postum to a pint of water, which must boil at least fifteen minutes after boiling commences, have cups warm and serve very hot with good cream. This is a cup fit for a king.

"I know so many who have been benefitted from its use; nervousness dyspepsia, with countless other ills, vanish when Postum becomes the family breakfast drink and coffee is left out.

"At our table recently, a clergyman was asked if he would not have his cup refilled. He replied, 'I never allow myself but one cup of coffee,' and when informed that he had been drinking Postum, he exclaimed, 'Indeed, I will have another cup,' surprised and gratified that he had been outwitted. This was considered a good joke by the younger members of the family."

Broke a Bone

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gliddon will sympathize with them in the accident which their little son, Otto met with a few days ago. The little fellow had the misfortune to fall on the pavement in Toronto, where he is with his mother on a visit to Mr. Gliddon's parents, and broke one of the bones of his leg. The little sufferer is doing as well as can be expected.

Choir Entertained

The St. Luke's choir members enjoyed a sleigh drive on Wednesday evening, after which they were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Howden where a most enjoyable evening was spent. A rather regrettable feature of the evening was the conduct of a number of young hoodlums, who directed snow balls at the party. One young lady occupant had an eye painfully bruised. It is hoped the offenders may be located and brought to justice.

Increase Their Rolling Stock

The Canadian Pacific Railway company are making strenuous efforts to handle their rapidly increasing trade. The shops at Hochelaga are working to their full capacity turning out passenger and freight cars for the great business which is expected with the opening of spring. The company is building, and has orders placed for 200 locomotives which will bring the number of engines in the service up to 1200.

Y. M. C. A. Hockey Club

The Gymnasium Class in connection with the Y.M.C.A. at a meeting on Wednesday afternoon organized a hockey club and the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Wm. Madill
President—Arthur Wood.
Vice-President—Norman Seaton.
Sec.-Treasurer—M. Robinson.

The team will practice every Saturday morning from 10.30 to 11.30. The team oppose the Junior Colts this afternoon.

Police Court

Before the Police Magistrate this morning, 5 boys, whose ages ranged from 10 to 14 years, were charged with theft. two of the boys were accused with having stolen several pairs of moccasins from Robt. McWhinnie's, four with having taken five fox skins from Lech Bros. two with stealing two sweaters from Meredith's, and four must answer for two caps and two toques taken from Thomas Barrie's. Four of the juveniles pleaded guilty to their respective charges. All five boys were remanded till Monday morning.

Manitoba Cement Company

The promoters of the Manitoba Cement Company whose announcement appears on another page of this issue, claims that their mine should be the most profitable in the world for the reason that they will have no competition in their market. Experienced engineers have estimated that the cost per barrel to manufacture Portland cement in their plant will not exceed $1.25. The present wholesale price of cement in Winnipeg is $4.00. The cost of bringing cement from Ontario in freight is $1.20. This saving freight alone would represent a fair profit, for the Manitoba Cement Company. The company is receiving congratulations on having a strong and representative Board of Directors. Forms of application for stock and prospectus may be obtained from Messrs. J. F. H. Ussher and Co., stock brokers, 28 Wellington Street West.

Weather Variations

A short continuance of the present temperature will at least have a tendency to solve the coal problem, and dealers who are withholding the precious mineral with an eye to gain will perhaps see the wisdom of a rapid disposal. From 15 below zero to 30 above is a variation indeed that we could hardly look for at this season of the year, though the philosophical mad add it is the unexpected which in this world of change most surely happens. On this account, then, it may be unwise to prophesy but more reliable authorities tell us that the present temperature is hardly likely to continue, and that more seasonable weather may be expected.

"I've Lost Ten Pounds"

A man says. "Look at this." And he over-laps his coat to show how loose it is. There are some people who can lose fat to advantage, but the loss of flesh is one of the accepted evidences of failing health. As flesh-making processes begin in the stomach, so naturally when there is loss of flesh we look first to the stomach for the cause. And the cause is generally found to be disease of the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts, resulting in loss of nutrition and consequent physical weakness.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery restores the lost flesh by curing diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food from which flesh and strength are made.

"My wife was for five years troubled with indigestion of stomach and bowels, bloating and severe pain at times during the entire five years," writes Mr. J. Milton Unger, of McConnellsburg, Pa. "Her heart was affected, and she took a purgative every few days but only received temporary relief. She got very poor in flesh and I bought one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery from our druggist and after taking it she said she felt like a new woman. Has no more trouble with stomach and bowels, and has no pain nor bloating. Has gained fifteen pounds in weight."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and biliousness.

THE GAME TO-NIGHT

T. A. S. and Lakefield Did not Play Last Night

The Game To-night.

The Senior St. George's of Toronto, and the Peterborough Senior Colts will come together tonight on Brock street rink in an exhibition game. The St. George's are one of the fastest hockey teams in Toronto and were put out of the senior running in the O.H.A. by the Wellingtons, who have captured the senior honors for three years in succession and were only prevented from landing the Stanley Cup from the Winnipeg Vics in the west by a small margin. The game tonight is billed to commence at 8.45 so as to give the clerks in the stores an opportunity to witness the game.

No Game Last Night.

The game to be played at Lakefield last night in the T.V.L. between the team of that place and the T.A.S. was postponed, as ice could not be obtained. The game will probably take place next Tuesday or Wednesday evening. The Lakefield people are quite confident that their team will turn the score of last week, and the boys are putting in some hard work. The T.A.S. team do not appear agitated over the results and will give a good account of themselves. It is up to the T.A.S. to bring one championship to Peterborough this season. Should the score go against them in Lakefield, it will make both teams a tie for this district, each having lost one game. The Bobcaygeon bunch are out of the running.

A matched race for the championship of the County of Peterborough will take place at the Brock street rink on Thursday evening, Feb. 5th, between Oliver Dusty, Champion of the Midland District, and Walter Jackson, Champion of the County of Peterborough, to be skated in one mile heats, two out of three, for a valuable trophy. The champion barrel jumper of the world on skates, W. H. Gonno, of Copper Cliff, Ont., will give an exhibition as follows: 7 barrels forward, 8 barrels backwards, 3 barrels on one foot forward, 1 backwards on one foot, five barrels close together hurdle jumping. Also a most wonderful adventure jump, sailing over 3 chairs, 3 barrels one box and three boys, which means 28 feet of a jump.

The Wellington's Challenge.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Mr. P. D. Ross, trustee of the Stanley Hockey Club, yesterday received the challenge of the Wellington Hockey Club, Toronto, who are anxious to meet the winners of the Montreal-Winnipeg Victoria games for the Stanley Cup. Mr Ross stated that at present the trustees had decided they could only fyle the challenge, as no arrangements could be made until the end of the O.H.A. series. Then, if the Wellingtons were champions, and he saw no reason why they should not be, their challenge would have first claim for a match.

Rowdys at Hockey Game.

Woodstock, Jan. 30.—At the Police Court yesterday Samon Laird and Hewitt Hall of Ingersoll were fined $5 and costs and $2 and costs for creating a disturbance at the hockey match played in Woodstock last Friday between Woodstock and Ingersoll team. Chief Teats swore that they were the ring-leaders in the interfering with the progress of the game, when a dispute took place over a goal, which Ingersoll claimed to have scored, and which the umpire had not allowed.

The meeting of the Thistles and the Granites, which was to have taken place on Wednesday last, but was postponed on account of the poor condition of the ice, will, weather permitting, be played off today.

Choir Entertained

The Charlotte Street choir members were entertained on Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. Davies. The evening opened by a short business meeting, and a brief practice, after which supper was served. During the evening Mr. Davies, the President, in a short speech, took occasion to thank Miss B. Sanderson, who is leaving to go to Copper Cliff, for the excellent service she had rendered the choir. Miss Sanderson, in a fitting reply expressed her regret at leaving, and her appreciation of the kind words spoken. A hearty vote of thanks to the host and hostess closed a pleasant evening.

Pimples, Blotches and Skin Eruptions

How unsightly, sometimes even disgusting, and certainly very mortifying to the sufferer. They are merely an evidence of impure, poisoned blood, and lowered vitality of the elementary organs, which can be quickly changed by taking Ferrozone after meals. Ferrozone cleanses the blood of all poisons and eruptions, makes it rich in red corpuscles that manifest themselves in a healthy ruddy complexion. To have a pure, soft, skin and good complexion simply use Ferrozone regularly. Price 50c. per box, of, six boxes for $2.50, at Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Interesting addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. A. Wilson, Sheriff Hall, and Mr. James Fife, Sunday School superintendent, who ably filled the chair.

MISSION BAND CONCERT

A Pleasant Evening Spent by the Children and Their Friends

The pupils of the Murray street Baptist church Sunday School Mission Band held their annual tea and concert last night in the Lecture room of the church. There was a large attendance of the scholars and their friends. After tea a pleasant programme was successfully gone through, and a delightful evening was spent. The following programme was rendered: Recitations by Col. E. B. Edwards, Clifton Kidd, Georgeana Janes Ethel Hardwick, four selections by the Young Girl's Orchestra and solo by Miss Belle Elcombe which completed the first part of the programme, and a short intermission of five minutes followed.

The second part of the programme consisted of a dialogue by Geo. Martin, Muriel Martin, and Minnie Ellis, a song by 12 little tots, a duet by May Roberts and Kathleen Martin, recitations by Harold and Gladys Yelland; a solo by Hattie Lee, a duett by Helen and Arthur Blade, solos by Georgie Matthews and Ray Scott, and a recitation by Angeline Armstrong.

A Concrete Discussion

At the last meeting of the Engineer Club of Toronto, with C. H. Rust, City Engineer, in the chair, there was a discussion on "Concrete Construction." Members of Ontario Society of Architects were also invited and there were about 60 in attendance. The following engineers and architects took part in the discussion: Willis Chipman, Beaumont Jarvis, J. W. Harrett, A. B. Aylesworth and J. Alexr. Calverwell. The "Canadian Contract Record of today says: "Mr. J. Alexr. Calverwell, of Peterborough, spoke of the use of concrete in the dams, locks, etc., of the Trent Canal, and of its use in the largest lift lock at Peterborough."

BIG COAL COMPANY ANNOUNCES PLANS

Eastern Canada Organization Will Work Nova Scotia Areas

THE CAPITAL IS $2,000,000

Prominent Montreal and New York Capitalists are Interested in the Venture

Montreal, Jan. 30.—The announcement is made to-day of some of the plans and projects of the Eastern Canada Coal Company, for which a charter has been obtained from the Ontario Legislature. This company will have for its object the acquisition of various valuable coal properties, scattered throughout Nova Scotia, which at the present time are being inadequately worked or are subject to mismanagement by reason of the lack of executive, force and capital. The exact district in Nova Scotia in which the company will have its holdings is not specified. The capital of this company is two millions of dollars. Some of the most important financial people in Montreal and New York, it is announced, will have places on the board. A fuller announcement of the extent of the expected operations of the company will shortly be made public, and it will then be seen that another most important factor has entered the field to supply coal cheaply to the growing industries of Canada.

Mr. J. N. Greenshields, of Montreal, has taken out papers of incorporation, and is the solicitor for the company.

MT. PLEASANT.

A horse owned by ex-Reeve Hooton while with his mate pulling a load of wood up a hill, fell dead. Cause of death not known.

Farmers are busy threshing. The hum of the engine is heard daily.

Those who have to cut their firewood in the swamp find it very difficult, as the frost has not penetrated the ground sufficiently to allow hauling it out.

A few days ago a man trying to draw a load of lumber into the swamp, lost one of his horses. He broke his leg and and his owner had to shoot him. The snow is very deep, which keeps the frost out of the ground.

Mr. Windram, of the township of Emily sustained a very heavy loss last week by having his barn with its contents destroyed by fire.

A CANADIAN ON S. AFRICA

British Labor the Right Thing for Mines

Slashing Attack on English Society —May Go to Paris

THREE JURISTS ARE NOT YET CHOSEN.

Yet Canada's Chief Justice May be One—Dreadful Tale of An Ocean Cruise

London, Jan. 30—In the matter of the Venezuelan embroglio, I called at the Foreign Office today and learned from the officials that they expect the blockade to be raised at any hour. The danger of serious entanglements is believed to have passed away. The jurists to deal with the Alaskan boundary have not been appointed yet, but Sir Elzear Taschereau, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, will probably be one.

May go to Paris.

The Canadian footballers are considered just a bit rough by their English friends. They are generally a heavier team than the one they play against. Now, at a moment's notice, it is proposed that they shall go to Paris to-morrow and play on Sunday. They would return that night, a ten hours' journey, and play the London Scottish on Monday. This is generally regarded as a mistake, the team being already fagged.

Mr. Gibbs on Africa.

I had an interview today with Mr. Frank Gibbs, a successful mining engineer of Johannesburg, who is in London on his way to Canada on a visit. He graduated from the Kingston Military College in 1894, and is a grandson of the late Hon. Thos. Gibbs. He says the solution of the African labor trouble is the importation of thousands of skilled English workmen, and an improvement in the wage and condition of the Kaffirs. The blacks are willing to work now, but want more than two shillings a day. Mr. Gibbs is a decided anti-Chinaman on the labor question. Except for its mines, he says, Africa is a desert compared to Canada.

Captured Contract.

The Kerr Stuart Company, an English firm of engineers, have just beaten an American firm in an open tender for the contracts to supply locomotives for the Interoceanic Railway in Mexico. There is a feeling that John Bull is waking up.

Smart Society Scored.

Miss Marie Correlli, the novelist, has a slashing article in The Lady's Realm on the decay of Home Life in England, declaring that the so-called smart set is not the real aristocracy, but a "disordered wilderness of American and African scrap." Miss Correlli calls the smart set gadabouts and sexless creatures, a combination of the female chipanzee and the fashionable "Johnny." Mr. George W. E. Russell, the writer, who was Under Secretary for the Home Department in the last Gladstone Ministry, also says that the morals of society are worthy of a "poultry yard."

A Sea Tragedy.

The story of the ship Veronica and its murdering seamen is really a most extraordinary tale of murder and mutiny on the high seas. It seems that the barque Veronica, Captain Shaw, owned by Wm. Thompson, St. John, N.B., bound from Ship Island, Mississippi, to Montevideo, was reported as having been destroyed by fire and sunk, by the survivors, four Germans and a black cook. These were rescued from a desert island off Brazil by the English steamer, Brunswick and brought to Liverpool. The black cook now says a German and an Irish sailor quarrelled one night, and the Irishman was killed, then the four Germans silently clubbed the captain and the rest of the crew, seven in number, throwing the bodies overboard. The murderers fired the ship, reaching Teutonia. They are now jailed at Liverpool, and were charged today with murder on the high seas. The story causes a sensation here. Their names are Monson, Fisher, Rau and Smith. Rau and Fisher have practically confessed.

FOUND DEAD IN BED BLEW OUT THE GAS

Tragic End of a Pretty French-Canadian Girl

COMPANION MAY ALSO DIE

Visitors Came From St. Lin and Retired to Chamber After Spending Pleasant Evening

Montreal, Jan. 30.—A pretty French-Canadian country girl is dead at the General Hospital, and a married lady friend is dying, presumably because they blew out the gas.

The came from St. Lin yesterday, in good health and spirits, bent on having a pleasant visit to Montreal. They called at the house of their Montreal friends at 761 St. Dominique street, and after spending the evening chatting, retired to their room, which was lighted by gas.

This morning after the lady of the house where they were visiting had been up some time she noticed an awful smell of gas from the direction of the room where her visitors were sleeping. The suspicion that something was very wrong immediately crossed her mind and rushing up to and entering it, she found her fears realized, the room was full of gas, and the bodies of her two friends apparently lifeless upon the bed.

Help was immediately summoned and the General Hospital ambulance called for, but all the ambulance doctor could do was to testify that the young girl was dead, and that her friend was, in probability, beyond any help.

The young girl's name is Clarine Dufeau, and that of the older lady Mrs. Husler.

An inquest will be held by Coroner McMahon, who has been notified by the the authorities of the General Hispital.

At the Opera

Despite the inclement state of the weather, another large audience assembled last evening to renew their acquaintance with the worthy Mark's Bros. combination. The play advertised for presentation was in itself a great inducement to lead one to brave the elements. "The Three Musketeers," is a dramatization of Duma's masterpiece of that title and has enjoyed phenomenal success for several years on both sides of the Atlantic. There is nothing but praise for the way in which it was served to a Peterborough audience last evening. The staging and dresses were excellent, and the acting of the company was characterized by praiseworthy restraint. Miss M. A. Bell as Ann of Austria well sustained her previously gained reputation and her wardrobe must have been responsible for much envy among the ladies. Mr. Will L. Stewart played D'Artagnan, the bold man of France, to the life, whilst the three musketeers, as personated by Messrs. Fred Secord, Carl Stears and Will C. Millard, respectively, were commendable. Other parts deserving of mention were Lade de Winter as represented by Leah Stoddard and Cardinal Richelieu by T. C. Connolly. The olio, as usual, was excellent.

WARSAW.

The anniversary services at the Methodist church, Warsaw, on Sunday and Monday evening last, were very successful. The Rev. J. Bartrop, of Toronto, preached on Sunday to a large congregation.

On Monday evening tea was served in the basement of the church to a large number. In connection with the services subscriptions were taken on behalf of the parsonage fund, which totalled $400 being the sum required, and the church is now quite free from debt. Inspiring and profitable addresses were delivered on Monday evening by Rev. Mr. Atkinson, of the Presbyterian church, and by Rev. Mr. Bartrop, Rev. Mr. McQuade, the pastor, under whose supervision the evening's program was arranged, is to be congratulated on the complete financial success of the project.

PREMIER ROBLIN ON GRAND TRUNK SCHEME

Does Not Appear Much in Favor of Outlined Pacific Plan

PRESENT RAILWAYS WILL DO

Says Manitoba School Question is Settled So Far as the Province is Concerned

Montreal, Jan. 30.—The particular manner in which the premiers of the different provinces arrived at the new basis on which they desire that subsidies should be granted the provinces by the Federal Parliament, was interesting information given the press yesterday by Hon. R. P. Roblin, Premier of Manitoba, who arrived in the city from Ottawa to attend the banquet tendered Mr. F. D. Monk last night. Among his first words in the course of his conversation with a press representative at the Windsor was that the weather might turn cold in order that the Winnipeg boys might not be handicapped in their matches for the Stanley Cup.

"The premiers of all the provinces," stated Premier Roblin, "were entirely in favor of the new basis. Of course, some of the premiers in the preliminary negotiations wanted more than will be granted them by the new basis, but it was thought that better results would be obtained if a basis were reached that all present would agree to. The main reason why we expect that the requests will be granted by the Federal Parliament is that they are not large, and will only enable the provinces to barely carry out the work for which they are granted.

"Did you notice that Archbishop Bruchesi, on his return from his audience with the Pope, stated that the Manitoba school question was not closed?"

"As far as the Manitoba Government is concerned, the question is closed, and neither at the present nor at any further date will it be re-opened. Then, as a matter of fact, the question is not any longer to be dealt with by the Manitoba Government. It was settled by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and he acted on behalf of the French-Canadian Catholics If any further action was taken it would have to be through Premier Laurier."

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

"Then, according to the announcement made by some of the Grand Trunk officials, the new line will be run north of Lake Winnipeg and a branch built into the city of Winnipeg?"

"Such a project can hardly be considered a feasible one, simply because there is no arable land so far north and a branch with Winnipeg would not be of any use. Then again there is very little room for the railway to build south of Lake Winnipeg, for this portion is amply supplied with railways at the present time. Of course, they need more railways in the Territories, but then it would be much easier for the existing railways to build branches into the various districts than for another company to come along and build a new line. Personally, I think that the needs of the country will be amply attended to when the present railways are able to secure better equipment."

Fire Last Night.

About one o'clock last night the fire brigade was called out to extinguish a fire in the basement of a store adjourning Mr. B. B. Stone's law office. The blaze was noticed by Mr. Kearns, a driver at Mr. Leary's hack and livery stables, and an alarm sent in. Considerable damage was done to the basement and front of the buildings. The upper flats were used as dwellings. There was a high wind blowing, and had the fire not been noticed before it gained much headway, a disastrous conflagration would have been the result.

The Foretelling of the Future.

Maurice Maeterlinck has an article in the "Fortnightly Review" on the foretelling of the future, from which the following passages are clipped:

The seer in question is one of the most famous in Paris. She claims to incarnate, in her hypnotic state, the spirit of an unknown little girl called Julia. Having made me sit down at a table that stood between us, she begged me to tutoyer Julia and to speak to her gently, as one speaks to a child of seven or eight years. Thereupon her features, her eyes, her hands, her whole body, were for some seconds unpleasantly convulsed; her hair came untied; and the expression of her face changed completely and became artless, puerile. The voice, shrill and clear, of a small child, next came from that great ripe woman's body, and asked with a little lisp:

"What do you want? Are you worried? Is it for yourself or someone else that you have come to see me?"

"For myself."

"Very well; will you help me a little? Lead me in thought to the place where your worries are."

I concentrated my attention on the project with which I was engrossed and on the different actors in the as yet hidden little drama. Then, gradually, after some preliminary gropings, and without my helping her with a word or gesture, she really penetrated into my thoughts, read them, so to speak, as a slightly veiled book, placed the situation of the scene most accurately, recognised the principal characters and described them summarily, with hopping and childish but quaintly correct and precise little touches.

"That's very good, Julia," I then said, "but I know all that; what you ought to tell me is what is going to happen later on."

"What is going to happen, what is going to happen . . . you want to know all that is going to happen; but it's very difficult." . . .

"But still? How will the business end? Shall I win?"

"Yes, yes, I see; don't be afraid, I'll help you; you will be pleased." . . .

"But the enemy of whom you told me; the one who is resisting me and who wishes me ill." . . .

"No, no, he wishes you no ill; it's because of someone else . . . I can't see why. . . . He hates him . . . Oh, he hates him, he hates him! And it is because you like the other one so much that he does not want you to do for him what you want to do."

What she said was true.

"But tell me," I insisted, "will he go on to the end, will he not yield?"

"Oh, do not fear him. . . . I see, he is ill; he will not live long."

"You are mistaken, Julia: I saw him two days ago; he is quite well."

"No, no, he is ill . . . It doesn't show, but he is very ill . . . he must die soon." . . .

"But how, in that case, and why?"

"There is blood upon him, around him, everywhere" . . .

"Blood? Is it a duel?" (I had thought, for a moment, that I might be called upon to fight my adversary.) "An accident, a murder, a revenge?" (He was an unjust and unscrupulous man, who had done much harm to many people.)

"No, no, ask me no more, I am very tired. . . . Let me go" . . .

"Not before I know." . . .

"No, I can tell you nothing more . . I am too tired . . . let me go. . . . Be good, I will help you." . . .

The same attack as at the start then convulsed the body, in which the little voice had ceased; and the mask of forty years again covered the face of the woman, who seemed to be waking from a long sleep.

Is it necessary to add that we had never seen each other before this meeting, and that we knew as little of one another as though we had been born on different planets?

• • • • • •

In so far as I am concerned, Julia's prophecy was realized in part—that is to say, although I did not triumph in respect of the main point, the affair was nevertheless arranged in a satisfactory manner. As for the death of my adversary, it has not yet occurred, and gladly do I dispense the future from keeping the promise which it made me by the innocent mouth of the child of an unknown world.

A Plausible Suggestion.

They were coming across the Brooklyn bridge, says the New York "Evening Sun," and saw a little tug puffing around one of Uncle Sam's war vessels just outside the navy basin.

"There's a man-of-war, my dear," he said, pointing to the big ship.

"And is the little one a tug-of-war?" she asked, as she gazed dreamily upon the water.

SERIOUS WAR IS IN SIGHT

European Powers Take Steps to Force Reform

Capt. Mahan Interprets the Munroe Doctrine as Now Up.

MUCH WHEAT NEEDED.

Australian Drouth Causes a Shortage in Food Supply, Ship from Vancouver?

London, Jan. 30—The publication of a French yellow book detailing the efforts made by France and Russia during the past year to induce Turkey to institute reforms in Macedonia, which resulted in the tour through the Balkans of Count Lamsdorff, and in the Austro-Russian agreement regarding press reforms in Turkey, is held to point to the fact that an acute phase of the Balkan question has arisen. The rumors that Austria is preparing a squadron at her naval port of Pola, the passage of the Russian torpedo boats through the Dardanelles into the Black sea and other incidents are being recalled; while the official denial of mobilization rumors issued by the Austrian Government are received with scepticism. There have been lately several reports of hasty purchases of war material by Roumania, the Balkan States and Turkey.

Reports are current in Odessa that Austria and Russia have agreed upon a joint naval coercion of Turkey in the coming spring to enforce the reforms in Macedonia. According to Prof. Mambery, who is supposed to be well informed as to the views entertained at Yildi Kiosk, the Sultan believing that the intention is to wrest Macedonia from the Turkish Empire, would prefer the risks of war to an acquiescence in the European demands.

Dominates, But Not Dominant.

London, Jan. 30—The February number of the National Review contains an article by Captain Mahan on the Monroe Doctrine, in which it is pointed out that the United States considers it "essential to her interests and to those of peace to withstand the beginnings of action which might lead to European intervention in the internal concerns of an American State." Dealing with the Venezuelan dispute, Captain Mahan remarks:—"Such an occurrence as the existing difficulty between Venezuela, Germany and Great Britain engages prompt and sensitive attention. This does not imply a doubt of the wisdom and firmness of the Government, but indicates an instinctive political apprehension not elicited by greater and immediate interests in quarters external to the American continents."

"Not to invade the rights of an American State is to the United States an obligation with the force of law. To permit no European State to influence them as a matter of policy. The United States is inevitably the preponderant American power, but she does not aspire to be paramount. She does not find the true complement of the Monroe Doctrine in an undefined control over American States exercised by her and denied to Europe. Its corelative is abstention from interference in questions territorially European."

Much Wheat Needed.

Ottawa, January 29—A report to the Department of Trade and Commerce from Mr. J. S. Larke, the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Australia, tells of three weeks' monsoonal rains in all the inhabited parts of the Commonwealth in these districts more rain fell in these three weeks than in three years before. It is too early to say whether the drought has been broken. The shipping rate for grain from Winnipeg via New York remains much lower than via Vancouver, and an excellent chance to establish Vancouver as an export shipping point has been postponed or lost. The original estimates of Australian crops were overstated. In New South Wales only 388,370 acres out of 1,561,704 sown were saved, and these only yielded 2.6 bushels to the acre, the worst showing in record.

The equivalent of nine million bushels in wheat or flour will be required to fill the shortage. In Victoria, of 2,000,400 acres sown, 1,139,275 acres failed. The remainder yielded only 4 1-2 bush. per acre. Three hundred thousand tons of wheat and flour will be required, exclusive of other breadstuffs and if favorable rates via Vancouver were available much of this trade should come from that port.

Mr. Larke reports the arrival of a shipment of apples from Vancouver in such a rotten condition that they were refused by the consignee. The apples came from the States and were reshipped at Vancouver. Manitoba flour is already finding a market in the Pacific Islands, though the demand is mainly for low grade "sharps." Canadians are warned of the existence in Australia of an alien labor contract law, known as the Immigration Restriction Act. A party of English hatters were recently admitted to Sydney, after a protest from the Grand Labor Union, and troublesome negotiations with the Commonwealth authorities.

BIG WHEAT TRAFFIC CONTINUES UNABATED

20,000,000 Bushels Still Remain in the Canadian West

LOCATION OF THE GRAIN

Movement of Settlers to "Soo" and North-West a Feature of Present Season

Montreal, Jan. 30.—The Canadian Pacific Railway people think there is still about 20,000,000 bushels of last year's wheat crop still to be moved.

Of this 10,000,000 remains in the elevators west of Fort William, and all three Canadian roads will probably be hauling grain far into the summer. The immense corn crop, which this season was so dilatory in hardening up, is now ready for shipment to the sea board, but the trouble is that the car congestion prevailing out West, as well as East, makes this an impossibility.

In addition to the large volume of grain to be carried, larger stocks of merchandise than usual are being purchased and hurried to the North-West to meet the influx of new settlers in the spring. The Canadian Pacific is already making every preparation for this. Mr. L. O. Armstrong, of the Colonization Department, has gone West to attend an important meeting to be held in Chicago in connection with the movement from the Western States of settlers into the Canadian North-West.

Mr. Miller, station agent at the Windsor street station, says that the most remarkable thing about the movement is that it has had no let up and that now, right in the heart of winter, every westbound train has its batch of settlers either west for the "Soo" district or for the North-West. The same report comes from the Federal and Provincial offices here, and the demand for farm labor remains unabated.

Hundreds of heads of families from the Eastern States have taken advantage of the cheap excursions and gone to look over the land.

The Grand Trunk traffic department reports the same state of affairs, both in passengers and freight. Another feature of the continued high traffic receipts of the Canadian roads is that Canadians are becoming more wealthy and families pass the winter either down South or in California.

MANITOBA FARMERS VISIT TO ENGLAND

They Will Be Taken to All Leading Market Centres

SOME OF THEM WILL LECTURE

It is Expected That Emigration From England will Be Greatly Stimulated

London, Jan. 30.—The proposed tour of a party of Manitoba farmers, who are expected to arrive in England on February 22, is awaited with great interest here. Mr. W. T. R. Preston, Dominion Immigration Agent, is now arranging the visits to all the market towns where some of the farmers will lecture and meet inquirers. To have Western Canada described at first hand it is expected will be of great service in stimulating emigration which promises well for the spring. Other authorities urge the necessity of a careful selection of the Manitoba delegates, especially in the way of avoiding political nominees. The new Canadian Government Immigration office will be ready at the end of next month. It is still awaiting internal fittings. This time the delay was due to Canadian, not British, workmen.

PETERBOROUGH, JAN. 31, 1903.

A WORD IN SEASON

The statements, which, according to the Ottawa correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, are supposed to emanate from a leading supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, threatening a possible estrangement between the Dominion and the Empire, are in our opinion unworthy the publicity already given them. If, as has already been suggested, the object of this meaningless "plain talk" was intended to affright either the British Ministry or the people, we consider the result may be voted an ignominous failure. On the other hand, if the quoted correspondent sought questionable notoriety by supplying his organ with sensational copy, we suppose he has some reason to congratulate himself upon the results of his efforts. For any one to intimate that the Government felt themselves face to face with the fact that a strong public opinion was prevalent against the continuance of Canada to Great Britain is sufficient to vote that same individual either foolish or irresponsible.

Never, we hold, were the ties that bind the two countries more firm than at this time, and we think it will take a more serious breach than the much talked of Alaskan treaty to prevent a continuance.

Manitoba Cement Company

The promoters of the Manitoba Cement Company whose announcement appears on another page of this issue, claims that their mills should be the most profitable in the world for the reason that they will have no competition in their market. Experienced engineers have estimated that the cost per barrel to manufacture Portland cement in their plant will not exceed $1.25. The present wholesale price of cement in Winnipeg is $4.00. The cost of bringing cement from Ontario in freight is $1.20. This saving freight alone would represent a fair profit, for the Manitoba Cement Company. The company is receiving congratulations on having a strong and representative Board of Directors. Forms of application for stock and prospectus may be obtained from Messrs. J. F. H. Ussher and Co., stock brokers, 28 Wellington Street West.

Campbellford hockey boys came up on Friday last, and played their first game in the T. V. League, with Keene. They got a beating they will remember for some time, the score being 21—3 in favor of Keene.

The Keene boys met their first defeat this season at Norwood on Wednesday evening. A large crowd drove down to see the match. At half time neither side had scored and in the second half Norwood got 4 goals and Keene 1. As Norwood was defeated at Keene a couple of weeks ago, they will have to play off the draw on neutral ice next week. The Keene players were: Goal, H. Dinsdale; point, Jas. Dixon; cover point, J. McCarthy; forwards, F. Walsh, H. Quinn, G. Laing and V. McCarthy.

WARSAW.

The anniversary services at the Methodist church, Warsaw, on Sunday and Monday evening last, were very successful. The Rev. J. Sartrop, of Toronto, preached on Sunday to a large congregation.

On Monday evening tea was served in the basement of the church to a large number. In connection with the services subscriptions were taken on behalf of the parsonage fund, which totalled $400 being the sum required, and the church is now quite free from debt. Inspiring and profitable addresses were delivered on Monday evening by Rev. Mr. Atkinson, of the Presbyterian church, and by Rev. Mr. Bartrop, Rev. Mr. McQuade, the pastor, under whose supervision the evening's program was arranged, is to be congratulated on the complete financial success of the project.

BENSFORT.

The farmers are very busy at present drawing their grain to market. Quite a number of them are drawing building material home for next summer's work.

Mr. Isaac Kerr is building a stone foundation under his barns.

Mr. Herman Thompson, who has been very sick for some time, is recovering.

Mr. John Fletcher has George Smithson engaged in building a storehouse and refrigerator for the purpose of keeping meats of all kinds. This will supply a long felt want, as we have had no butcher shop in our village for several years.

A horse belonging to Mr. Orde of Otonabee, came into our village on Thursday of last week, hitched to a cutter. The driver was far in the rear.

On Thursday afternoon of last week some of our lady friends proposed to go for a three mile tramp on their snowshoes. Several entered the contest, but there were only two of them who covered the entire distance, arriving home much refreshed by the exercise.

MT. PLEASANT.

A horse owned by ex-Reeve Hooten while with his mate pulling a load of wood up a hill, fell dead. Cause of death not known.

Farmers are busy threshing. The hum of the engine is heard daily.

Those who have to cut their firewood in the swamp find it very difficult, as the frost has not penetrated the ground sufficiently to allow hauling it out.

A few days ago a man trying to draw a load of lumber into the swamp, lost one of his horses. He broke his leg and and his owner had to shoot him. The snow is very deep, which keeps the frost out of the ground.

Mr. Windram, of the township of Emily sustained a very heavy loss last week by having his barn with its contents destroyed by fire.

Mr. Beatty, of Omemee has come to the rescue with the best coal in the market. He sells it at a reasonable price, considering the great difficulty and delay he has in getting it. Come one, come all, and get a first-class coal from Beatty, of Omemee, dealer in farm produce, etc. We tried his coal and find it the best we have ever burned.

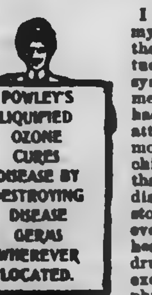
We hope that Ontario will be able to find fuel within her own territory, so that we may be independent of any foreign power. How about peat manufacturing?

Pneumonia and Bronchitis Cured.

Mrs. R. C. Robinson, Toronto, a Very Sick Woman--Medicines and Drug Preparations Did Her No Good.

Powley's Liquified Ozone Destroyed the Disease Germs and Her Recovery Was Rapid and Permanent.

Though Sixty-five Years of Age, She is Now Gaining in Flesh and Feels Splendid—Would Not Be Without Ozone.



I gladly give you my testimonial to the wonderful virtues of your new system of treatment, Ozone. I had a very bad attack of pneumonia and bronchitis. Also with that I had terrible distress in my stomach. I tried everything I could hear of from the drug store and an excellent family physician prescribed for me, but nothing seemed to give me the least relief. I could not sleep and any position I got into I was miserable. I was advised to try Ozone, and from the very first I got relief. The Ozone loosened the phlegm in my bronchial tubes and brought a large amount of matter from my lungs. I had also nervous prostration so badly that I thought nothing would ever help me. Ozone cured all that.

How glad I was to get that awful putrid matter from my system. I began to mend rapidly. I only took three $1.00 bottles and I am feeling splendid and growing in flesh, although I am 65 years of age. We would not like to be without Ozone in our family; it seems so good for every ill. Anyone calling on me I will gladly answer any questions I can about Ozone as a great remedy.

Respectfully yours,

OBJECTS OF THE COMPANY

The Manitoba Cement Company has secured incorporation for the purpose of manufacturing a high-grade Portland Cement. It owns one of the most valuable cement deposits in Canada, located south of Morden, S ½ Sec. 4, Tp. 1, Rge. 6 west. The raw material has been thoroughly analyzed by the highest authorities on cement and pronounced by them suitable for the manufacture of a superior quality of Portland Cement.

When the plant shall have been completed the Company will own material sufficient for at least 200,000,000 barrels of cement, and a mill capable of converting this material into cement of the highest grade, and by reason of its position and open market in the West, can without question manufacture and market its product at a maximum profit.

USES OF CEMENT

Among others, Portland Cement Concrete may be used with advantage for the following purposes:—Bridge Piers, Foundations, Chimney Stacks, Sewers, Canals, Sidewalks, etc., for which it is more lasting and much cheaper than stone or brick. The demand for Portland Cement is rapidly increasing in the West, where building stone is scarce, and by the time it can be put in a 1,000 bbl. mill will not nearly meet the demand. All cement used in Manitoba is at present shipped from Ontario, the freight being $1.20 per bbl. The Manitoba Cement Company will, therefore, have practically no competition in supplying Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

PROBABLE RESULTS TO SHAREHOLDERS

The following statement of probable results to be secured is based on a very conservative estimate of cost and selling price:

Average selling price per bbl at factory		$2.25
Cost per bbl., incl. office and general expenses		1.20
Profit per bbl.		$1.05
Annual output, 300,000 barrels

Gross Annual Profit		$315,000
Sinking Fund	$20,000
Repairs and depreciations	50,000	70,000
Total annual profit for surplus and dividends		$245,000

N.B.—The present wholesale selling price of cement in Winnipeg is $4.00 per bbl.

BUY MAY CORN NOW!

The letters that follow speak for themselves, and should prove that our judgment, while not infallible, is to be depended upon.

Last October, when December Corn was selling around 43 1-2 cents we urged all our customers to buy. Those who followed our advice and kept their trades in force made enormous profits.

We now urge the purchase of MAY CORN. MAY CORN is selling around 43 1-2 cents, and we believe that a purchase of this Cereal NOW will earn as great profits for the purchaser as did December Corn.

Read the following letters carefully, then send for our FREE BOOKLET giving reasons for our advice to buy MAY CORN.

Gentlemen—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 3rd inst., enclosing check for my balance, $125.00, and for my friend Chesley of $61.56, which I have turned over to him. This is a very handsome profit on less than a month's transactions, on $100.00 investment in corn.

I appreciate your kindness very much, indeed, in closing the account so promptly following my request to do so.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen,—I have received your check for $112.50, amount I made by investing $25.00 in December corn and holding it about twenty days.

Dear Sirs,—Your favor of the 29th ult., with enclosure, came to hand yesterday, but I was so busy that I could not find time to reply to same until today.

I note your remarks regarding December corn, that you sold my holdings and invested the same, with profits, in May corn, which, under the circumstances, was and is satisfactory.

I also note your remarks regarding May corn, and leave you the handling of same, as you may think best and most profitable.

Awaiting your further favors, I remain yours truly,

This means a profit of $21.25 in fifteen days on an investment of $25.00, which, I must say, is very satisfactory to me, as it is my first venture in margins in grain or any other like investment.

Kindly continue to re-invest as your judgment dictates. I am satisfied to have you make the investment earn what it can.

Gentlemen,—I received yours of the 22nd with check for $64.38, and I note that you say you have invested the $165.00 in 2,500 bushels of May corn for me.

Please accept my sincere thanks for the $169.38 which you made for me on the $50.00 investment. Had I left you alone, as I should have done, you would have made me nearly $300.00 in the three weeks; but I am satisfied with what you have done.

Hoping you will do as well, or better, with my May corn, and again thanking you, I am yours truly,
J. VALEK.

Hugh C. Dennis, Esq.
St. Louis, Mo.:

My Dear Major.—You are a daisy. Yours of the 21st, with account of sale and purchase, almost took away my breath, $92.19 and $57.00 in such a short time on the small investment is almost beyond comprehension.

Thanks to your grand success in dealing with the market, I now see my way out to pay a debt of honor I have been wanting to pay for a long time.

Please remit about $50 by American Express to Dayton, Ohio, and apply the rest due to me to more December or May corn, as your good, and almost infallible judgment may decide. I see from your purchase order that you have already bought 6,000 bushels of corn (May market.)

Thanking you for your kindness and hailing you as my benefactor, I am.
Most truly yours,
G. J. REICHE.

We told the public this last Spring about September and December Corn. We tell them the same thing now: BUY MAY CORN. Common sense and your own sound business judgment must tell you that May corn, bought now, will make for you enormous profits within the next sixty days. May corn will, we believe, reach a price higher than it has touched in twenty years for this option. We respectfully submit the following digest of a few of our customers' trades in December Corn. The Affidavit as to the correctness of these statements is made by our Assistant Auditor, Mr. W. Arthur Clemes. What we did for our customers in DECEMBER Corn may be duplicated many times over by a purchase of MAY Corn at its present low price.

Gentlemen,—Your letter of the 28th ult. received, together with enclosure of draft for $426.50, and please accept my thanks for same.

I am very well pleased with your manipulation of my holdings, and can find absolutely no cause for complaint. At one time my case most certainly looked rather hopeless, but, thanks to your suggestions, on which I acted, you brought me through with flying colors, and I trust that our future business relations may prove as congenial and profitable as they have in the past.

Thanking you for the kind and just treatment that I have received at your hands, I remain very truly yours,

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 5th, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Yours of the 3rd, with check for $25.00 enclosed, was received today, and I want to say to you that I was agreeably surprised to receive it. I am more than pleased with your treatment of my investment. I have shown the check and your letter to my friends and told them if they had any idea of investing to place their money in your hands. My writing to you in the first place was an accident.

I assure you that I shall take great pleasure in recommending your firm for honest, upright dealing in every way. I trust that the investment you have made me will be one-half as successful as the one just settled.

Again thanking you for your kindness in the transaction, and if nothing happens after the holidays you may expect to hear from me, together with some of my friends.

Wishing you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year and many years of prosperity, I am,

Gratefully yours,

I also wish to express my appreciation of your fair dealing with me, and say that I am much pleased with the large profit you made for me.

Yours very truly,

Rockland, Me., Dec. 2nd, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,

Dear Sirs,—I have your letter of the 29th ult., and note with much satisfaction the result of the investment in December corn.

With thanks again, I am,

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Yours of Dec. 3rd, enclosing draft for $78.84, received, for which accept my sincere thanks. I wrote to you last night asking reason for your delay in sending same, but received yours this noon.

I feel that you did finely with my first investment of $25.00, and if we had understood each other better on my first, I can see where your handling would have made a few hundred on it, which I think is sufficient to prove to any one that your firm is sound and able.

I thank you again, and hope to be able to help you to more customers, and, may be, myself dabble again soon.

Yours sincerely,
1-3 High St. W. J. KELLOCK.

Binghamton, N.Y., Dec. 5th. 1902

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of your valued favor of the 4th and acknowledge receipt of check for $50.00, profits on December corn holdings. Also confirmation of purchase of May. Thank you very much for same. Thought one time I saw larger profits coming my way, but feel satisfied as it is, and am confident there will be something in May corn after a time. Protect it as you did my last December holdings, and I will remit margin, if necessary. When it goes up a fair gain, sell and remit whole amount,

Respectfully,
FRANCIS L. GREEN.

Bangor, Me., Nov. 28th, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentleman,—Your valued favors of Nov. 24th and 26th came to me today, and I assure you that I thank you for them. You have convinced me that May corn is a very desirable purchase, and I wish that I had had more of it.

That you know what you are doing, as well as you know the future of corn goes without saying, and I am glad that I am tied up to your house, and before we are through I shall try to turn all the business towards you that I can, and I hope soon to make my own personal investments thousands instead of hundreds.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours cordially,
GEO. S. SILSBY.

Arapaho, Okla., Nov. 21st, 1902.

Mr. H. C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your letter notifying me of the sale of my December corn, received; and to find I had actually doubled my money to a penny in about five days, you cannot imagine my surprise. That beats our western ways of making money. Here interest runs from 12 to 24 per cent; but that is not in it with December corn.

You must have misunderstood my letter ordering immediate sale—I meant to say, sell latter part of November, 28th or 29th, to avoid any delivery, and to rebuy December 2nd or 3rd to sell about December 20th. I am not in a financial condition to invest more now, but will likely invest in May corn more heavily in a short time. Use the original purchase together with the profits, to best advantage, using your best judgment, but avoid delivery.

Should I be able to deal heavier, I shall risk your judgment in the matter.

Trusting that good luck may continue with us, I am very truly yours,
W. C. HAWKINS.

Dr. Guillermo Vives, Oculist,
Ponce, Puerto Rico,
Ponce, Dec. 20th, 1902.

Mr. Hugh C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your favors dated December 15th and 16th were duly received including check for [illegible]. I am very glad to state that the return I had for the invested was $222; a pretty fair amount for one month's outlay.

As I already took the liberty of writing you I will take great pleasure in sending you as soon as I possibly can, all the funds at my disposition.

In the meantime I am explaining your excellent method of doing business to my friends, and I am sure that they, as well, will give you a trial.

If it is not too much trouble for you I would be very much obliged if you would keep me informed about the movements of the market.

Giving you my best thanks for the careful and speedy attendance you have given my interests, I am,

Very respectfully,
GUILLERMO VIVES.

Gentlemen,—Your letter and check of the 24th received a few days ago. Am well pleased with the way you handled my business for me, for the profit I received from that little amount I invested with you far exceeded my most sanguine expectations.

Fitchburg, Mass., Dec. 2, 1902.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—I am in receipt of your letter dated Nov. 29th, which more than pleased me. I was surprised at such profits in a month, and I am satisfied with that May corn investment. If I am right, I have to my credit 2,250 bushels of May corn. I leave the whole matter in your hands, and make as much as you can out of it; what you do will suit me.

I thank you for what you have done for me, and I hope by the first of next May I will be able to buy 2,000 bushels of July corn. Yours truly,
GEO. BEAUREGARD.

Green Springs, W. Va., Dec. 2, 1902

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—Yours of Nov. 26th to hand containing cheque for $77.82, leaving two-cent margin on 1,500 May corn, which makes nearly 400 per cent. on investment of $25.00 on Nov. 7th.

Hope you will make out on the May corn as well. Respectfully yours,
J. A. WILSON.

P.S.—Excuse delay, as I wrote and forgot to mail same.

Hugh C. Dennis, Esq.,
Pres. Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your favor of 29th ult., advising me of the closing out of the small deal I have made with you, and the investment of proceeds in May corn has been received and is satisfactory. You did better than I expected. I have been through the West and observed the wonderful production through that country, so that I expected a decline in December corn.

Thanking you for your attention, I am,
Very truly yours,

DEPENDABLE INFORMATION

is the only right sort to receive relative to stock movements; when such is received in connection with any property, an analysis of the property should be carefully made, to learn if the facts warrant the likelihood of the information being correct. If the two agree, then one should make his trade immediately, in accord with the knowledge thus obtained. It is unwise to buy into a property when selling above its value; also, equally injudicious to sell when prices are below intrinsic values. Those who will keep within their means and will operate in accord with the above axiom, need never take a loss in Wall Street. We maintain a complete Statistical Department, with the view to laying before our clients the actual facts about any property whose shares are dealt in upon the Exchanges; also, we issue for free distribution, at considerable expense, a most complete 400 page, illustrated,

"DAILY MARKET LETTER" and "GUIDE TO INVESTORS"

They are both yours for the asking, and are distinctly essential to dealers in stocks, inasmuch as they give complete and exhaustive knowledge of every company, either industrial or railway, the latest authentic obtainable facts pertinent thereto

STOCK MARKETS

PROFESSIONALS RULING CURRENT PRICES

New York, Jan. 30.—Dull and listless market places its domination in the hands of the professional element. This element is bearish at present, and have unanimously been working upon that side of the market. Their concentrated efforts in that direction have not even met with limited success. Speculative activity has simply been arrested. It will break out afresh very shortly as Wall street cannot remain inactive for any great length of time. In Wall street what cannot decline must go up. The effort has all been exerted for the decline and it has failed as a natural result. The next effort will be put forth upon the bull side. It looks as if the market would respond very freely. Stocks are not in plentiful supply at present. There are no reasons existing at present that will be likely to increase the supply for some time to come. Of course it is more than likely that some further efforts will be made to depress prices in order to give the room shorts an opportunity to cover. We doubt very much of the success of any such movement. No one can tell exactly when the powers that be will elect to move against the present short interest. If they do not do so, however, it will be a new precedent in Wall street. Each boom of the past four years has been preceded by just such a dull depressing period as the one existing at present. In each case those who made purchases at the time made good profits in so doing. We believe that the present buyers will find their purchases returning good profits. We strongly urge you to buy some stocks at the present time. If you have not an account at present why open one. If you do we trust you will utilize our organization for the medium through which you will transact your business. It is easier to buy into a dull market than into an active one. People oftimes hesitate in buying after a small advance and in so doing lose their opportunity.

Summary—Another day of more or less vacillating market without particular variation. Reports of a strike on the Union Pacific were current. Peoples Gas, which we recently spoke of as a favorable purchase, crept above 107. Metropolitan on the other hand fell from 138 to 136, recovered to 137 1-8. No news has been issued relative to the property. It seems to be unusually heavy. The Eries were very strong and heavily traded in. Sales 22,000. Money closed 3 per cent.

ENTIRELY OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms? The oil now brings $1.50 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over $100,000 in 60 days time on an investment of this kind; have wells making from 10 to 200 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their outlay. The oil business conducted on business principles, with honest management, is bound to succeed. You do not have to look farther than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce, they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. For particulars write THE BARGER CO., MARIETTA, OHIO.

The Greatest Mining Proposition of Modern Times

This company has demonstrated its ability to produce ore at a profit and pay regular monthly dividends under the most adverse circumstances. Only the highest grade could be shipped and cost upwards of $25 per ton. With a mill it can be treated at less than $3 per ton. The company has nearly enough money to pay for the mill, which they promise to have in operation by April 1st, 1903.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, is at hand, and in reply will say :

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, mica, schist, slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz, and quartzite, all bearing more or less. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the surface, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show good ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered $[illegible] and over per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings oftimes running as high as $25 per ton, and never less than $12.50. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities added, water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying enormous dividends when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

Price is now 25 cents a share, and we offer 50,000 shares at this price, but it may be advanced by January 1st, 1903, to 50 cents a share.

BUY ! WHY ?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work ; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont ;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada ; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time ;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop ; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality ;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE ; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

Make remittances and inquiries direct to

An accident occurred at the dam at the foot of London street, at about two o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police Court

Three cases came before the Magistrate at the Police Court yesterday. A boy charged with assaulting a woman with snowballs was discharged after a severe reprimand by the magistrate. An Indian from Scugog, who was charged with being drunk and disorderly, was discharged with a warning. A man who was accused of a breach of the bylaw by carrying night soil through the streets was fined two dollars.

A slight breakdown at the power house last evening placed the town in darkness for a short while, causing some inconvenience to business houses.

A REBUILT LAWYER

Food That Put Him Right

It is easy to correct the bad effect of wrong eating if one will give it a little thought. Scientific food is just as pleasant to the palate, and in the case of Grape-Nuts, is more delicious than improper food and it makes a world of difference in health and spirits.

"Some three months ago," writes Mr. B. L. Saunders, of Boston, Mass., "I suffered terribly with indigestion; all kinds of food distressed me; sometimes I had a feeling of suffocation about the heart, especially at night. My sleep was broken and I lost flesh rapidly.

I commenced using Grape-Nuts and the relief from indigestion was almost immediate, and in a short time entirely disappeared; my heart resumed its normal condition and I attribute the cure entirely to Grape-Nuts.

A well-known lawyer of this city told me that he suffered from excessive nervousness, and before entering the courtroom to try a case was obliged to resort to stimulants. I urged him to try Grape-Nuts which he did with almost marvelous results; he not only gained flesh, but the nervousness left and his former strength and confidence returned.

I am convinced that Grape-Nuts gives strength to the body and vigor to the brain. It is worthy of the highest praise and I will cheerfully answer all letters asking information in regard to the food." Remember Grape-Nuts food is most emphatically not a medicated food in any sense of the term; it is made of wheat and barley by scientific processes and the only reason it helps cure people is that they quit improper food and take a food in which the strong brain and nerve building elements of Nature's grains are preserved and presented to the digestive machinery in a form that can be quickly and easily digested.

Floor Sagged

At the auction sale which was conducted by Mr. John Haggart on the second floor of the building occupied by H. E. Bradley & Co., something happened that might have resulted in a serious calamity. The floor suddenly sagged in the middle, and there was the danger of the floor giving way. As no alarm was given the place was cleared, without the people in attendance knowing how near they were to danger.

Offertories will be taken in aid of the Diocesan missions.

Billets for Delegates

The committee who have charge of the arrangements for the Y.M.C.A. Convention report that as yet only 85 billets have been secured for delegates. As there will be more than double that number to provide for, it is earnestly hoped that support will not be lacking in this respect when such an important gathering is to take place. Persons willing to entertain one or more delegates are asked to report at once at the Y.M.C.A. building.

Strange Discovery

The Provincial Auditor has just issued his report and it is no doubt a very interesting pamphlet and contains many peculiar items. One in particular is very strange. During his jaunts about the country he discovered one municipality that had a surplus of $7,500, which the treasurer could in no way account for. The name of the fortunate municipality is not mentioned, but we can assure our readers that it is not the town of Peterborough.

A Good Idea

The merchants of Kingston, who for many years have given unlimited credit to customers, at least a few of them, have decided to adopt the cash system. The idea is the proper one and should be adopted by every business man in the country. No merchant can afford to give out goods and then await the pleasure of the purchaser to pay. No more than thirty days should be asked or given any class of buyer. Such a system would make better times.

Mr. Rogers' Lecture

The Montreal Star says:— "On Friday evening, Mr. R. B. Rogers, chief engineer of the Trent Canal will deliver a lecture in the course for teachers, upon the Waterways of Canada, with special reference to the Trent Canal. This lecture will be illustrated by a large number of lantern slides especially prepared for the purpose. The great importance of water transportation in the present commercial development of Canada, and the authoritative position which the lecturer holds, should secure a large attendance. Tickets will not be required, but the doors will close at a quarter past eight as usual.

Cobourg Wants Them

Cobourg Post: — Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, of Peterborough, who recently asked exemption from taxation, and were refused by the votes of the people have expressed a willingness to leave that town and locate elsewhere. We, understand the above firm conduct a pretty large concern and would be a very acceptable institution in our town. Cobourg merchants and citizens have been gilt edged patrons of the above firm, and if they decide to move Cobourg would be as good a place as any to locate in.

Many Deer Were Killed

The fall of 1902 was a severe season on the deer of Ontario's northern woods. There were in all 6,165 deer-hunting permits issued, an increase of 75 over 1901. Non-residents secured 300 permits, double the previous year, while 160 persons were given permission to hunt moose. Of those given permits 2,681 were settlers. The Canadian Express Company carried 2,366 deer, weighing 248,000 pounds, while the Dominion Express Company carried 340 deer. In addition thousands of animals were killed and driven away in sleighs by the settlers, and of these there is no record.

—Norwood pays the following munificient (?) salaries to village officers:—Treasurer $25, Solicitor $10, Assessor $15, Collector $40, Sanitary Inspector $20, Constable $64. The constable has to be on duty from 7 p.m. till 11 p.m. every night.

—Port Hope Guide.—Mr. R. Winch, Peterborough, was in the neighborhood of Gore's Landing the latter part of last week to learn the feeling of the farmers in this district with regard to the production of sugar beets to supply a sugar factory at Peterborough, the erection of which is being contemplated providing a sufficient supply of the roots can be secured. This industry is a growing one and should meet with approval.

A Belleville school teacher strapped a bad pupil into submission, and now the father is raising a row over it. We are glad to see that the School Board stands by the teacher. The chances are that the father is sowing a crop of dragon's teeth. Better to have taken the bad boy and applied any further persuasion necessary to make him offer the teacher a proper apology for his conduct. Many a man grows to thank his parents for compelling due respect and obedience to preceptors. The boy who gets the notion that his father backs him in treating his teachers with contempt is likely to occupy a prison cell in later days.

When the life of Mrs. Ruff was hanging in the balance she used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and was restored to health. Her experience made her the firm friend of the medicine that cured her.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has no equal in its cures of womanly disease. It establishes regularity, dries the drains that weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"Five years ago when my life was hanging in the balance, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was brought to my home," writes Mrs. Caroline Ruff, Director of German Orphan's Home, residing at 339 Rowena Street, Detroit, Mich. "I took it, and it won me back to health. Ever since that time, I have been its firm friend. We frequently have mothers come to our 'Home' who are suffering with uterine troubles, inflammation, tumors and ulcerations. Our great remedy for a female trouble is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and we have found nothing so far which would so quickly cure the disease, relieve inflammation and stop pains. It is a good friend to women."

THE COUNTY COUNCIL

North Monaghan Deputation Gives a Hearing on Wednesday

They Want a Bridge—Also Deputation From Smith re Condition of Roads

A deputation from North Monaghan was then given a hearing. They came about a bridge condemned by the County Engineer, as being unsafe. He said that the sum of $100 had been granted, but had not been claimed, as the expense would be greater than that amount. The bridge, he said, was on the main road in the Township of Monaghan, and that there were in that Township 23 bridges to be kept up.

Mr. Brown said the township was a small one, lying just outside of Peterborough, and that there was a great deal of traffic in the district. The bridge had been closed and patched up, but it must now be rebuilt, but to do that the small township would incur a heavy debt.

Mr. Morrow said he was one who was appointed to view the bridge a short time ago. The bridge was an absolute necessity.

Mr. Bradburn said the bridge was a necessity to Peterborough and must be rebuilt. The cost of the bridge would be about $700.

Mr. Fowler said he could assure the councillors that the bridge was a necessity.

Mr. Shaw moved that the matter be referred to the Roads and Bridges committee.

A deputation from the Township of Smith was then given a hearing.

Mr. Elliott was the first speaker. He said that a certain road up a hill in that township was in a deplorable condition. A great amount of cheese was shipped over this hill and several accidents had occurred. He thought that $300 would mend matters.

Mr. Scott said that he knew the road very well, and the worst part was the aforesaid hill, which was impassible for heavy vehicles, traction engines, etc., to traverse it.

Mr. Hunter moved that it be referred to the Roads and Bridges committee.

The council then adjourned to take up committee work.

"FOR ALL CATARRHAL COMPLAINTS

Pe-ru-na is Most Excellent," Writes Congressman John L. Sheppard.

CONGRESSMAN JOHN L. SHEPPARD.

Congressman John L. Sheppard, Member of Congress from Texas, writes:

Gentlemen:—"I have used Peruna in my family and find it a most excellent remedy for all catarrhal complaints."—Congressman John L. Sheppard.

THERE are two things that the whole medical profession agree about concerning catarrh. The first is that catarrh is the most prevalent and omnipresent disease to which the people in the United States are subject. All classes of people have it. Those who stay in doors much and those who go outdoors much. Working classes have it and sedentary classes have it.

The doctor finds catarrh to be his constant and ever-present foe. It complicates nearly every disease he is called upon to treat.

The second thing about catarrh on which all doctors agree, is that it is difficult to cure it. Local remedies may give relief but they fail to cure permanently. Sprays or snuffs amount to little or nothing except to give temporary relief.

Catarrh is frequently located in internal organs which cannot be reached by any sort of local treatment. All this is known by every physician.

To devise some systemic internal remedy which would reach catarrh at its source, to eradicate it permanently from the system—this has been the desire of the medical profession for a long time. Forty years ago Dr. Hartman confronted this problem. He believed then that he had solved it. He still believes he has solved it. He cures thousands of people annually. During all those years Peruna has been the remedy upon which he has relied.

It was at first a private prescription, afterwards manufactured expressly for him in large quantities. This remedy, Peruna, is now to be found in every drug store and nearly every home in the land. It is the only reliable internal remedy ever devised to cure any case of catarrh, however long the case may have been standing.

A Case of Nasal Catarrh of Five Years' Standing Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Hon. Rudolph M. Patterson, a well-known lawyer, of Chicago, Ill., writes

"I have been a sufferer from nasal catarrh for the past five years and at the earnest solicitation of a friend I tried Peruna and am glad to say it has afforded a complete cure. It is with pleasure I recommend it to others."—Rudolph M. Patterson.

A course of Peruna never fails to bring relief. There is no other remedy like Peruna. Its cures are prompt and permanent.

Mr. Camillus Senne, 257 West 129th street, New York, writes:

Mr. Camillus Senne.

"I have fully recovered from my catarrhal troubles. I suffered for three years with catarrh of the head, nose and throat. I tried all kinds of medicine without relief, but at last I have been cured by the wonderful remedy called Peruna.

"I read of Peruna in your almanac, and wrote you for advice, which I followed. After taking one and one-half bottles of Peruna I am entirely cured, and can recommend Peruna to anyone as the best and surest remedy for any catarrhal troubles."—Camillus Senne.

Hearing Lost by Catarrh—Restored by Peruna.

Mr. William Bauer, Burton, Texas, a Ginner and Miller, writes:

"Some years ago I lost the hearing in my left ear, and upon examination by a specialist, catarrh was decided to be the cause. I took a course of treatment and regained my hearing for a time but I soon lost it completely. I commenced to take Peruna according to directions and have taken eight bottles in all, and my hearing is completely restored, and I shall sing the praises of Peruna whenever an opportunity occurs.—Wm. Bauer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE TOGETHER IN MOROCCO

France Thinks Germany Should Move First Toward Peace Terms.

London, Jan. 31—The Automobile Show which opened at the Crystal Palace yesterday comprises the finest collection of machines and accessories ever exhibited in England. Altogether more than two hundred firms exhibiting, more than six hundred machines are on the stands, while in the grounds are 125 automobiles running for the benefit of intending purchasers. The French machines still keep the lead in style, finish, and decoration. There are no radical departures in evidence, and the freak machine had had its day.

Almost all the new models have four cylinder engines, some with cylinders in pairs; others with all four lined up. The general tendency in English machines, appears to be toward increasing the power and lightness of construction, combined with greater luxury of appointments and simplicity in mechanism. In this the British manufacturers are following the lead of French makers. One thing very noticeable is that English built automobiles are coming nearer the French in style and in finish of the body of the machine. The upholstering of some English-built automobiles compares very favorably with the best Rothschild work.

There is also to be a noted increase in the number of the types of the small medium powered, moderate-price machine

'Agree in Policy.

London, Jan. 31—The Times' correspondent at Tangier says that Mulai Arafa, the Sultan's uncle, is proceeding to Riff Coast. He will thence proceed to Ujda, near the Algerian frontier. His object is not so much to attack the rebels from the East as to prevent the anti-Christian movement from spreading into Algeria, since France has notified the Sultan that if the movement approaches Algeria she will take active measures, even to the extent of invading Moorish territory.

The identical policy of England and France in the present crisis is due to an exchange of views between Lord Lansdowne and Ambassador Cambdon last year. Among the more important questions discussed was the neutrality of Tangier and the southern shores of the Straits of Gibraltar. M. Cambon's visit to Tangier with the Spanish Duke of Tetuan last August is understood to have been due to a desire personally to assure himself whether the plan was feasible.

French Armaments.

London, Jan. 31—The Times' Paris correspondent says that the socialist advocacy of disarmament is not approved by the public. While it is recognized as desirable gradually to reduce the crushing burden of armaments, it is felt that France is the last country which ought to be expected to take the initiative, which should be left to those powers which are forcing the pace in the general increase of armaments and are giving frequent signs of aggressive tendencies. The propaganda of universal disarmament, it is felt in Paris, had better be undertaken by the German peace party which can bring influence to bear where it is most needed.

London, Jan. 31.—The Times correspondent at Montevideo says that at a convention arranged between Uruguay and Argentina, regarding the mutual importation of live cattle, a decree has been issued restricting the importation of cattle from infected or suspected countries in conformity with the requirements of the British Board of Trade.

EACH STONE OF EMPIRE CEMENTED BY BLOOD

The Colonial Secretary will Spend sunday at Paardeburg at Canadian Graves

Mr. Chamberlain spends Sunday at Paardeberg, being anxious to see the spot where the Canadians struck the blow that turned the tide of war. He said yesterday at Kimberley that each stone of the Empire is cemented by blood.

London, Feb. 1—The advance spring bookings to Canada reported by the various steamship lines indicate that the unprecedently large interest in the Dominion is quickening.

May Tax Colonial Sugars.

There is a growing feeling that the Brussels Sugar Convention entered into by England with several continental powers, binds her to tax imported colonial sugar when it is bounty-aided. Mr. Balfour says this is not the Government's intention, but certainly the powers interested maintain that England is bound. Obviously the Government entered the convention without realizing the consequences to the colonies.

A Canadian Cattle King.

I have interviewed F. H. Lingham, formerly a drover at Belleville, and now called the King of Portugese East Africa, with headquarters at Delagoa Bay. He is a millionaire timber merchant ship-owner and cattleman, and is under contract with the British Government to import 10,000 stock cattle into South Africa. He says he must buy Texas cattle, as the Boers think the Canadian cattle are not suitable. Mr. Lingham recently invested half a million dollars of his savings in Dominion securities, and says he hopes to retire to Canada shortly. He considers the Dominion the finest country in the world.

Military Ball.

The first annual ball of the King's Colonials took place last night at the Royal Palace Hotel, Kensington. The whole regiment was in uniform. There was also a large number of soldier guests from other corps, and the scene was brilliant. The leading colonials were present. The Prince of Wales sent his good wishes.

Oyster Trade Killed.

The Dean of Winchester recently died of typhoid from eating oysters, and an examination of the oyster beds of England has been followed by the result that every bed is reported to be polluted by sewerage. This has killed the oyster trade, representing millions of capital and the employment of thousands of fishermen.

The Sultan Challenged.

Hamara, the claimant to the Morocco throne, challenges the Sultan to come out of Fez, the Holy City, and fight a decisive battle for the throne. The Sultan will accept. His general is Kid Maclean, a Scotchman.

Against Foreign Sailors.

The Veronica tragedy inquiry has resulted so far in the prisoners being remanded till Feb. 6th. It is expected that one of the sailors will turn King's evidence, corroborating the black cook, Moses Thomas, who says all the killed were British. The case has again started the controversy over the employment of foreigners in British ships.

CRUSHED UNDER HIS ENGINE

Thos. Johnstone While Working Underneath It

New York, Feb. 1.—Dr. Geo. W. Crile, professor of applied surgery at the Cleveland, (O.), College of Physicians and Surgeons, has made a discovery which is meeting with the greatest success in the medical and surgical world. By means of his discovery he has been repeatedly able to bring to life dogs which had been dead as long as 15 minutes.

In the experiment which resulted in this discovery he put a dog under the influence of anaesthetics and then cut off the animal's head. The dog was given an intravenous infusion of "adrenalin," the product of glands located about the kidneys of animals. This was supplemented by artificial respiration and rhythmic pressure over the thorax. By these means life was maintained in the body 16 1-2 hours.

Another dog, also under the influence of anaesthetics, was put to death by suspension of respiration by means of a clamp on the windpipe. After the expiration of 15 minutes the veins were opened and the infusion of adrenalin injected, and the other means of resuscitation resorted to. Life returned to the dog, and within a short time it was running about. The animal is alive and as well as ever now.

Dr. W. E. Lower, who assisted Dr Crile, says that he sees no reason why the same results which attended the experiments with animals cannot be obtained with human subjects especially in cases where death has been caused by surgical or electrical shock or by suffocation.

GRAND MEETING

Indians from Three Reserves Meet at Chemong

The principal Indians of Hiawatha, Scugog and Chemong Reserves met in grand council at Chemong last week. About 500 were present.

A tea meeting and oyster supper, followed by an entertainment, was held on Thursday evening. The programme was a most enjoyable one.

At Council meetings held on Friday some Indian claims in Stony Lake were looked into, and it was resolved to send a deputation, consisting of the Chiefs and the secretaries of each Reserve to Ottawa, to lay their claims before the Hon. C. Sifton.

Another meeting was held in the evening concerning the camp meeting to be held during the first week in September. Peterborough had a visit from a number of the Indians on Saturday morning, for which the townspeople were unable to account.

THE LATE JUDGE MCDOUGALL

A High Tribute to a Worthy and Upright Man

The Toronto News, in referring to the demise of Judge McDougall, father of Mrs. (Dr.) Young, Peterborough, says:

"In Judge McDougall Toronto loses a public servant remarkable for fine ability and unquenchable industry, so fused, and touching public life at so many points, as to give him an altogether singular place in the community. The respect in which his probity, knowledge of law, acumen, and balanced judgment were held so profound as almost to be unconscious. He had for himself a place in the city outside of the exact and punctual discharge of his official duties, and was accepted as one of its forces making for exact performance of obligations and public rectitude. His capacity for work was amazing, and, unfortunately, he taxed his strength to the utmost. Nearly all of his services were rendered in purely official capacities, but he found time to give many years to the Public Library Board, where his talents as an administrator and his wide and sound information proved of exceptional value."

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The Trusts & Guarantee Company, Limited Annual Meeting

The shareholders of the Trusts & Guarantee Company, Limited, held their sixth annual meeting at the company's offices, 14 King street west, last week, with the President, Hon. J R. Stratton, in the chair.

The directors' report of the year's business was of a very gratifying character, showing a decidedly successful year. After a dividend of 6 per cent. per annum had been paid to the shareholders, and all expenses had been met, the sum of $24,294.22 was placed to the credit of the profit and loss account, making the total of this account $46,461.70. An evidence of the solidity of the company and of the sterling business methods of its management is the fact that during the year a large amount of voluntary payments were received from the holders of partially paid up stock. These payments amounted to $122,408.18. The report shows that every department of the company's business is steadily increasing, and there is every indication of prosperity.

In his address to the shareholders the President spoke very highly of the general efficiency of the officers and staff of the company.

Last year's Board of Directors was re-elected, and at a subsequent meeting the Hon J. R. Stratton was re-elected President, and C. Kloepfer and D. W. Karn Vice-Presidents.

VIOLENT ASSAULT UPON THE GERMANS

Writer in National Review Says They Menace World's Peace

BRITISH NATION ANXIOUS

People Want to See End of Venezuelan Affair—Hitch in the Negotiations

New York, Feb. 1.—The correspondent of the New York Tribune in London cables:

London, Feb. 1.—In the February number of the National Review appears "A Warning to the Cabinet," by "Elector," in which in an extremely violent assault upon Germany it is urged that a naval base on the east coast and a strong fleet in the North Sea are absolutely indispensable to Britain under any circumstances, and that Britain's foreign policy must work for the isolation of Germany as the most dangerous and aggressive enemy of the status quo in Europe.

The writer maintains that the German policy is menacing the whole world, and that Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Austria and Denmark are marked down by the pan-Germans for plunder and partition. In the same magazine Captain Mahan has an academic article on the Monroe Doctrine. The article is chiefly remarkable for the way in which Captain Mahan asserts that Japan, China and the Pacific generally cannot be included with Africa, the Levant and India, within the exclusive sphere of European interests.

The nation is anxiously awaiting the end of the Venezuelan affair. A temporary impasse seems to have been produced by the refusal of Britain, Germany and Italy to admit equality of treatment all round, but there will probably be a way out of the difficulty. No solution of this international problem can, however, remove the deep impression which was made when the policy of the British Foreign Office was first revealed to the country. The reputation of the Government has been seriously damaged, and a warm time consequently is in store for the Ministers when Parliament meets on February 17th.

KRUGER'S GRANDSON ENGAGED

Bought English Soldiers for Birthday Present and Threw Them in the Street

Mentone, Jan. 30 —Ex-President Kruger, of the Transvaal, who is living here, gave his ten-year-old grandson five francs to spend on his birthday. The boy went to a bazaar, and bought a box of tin soldiers. He afterwards found that they represented English soldiers, whereupon he screamed with rage, and threw them into the street, to the amazement of the people passing by.

FORCING HIS WIFE TO PRAY

Indiana Religious Fanatic is Fined in Police Court

Kokomo, Ind., Feb. 1.—John Uewdick was fined $40 in Mayor Bruse's court yesterday for severely whipping his wife because of her refusal to join him in prayer.

The woman had been roughly handled and presented a most woe-begone appearance. Two blackened eyes were the most prominent points in the spectacle.

Mrs. Uewdick claimed that she was willing to join him in prayer, but, from his vagaries was not always in position to tell when he would call on her for impromptu prayer. At the time of the assault she was making bread, had her hands in the dough, in fact, and expostulated with him on the grounds that her husband demanded some attention.

ROSS' MAJORITY IS GROWING NOW

Mr. R. R. Gamey, M.P.P, who was elected to the Legislature for the first time last May by the new constituency of Manitoulin, has announced that, instead of supporting Mr. Whitney, as it has been confidentially expected he would do, he would throughout the present Parliament give an independent support to the Ross Government. Mr. Gamey changes his allegiance because, he says, there is no doubt that the Government has another four years' lease of power and he believes he can do a great deal more for his constituency and for New Ontario generally, by supporting the Government, than by opposing it.

Ross' Safe Majority.

At the present moment, Mr. Ross has accordingly, a majority of 8 in the House. When Mr. Davis resigns in North York, it will be 7, but after the elections are held in North York, North Renfrew and Center Bruce, it may be 10. And, besides, there are still three petitions against Conservatives before the courts—in Lennox, South Oxford, and Sault Ste. Marie. There is also one against a Liberal—in East Middlesex.

Mr. Gamey's Reasons.

Mr. Gamey, in discussing his change of ground, said:

"I have for some time been seriously considering the matter you mention. I have thought it over very seriously, and have come to the conclusion that it would be in the best interests of my constituency, as well as New Ontario, generally, that any Government in power should have a strong enough support to carry on the work.

"I believe that with a strong following the Ross Government will carry out their policy of developing New Ontario. I am chiefly interested in that; in this respect Manitoulin is my politics, and I feel that I have a right to do the best that I can do for its welfare. And I feel that I can do this best by helping the Government with for I realize as well as anybody can what the development policy of the Ross Government has done, as well as what it is doing, and also what it is calculated to do for the advancement of New Ontario.

An Independent Support,

"My desire to see this policy carried out has led me to decide to give the Government an independent support. I will not be a staunch supporter, but will stand firmly by the Government on all questions where they need my help to carry out any good development policy. I want to see the Government kept in power by a fairly strong support, and will stand by them on all questions which may involve a vote of want of confidence in matters that I am satisfied with.

"I believe I can, by independently supporting the Government, induce them to introduce changes in mining laws, timber, and settler's regulations, and appointment of officials, that will be in the interests of New Ontario. I find that the members of the Legislature in the past have often erred through lack of knowledge, rather than intentionally in regard to New Ontario questions.

PETERBORO' DEFEATED BY ST.GEORGES

On Saturday Night, In an Exhibition Game

The St. George's Hockey Club, of Toronto sent down their senior team to do battle with the Peterborough intermediate seven on Saturday night, on the Brock street rink. A fair crowd of spectators turned out to witness the match, and were given a good exhibition of hockey. In the early part of the game things seemed to be going Peterborough's way as the rubber was kept in the vicinity of the St. George's net, but luck was not coming Peterborough's way and after a few minutes play the speedy forward line of the St. George's took the rubber up the ice and scored, Peterborough doing likewise about 3 minutes after, both teams scoring alternately until 3 goals had been notched for either team, the St. George's breaking the running by adding two more to their number, making the score at half time 5 to 3 in the visitors favor. In the next half both teams came out with a determination to pile up their scores, and were playing faster hockey than in the first half of the game, with the result that at the expiration of time the score stood 7 to 5 in St. George's favor, each team adding two goals to their score. The game was free from any rough play, although some heavy checking was indulged in. Cavanagh of the local team, was the first player to deck the fence, followed by Hynds, of the visitors, and Morgan of the home seven. Graham played on the forward line during the first half and Morgan during the remainder of the game.

The ice was not in very good shape as the skating in the afternoon and previous evening cut the ice considerably.

Lee, of the Juniors, who took the place of Glover, at point, played a good game, it being his first time out with the seniors. Crough in goal has improved considerably and stopped some pretty hot ones.

Mr. Jas. McCabe officiated as referee.

—The Winnipeg Vics and Montreal game on Saturday night resulted in a draw, 2—2.

Montreal, Jan. 30 —The first of the series for the Stanley Cup was played last night at the Arena, Montreal, the holders, defeating the Victorias of Winnipeg, the challengers, by 8 goals to 1. The visitors were outclassed on the slow, heavy ice, so the 5,000 spectators became disgusted, and most of them left before the match was finished.

On Thursday evening next there will be a matched race for the championship of the County of Peterborough, at the Brock street rink. The following are those who will try to win this year's championship:—Oliver Dusty, champion of the Midland District, and Walter Jackson, champion of the County of Peterborough, to be skated in one mile heats, two out of three, for a valuable trophy. Mr. W. E. Genno, of Copper Cliff, Ont., the champion barrel jumper, on skates, of the world, will give an exhibition.

Mr G. E. Whiten is responsible for an excellent photograph of the winning group in the Primary Series of the Peterborough bonspiel, which is on exhibition in the window of Ormond & Walsh's drug store, corner of George and Simcoe streets. The group is an excellent likeness of the winning team.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY ACT IN PERFECT HARMONY

No Anglo-German Friction, Matters of Detail Discussed at Washington

Calcutta, Jan. 31— It is stated that the Indian Government views with some anxiety the efforts that are being made to exploit the iron and steel resources of India. Three big schemes are now afoot. The Bengal Iron and Steel Company has erected great plants at Barakar and Tutte end their experts are examining the ores in Central India. Sir Ernest Cassel has sent an agent for a similar purpose to Jubbulpore, and Mr. Phipps, the secretary of the American Steel Corporation, is now in Calcutta, it is believed, with a view to looking over the same business. Lord Curzon, the Viceroy, favors the schemes, but high officials are afraid that their realization would mean the influx into India of large numbers of democratic workmen, whose presence would greatly complicate the problems of the Government.

Fast Canadian Steamship Line.

New York, Jan. 31—The Irish Times claims (according to the London correspondent of the Tribune) to have the most excellent authority for stating that the Canadian Government is absolutely determined to institute a fast steamship service as soon as possible, by which mails can be landed at Vancouver within eight days from London. The Dominion authorities have not yet fixed a port of call on this side of the Atlantic, and Ireland is pushing the claims of Blacksod Bay, which is nearer Halifax than any other port in the United Kingdom.

Killed by a Stray Bullet.

Toronto, Jan. 31 —The funeral of J. Lahmar, a Canadian, who was killed in St. Louis Mo., last Thursday, took place at Vellore, near Richmond Hill, yesterday from the home of his parents. Lahmar, who was a wholesale druggist in St. Louis, was standing on a corner, waiting for a street car, when a bullet from a revolver used by a bartender in a near-by saloon to defend himself from the attacks of a band of roughs, pierced his brain. Lahmar was divorced from his wife in the States and she afterwards married Dr. Heffner of Elmira, N.Y. Mrs. Heffernan was present at the funeral. A son from Chicago also attended the obsequies.

Opposing Forces Face to Face.

London, Jan. 31—The Times' correspondent at Tangier says that the rebels and the troops of the Sultan are reported facing each other on the banks of the Inawen River, a tributary of the Sebu, not far from Fez. In skirmishes that have occurred the advantage has been with the rebels. Optimism in Fez has given way to much anxiety, as the rebels are reported to outnumber the troops of the Sultan who is declared to be weary of the struggle, and anxious to leave Fez.

Sixteen of the Crew Missing.

London, Jan. 31 —The British steamer Croffoo, from Glasgow, for Buenos Ayres, was sunk off Rambay Island recently. Six of her crew were saved by the life boat, one man lost his life and sixteen are missing.

London, Jan. 30—The Times' Brussels correspondent says that permission to turn to South Africa has been granted to Wolmerans, the Boer delegate, as well as Fischer, his co-worker.

Madrid, Jan. 30 —A despatch to The Imparcial from Tangier announces that Bu Hamara, the pretender to the throne of Morocco, has been repulsed and is retreating rapidly.

Hamilton, Jan. 30—Thos. Johnstone, of Walton, a fireman on a freight from Sarnia to Toronto, yesterday alighted from his engine to fix some part of the machinery under it. While underneath, he signaled the engineer to go ahead a short distance in order that he might see how it worked. He fell beneath the wheels, and the engineer passed over the center of his body. When it was stopped the poor fellow was found to be terribly crushed, but was conscious, and suffering fearful agony. He was carried on the train to this city, and on the way he suffered terrible pain, and time and again begged of the driver to go slower and ease his agony. He died about half an hour after reaching the hospital.

A SENSATION AMONG THE GERMAN NOBILITY

Countess Substitutes a Child as Her Own--Wished to Gain an Estate

Berlin, Feb. 1—A sensation has been caused among the Polish and German nobility by the arrest of Countess Isabella Weisierska Kwilecki, wife of a great Polish magnate, on the charge of substituting a child as her own, for the purpose of securing her family an estate of 12,000 acres. The story reads like an old-fashioned romance. The incidents were first made public in 1896 when the Countess claimed that she had borne a male child. She was then fifty years old, and had not borne a child for seventeen years. The remarkable, though not impossible, occurrence excited the suspicion of Count Mirjislaw Kwilecki, a member of the Upper House of the Prussian Diet, and the head of a collateral branch of the family, which, in the event of the Countess and her husband dying without a son, would have inherited the estate. When the child was four years old, Count Mirjaslaw thought he had obtained sufficient evidence to prove the substitution. He brought a civil action to set aside the boy's rights, and lost the case. This was two years ago. He continued to gather evidence which is now abundant enough to have induced the police to arrest the Countess, the charge against her being substitution for the sake of gain, to which a penalty of ten years' penal servitude attaches. The trial will take place in Berlin. Two hundred witnesses have been supoenaed. Both branches of the family have many friends in exalted circles, and the case has excited great excitement among them.

Opposed to Subsidies.

Berlin, Feb. 1—Herr Ballin, director of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, in an interview, said he regretted that Great Britain had subsidized the Cunard Line, not because he feared competition, but because of the bad example. The experiences of Italy and France had shown the deadening effect of subventions on the shipping industry. He had resolved to do his utmost to prevent Germany from granting them. Great Britain, he added, had practically presented the Cunard Line with new boats. Their consumption of coal would be enormous, and he did not believe that they would ever successfully compete with the shipping combination. He was convinced that shipping prospered best in independence.

Lunched With the King.

London, Feb. 1— Mr. Henry White, the American Charge d'Affaires, took luncheon recently with the King and Queen, as the guests of Earl Carrington, the Lord Great Chamberlain, at High Wycombe. When, according to custom, the list of guests was submitted to the King he made a special request that Mr. White's name be added.

Riot at Amsterdam.

Amsterdam, February 1.—The striking railway men and dock laborers yesterday attacked a party of free laborers. A fight with knives and clubs followed. Several of the combatants were so seriously injured that it was necessary to take them to the hospital. A strong force of infantry and marines is now helping the police to maintain order. The strike threatens to hinder shipping. Outward bound vessels have hitherto obtained their cargoes, but the strikers refuse to discharge the vessels arriving. It is feared that passenger traffic may be stopped.

FOUND DEAD IN BED BLEW OUT THE GAS

Montreal, Jan. 30.—A pretty French-Canadian country girl is dead at the General Hospital, and a married lady friend is dying, presumably because they blew out the gas.

The came from St. Lin yesterday, in good health and spirits, bent on having a pleasant visit to Montreal. They called at the house of their Montreal friends at 761 St. Dominique street, and after spending the evening chatting, retired to their room, which was lighted by gas.

This morning after the lady of the house where they were visiting had been up some time she noticed an awful smell of gas from the direction of the room where her visitors were sleeping. The suspicion that something was very wrong immediately crossed her mind, and rushing up to and entering it, she found her fears realized, the room was full of gas, and the bodies of her two friends apparently lifeless upon the bed.

Help was immediately summoned and the General Hospital ambulance called for, but all the ambulance doctor could do was to testify that the young girl was dead, and that her friend was, in probability, beyond any help.

The young girl's name is Clarine Dufeau, and that of the older lady Mrs. Husler.

An inquest will be held by Coroner McMahon, who has been notified by the the authorities of the General Hospital.

Our Commonest Cause of Headache

Perhaps the general cause of headache and pain across the eyes is nasal catarrh. The simplest cure is to inhale the medicated vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and air passage of the throat, lungs and nose. It kills myriads of germs at every breath, clears away mucous discharges, preserves and heals the membrane. Catarrhozone is just a splendid remedy for headache, and its action is certain and unfailing in diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Catarrh. A trial will convince the most sceptical that Catarrhozone is all right. Large size, $1.00; trial size 25c. Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL

The Matter of a House of Refuge Taken up on Friday

Reports of Committees—Special Beet Sugar Beet Committee Appointed by the Council

The County Council went into session Friday morning at 11.30, with Warden Crowe in the chair, and the Councillors all present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

BEET SUGAR COMMITTEE.

Mr. Fitzgerald presented the following report of the special committee appointed to accompany the deputation to Berlin re sugar beets:

The committee appointed at the last January session of this council to ascertain the prospect of securing in this county a beet sugar factory and to act if desirable in co-operation with any other committee, beg leave to report:

That they were requested to unite with a deputation of the council of the Town of Peterborough and with the provisional directors of a company formed for the above purpose in arranging a visit to the beet sugar factory at Berlin, and after obtaining the approval of the Warden, an inspection of the factory, by the members of this council, of the town council, and of others interested in providing such an industry, was arranged for the 27th day of November last.

The deputation was received by the manager of the company and Mr. Shuttleworth, provincial analyst, also the Mayor of the town, and the members of the County Council, who very kindly showed the deputation through the factory, explaining the whole process very fully and furnishing the deputation with a good deal of information.

A full account of the process of manufacture, etc., was published in the newspapers at the time, and it is not necessary to go at all fully into detail.

The committee, however, desire to emphasize the following points of which their visit convinced them:

1.—The article produced of of an excellent quality and meets with a ready sale.

2.—Several millions of dollars are at present sent out of the Dominion in purchase of sugar, and such industries tend to retain money in circulation among the people of the country.

3.—The directors appeared well satisfied with the result of their venture, and under proper management, a factory at Peterborough should become a permanent industry.

4.—The farmers who had furnished beets to the factory and who were consulted by the members of the deputation as a rule expressed themselves as very well satisfied with the results and stated they intended to take additional acreage this year. The few who complained were those who had undertaken too much, and your committee concluded that a farmer undertaking from two to five acres would find his enterprise rewarded with a very profitable return for his labor.

On behalf of the committee.

G. W. FITZGERALD.

On motion of Mr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Peck, the report was adopted.

Mr. Hunter spoke on the report, pointing out the value of the beet sugar industry as he had seen it in the west and dwelt upon the many advantages existing in Peterborough and vicinity for such an industry.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

On motion a deputation from the Horticultural Society was heard.

Mr. Dumble, was the first speaker, and he dwelt upon the unity of interests existing between the County and Town of Peterborough. One should co-operate with the other, he said, looking to advancement along the lines of business and the good condition of those institutions which were so important for the good standing and credit of the town and county. Mr. Dumble said he represented the Horticultural Society and made request for a grant of $100 towards the maintenance of parks. It was very desirable that these should be maintained in proper condition, and the town council was undoubtedly willing to do their part in contributing towards this object.

Mr. Dumble spoke in favor of the beet sugar industry and said it should be supported by the town and county.

Mr. W. H. Hill was next heard. He congratulated Warden Crowe upon his appointment and expressed his assurance that the position would be marked by the tact, and good judgment so characteristic of that gentleman. Mr. Hill brought before the council the desirability of a grant being made to the Horticultural Society.

Mr. Shaw moved, and Mr. Menague seconded, that the matter be referred to the Finance committee.—Carried.

JOINT COMMITTEE.

Mr. Johnston on motion presented the following report of the Joint committee:

To the Council of the County of Peterborough:

1. That the matter complained of by the ratepayers of School Section No. 11 of Otonabee be referred to the June session of this council, as your committee are of the opinion that the proper course has not been pursued by the parties concerned to warrant this council to take any action in the matter at present, and that the County School Inspector be requested to write to the parties concerned in the matter to try to amicably adjust their difficulties.

2. That no action be taken in reference to the appointing of delegates on the meeting of the Trustees' Association.

3. That the result of the Public School Inspector be received.

HAD DYSPEPSIA FOR FOUR YEARS.

Lived for Months on a Light Milk Diet--Became So Thin That Her Friends Feared Consumption.

Then Miss James, of Montreal, Was Induced to Try Powley's Liquified Ozone--From the Very First She Began to Feel Relief.

Now She is Completely Cured—Eats Any Kind of Food--Has No Pain and Her Digestion Is Perfect --Is Well and Strong and Looks Like a Different Person.

MISS E. J. JAMES.

For over four years I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia and indigestion. For months at a time I was forced to live on a light milk diet, and I was a mere skeleton. My friends told me I was going into consumption, I was so thin. I tried all kinds of medicines recommended for dyspepsia, but got no relief. I was finally induced to try Powley's Liquified Ozone, and from the first I began to feel relief. I continued taking it until I had used two large bottles, and I am happy to say I am completely cured. I can now eat any kind of food and I have no distress or pain in my stomach, and my digestion is perfect. I am well and strong and look like a different person, and I know it is due to your wonderful Ozone. I cheerfully recommend it to all suffering from indigestion, and I know it will cure. I would not be without Ozone, as I believe it to be the best remedy known for dyspepsia.

OBJECTS OF THE COMPANY

The Manitoba Cement Company has secured incorporation for the purpose of manufacturing a high-grade Portland Cement. It owns one of the most valuable cement deposits in Canada, located south of Morden, S ½ Sec. 4, Tp. 1, Rge. 6 west. The raw material has been thoroughly analyzed by the highest authorities on cement and pronounced by them suitable for the manufacture of a superior quality of Portland Cement.

When the plant shall have been completed the Company will own material sufficient for at least 200,000,000 barrels of cement, and a mill capable of converting this material into cement of the highest grade, and by reason of its position and open market in the West, can without question manufacture and market its product at a maximum profit.

USES OF CEMENT

Among others, Portland Cement Concrete may be used with advantage for the following purposes:—Bridge Piers, Foundations, Chimney Stacks, Sewers, Canals, Sidewalks, etc., for which it is more lasting and much cheaper than stone or brick. The demand for Portland Cement is rapidly increasing in the West, where building stone is scarce, and by the time it can be put in a 1,000 bbl. mill will not nearly meet the demand. All cement used in Manitoba is at present shipped from Ontario, the freight being $1.20 per bbl. The Manitoba Cement Company will, therefore, have practically no competition in supplying Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

PROBABLE RESULTS TO SHAREHOLDERS

The following statement of probable results to be secured is based on a very conservative estimate of cost and selling price:

Average selling price per bbl at factory.......$2.25
Cost per bbl., incl. office and general expenses.. 1.20
Profit per bbl.................................$1.05
Annual output, 300,000 barrels

Gross Annual Profit.....................$315,000
Sinking Fund..................$20,000
Repairs and depreciations..... 50,000 70,000
Total annual profit for surplus and dividends..........................$245,000

N.B.—The present wholesale selling price of cement in Winnipeg is $4.00 per bbl.

THE PLANT

The Manitoba Cement Co. will have associated with it a staff of the most competent, practical and thoroughly experienced engineers, who have superintended and designed the construction of some of the largest and most successful mills in Canada, United States and Europe.

The proposed plant of the Manitoba Cement Co, will have a daily capacity of 1,000 barrels of cement and will be the first cement mill in the West to use the latest and improved Rotary Kiln Process, which represents the most advanced ideas in cement manufacture. The buildings will be constructed of brick, cement and steel, and will be fire-proof throughout. The entire plant will be electrically driven by the direct current system.

The stock is now offered to the public at par in shares of $5.00 each, 25 per cent. payable with the application for stock, the balance to be called by the Directors, as required. Such calls not to exceed 25 per cent. of the amount subscribed per month. Applications for stock should be addressed to the Company's Fiscal Agents, J. F. H. BUY MAY CORN NOW!

The letters that follow speak for themselves, and should prove that our judgment, while not infallible, is to be depended upon.

Last October, when December Corn was selling around 43 1-2 cents we urged all our customers to buy. Those who followed our advice and kept their trades in force made enormous profits.

We now urge the purchase of MAY CORN. MAY CORN is selling around 43 1-2 cents, and we believe that a purchase of this Cereal NOW will earn as great profits for the purchaser as did December Corn.

Read the following letters carefully, then send for our FREE BOOKLET giving reasons for our advice to buy MAY CORN.

Assistant Superintendent Fifth Division.
Cincinnati, Ohio, Dec. 6th, 1902
Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 3rd inst., enclosing check for my balance, $125.00, and for my friend Chesley of $61.56, which I have turned over to him. This is a very handsome profit on less than a month's transactions, on $100.00 investment in corn.

I appreciate your kindness very much, indeed, in closing the account so promptly following my request to do so.

Very truly yours,
HARRY E. FIRST.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I have received your check for $112.50, amount I made by investing $25.00 in December corn and holding it about twenty days.

Thanking you for your good judgment in buying December corn at low price for me, and selling it at the very highest price, I remain yours very respectfully,
H. S. DOWNS.

Montreal, Can., Dec. 3rd., 1903.
Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—Your favor of the 29th ult., with enclosure, came to hand yesterday, but I was so busy that I could not find time to reply to same until today.

I note your remarks regarding December corn, that you sold my holding, ... invested the same, with profits, in May corn, which under the circumstances, was and is satisfactory.

I also note your remarks regarding May corn, and leave you the handling of same, as you may think best and most profitable.

Awaiting your further favors, I remain yours truly,
W. H. LOVE.

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 3rd, 1902.
Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
214-222 Rialto Building,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—I received two letters from you today, which inform me that you have, according to my instructions, sold my holdings in December corn and bought 2,250 bushels of May corn at 43 cents, on a margin of 2 cents. This means a profit of $31.88 in fifteen days on an investment of $25.00, which, I must say, is very satisfactory to me, as it is my first venture in margins in grain or any other like investment.

Kindly continue to re-invest as your judgment dictates. I am satisfied to have you make the investment earn what it can.

Again thanking you, I am

I am well pleased over your action in the above deal, and hope to see you soon and express my thanks to you in person.

St. Louis, Mo.:

My Dear Major,— You are a daisy. Yours of the 21st, with account of sale and purchase, almost took away my breath, $92.19 and $67.00 in such a short time on the small investment is almost beyond comprehension.

Thanks to your grand success in dealing with the market, I now see my way out to pay a debt of honor I have been wanting to pay for a long time.

Please remit about $50 by American Express to Dayton, Ohio, and apply the rest due to me to more December or May corn, as your good, and almost infallible judgment may decide. I see from your purchase order that you have already bought 5,000 bushels of corn (May market.)

Thanking you for your kindness and hailing you as my benefactor, I am.
Most truly yours,
G. J. REICHE.

We told the public this last Spring about September and December Corn. We tell them the same thing now: BUY MAY CORN. Common sense and your own sound business judgment must tell you that May corn, bought now, will make for you enormous profits within the next sixty days. May corn will, we believe, reach a price higher than it has touched in twenty years for this option. We respectfully submit the following digest of a few of our customers' trades in December Corn. The Affidavit as to the correctness of these statements is made by our Assistant Auditor, Mr. W. Arthur Clemes. What we did for our customers in DECEMBER Corn may be duplicated many times over by a purchase of MAY Corn at its present low price.

I am very well pleased with your manipulation of my holdings, and can find absolutely no cause for complaint. Gentlemen,—Yours of the 3rd, with check for $25.00 enclosed, was received today, and I want to say to you that I was agreeably surprised to receive it. I am more than pleased with your treatment of my investment. I have shown the check and your letter to my friends and told them if they had any idea of investing to place their money in your hands. My writing to you in the first place was an accident.

I assure you that I shall take great pleasure in recommending your firm for honest, upright dealing in every way. I trust that the investment you have made me will be one-half as successful as the one just settled.

Again thanking you for your kindness in the transaction, and if nothing happens after the holidays you may expect to hear from me, together with some of my friends.

The investment which you have made in May corn is in keeping with my advices to use your own judgment about this investment.

I hope the investment in May corn will be profitable. Yours truly,

With thanks again, I am,

Watertown, N.Y., Dec. 5th, 1902.
Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Yours of Dec. 3rd, enclosing draft for $75.64, received, for which accept my sincere thanks. I wrote to you last night asking reason for your delay in sending same, but received yours this noon.

I feel that you did finely with my last investment of $25.00, and if we had understood each other better on my first, I can see where your handling would have made a few hundred on it, which I think is sufficient to prove to any one that your firm is sound and able.

I thank you again, and hope to be able to help you to more customers, and, may be, myself dabble again soon.

Yours sincerely,

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,— I am in receipt of your valued favor of the 4th and acknowledge receipt of check for $50.00, profits on December corn holdings. Also confirmation of purchase of May. Thank you very much for same. Thought one time I saw larger profits coming my way, but feel satisfied as it is, and am confident there will be something in May corn after a time. Protect it as you did my last December holdings, and I will remit margin, if necessary. When it goes up a fair gain, sell and remit whole amount.

Respectfully,
FRANCIS L. GREEN.

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Gentlemen,—Your valued favors of Nov. 24th and 25th came to me today, and I assure you that I thank you for them. You have convinced me that May corn is a very desirable purchase, and I wish that I had had more of it.

That you know what you are doing, as well as you know the future of corn goes without saying, and I am glad that I am tied up to your house, and before we are through I shall try to turn all the business towards you that I can, and I hope soon to make my own personal investments thousands instead of hundreds.

With best wishes, I am,
Yours cordially,
GEO. S. SILSBY.

Arapaho, Okla., Nov. 21st, 1902.
Mr. H. C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your letter notifying me of the sale of my December corn, received; and to find I had actually doubled my money to a penny in about five days, you cannot imagine my surprise. That beats our western ways of making money. Here interest runs from 12 to 24 per cent, but that is not in it with December corn.

You must have misunderstood my letter ordering immediate sale—I meant to say, sell latter part of November, 28th or 29th, to avoid any delivery, and to rebuy December 2nd or 3rd to sell about December 28th. I am not in a financial condition to invest more now, but will likely invest in May corn more heavily in a short time. Use the original purchase together with the profits, to best advantage, using your best judgment, but avoid delivery.

Should I be able to deal heavier, I shall risk your judgment in the matter.

Trusting that good luck may continue with us, I am very truly yours.

Mr. Hugh C. Dennis,
St. Louis, Mo.:

Dear Sir,—Your favors dated December 12th and 16th were duly received including check for [illegible]. I am very glad to state that the return I had for [illegible] invested was $222; a pretty fair amount for one month's outlay.

As I already took the liberty of writing you I will take great pleasure in sending you as soon as I possibly can, all the funds at my disposition.

In the meantime I am explaining your excellent method of doing business to my friends, and I am sure that they, as well, will give you a trial.

If it is not too much trouble for you I would be very much obliged if you would keep me informed about the movements of the market.

Giving you my best thanks for the careful and speedy attendance you have given my interests, I am,
Very respectfully,

Gentlemen,—Your letter and check of the 24th received a few days ago. Am well pleased with the way you handled my business for me, for the profit I received from that little amount I invested with you far exceeded my most sanguine expectations.

Fitchburg, Mass., Dec. 2, 1902.
Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,
St. Louis Mo.:

Dear Sirs,—I am in receipt of your letter dated Nov. 29th, which more than pleased me. I was surprised at such profits in a month, and I am satisfied with that May corn investment. If I am right, I have to my credit 2,250 bushels of May corn. I leave the whole matter in your hands, and make as much as you can out of it; what you do will suit me.

I thank you for what you have done for me, and I hope by the first of next May I will be able to buy 2,500 bushels of July corn. Yours truly,

Rialto Grain & Securities Co.,

Dear Sirs,—Yours of Nov. 24th to hand containing cheque for $77.32, leaving two-cent margin on 1,500 May corn, which makes nearly 400 per cent. on investment of $25.00 on Nov. 7th.

Hope you will make out on the May corn as well. Respectfully yours,
J. A. WILSON.

P.S.—Excuse delay, as I wrote and forgot to mail same.

Dear Sir,—Your favor of 29th ult., advising me of the closing out of the small deal I have made with you, and the investment of proceeds in May corn has been received and is satisfactory. You did better than I expected. I have been through the West and observed the wonderful production through that country, so that I expected a decline in December corn.

Thanking you for your attention, I am,
Very truly yours,

STOCK MARKETS

MORE RELATIVE TO ATCHISON

New York, Jan. 31.—We had something to say about these shares in our letter of last night. We believe they are preparing for a jump of some magnitude and consequently promptly called your attention to the stock. Have you noted the strength of St. Louis and San Francisco shares the past week. Did it occur to you that what is going on in that stock is more than likely in the interest of the Atchison. Look at the geographical position of that company's lines upon the map of our country and you will see how closely they are affiliated with the Atchison. The system has been worked in unison with Atchison for years, and it now looks as if the larger road were going to swallow the smaller and forever weld it unto itself. We have given in these letters quite frequently as our opinion that Atchison will ultimately be an integral part of a system with through line from ocean to ocean. We believe the eastern end of such a combination will be the Pennsylvania Railroad. What is Pennsylvania authorities a doubling of its capitalization for? Loaded with such formidable grapes and cannister they are naturally not going out to shoot chipmunks or sparrows. It does not require a doubling of the Pennsylvania stock to come into Manhattan Island through tunnels and to build a palatial terminal. There is something greater behind the move. We expect to see Atchison very shortly sell at par. The large deals pending are the ammunition which is calculated by the great powers to be the future lever to bring the public later on tumbling into the market and to take their stocks off their hands at materially higher prices. The last people to buy in a boom thus started will as usual be stuck. Those who buy now will be the contingent to make the money. Stocks have been confidently held by the great powers for a long time. They certainly have the cards up their sleeve still unplayed. On these confidence is based. It causes them to hang on in a market drifting aimlessly, and being steadily hammered. They buy the stocks of tired holders, also the shares of the bears. An advancing market will attract more and more support as it continues to go up.

Summary—The market failed to pay any attention to an average bank statement. Stocks fluctuating for the day within a radius of 1-2 per cent. Considerable dealings took place in Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, and Erie, without any particular variations. Industrials were extremely quiet. Reserves increased $1,500,000. Loans increased $14,000,000. Money closed 2 per cent. Sales, 187,100.

A Concrete Discussion

At the last meeting of the Engineer Club of Toronto, with C. H. Rust, City Engineer, in the chair, there was a discussion on "Concrete Construction." Members of Ontario Society of Architects were also invited and there were about 60 in attendance. The following engineers and architects took part in the discussion: Willis Chipman, Beaumont Jarvis, J. W. Barrett, A. B. Aylesworth and J. Alexr. Culverwell. The "Canadian Contract Record of today says: "Mr. J. Alexr. Culverwell, of Peterborough, spoke of the use of concrete in the dams, locks, etc., of the Trent Canal, and of its use in the largest lift lock at Peterborough."

Choir Entertained

The Charlotte Street choir members were entertained on Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. Davies. The evening opened by a short business meeting, and a brief practice, after which supper was served. During the evening Mr. Davies, the President, in a short speech, took occasion to thank Miss B. Sanderson, who is leaving to go to Copper Cliff, for the excellent service she had rendered the choir. Miss Sanderson, in a fitting reply expressed her regret at leaving, and her appreciation of the kind words spoken. A hearty vote of thanks to the host and hostess closed a pleasant evening.

185 SUMMER ST., - BOSTON, MASS.

A Dividend Payer for the Past Five Years.

12 PER CENT GUARANTEED

Capital Stock, $500,000. Par, $1.00, full paid and non-assessable

Over eight thousand tons of $50.00 ore mined and smelted from this group of mines.

A limited number of shares of the stock of this Company now offered at seventy-five cents per share. This price will shortly be increased to par. Stock registered by the International Trust Company, Boston, who is also the transfer agent.

This Company has a small capital stock.

The International Electric Mining Company owns seven mines and milling plant.

The Brooklyn and New York mines of this Company lie north of and join the Victor and the Hoodlum—two rich mines that are now being worked by California parties. On the west lies the Electric Mining Company's mines. In these mines are millions of dollars' worth of rich ore in sight. On the south, adjoining the Berlin mine of this Company, is the Montazuma and Clipper. From the Montazuma over three million dollars has been taken within 60 feet of the grass roots.

This Company owns free and clear seven mines of twenty acres each, all containing rich ore, located in the Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. The Company has worked these mines for the past five years, and is now driving a tunnel to cut out a rich ledge about 800 feet from the surface. The Arabia mining district, in which these mines are located, is a lively district—a great many men being employed there. The tunnel now being driven on the Brooklyn mine has about 300 feet already completed. When the tunnel cuts the main ledge, which has just been reached by the Victor tunnel about 600 feet, the Brooklyn will have about 800 feet stoping ground, which runs high in gold and silver, over $60.00 per ton.

The Company is offering for a short time a limited amount of stock for the enlargement of its plant and the working force at the mines and for the completion of the Brooklyn tunnel.

This Company has thousands of tons of rich ore in sight.

We are not making a lot of talk, because it is unnecessary. What the investor wants is dividends, which we have paid for the past five years. Now if you want a safe 12 per cent. investment, let us hear from you.

THE OLD COMSTOCK

A California mining paper has this to say: "Nevada, that grand old stamping ground of mushroom millionaires, who plucked enough wealth from her prolific fields to build mansions, banks, and big hotels in San Francisco, and palaces in Paris and London, is again astonishing the world by making more millionaires and by yielding millions in gold and silver from a new field which rivals the old Comstock lode in the days of its pristine splendor. Not only in Tonopah and Arabia districts, where within the past year nearly ten millions have been exposed, are operations active, but in every mining district in the Silver State are operations active, and Nevada will once more take her place among the big producers, the peer of any of them."

Dear Sir,—During the six months of October and November of this year I visited the mines of the International Electric Mining Company, situated in Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. I found the country remarkably mineralized; in fact, the possibilities of the country as a mineral producing country are yet unknown. For years it certainly has produced well. The work now being done in the Arabia and Trinity districts establishes the fact that they are fine producers.

I also found that there is a great deal of interest being taken in these properties, which have produced a great deal of wealth the past quarter of a century.

CAPITAL STOCK $300,000 Par Value $1.00

We are working this mine every day doing a great amount of development work which will enable us to commence regular shipping very soon. Our shaft is now 175 feet deep, with a streak of pay ore starting at the grass roots, the vein is over 3 feet wide at the bottom of shaft, and runs from $40.00 to $80.00 per ton, mostly gold. We are only three-quarters of a mile from railroad and have a well traveled wagon road from mine to depot. There are thirteen stamp mills at Black Hawk, three-quarters of a mile from this property. Our company is managed on conservative lines by practical mining men who understand the business and are familiar with this field of gold.

We have placed a small block of this stock on the market at 20 cents per share which will be worth $1.00 in a short time. Now is the time to buy.

REPORT BY EX-SUPERINTENDENT OF MINE

Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Co., Los Angeles, California.

Ballarat, Cal., Nov. 1st, 1902.

Gentlemen,—Your request for my opinion as to the "Santa Rosa" group of mines, and other claims in which you are interested in this territory, to hand, and in reply will say:

The "Santa Rosa" group, which is located southeast of Ballarat some three and a half miles, consists of twelve claims, equal to 240 acres. The ledge crops out more or less the full length of these claims, showing the same character and formation of work as where development work has been done. In most of the outcroppings it shows highly mineralized rock, with pyrites of iron, [illegible] slate, slate porphyry, gouge, quartz and quartzite, all bearing [illegible]. Where work has been done, it shows a very marked improvement in both quantity and quality of gold-bearing rock. Commencing with the outcrop, the ore shows much iron and copper stain. All mill tests show rich ore commencing with the surface; in fact, I milled for several days and recovered [illegible] every per ton, yet the milling process does not pay more than two-thirds of the value of the ore, the tailings still assaying as high as [illegible] per ton, and never less than [illegible]. To save the entire value of your ore it will be necessary to install either concentrators or a cyanide plant. From careful study and frequent examination of the surface of the ground, and down as far as has been opened below the surface, I am highly pleased with the property. It is certainly a fine property, and as good as any I have ever had the pleasure of examining. Considering your mill site, with tramway facilities, ample water, fuel, and cheapness of mining the ore, the Cecil R. will be capable of paying [illegible] when your capacity for milling is increased to what it ought to be.

Wishing you every success, I remain, Yours very truly,

(Signed) G. W. FLEMING,
Ex-Mine Supt. Cecil R. Gold Mining and Milling Company.

BUY! WHY? BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

Make remittances and inquiries direct to

Colonial Securities Company,
63 Wall Street, New York City.

Order now at ten cents and make monthly payments.

Trent Water Association

A meeting of the Trent Waterway Association will be held in the Peterborough Town Council Chamber on Monday, Feb. 9th, to commence at 3 o'clock. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance from all parts of the district.

Surrendered to Col. Hughes

Mr. W. J. De Jonghe, the former Boer Commandant, states that he was misunderstood by the interviewer in regard to the surrender in Bechuanaland. The 252 men who then quit fighting, surrendered to Col. Sam Hughes. Sir Charles Warren was at the time 125 miles away and knew nothing of the occurrence until the surrendered men were handed over to him.

Improvements at the Driving Park

The Peterborough Turf Club purpose putting the oval at the driving park into good condition, in order that different sports of different denominations may be played there. The only difficulty to be surmounted is that of getting to the driving park, etc. In this respect there is an opportunity for some capitalist to occupy a dual role of public benefactor and contractor.

For the Lumber Camps

Messrs. Alf. Garlick and W. Fowler are taking charge of a carload of horses, consigned to Mr. Geo. Gladman, the prominent Parry Sound lumberman, son of Mr. T. Gladman, town. They are a fine lot, three of the teams costing between $300 and $400 each. The caretakers of the shipment claim they were put to great inconvenience in Lindsay owing to the failure of the Grand Trunk people to send the car through promptly.

A Pledge Signing Campaign

"A political Prohibition Pledge," has been drafted by Mr. W. G. Fee, organizer for the Prohibitionists in the recent referendum campaign in West Toronto, to which it is proposed to obtain the signatures of electors. The plan adopted is to embark upon a pledge-signing campaign in the churches, canvassers being selected in each church to obtain signatures, pledging those who sign it not to vote for any candidate for the Commons or Legislature who refuses to give a pledge that he will vote for the largest measure of prohibition which it is in the power of the legislative body of which he is a member to enact.

Raging in Toronto

A virulent form of scarlet fever, similar to that which has existed in Peterborough is raging in Toronto. In this connection the Globe of Saturday says: Within the comparatively brief period of seven weeks, three children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brooker, 94 Lippincott street, have died from scarlet fever. Charles, aged 9 years, passed away on January 6, and eleven days later the death occurred of Edith, aged four years and six months. The third death took place Thursday afternoon, when Alfred aged six years and six months passed away.

ST. PAUL'S NEW MISSION

OPENING SERVICES YESTERDAY MORNING AND EVENING

Interesting and Instructive Discourses Delivered by Rev. J. A. Wilson and Rev Dr. Torrance

St. Paul's Mission, situated at the corner of Wolfe and Reid streets, was opened for service yesterday morning. Rev. J. A. Wilson conducted the service before a crowded congregation. The building in its completed state presents a most pleasing appearance, giving evidence of construction with a view to comfort and convenience that reflects great credit upon all parties concerned. The preacher chose as the subject of his discourse the later portion of the 6th verse of the 1st chapter of Joshua; "What Mean Ye by These Stories," and ably exemplified the natural feelings of exultation that mortal man experiences when the goal for which he has striven appears above the horizon. The noble Crusaders in their glorious mission to rescue the Holy land from the intruder were quoted as an example of what men fired with righteous enthusiasm and doubly armed with right and might, may by the Grace of God accomplish. Difficulties are but stepping stones to higher things, which when surmounted, present themselves sweeter and stronger for the effort spent in their accomplishment. The children of Israel, liberated from bondage, saw the promised land looming ahead, and knew that Jordan once crossed their days of weary travel were over, and the peace for which their hearts yearned would be blessed reality. Jordan was the difficulty! But Jordan was passed! The goal was reached, the result of their strivings accomplished. And they raised "Stones of Memorial" to mark their thankfulness The preacher remarked that the building which they now opened for praise, was a memorial of God's goodness to his people, that they might continue in the work of usefulness in his service.

It was an impressive address, upon a subject well chosen and delivered. Special collections were taken in aid of the building fund.

The Sabbath School and Bible Class were held in the afternoon, commencing at 3 o'clock, and at the evening service the sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

This evening, at 8 o'clock, there is to be a social evening, for which a pleasant program has been arranged.

Special collections will be taken at the door, and as the object is really a worthy one, it is hoped that those who avail themselves of the gathering will contribute liberally.

At the Opera

Notwithstanding strong counter-attractions in the town on Saturday evening, a vast audience assembled at the local opera house to witness the "Crimes of London," as perpetrated by the various members of R. W. Mark's combination. Familiarity in this instance, breeds nothing but admiration for the clever versatility of the various artists. In drama such as was presented on Saturday evening, the company have very little trouble to command the sympathies of their audience. The "Crimes of London," is essentially an English melodrama, full of thrilling experiences and "hair breadth escapes," which held the audience in a fever of excitement throughout the various acts. Once again we must record a triumph for Miss May B. Marks, in the part of Annie Meadows, afterwards known as Nan, the flower girl. Her acting was a piece of realism that stamps her an artist of more than ordinary merit. Will L. Stewart, too, is deserving of special commendation, for real clever work. Indeed, the whole cast was well selected, and the performance may be voted a genuine success.

New Insurance Agent

Mr. S. H. Mitchell, who is well known in connection with the Post Office, having been an employe therein for over nine years vacated his position on Saturday evening to accept the city agency of the Great West Life Insurance Co. Mr. Mitchell has a wide circle of friends, who will be pleased to learn of his advance in business life. The vacancy in the Great West occurred through Mr. H. G. Williamson, the local agent, having had his territory enlarged. Mr. Mitchell is undoubtedly well qualified to fill the position, and we trust he will have a prosperous future.

AT HALF MAST.

Sometimes we are greeted in the morning by flags at half-mast for some prominent official who yesterday was apparently in perfect health. When we inquire the ailment by which he was stricken it is not uncommon to be told "acute indigestion" or "stomach trouble."

It is time people learned that indigestion or any form of "stomach trouble" is not a thing to trifle with. The result may not be fatal, but there can be no condition of diseased stomach which does not carry with it physical loss and weakness.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures indigestion and other forms of disease affecting the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"Thanks to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Charles H. Gorman, of Lehighton, Pa. "It is the only medicine that has done me any good. I tried everything I could think of to cure indigestion, and found I was only throwing away money. Then I heard of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and tried a bottle of it, and to my joy found it was doing me good. I used six bottles of it, and am now cured. It is the best medicine on earth."

This grand remedy does its work in a thorough manner; it gives the health that is all health; the strength that is solid, substantial and lasting; not flabby fat, not false stimulus, but genuine, complete, renewed vitality and life force.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its consequences.

—The many friends of Warden Crowe will regret to learn that he is not in good health. On Saturday when the council adjourned he was feeling quite poorly. The Times joins in the general feeling of the public in hoping that he will speedily be restored to health and strength.

—Globe: "All sympathy is felt and expressed for Mrs. McDougall of Carlton Lodge, in the death of her husband, a warm friend of so many residents of Toronto. Miss Stella McDougall was to have been one of the four bridesmaids at Miss Osler's wedding. On the sad news being received Miss Cochrane took the place as bridesmaid. In deference to the bereavement all thought of gaiety at Craigleigh was postponed at once." Miss MacDougall is well known in Peterborough, being a sister of Mrs. (Dr.) Young, Water street.

—The Times had a pleasant call on Saturday last from Ald. John C. Wells, of Winnipeg, who is spending a few days in town renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Wells is an old Peterborough boy. He left here 24 years ago, to make a home and a name for himself in the West. He has become one of Winnipeg's leading business men, and is as popular in the western metropolis now as he was in Peterborough when a boy, nearly a quarter of a century ago. Mr. Wells leaves for his home in the west to-morrow.

Mr. Hume retires on account of ill health, but his son, Mr. R. Hume, will conduct the business for the new proprietors.

—Stockholders of the Lakefield Cement Company will take satisfaction out of reading the opinion of City Engineer Rust, of Toronto, published recently in the News that, although the cement factories had greatly enlarged their capacity they could not keep pace with the growth of concrete work, and the shortage, so noticeable during a portion of last year, would continue throughout the whole of this year." That put the recent article in the Monetary Times and Mail and Empire, warning the public against the danger of over-production of cement, in a bad light.

VOL 31 NO. 28 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO TUESDAY FEBRUARY 3 1903 PRICE TWO CENTS

TO REVOLUTIONIZE THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY

Invention of G. W. McMullen, will it is Said, Greatly Change It.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—The World says: George W. McMuller, ex-M.P., of Picton, is expected to accompany the excursion from Ontario and Victoria Counties to Berlin on Wednesday of this week. Mr. McMullen has perfected an invention for evaporating which is applicable to the beet sugar industry. The process drives the water out of the beet, reducing the weight 90 per cent., leaving only the sugar and dry pulp. This will effect a large saving in freight and will enable the farmers to assemble their beets at convenient points and have them treated there. The effect upon the industry will be to have the central refinery in operation continuously instead of, as at present, only in the winter. Dr. Wylie, the beet sugar expert of the United States Department of Agriculture; Prof. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, and others who have investigated it agree that it is the most important development that American genius has given to this great industry now being successfully established in Canada and the United States. With the establishment of the industry in Ontario County, and a factory at Whitby, under this system, there would be evaporating plants (which would compare in cost with the modern cheese factory), at, say, Bowmanville on the east, Port Perry and Lindsay on the north, and at a point most conveniently situated to serve Markham and Scarboro. Then outside of that radius there would be another chain of evaporating centres.

In order that the farmers and business men of this part of the province, who are interested in this enterprise, may have an opportunity of seeing the Berlin factory in operation, the Whitby Board of Trade has arranged an excursion from Lindsay and intermediate stations as far as Scarboro Junction at exceedingly low rates. From Lindsay the fare is $2.70 for adults and $1.35 for children, from Whitby $2.95 and $1.85. Among those expected to attend are the Minister of Agriculture, members of the Dominion Parliamnet, Ontario Legislature, Wardens and members of the Councils of Ontario and Victoria Counties and leading business men.

Elaborate preparations are being made at Berlin for the reception and entertainment of the visitors. The excursionists will leave Lindsay at 6.30 a.m. on the regular morning train, via Whitby, and from Toronto a special train will be run at 9.30, arriving at Berlin at 11 o'clock. Returning, the special will leave Berlin at 6 p.m., and run through to Lindsay. Tickets will be good to return by regular train on the following day. The committee will have tickets on the train. The factory is a revelation of the magnitude and importance of this great modern industry.

VENEZUELA PRESIDENT SCENTS A WORLD WAR

Castro Sounds the Defiant Note--Republic's Troops Defeated by the Insurgents

Prince Holkar Resigns—Hereditary Ruler of Indore Gives Way to His Son—Silver Coinage

Caracas, Feb. 2.—President Castro said to-day: "I cannot grasp the the Venezuelan conflict will be made a pretext for a world war. I have answered, however, the demand for preferential treatment, as follows: 'The Venezuelan Government desires equal treatment for every creditor nation; at the same time keeping in mind and respecting its previous diplomatic agreements and obligations.' Perhaps there will be no testament with Venezuela but war, from which I do not shrink. The last four years have been of an educational nature to Venezuela. We have concluded that if there is no honor among nations nor virtue in international agreements, we must defend ourselves, and to insure tranquility we must take possession of Trinidad and other adjacent places from which, with the consent of the unfriendly powers, filibustering expeditions have started, and have made Venezuela walter in blood. The Ban Righ, which sailed from England, and an expedition under the command of General Carlos Vidal, which sailed from Trinidad, landing arms two weeks ago at Higuerote, would cost England as much as the Alabma claims, if we had equal rights with the strong."

Willemstad, Curacao, Feb. 2.—President Castro's troops have met with defeat at the hands of the Venezuelan revolutionists. The battle took place forty miles south of Caracas.

London, Feb. 2.—The Times' correspondent at Indore, in Central India, says that the abdication of Prince Holkar, ruler of the State of Indore, on Saturday last, in favor of his son, Tikoji Rao, a bright lad of twelve years, is an event unprecedented in Anglo-Indian annals. On several occasions the paramount power has been compelled to depose native rulers, but never before has a feudatory prince of India renounced his throne on his own initative. At a durbar held in New Palace, and attended by British high officials, the Maharaja briefly alluded to the state of his health, and directed Munshi to read a set speech announcing his abdication, and earnestly exhorting his successor to be loyal to the British Empire, and to fulfill his moral and the religious duties. He then surrendered his seat, and tendered homage to his son. The young ruler proceeded to the old palace, where the religious ceremony attending the installation was performed. Prince Holkar displayed great dignity throughout. There exists unhappily an hereditary taint in the family, which, since the time of the Marquis of Ripon's viceroyalty, has caused the gravest concern to viceroys. But whatever have been his shortcomings as ruler of his own State, Prince Holkar has always been a loyal feudatory ruler, and entertained special veneration for the late Queen Victoria. Prince Holkar succeeded to the throne in 1886, the income of the State being £570,000 and its population 850,000.

London, Feb. 2.—The Times' financial editor, referring to President Roosevelt's recent message as to changes of the gold and silver standards sought by China and Mexico, says: "We assume that what is intended is to endeavor to ascertain whether China and Mexico can follow the example of India in fixing the rate of exchange of silver for gold by restricting the coinage of silver. We fear there is little chance of its being found possible to do anything of the kind in China, but there seems no reason why Mexico should not secure and advance a stable monetary system based on gold as the standard, with a limited coinage of silver, such as is now in force in France and India."

M. R., and the 10th Field hospital and the services rendered by these corps while in the field, including the third batallion, R. C. R., which relieved the Leinster regiment at Halifax. Of the total force of 7,368 that went to South Africa 224 died and 252 were wounded, making in all 476 casualties. The number of killed was 63. Thirty-one died of wounds, 127 succumbed to disease, one was accidentally drowned and two were reported missing and believed to be dead. Of the deaths from disease 96, or over 75 per cent, were due to fever.

THE PRIVELEGE OF AN EMPLOYER

INTERESTING LABOR CASE TRIED IN TORONTO

Discharged Workman Sues Alleged Slander; Jury Finds no Malice in World's Word

Toronto, Feb. 2—At the assizes the jury in the case of David McKever, suing J. B. Smith & Sons for $5,000 damages for alleged slander, have returned a verdict in favor of the defendants, with costs.

The case aroused great interest among labor men for it involved the dismissal of one of their number from the employ of the company named. McKever was one morning called into the office and told by William Smith that he had been tampering with his machine, and was discharged. The suit for slander was based on these words said to have been used by Wm. Smith: "I saw McKever tampering with the machine and that is a penitentiary offence" and a statement said to have been made by Robert Smith to Samuel Moore, organizer of the Woodworkers of America to the effect that his brother had seen McKever tampering with the machine.

Mr. Duvernet said that McKever belonged to the union, the members of which do not work after five o'clock. William Smith had seen him after his matching machine with a wrench, for the purpose, as he believed, of preventing a substitute from working it. A strike had resulted from McKever's discharge. Edward Chandler and Alfred Puterbaugh gave evidence, and the plaintiff himself swore that when accused of taking a bolt from his machine, to injure its usefulness, he had requested to see it, and had been refused by William Smith, with the words, "This is not the last you'll hear of this." During the month following his discharge he had made only $12. Later he earned from $10 to $18 a week. He did not know that his character had been injured by the Smiths' statements.

Justice Britton ruled that the remarks of the employers were "privileged," and there was no slander, and on the question of malice alone, the case was sent to the jury. Both counsel spoke strongly, and Justice Britton gave a very clear explanation of "absolute and qualified privilege." Malice he said, was defined to be ill-feeling aside from the circumstances.

Premier Haultain May Resign

Winnipeg, Feb. 1.—A despatch from Indian Head says Premier Haultain, of the Territorial Government, may resign to accept a judgeship, to be created in the west.

THE DOMINION CAN SUPPLY THE MEAT.

The Government Impresses Upon Britain Canada's Advantages in Filling Contract for Army in South Africa

London, Feb. 2.—Lord Strathcona is chairman of the committee of the association to promote an official enquiry into the security of the food supply just formed under the presidency of the Duke of Sutherland. The association's chief concern will be to insist on the importance of naval supremacy, and also the fullest official enquiry into the whole subject of Britain's food supply. The commission is most influential, and includes eight dukes, many M.P.'s, including Sir Gilbert Parker, and many admirals.

AFTER MEAT CONTRACT.

The High Commissioner's office is taking an active part in the movement to secure for the colonies a greater share of the South African army meat contracts, and in representations to the War Office a great point is made of the fact that Canada has direct steamship connection with South Africa and that Canada's shipping port, Montreal, has the readiest possible railway communication with the great centers of the Canadian meat traffic, namely, Toronto. The Canadian Government represents that Canada is prepared to fulfil any contract for fresh or frozen beef, and good results are anticipated.

THE LATEST NEWS IN SPORTING CIRCLES

Belleville Defeats Port Hope by 4 Goals to 1.

In the sporting page of the Toronto Star last night appears a cut of Mr. A. W McPherson, Vice-President of the O.R.F.U. and Secretary of the Peterborough Hockey Club. Mr. McPherson has been appointed to act as one of the members of the executive committee to look after the drafting of the new snap back system. The cut of Mr. Fred. Whitcroft, one of the forward line of the Peterborough seniors, also appears.

A Double Header.

A double-header hockey match will be played on the Brock street rink tonight when the "Cutie" will play Fenelon Falls in the T.V.L. game and the junior Peterboroughs will play T.C.S of Port Hope.

Belleville Wins.

The hockey match at Belleville last night to decide the winners of the district, was a great struggle for supremacy the contesting teams being the fast team of that place, and the Ontarios of Port Hope. The score at half-time was 1—0 in Belleville's favor and at the expiration of time 4—1 in their favor.

Barrie and Collingwood.

The game at Barrie last night between Barrie and Collingwood resulted in a win for Barrie by 3—2.

The Winnipeg Vics won their game from Montreal last night by a score of 2 to 0.

The approaching match for the skating championship of Peterborough which is to take place at the Brock street rink on Thursday evening is arousing considerable interest among lovers of the sport. A keen rivalry exists between the opposing skaters and whilst in some quarters Oliver Dusty is the favored competitor, his opponent, Walter Jackson, has a large number of backers. It is likely to prove a stiff contest, anyhow; and the visitors to the rink on Thursday will be provided with an excellent evenings entertainment.

The most remarkable score made in the O.H.A. during this or any other season was compiled by the Marlboros in their game with Niagara Falls at the Mutual street rink on Saturday, when they beat the visitors by a score of 28 goals to 6. As the game lasted 60 minutes, the local team scored a goal on an average of every 2 minutes of play. They outclassed their opponents in every particular, and surprised the hockey enthusiasts present by the excellence of their work, especially on the forward line. They played together like well-oiled machinery, displaying a combination that most senior teams might envy. The ridiculous ease with which they passed the visiting team was a striking testimony to the system under which they played.—Toronto Star.

The St. George's had a good laugh at the expense of their manager, "Teddy" Bonnell, at Peterborough on Saturday night.

Mr. Bonnell was goal umpire behind the Peterboro net, and all through the first half endeavored to work up a conversation with Crough, the local goal-keeper. Every time there was a delay or a face-off at the other end the Toronto man would make some pleasant remark to the goal-keeper, but that individual did not pay the slightest attention to him.

At half-time the St. Georges' manager went into the dressing-room in a huff.

"I'll be blowed," he remarked to the team "if that Peterboro goal-keeper isn't the most unsociable person I ever met. I talked to him all night and he never said a word in reply or even let on he heard me."

Jack Hynes exploded with laughter.

"Why should he?" he asked. "That fellow Crough's a deaf-mute."

And the manager went outside and kicked himself three times by actual count.—Toronto Star.

CURLING.

This is the way the Bobcaygeon Independent refers to the bonspiel at Barrie: The two foreign rinks of the Curling Club went to Barrie on Monday to contest in the Tankard Group, and the result was very unsatisfactoyr. In the first round Bobcaygeon had a bye, in the second they were drawn with Barrie, but the ice being soft Barrie defaulted. Orillia was the next opponent, and though Bobcaygeon was ready to play out, Orillia declined to, and the umpire held that the ice was too soft. It is said that Boycaygeon was in the rink and considered the ice quite playable, whilst the umpire was not in the rink and did not see the ice. The Bobcaygeon players were not prepared to spend the winter in Barrie pretty and hospitable as the town may be, neither were they inclined for another trip such a distance, when the cause appeared somewhat unsportsmanlike and insufficient. The rinks returned home, not entirely pleased with their outing.

Montreal, Feb. 2—Capt. Boon, of the Montreal Hockey Club, states that if his club wins to-night's match with Winnipeg and retains possession of the Stanley Cup, he will recommend to the committee of the club that they send the Cup back to the trustees. He considers that Mr. Ross, of the trustees, has not properly administered his trust, and that the cup had been a detriment instead of a benefit to the game. On account of being compelled to play the cup matches in the middle of the season, they stand the possibility of having their men disabled, thus spoiling their chances of winning the league championship.

MAN'S LEG IN THE FIRE-BOX

Gruesome Find of a Lindsay Train Crew at Midland

Lindsay Post:—A couple of days ago a light engine in charge of engineer Geo. Peacock was sent from Lindsay to Midland. On arriving at the later place the fireman, while cleaning the engine, discovered in the ash pan the leg of a man and other pieces of flesh. On enquiries being made at way stations it was learned that a man named Haddon, had left Fesserton, a small station this side of Midland bound for Victoria Harbor, and had taken to the railway track, intending to walk the distance. The man was not seen on the track and how the accident occurred Driver Peacock is unable to explain. The body was badly cut and mangled, portions of flesh being scattered along the track at the point for a considerable distance. The crew of the Midland way-freight picked up the remains, which were taken to Fesserton for burial. We understand the unfortunate man was employed in Carter's saw mill at Fesserton.

STREET COMMISSIONER TO BE ADVERTISED FOR

Better Management of Our Streets Thought Necessary by the Town Council

When Ald. Best submitted his report of the Board of Works at last night's Council meeting, Ald. Clinkscale took exception to clause 5, which recommended advertising for applications for the position of Street Commissioner. He remarked that if the Council continued on these lines the Town would soon be paying out all its revenue in salaries. He did not think a change in the present system of street management at all necessary.

Ald. Best replied that under the present system the Town was not getting 60 cents on the dollar for its money expended on streets and bridges. We expended some $13,000 on day labor, and what have we to show for it. I don't believe the interests of the whole community should be sacrificed for the sake of one man (the Town Engineer); and if the Council does not wish to appoint a thoroughly competent Street Commissioner I will resign my position as Chairman of the Board of Works.

Ald. McWilliams thought it better before advertising for a commissioner to adopt a clearly defined system for the management of streets and bridges. It may be true that Mr. Hay is not competent to handle men, or to manage work on the streets, but still he may be a good engineer. There is undoubtedly a good deal of dissatisfaction regarding the management of our streets at present, but he was not prepared to say who was to blame. Mr. McWilliams understood that the present engineer receives a salary of $1,200 a year, and he did not think a competent commissioner could be secured for less than $800 per annum. This would mean $2,000 a year for street engineering and supervision, which he thought altogether too high a figure.

Ald. Best said the best inspector we ever had was Mr. Pope, an old railroad man. The object of this report is to get a thoroughly practical man to look after our day work. The scheme of combining the office of street commissioner and engineer, has apparently proved a failure. It seems impossible to get a man to fill both positions.

Ald. O'Connell concurred with Ald. McWilliams' remarks, and thought that if Mr. Hay had undertaken to fill both offices, he is the one to answer for any neglect in either of the departments.

Ald. Morrison replied that the trouble is there is too much work for one man to attend to. Mr. Hay's time is considerably taken up in drawing the necessary plans, etc. There is sufficient work now for both an engineer and a competent commissioner; the duties of the latter were looked after by Mr. Gibson till last fall, since which time Mr. Hay has not had any competent assistance in that respect. Ald. Morrison thought a portion of the engineer's salary should be charged up to permanent improvements. He considered it a right move to advertise for a commissioner.

In reply to the Mayor Ald. Best said Mr. Hay, as an inspector, is undoubtedly a failure.

Ald. McWilliams asked if the report implied that the Town should employ two men to do the work now undertaken by the present engineer.

The Mayor answered that since the engineer was appointed his duties had increased to such proportions as to render it necessary to have both a street Commissioner and an Engineer.

Ald. McWilliams—"And to spend $2,000 on street management?"

The Mayor—"Not at all. We can, I think, get it done for less than that sum."

As a parting shot Ald. Rush suggested that Ald. O'Connell and Ald. McWilgiams step into the engineer's office this morning and see the amount of work under way.

The matter was here dropped, and clause 5, calling for advertising for a commissioner adopted.

Incidentally it might be remembered that Mr. Alex. Reid, in his complaint hereafter alluded to, said that on several occasions he had informed Mr. Hay of broken planks on outlying roads, and the matter had always been promptly attended to.

COUNCIL IN SESSION.

The Town Council met in regular session last night, when there were present Mayor G. M. Roger and Aldermen Shortly, Morrison, H. Rush, D. O'Connell, Finnie, R. F. McWilliams, Clinkscale, Batten, Corkery and Best.

The minutes were taken as type-written.

Communications.

From B. H. D. Hall enclosing petitions for the Legislative Assembly, and the Lieutenant-Governor in duplicate for the passing of the legislation now being asked for.—Received.

Mr. J. Taylor wrote saying that he purposed erecting a new brick block at the corner of George and Charlotte streets, and as the present corner store would render it unnecessarily expensive for him to comply with the by-law governing the erection of new buildings, he would like to confer with the Board of Works on the matter.—Referred to the Town Engineer to report.

From W. D. Lighthall, Hon. Sec-Treasurer, U. C. M., Montreal, to the Mayor, dated, January 29th, saying that the Minister of Justice at Ottawa had wired him that he would receive a delegation of municipal authorities at Ottawa on the Bell Telephone Bill, and an interview is being arranged for next Thursday. Also saying that Mr. D. Lighthall would be pleased to meet the Mayor at Ottawa, if convenient, or to represent him as giving a general endorsation of the delegation, if he could not see his way clear to be present at the interview.

On motion of Ald. Best, seconded by Ald. Corkery that the Mayor and clerk were authorized to either attend that meeting themselves, or to send representatives in their place.—Carried.

From W. J. Green, tax collector, advising that the Court of Revision be instructed to have the shops under the market hall be struck off the collector's roll as remitted—Finance Committee.

From the American League of Civic Improvement, inviting representation at the Provincial Improvement Conference to be held in the Board of Trade Building, Toronto, on Friday, Feb. 13th.—Received.

Received from the Cranston Novelty Co., Galt, re dog tags.

Received from the Salvation Army Band asking for a grant of $100.—Finance Committee.

Received from F. Sandy, local agent of the G.T.R., stating that he had received a letter from Mr. Hay, the Town Engineer notifying him that the office addition to the end of their freight sheds is an infringement of the building by-law of the Town. Mr. Sandy pointed out that he was not aware of this fact. The extension was hardly 10 feet, it had been kept back from the street line and a new and better chimney put in, and everything made safe and neat both outside and in. He asked that the Council grant him a permit that the building might be completed.

Received from Geo. McLellan, calling attention to the need of two new snow plows to replace the ones now in use.—Board of Works.

From A. B. Cunningham claiming remission of Statute Labor tax—Court of Revision.

Accounts.

A number of accounts were referred to the Finance Committee for certification thereto.

Finance Report.

Ald. Rush submitted the report of the Finance Committee, recommending that the Board of Education be paid the amount of their demand in accordance with the request of the Board, and that a number of miscellaneous accounts be paid. The report was adopted.

Board of Works.

Ald. Best submitted the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the request of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., for permission to place a pole on Water street, be granted, subject to the approval, and under the supervision of the Town Engineer.

2. That the request of the Bell Telephone Company for permission to open the street to place a pole at the corner of Homewood Avenue and Walton street, be granted, subject to the approval, and under the supervision of the Town Engineer.

3. That with a view of doing the work asked for in the petition of R. E. Lord and others, as soon as practicable the Town Engineer be instructed to report upon it, and that the request of the same petitioners, for an electric light, be granted, and that the Peterborough Light and Power Co. be instructed to place the light at a point located by the Town Engineer, to best meet the wishes of the petitioners.

4. That the Town Engineer be instructed to have the provisions of the contracts regarding the removal of slush from the streets carrried out, or report to this Board why it has not been done.

5. That the Chairman of this Board be authorized to advertise for applications for the position of Street Commissioner.

The report was adopted as read.

Street Lighting.

Ald. Morrison submitted the following report:

Gentlemen,—Your special committee on street lighting and franchise beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the Council petition the Ontario Legislature and the Lieutenant in Council to amend chapter 71 of 63 Victoria, so as to remove the restrictions limiting the Town to the south of Nassau for power and to municipal lighting only.

2. That this committee be given authority to procure expert and other assistance to assist in reaching a conclusion on the question of electric light and franchises, and that the Treasurer be authorized to pay for such assistance upon the certificate of the Chairman of this committee.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

In submitting the above report Ald. Morrison said if the Council understood that it was part of the duty of this special committee to deal with the question of the union with Ashburnham, they would do so. The committee's duty in this respect had not been clearly defined.

The report was adopted as read.

House of Refuge.

Ald. Morrison submitted the report of the House of Refuge, which was adopted as read.

The balance of the report will appear in tomorrow's issue.

G. W. FITZGERALD, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, January 31st, 1903.

The report formerly contained clauses recommending payment of conditional grants to the township for roads and bridges, the grants to be supplemented by others from the Government. The report was amended as follows:

Moved by Mr. Fitzgerald, seconded by Mr. Menague, That clauses 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, be struck out and now amended that the usual grants be made to the following townships: Harvey, $75; Galway and Cavendish, $75; Burleigh and Anstruther, $75; Chandos, $75; Belmont and Methuen, $75; and that Mr. Shaw be commissioner for Harvey and Galway, Mr. Menague for Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, and Mr. Curtis for Belmont and Methuen.

In moving the resolution Mr. Fitzgerald said the expenses of the council were creeping up year by year and increase of county rate was probable. He therefore did not favor the making of any special grants until the county had got upon a good financial condition.

Mr. Moloney pointed out that Sutherland's Bridge over Indian River, was in very bad condition and he suggested that necessary steps be taken looking towards the construction of a new one. The bridge was a very old one, and was not worth repairing.

Mr. Moloney did not think it well to strike out the conditional grants, and thus lose a considerable amount from the Government. Other counties were making similar grants. He moved that the conditional grants be allowed.

Mr. Hunter considered that it was only reasonable that these grants be made. It looked like losing some $1200 in good grants for the sake of some $600. He supported Mr. Moloney's motion.

Mr. Peck said there was no good reason apparent why the Government should refuse to make grants for the improvements of roads provided the county council was not prepared to make grants. The county certainly could not afford to grant money in view of the large expenditures that were proposed. He thought if the county's position was explained to the Government, it would not insist upon such appropriations being made.

Mr. Moloney considered that the expenditures every year were very similar and he again urged that the conditional grants be made.

The vote on the amendment was lost and the original motion carried.

On motion of Mr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, the report as amended was adopted.

PRINTING.

Mr. Buck presented the following report of the Printing committee:

1. That the County Clerk be instructed to grant to the Norwood Register, Lakefield News and Havelock Standard, alternately, the printing of the lists of convictions and assessment schedules required to be published and printed, at the same price as last year.

2. That all other printing be divided by the County Clerk in as equal manner as possible, between the Peterborough Examiner, Peterborough Review and Peterborough Times, save and except that the County Clerk shall apportion between the Lakefield News, Norwood Register and Havelock Standard, whatever printing of letter heads, posters and other work he can conveniently give them.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. T. BUCK, Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, January 30th, 1903.

Brunette and Blonde

A ROMANCE.

"Yes," he repeated, growing defiant even in his bonds, "persecute me as you may, you shall not oust Lady Florence from her place. I swear to maintain her rights as your heiress. You may understand how desperate I am when I tell you that I tried to murder you to-night that Florence might inherit your wealth to-morrow, and the question of her rights be forever settled. She is your granddaughter. Make up your mind to that fact, for you cannot alter it, my proud, imperious Earl of Devon. As for Hilda, she is my own child, and I shall take measures to remove her from the path of Lady Florence right speedily."

"Liar!"

That single word, uttered in a voice of the most terrible rage and deadliest hate, came with the suddenness of the lightning's flash from the open door-way. All eyes turned toward it.

On the threshold stood a lady—tall, stately, still young and lovely, though the dark eyes flashing fire beneath her frowning brow were shaded by waving tresses of silver-white hair. From the somber setting of her long lusterless black robe the beautiful white face gleamed ghost-like, star-like, against the outer darkness of the corridor.

"Liar!" she repeated, in that awful, passionate voice, and Aylesford yelled in horror:

"Has the dead returned to punish me?"

"Not the dead, but the living," said Mrs. L'Estrange, as she glided into the room and turned her angry face from the craven wretch, while a tenderer light came over it as she went up to the bed and put out her white hands to the earl. "Papa," she said, "it is your own Ethel. I have come home to you. You must forgive me and love me again."

"It is Ethel's voice," said the earl, in a tone of joy and wonder, as he kissed the soft white hands she held out to him. "It is Ethel's face, too, but that man there told me Ethel was dead."

Then his head fell back heavily on the pillow, his eyelids closed.

Lady Ethel uttered a shriek of fear and alarm. Sir Wilfred went to her side.

"Ethel," he said, gently, "do not be frightened. Your father is weakened by a slight wound, and the shock of joy has caused him to swoon. Sit down here and rest yourself while I attend to him. I think the surgeon will soon be here."

"Is the wound dangerous?" asked Lady Ethel, frightened by the deathly paleness of her father's face.

"No, I do not believe it is," he answered. "I will soon bring him around, I think."

"Let me help you—Wilfred," said Lady Ethel, timidly.

That name, breathed so softly by the lips he loved, thrilled to the core of the baronet's heart. Together they bent over the unconscious earl, employing every available remedy to revive him. Then she stepped softly out of the way as the heavy eyelids fluttered upward.

But the first words he said were: "Ethel, my darling!"

She came and stood by him without speaking, fearful of frightening his feeble strength away if she excited him.

He understood her motive. After a little he said to her gently:

"I am too weak to talk to you, dear. Tell Wilfred all your story; it will not hurt me to look at you and listen."

An expression of the bitterest pain swept over the beautiful mournful face as she turned to the baronet.

"Make it brief if it hurts you to dwell upon it Ethel," he said, gently and pityingly.

OBJECTS OF THE COMPANY

The Manitoba Cement Company has secured incorporation for the purpose of manufacturing a high-grade Portland Cement. It owns one of the most valuable cement deposits in Canada, located south of Morden, S ½ Sec. 4, Tp. 1, Rge. 6 west. The raw material has been thoroughly analyzed by the highest authorities on cement and pronounced by them suitable for the manufacture of a superior quality of Portland Cement.

When the plant shall have been completed the Company will own material sufficient for at least 200,000,000 barrels of cement, and a mill capable of converting this material into cement of the highest grade, and by reason of its position and open market in the West, can without question manufacture and market its product at a maximum profit.

USES OF CEMENT

Among others, Portland Cement Concrete may be used with advantage for the following purposes:—Bridge Piers, Foundations, Chimney Stacks, Sewers, Canals, Sidewalks, etc., for which it is more lasting and much cheaper than stone or brick. The demand for Portland Cement is rapidly increasing in the West, where building stone is scarce, and by the time it can be put in a 1,000 bbl. mill will not nearly meet the demand. All cement used in Manitoba is at present shipped from Ontario, the freight being $1.20 per bbl. The Manitoba Cement Company will, therefore, have practically no competition in supplying Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

PROBABLE RESULTS TO SHAREHOLDERS

The following statement of probable results to be secured is based on a very conservative estimate of cost and selling price:

Average selling price per bbl at factory	$2.25
Cost per bbl., incl. office and general expenses	1.20
Profit per bbl	$1.05

Annual output, 300,000 barrels

Gross Annual Profit		$315,000
Sinking Fund	$20,000
Repairs and depreciations	50,000	70,000
Total annual profit for surplus and dividends		$245,000

N.B.—The present wholesale selling price of cement in Winnipeg is $4.00 per bbl.

DEPENDABLE INFORMATION

is the only right sort to receive relative to stock movements; when such is received in connection with any property, an analysis of the property should be carefully made, to learn if the facts warrant the likelihood of the information being correct. If the two agree, then one should make his trade immediately, in accord with the knowledge thus obtained. It is unwise to buy into a property when selling above its value; also, equally injudicious to sell when prices are below intrinsic values. Those who will keep within their means and will operate in accord with the above axiom, need never take a loss in Wall Street. We maintain a complete Statistical Department, with the view to laying before our clients the actual facts about any property whose shares are dealt in upon the Exchanges; also, we issue for free distribution, at considerable expense, a most complete 60-page, illustrated.

New York, Feb. 2.—An inactive and uneventful week has just closed. An incessant hammering of prices was kept up during the period, while several houses bought upon balance considerably in excess of their sales. It has been a week of depression and discouragement emphasized by a brass band, yet under cover of general apathy and listlessness stocks of many issues have been most persistently accumulated. The very dullness of the market makes the process a slow one. The new week just opening will probably see a continuance of these tactics, accompanied by a gradual hardening of prices as stocks are absorbed. A coterie of the active element of Wall street are assembling at Palm Beach, Fla., on a little vacation, and it is anticipated that considerable buying orders will emanate from that source this week, as it is known that the views of these operators are favorable to the market. The current money position has been absolutely reversed. Competition to loan funds to brokers is now as keen as formerly were their efforts to borrow. Money is almost a drug again, being offered in millions upon millions at three per cent. So much for the supply of the essential sinews of war for conducting bullish operations. As a result brokers who formerly discouraged buying orders will now encourage them. There is a marked increase in the inquiry from the public as to market prospects, which foreshadows their resumption of stock dealings. We are of the opinion that speculative activity will very shortly be resumed with higher prices resulting.

Summary—Market was substantially stronger today. St. Paul crossed 181. Illinois Central sold ex dividend. Reading led the coal issues, for which there was considerable inquiry. Pennsylvania was heavy throughout the session. Steel was absorbed by insiders. Balance of market was strong throughout the day. Money closed 3 1-2 per cent. Sales 650,500.

NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY

New York, Feb. 1.—Dr. Geo. W. Crile, professor of applied surgery at the Cleveland, (O.), College of Physicians and Surgeons, has made a discovery which is meeting with the greatest success in the medical and surgical world. By means of his discovery he has been repeatedly able to bring to life dogs which had been dead as long as 15 minutes.

In the experiment which resulted in this discovery he put a dog under the influence of anaesthetics and then cut off the animal's head. The dog was given an intravenous infusion of "adrenalin," the product of glands located about the kidneys of animals. This was supplemented by artificial respiration and rhythmic pressure over the thorax. By these means life was maintained in the body 10 1-2 hours.

Another dog, also under the influence of anaesthetics, was put to death by suspension of respiration by means of a clamp on the windpipe. After the expiration of 15 minutes the veins were opened and the infusion of adrenalin injected, and the other means of resuscitation resorted to. Life returned to the dog, and within a short time it was running about. The animal is alive and as well as ever now.

A GUARANTEED CURE For All Forms of Kidney Disease

We the undersigned Druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak of diseased kidneys:—

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing and permanent cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."

INTERNATIONAL ELECTRIC MINING Co.

185 SUMMER ST., - BOSTON, MASS.

A Dividend Payer for the Past Five Years.

12 PER CENT GUARANTEED

Capital Stock, $500,000. Par, $1.00, full paid and non-assessable

Over eight thousand tons of [illegible] ore mined and smelted from this group of mines.

A limited number of shares of the stock of this Company now offered at seventy-five cents per share. This price will shortly be increased to par. Stock registered by the International Trust Company, Boston, who is also the transfer agent.

This Company has a small capital stock.

The International Electric Mining Company owns seven mines and milling plant.

The Brooklyn and New York mines of this Company lie north of and join the Victor and the Hoodlum—two rich mines that are now being worked by California parties. On the west lies the Electric Mining Company's mines. In these mines are millions of dollars' worth of rich ore in sight. On the south, adjoining the Berlin mine of this Company, is the Montezuma and Clipper. From the Montezuma over three million dollars has been taken within 60 feet of the grass roots.

This Company owns free and clear seven mines of twenty acres each, all containing rich ore, located in the Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. The Company has worked these mines for the past five years, and is now driving a tunnel to cut out a rich ledge about 300 feet from the surface. The Arabia mining district, in which these mines are located, is a lively district—a great many men being employed there. The tunnel now being driven on the Brooklyn mine has about 350 feet already completed. When the tunnel cuts the main ledge, which has just been reached by the Victor tunnel about 600 feet, the Brooklyn will have about 900 feet stoping ground, which runs high in gold and silver, over $60.00 per ton.

The Company is offering for a short time a limited amount of stock for the enlargement of its plant and the working force at the mines and for the completion of the Brooklyn tunnel.

This Company has thousands of tons of rich ore in sight.

We are not making a lot of talk, because it is unnecessary. What the investor wants is dividends, which we have paid for the past five years. Now if you want a safe 12 per cent. investment, let us hear from you.

THE OLD COMSTOCK

A California mining paper has this to say: "Nevada, that grand old stamping ground of mushroom millionaires, who plucked enough wealth from her prolific fields to build mansions, banks and big hotels in San Francisco, and palaces in Paris and London, is again astonishing the world by making more millionaires and by yielding millions in gold and silver from a new field which rivals the old Comstock lode in the days of its pristine splendor. Not only in Tonopah and Arabia districts, where within the past year nearly ten millions have been exposed, are operations active, but in every mining district in the Silver State are operations active, and Nevada will once more take her place among the big producers, the peer of any of them."

Gentlemen,—If you wish to sell your Brooklyn mine I can get you a good price for it. If it was mine I would not sell it at any price, as you have more than a million dollars of ore in sight.

Dear Sir,—During the six months of October and November of this year I visited the mines of the International Electric Mining Company, situated in Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. I found the country remarkably mineralized; in fact, the possibilities of the country as a mineral producing country are yet unknown. For years it certainly has produced well. The work now being done in the Arabia and Trinity districts establishes the fact that they are fine producers.

I also found that there is a great deal of interest being taken in these properties, which have produced a great deal of wealth the past quarter of a century.

CAPITAL STOCK $200,000 Par Value $1.00

We are working this mine every day doing a great amount of development work which will enable us to commence regular shipping very soon. Our shaft is now 175 feet deep, with a streak of pay ore starting at the grass roots, the vein is over 3 feet wide at the bottom of shaft, and runs from $44.00 to $88.00 per ton, mostly gold. We are only three-quarters of a mile from railroad and have a well traveled wagon road from mine to depot. There are thirteen stamp mills at Black Hawk, three-quarters of a mile from this property. Our company is managed on conservative lines by practical mining men who understand the business and are familiar with this field of gold.

We have placed a small block of this stock on the market at 20 cents per share which will be worth $1.00 in a short time. Now is the time to buy.

BUY! WHY?

BECAUSE

THE SOUR LAKE OIL CO.

Has placed four-fifths of its stock in the treasury for development work; and because

Oil is reached in less than half the depth required on Spindletop Heights in Beaumont;

The people in Canada are well acquainted with the management, which is in the hands of HON. JOHN L. BITTINGER, United States Consul General to Canada; F. S. Ashley, Vice-President of the Massachusetts Securities Co., and W. L. Marston, Vice-President of the American Union Oil and Refining Co.

These gentlemen have made a dividend payer out of one company and have raised the value of its stock from 5c per share to par value, or 25c, within a very short time;

The company is operating in the Sour Lake field, where fewer wells will tap the oil than at Spindletop; this insures a greater flow of oil, and it is of a better quality;

This is the first allotment of shares at the present price of TEN CENTS PER SHARE; it is the lowest price at which you can buy, and the time left in which to buy at TEN CENTS is short.

—A number of schools in the northern part of Northumberland county were closed for a few days last week owing to several cases of scarlet fever.

—William A. Bradley was arrested in Toronto on Sunday by detective Verney on a charge of seduction. He is wanted in Port Hope.

—Mr. Theo. Ludgate, of Vancouver, and formerly of Peterborough has obtained possession of Deadman's island, and will establish large lumber mills, and employ over 500 miles.

—We hear that Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, on Saturday received an order from John Miller & Sons, of London, for 500 coal bags. This enterprising firm continues to grow, spreading the name of Peterborough abroad.

—Recently a Belleville school teacher strapped an unruly pupil and now a hot headed parent is after the teacher. Perhaps if the parent had gone after the pupil first he would have no occasion to threaten the teacher with punishment now.

—Through an unfortunate error in print the text of Rev. J. A. Wilson's sermon at St. Paul's Mission Sunday morning was made to read, "What Mean Ye by these Stories." The correct quotation, of course, is, "What Mean Ye by these Stones."

Two Irishmen were arguing who was the cleverer. "Well," said Pat, "I'll bet you can't tell me what keeps bricks together." "Shure," said Mike, "it's mortar." "No," said Pat, "you are wrong; that keeps them apart."

"And what," asked the cannibal chieftain in his kindest tones, "what was your business before you were captured by our men?"

Pessimism of Educated Youth.

Almost any evening, at dinner time, there may be seen in a well-known down town restaurant a group of young men, who occupy always the same corner and spend a long time talking over their coffee and cigars. They are all college graduates of a recent date, occupied in the day in getting a start in life, or, as one of them, who is engaged in some sort of literary work, more picturesquely puts it, "bucking the metropolis with a stub pen." Few have heard their talk, for when a stranger falls among them they are decorously polite, but uncommunicative, in the spirit of their leader. A few, however, have been initiated, and describe the conversations as "a series of carefully cultivated cynicisms, led by a lecture." Thus do their guests become victims to phrase-making.

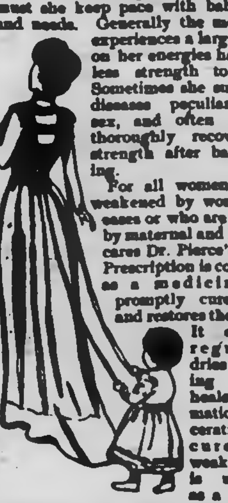
"It would be hard to diagnose their complaint," said one of these victims; "they are so cheerful in their woe. Nothing at present suits them, and they all pronounce their daily tasks a bore. But they are not bothered with reform notions and don't make a public fuss. I suspect they all cherish secret ambitions of winning commonplace successes, and swap their melancholy epigrams because they have no other way at present to maintain that academic seclusiveness your college graduate usually feels the lack of during the first years of his plunge into life. However, there's some truth and humor in their talk that needn't be summarily dismissed as downy faced cynicism."

And the speaker narrated as nearly as he could a speech of the leader on the subject of "How to Be Successful Though Educated." The young man knocked his cigarette ash into the dregs of his coffee and said: "I've thought this all out, as Devery does his brilliants. It's not impromptu. I was burdened with the conception by too much paternal advice on how to succeed. We get too much of that advice on all hands. The path from the log cabin to the White House has been exploited and explained; we have been taught how to be happy though married, and it only remains to put the teaching into practice—a minor detail; magazines conducted by underpaid editors have told us how to get from home to college with a cow for capital; the lives of our captains of industry have been laid bare from their always humble beginnings, but the really useful work is the one not done. Who will tell us how to be successful though educated?

"The worst that may be said of a college training (until the chair of success is founded) is that it gives a young man ambitions. After all, the youth whose capital is a cow in most instances prefers to keep his capital and milk it; the boy in the log cabin hopes some day to build a house with store shingles; the young worker in the steel mill thinks he may in time rise to be a foreman, and is content if he does. But the college graduate has ambitions. Nurtured in romance, fed on history, filled with the keen relish for intellectual excitement and the power of intellectual mastery, he is yearly turned by the thousand into the hard world, with ambitions, but no job.

"There are open for him the law and medicine; but each requires three or four more years of training, and then an additional period of unremunerative waiting. There is business, but already the high school graduate has a four years' start, which, when all is said, the classics and French literature do not help to overcome. He might write novels, but his taste is too good, while a knowledge of art bars him from the drama. To be sure, there is teaching; the world still puts up with a little education in its teachers. Yet, as women will teach cheaper, even that field is restricted. It is no wonder that there are so many men of culture in the mines of Mexico and Alaska, or that so few of us college men marry before we are thirty."

Then someone asked this gloomy teacher of twenty-three, whose remarks were greeted with no applause, but quiet approval," said the outsider, "what he proposed to do about it. His answer was characteristic. 'To-morrow I play golf,' he said."—N. Y. "Tribune."



HARD DRIVEN.

The mother slowly times her footsteps to those of her baby driver. Yet she is hard driven because not alone in the brief moments of play, but all day long must she keep pace with baby's wants and needs. Generally the mother who experiences a larger demand on her energies has less and less strength to respond. Sometimes she suffers from disease peculiar to her sex, and often has never thoroughly recovered her strength after baby's coming.

For all women who are weakened by womanly diseases or who are run-down by maternal and household cares Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is commended as a medicine which promptly cures disease and restores the strength. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is unexcelled as a tonic and nervine for weak, run-down women.

"If mothers who dread the baby's coming would take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they would find it a great help and benefit," writes Mrs. L. H. Henderson (President Milwaukee Woman's Literary Club), of 603 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. "After the birth of my first child I did not seem to regain my health, so began to take your medicine, and in two weeks I felt stronger and able to be about, so kept taking it for two months and found at the end of that time I had completely regained my usual health. I also found that it was of benefit to take a few months prior to baby's advent; in fact it is of great benefit in all forms of female weakness."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

BRAZIL AND BOLIVIA ARE NOW AT WAR

Armies Marching to Battle Over the Acre and Other Difficulties

Settlements in the Disputed Territory are Besieged By the Two Republics

Rio Janeiro, Feb. 4.—General Itaperuna has left the province of Matto Crosso, the scene of the Acre difficulty between Brazil and Bolivia. He is taking with him artillery, rapid fire guns and ammunition, and is accompanied by General Caesar Sampio.

General Sampio will command the Brazilian division on the Matto Crosso-Bolivian frontier.

The Acre difficulty between Brazil and Bolivia is acute, notwithstanding the statements from some quarters that an amicable understanding would be reached.

Dispatches received from La Paz, Bolivia, declare that two detachments of Bolivian troops had left the capital for Acre, and that the Brazilians in Acre were besieged in the Porvenier and Costa Rica settlements.

SULTAN TRIUMPHS OVER PRETENDER.

Latter's Camp Rushed and Followers Killed or Captured

THE LEADER HIMSELF SAID TO BE PRISONER

Victory Has Ensured the Stability of the Moorish Throne

Tangier, Feb. 3—The tide of war has suddenly turned in favor of the Sultan. A messenger whose credentials are regarded by experienced residents as entitling him to complete belief, has brought news that El Menbhi commanding the Sultan's troops surprised and rushed the camp of Bu Hamara the pretender, on January 29, capturing almost all his force. El Menbhi seized the camp together with quantities of provisions and ammunition, and recaptured the guns that the Sultan's troops lost on Decem.

A second messenger of the Fez confirms this news with the exception of the capture of Bu Hamara, which he denies, but it has not yet been ascertained whether the pretender is among the slain, who are numerous. The pretender's khalifa and staff were captured.

There is great rejoicing here where it is believed that the Sultan is now infinitely stronger than he was before the rebellion. Even if the pretender escaped, the popular belief in his saintship will be destroyed, and he will never again obtain a following.

Bu Hamara's previous successes are ascribed rather to the incapacity of the Sultan's uncles who commanded the imperial forces than to his own character. Simultaneously with the above information comes authentic news that two of the Sultan's Kaids have beaten the Beneswarin and Hyaina tribes, capturing and destroying all their possessions. It has been many years since any Sultan was able to put down these tribesmen. The fugitives, instead of joining Bu Hamara, all submitted, offering themselves as guarantees for the capture of the pretender. This victory occurred some days previous to El Menebhi's, to which it apparently led.

Tribesmen Submit.

London, Feb. 3—Mr. Forwood, an Englishman, writing from Fez, under date of January 13, records the defeat and submission of the Hyaina and Beneswarin tribesmen. He adds that the Englishmen in Fez never had any idea of going to the coast. The women went because the town was full of wild tribesmen. The gates of Fez have never been closed. There has never been a panic or any cause for anxiety.

Pretender Exposed in a Cage?

London, Tuesday, Feb. 3—A despatch from Tangier to the Morning Leader mentions a circumstantial report current in that city that Bu Hamara was brought to Fez in a cage and exposed to public derision. The despatch adds that it is impossible to ascertain the truth, and attributes the Sultan's victory more to his bribery of the tribes than to military tactics. The bribed rebels suddenly abandoned the pretender's standard.

Berlin, Feb. 2—A curious story widely told in the Provincial and Berlin papers this morning, is that the Crown Prince of Saxony is determined to renounce his succession to the throne in favor of his son George, who is ten years of age, for the reason that the military code of honor does not permit a husband wronged as he has been, to remain in the service, and the Crown Prince, as commander of the first army corps of Saxony, and as the future commander of the entire Saxon contingent, must pass upon the findings of military courts of honor, which, in circumstances similar to those of the Crown Prince, requires a challenge, or the laying aside of the uniform. The Crown Prince, it is added, is scarcely expected to challenge Professor Giron, the teacher of languages, who eloped with the Crown Princess, but opinion in the army is so rigid on points of honor that the Crown Prince is regarded as ineligible for reviewing the decisions of courts of honor or protecting the honor of the uniform.

WOULDN'T TAKE A DARE

Cleveland Woman Drinks Poison in Presence of Her Husband

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 3.—Because she wouldn't take a dare, Miss Lizzie Weisbarth swallowed two ounces of carbolic acid last night. Prompt action saved her life.

Mrs. Weisbarth, her husband, George Weisbarth, and the woman's brother and sister-in-law, were together. Mrs. Weisbarth, said; "I'll do it now." "Do what?" exclaimed her husband. "Why, commit suicide." "You wouldn't dare," retorted the husband, laughing, thinking she was joking. For answer the woman produced a bottle and drank part of its contents before the astonished husband knocked it from her lips. No motive is known for her act, and she will recover.

SHOWS A BIG INCREASE

Westbound Traffic Over Lakes is Thirty-Eight Per cent Higher

Winnipeg, Feb. 3.—General Manager McNicholl of the C.P.R., was questioned yesterday by a newspaper representative respecting the proposed new station and hotel, and the C.P.R. yard extensions, but he said he had nothing to give for publication at present. He said the engineers were busy preparing a number of different plans for the yard extension, but it had not yet been decided as to the course the company would pursue in this connection.

He said that the returns which he had received showing the west bound business over the lakes were of most satisfactory character, showing as they did, an increase of 38 per cent. over those of the preceding year.

Mr. McNichol expects to spend another week in Winnipeg.

LIFE'S END IS NEAR

For the Widow of Napoleon III., Who is Visiting in Madrid

Madrid, Feb. 3.—The ex-Empress Eugenie, who is back in her native land to escape the hazards of an English winter, impresses all who have seen her during the last few years to have aged much. Though she manages to keep up an appearance of activity, she leans more heavily than ever on her walking stick, and the lines of her face have deepened noticeably.

The ex-Empress who was Mlle. de Montijo when Napoleon III. fell captive to her beauty, is much beloved in Madrid, but she has to be chary in responding to the desires of society to pay deference to her on account of her increasing infirmities. She dresses always in deep mourning and the expression of sadness on her fine features and her still stately carriage make her a noticeable figure wherever she goes, even among those who do not recognize her.

Later on the ex-Empress will go to her home in the south of France, where she hopes to entertain Prince Henry of Battenberg. She will not return to England until the spring is well advanced.

Experiments show economy, the amount of copper being reduced one-half.

GIANT CANAL FOR CANADA

Scheme for New Waterway From Georgian Bay to the sea

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 3—The legislature is discussing some interesting canal projects. Assemblyman Graff, of Essex is sponsor for the Georgian Bay canal scheme. This is a proposition to enlarge the Champlain Canal to twenty-one feet, to provide an outlet to the sea for the proposed Canadian ship canal that is to run from Georgian Bay, along the Ottawa River and Lake Nippissing to the St. Lawrence River to Montreal, thence to St. Johns and by way of the Richelieu River to Lake Champlain down the Champlain Canal to the Hudson River.

COAL PROSPECTS BRIGHTER

Yesterday 188 Cars, Mostly Hard, Arrived in Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 3—Coal prospects were better again yesterday. There were 140 cars into the G.T.R. yards, of which 76 arrived during the day. Of the 86 cars were hard. Over the C.P.R. 80 cars arrived, of which 54 were hard. The G.T.R. officials were much distressed at accounts appearing in the press telling of hundreds of cars that had not been moved for months. For such a state of affairs to occur, they said, they would have to be in collusion with the local dealers, which they indignantly denied. All they got out of coal brought here from Niagara was 60 cents a ton. If coal was stalled in the yards the dealers would have to pay $1 a day demurrage, besides a penalty. The only possibility of coal accumulating in the yards and not being moved for months was in case coal had to be kept for the railway's own use. But the railway was not doing this. It was using coal as soon as it got it.

WILL SOON BE EVADED

By Dowie's Restoration Host—Says he Expects to Make a Hundred Thousand Converts

Kenosha, Wis., Feb. 3.—John Alexander Dowie, who, by his personal magnetism, has built up a city of 10,000 people just south of this city, announces this morning that he had decided to take the restoration host to New York and make an effort to secure 100,000 converts to Dowieism in Greater New York. For his great work he has taken options on Madison Square Garden and Carnegie Hall, and he is to have a lease of them early in the summer.

The fight against sin will continue for six months. Mayor Lowe has granted a permit to the representatives of Zion to hold 1,000 street meetings daily in New York. The entire membership of the church has been asked to help, and thousands of dollars have already been contributed for the crusade. Dr. Dowie will be personally in charge of all the great meetings, adopting the methods which have made the General Overseer and Zion famous in Chicago.

In speaking of the proposed work Dr. Dowie proudly referred to it as "the greatest work ever attempted by the followers of any religion." The host which will be sent to New York will be composed of from three to five thousand people, both men and women. They will be fed at Madison Square Garden, and will live at the different points in the city where work is contemplated.

The expenditure on the contingents was $1,996,807, whilst the sum of $824,897 was paid out in connection with the Third Special Service battalion at Halifax. NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Mr. Robert Fair, chairman of the Property committee, submitted the following report:

Gentlemen,—Early last autumn, by resolution of your Board, your Property committee was authorized to make enquiries and ascertain the probable cost involved in the purchase of a site and erection of a new building to be devoted to the purposes of the local Collegiate Institute.

Your committee made diligent enquiry, and collected a variety of information relative to the matter in hand. They communicated with Inspector Seath, of the Department, asking where such a building as would meet the needs of the town was located. Mr. Seath recommended the Jamieson Avenue School, Toronto Junction, as an entirely suitable building, and one thoroughly modern in all respects. On January 13th, a sub committee of your Property committee went to Toronto and viewed this school, and these gentlemen have pleasure in handing you a report in reference to the matter. The facts are fully set out in the communication, and need not here be repeated. It is the opinion of your sub-committee that such a building would afford ample accomodation not only for immediate needs, but for the possible contingencies of future years.

As to a site. Your committee are unable to give any definite information as there is some difference of opinion as to location. Several sites have been mentioned, all seemingly equally suitable, but unless your committee was authorized and empowered to accept offers, and be advised as to the quantity of land desired to be made use of the cost of a site must remain a matter of speculation.

Your committee is of the opinion that a suitable building, one that will rank well with the other public buildings of the town, and at the same time afford suitable accomodation, will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, exclusive of site.

Your committee suggest that the matter be handed to their successors, to be further dealt with, fully satisfied that the needs of the town will not be lost sight of, and the best interests of the schools fully served.

The matter of improving the fences around the Institute and Central School and renovation of the grounds has been considered by your committee. Only one opinion exists and that is that the work should be done and done thoroughly. The fence require considerable repair and the ground should be levelled.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A MODEL BUILDING.

In connection with the above matter the following report was submitted:

Gentlemen,—Your delegation appointed to view the Jamieson Ave. Collegiate Institute, Toronto, Ont., beg leave to report that on January 21st inst., they did so. This school was built 10 years ago, and is acknowledged in Toronto, so far as we could ascertain, to be the best property of that kind in the city, though there are several other buildings of later date. The building is arranged for eight regular class rooms. Each have a seating capacity for 40 pupils. These rooms being on two flats of four rooms each. The basement is utilized for heating appartus, lavatories, bicycle rooms, etc. The top flat contains a lecture, or assembly room, capable of seating all the pupils, where they are assembled once each day by the principal, which is a pleasing future, and found to be a most useful function. There are also several rooms off the assembly room, found useful for occasional small classes, in special studies. On each floor are two large cloak rooms, fitted up with lockers, and drip racks for umbrellas, etc. On the first floor of the main entrance is the principal's office and library. On the second floor are private study and waiting rooms for women and men teachers, respectively. The halls are specially pointed out in this school, on account of their excellent lighting and spaciousness, are said to be most attractive and helpful in airing the class rooms during recess, and also giving plenty of room for the pupils to remain in during cold or wet weather at recess time. The floors and wood-work are all in hardwood, and thoroughly well constructed. The building is located on 1 1-2 acres of land, bounded on three sides by streets, this assuring plenty of good light. It is constructed of good ordinary red brick, with stone facing, and slate roof. The entire property cost the city about $55,000, the building proper about $40,000. We are of the opinion that allowing for future increase of attendants that a school of capacity of the above would be sufficient for all requirements. There are, of course, numerous minor changes and improvements that would arise in the construction of a new building that are not necessary to be pointed out in a report of this kind.

Yours truly,
V. EASTWOOD,
Chairman

The above reports were referred to the incoming Property Committee.

Mr. Eastwood moved, seconded by Mr. F. J. Jameson, that the matter of the further preliminary work in connection with the building of the proposed Collegiate Institute be handed to the Property Committee for 1903, with instructions to continue the work and power to employ an architect to prepare plans and estimates of cost, and that the Committee be empowered to receive offers embracing options for sites, such offers to be submitted to the Board, and that the Committee report to the Board from time to time as to the information and facts so obtained.—Carried.

The matter of the caretaker not being on hand to give admittance to the Board room was here taken up.

Mr. Robert Fair remarked that he knew the caretaker to be in poor health just now, and probably he was really too ill to be in attendance this evening. He must say in his behalf that he is attending to his duties very well.

Mr. McBain replied that as this was not the first time the caretaker had overlooked being present at Board meetings the Property Committee should investigate.

Mr. Hartley moved, seconded by Mr. Wrighton, that the matter be referred to the incoming Property Committee, with power to act.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

The inaugural meeting of the Board for 1903, will take place in the board room at the Collegiate Institute this evening at 8 o'clock.

A BIG NEW COMPANY WILL GROW WHEAT

Stock offered in England by Canadians--Directors Include an Official of the Canadian Pacific

London, Feb. 3—A prospectus is widely advertised today of the British Canadian Wheat Raising Company, with a capital of $1,000,000, divided into 200,000 shares of $5 each, and 30,000 shares held in reserve. The vendor, J. Richard Browne of Montreal, takes 60,000, and the remaining 50,000 are now offered to the public. The object is to acquire 20,026 acres in Assiniboia, held under Government grant in perpetuity. The company estimate that at least 30 bushels per acre will be raised, and, allowing for cost of cultivation and threshing, the anticipated net profit is $130,000 per annum, at a selling price of 60 cents per bushel.

The directors are: J. Richard Browne, Montreal; M. C. McHenry, the Chief Engineer of the Canadian Pacific; Hon. T. Mayne Daly of Winnipeg; J U. Gregory, of Quebec; William Johnston, of Winnipeg; Hugh R. Cameron, of Winnipeg; Charles Cangrain of Montreal, and two others to be elected by the English shareholders after allotment. The presence of Mr. McHenry on the board is taken to indicate that the company will work in conjunction with the new Canadian Pacific freight service. The company will start planting in April.

The Pall Mall Gazette notes that the company is registered in Ontario, not England, thus escaping inconvenient provisions of the Companies' Act of 1900 with the stringent regulations as to public disclosures.

Sale of a Canadian Line.

The bondholders' meeting of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway will be held on Friday to consider an agreement to lease the line to the Canadian Pacific for 90 years, at a rental of $22,000 per annum. A bondholder writes the Financial Times today that the prospects of the road are so good that if the Canadian Pacific does not offer £100 of 4 per cent. debenture stock for each £100 bond instead of the 94 1-3 now offered, the road should be run independently. There is every prospect, however, that the agreement will be confirmed.

Considerable attention is devoted to the announcement that the Canadian Northern has absorbed the Great Northern of Canada. Grand Trunk officials here are anxious to make it clear that the purchase has no connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific scheme, while Mackenzie is now visiting England, and are also emphatic in assertions that he has no business here with the Grand Trunk. Nevertheless, it would surprise few if the Great Northern and Canadian Northern ultimately form part of the Grand Trunk Pacific System, for much as Englishmen are impressed with the progress of the North-West, they hardly anticipate room as yet for three transcontinental systems.

Disappointment is expressed at the latest Le Roi mining returns. The manager reports that neither tonnage nor values equal expectations, owing to a falling off in value of the intermediate stope between the ninth and tenth levels. The disappointment is all the keener because it is felt necessary that some British Columbia mines show good results to counteract the bad influences of the past for Whitaker Wright.

The Footballers.

The Canadian footballers were entertained at dinner last night at the Criterion restaurant, Piccadilly, by the London Scottish Club.

Regarding the projected tour in Canada of the English footballers, it is understood that J. A. Parker, well-known in connection with South African sport, has been unable to induce the team which he is taking to South Africa in June next to return via Canada. He hopes to arrange a Canadian tour in 1904 on the way from Australasia.

The German Frankfurter Zeitung publishes a statement that the Hamburg-American Steamship Company proposes this year to again run a service of passenger steamers to Quebec and Montreal. In consequence of accidents on the St. Lawrence route, especially the cases of the Arabia and Arcadia, it was thought the company would withdraw from the Canadian passenger traffic.

ELEVEN PERISHED IN FIERCE FLAMES

Three Storey Tenement of Finish Colony Totally Consumed Seven Fatally Injured

Vancouver, Feb. 3—Relentless fate seemed to pursue the British colony of political refugees that is trying to establish a foothold in British Columbia, on Malcolm Island, under the guidance of Matti Kurrika, formerly publisher of the Finnish newspaper Aika at Nanaimo. On Thursday last the worst in a long series of calamities befell them.

While a meeting of the men of the colony was in progress in the Assembly Hall fire broke out in the three-storey building, in the two lower floors of which were 244 living apartments. Nothing could check the flames, and in them eleven persons perished, seven were fatally injured, and ten others painfully burned or injured by jumping from upper storey windows to escape the flames.

No Clothes, No Furniture.

The majority of the children, and many of the women were left with nothing but their night garments, and many of the men have lost all but their working clothes. They have also lost all their household effects.

Mrs. Orberg was sleeping in the room next the fire, which presumably originated from a wooden hot air shaft. She was awakened by what seemed to her a voice saying: "Awake, eternity is at hand!". She ran out in affright, and though badly burned, her life was saved, but her two little daughters, five and six years old, were burned to death. Her husband was also badly burned in trying to fight his way in to save his family.

Mrs. Lofbacka, a widow, got her two children into the hallway, but all were overcome and perished within a few feet of the door that led to open air and life.

Mrs. H. Hermanson and four children perished in their room. Mr. Hermanson had remained in Vancouver to look after the office while Mr. Kurrika was at the island. Mrs. Hermanson got out unhurt, but heroically returned for her children and perished with them.

In a Fiery Furnace.

Mr. Sortell had been at the meeting. Coming down he turned into the hallway at the second floor and entered one of the rooms, evidently with the intention of jumping from one of the second storey windows. He went into a room under which the floor was badly burned and it gave way beneath him, and he crashed through into the raging furnace beneath. He remained upright with one hand aloft, and friends could see through the window, but were powerless to approach. He was burned to death in the same room as were the Orberg children.

Saved Her Husband.

Mrs. Hiltunen's knees and face are badly bruised and cut. She is a heavy woman, and pitched forward when she struck the ground after jumping from the third storey. Mrs. Hiltunen is a very thoughtful woman, and had a rope ready for such emergencies. Her husband was ill, and she was getting ready to raise him from his bed and lower him from the window, when the only one-legged man in the colony hopped in, and, appropriating the first turn on the rope, slid to safety. Mrs. Hiltunen bravely hauled back the rope and lowered her helpless husband carefully to the ground, though the flames were licking through the floor when she lifted him through the window. By the time he was on the ground in safety the flames were bursting out around where the rope was tied, and the noble, self-sacrificing woman had no alternative but to jump.

Big Colony Coming.

Arrangements for the all-British colony in Assiniboia are making such progress that two steamers are expected to be necessary to carry the first party to be necessary to carry the first party to Canada. The party will probably greatly outnumber any special contingent of settlers in Canada except the [illegible]

ILLNESS OF THE KING CONFINED TO BED

With Feverish Cold—Royal Engagements are Cancelled—Sir F. Laking Summoned to Windsor to Attend Him

London, Feb. 3—King Edward is confined to bed to-day with a feverish cold. The royal engagements have all been cancelled. Sir Francis Laking, the King's private physician has been summoned to Windsor. It is supposed that an attack of influenza is probably the cause of the King's illness.

The King and Queen were to have left for Derbyshire this morning on a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, and were to have received popular demonstrations at one or two places not previously visited by the King.

New York, Feb. 3—The New York Times' despatch from London says: King Edward's very sudden indisposition, necessitating the postponement of his visit to the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire at Chatsworth, has created general surprise here, and it is remarked as curious, to say the least, that the King should have been apparently in excellent health and spirits, laughing heartily with the Prince of Wales during the tree planting ceremony at 11.30 o'clock yesterday morning, and then within an hour he should be in pronounced suffering from a feverish cold, and unable to leave Windsor Castle, as arranged.

The King's dislike for breaking public and private engagements is well known by the people. Therefore, they are inclined to be skeptical regarding the cause assigned for his having done it at a moment when an alteration of his program must have caused great inconvenience to a great many people, besides his expectant host and hostess.

Is it Appendicitis?

Having regard for the suddenness of his illness, and the fact that feverish colds do not ordinarily develop with such rapidity, also the invariable practice of court physicians and other officers to minimize Royal ailments, there is a tendency to attribute the indisposition to a recrudescence of the case of appendicitis, which caused a postponement of the Coronation, and which came near to causing the loss of his Majesty's life last year. It will be remembered that the appendix was not removed that time. All that was done was the evacuation of a large abscess in that region. It is known that sufferers from appendicitis frequently have very sudden attacks, hence the anxiety of the public is not dispelled by a reassuring statement that his Majesty's indisposition in this case is only a feverish cold.

If this anxiety is not justified by the facts, it is not unreasonable, considering the public recollection of the optimistic official reports constantly issued just before the startling announcement last June that the King was about to undergo a serious operation.

Just a Cold.

The World's London cable says it's Windsor correspondent sends the following: The King has been suffering since Saturday with a cold, which, as his colds always do, became fixed in his throat. He was better this—Monday—morning, and drove to plant some trees along the new avenue in Windsor Park. His carriage is artificially heated and while he was standing about in the morning air, he caught a fresh cold, which made his throat so troublesome that his visit to Chatsworth was postponed at the last moment.

The World's London correspondent heard last night from a high court source that the King only remembered yesterday morning that it was the anniversary of Queen Victoria's funeral, and decided it would be highly improper for him to start on a junketing expedition to Chatsworth on such a day.

The Duke of Devonshire is said to have expended more than $100,000 in arranging for the King's visit. It is reported at Chatsworth that the Queen has promised to go there today if the King cannot.
